DARLEY'S

Arabian Heave Remedy

AND CONDITION MEDICINE

IS POSITIVELY SUPERIOR TO ANY or all other preparations for the cure of Coughs, Thick and Broken Wind, and all diseases which affect the Wind of Horses; also, as a Condition Medicine, surpassing everything of the kind, is easy to give, sure to cure, and safe in all cases and at all times, and does not prevent the horse from being worked while using it.

It cleanses the breathing apparatus, by removing from the air-cells the coagulable lymph, that secretion which in heaves clogs them, causing a difficulty in breathing, and by its action on the diseased part, causing the mucous membrane to resume its natural dimensions, thus equalizing the circulation of the blood, and restoring the distended vessels to their natural size; by its use the horse's appetite is improved, all derangements of the skin, and digestive organs corrected, softening the skin, and giving to the coat a sleek and shining appearance.

CANADA HOUSE,

CALEDONIA SPRINGS,

Near L'Orignal, on the Ottawa, County of Prescott, Ont.,

BY A. M. F. GIANELLI.

THIS elegant and fashionable first-class HOTEL, with accommodation of a superior order, for over two hundred persons, will be opened for the reception of visitors on the 1st of June next.

The House is fitted up in the first style, and is replete with every accessory demanded by modern ideas of comfort and convenience.

The Halls and Lobbies are spacious, the Public Rooms for Ladies and Gentlemen elegantly finished, the Private Apartments comfortable and convenient, all lofty and well ventilated, and newly furnished in a handsome manner.

The Hot and Cold Baths are very numerous, in a wing expressly arranged for them, and constantly supplied with the Mineral W[illegible] from the Springs, by costly steam-pumping engines.

All the appointments and surroundings of the establishment are adapted to satisfy the most fastidious taste.

To meet the requirements of all, without interfering with the repose of any, the arrangements for in-door amusements are confined to a separate building, specially erected for the purpose, containing a spacious Ball Room, Billiard Room, Bowling Alley and other requirements.

The Saline, White Sulphur and Gas Springs are but fifty yards from the house.

Charges uniformly moderate.

For further information please address

Storekeepers, Farmers and Others

SHOULD BUY THEIR TEAS FROM

The Importers Direct.

THE MONTREAL TEA COMPANY, 6, Hospital-street, Montreal, have sent over one thousand packages to different parts of the country, and receive every day assurances that the Tea gives entire satisfaction. Subjoined are a few of the numerous testimonials already received:

RUSSELL HOTEL, Quebec, Jan. 7, 1867.—Montreal Tea Company: Gentlemen, the six chests of Tea forwarded some time since arrived in good order. The quality is pure and excellent, and prices cheap. As I am particular in buying the best quality of Tea to be had for our guests, I am pleased to acquaint you that it gives general satisfaction. Your obedient servant,

WILLIS RUSSELL.

FELCOME, Dec. 23, 1867.—Montreal Tea Company: Gentlemen, the Oolong Tea which you sent me gives great satisfaction. I forwarded part of the chest to a friend in Toronto, who informs me he considers it as good as that he was using for which he paid one dollar per lb. Please send me a chest of Young Hyson at same price, viz., at 75 cents per lb. Address as before. Your obedient servant,

JNO. T. DAY.

HOUSE OF SENATE, Ottawa, December 6, 1867.—Montreal Tea Company: Gentlemen, the box of English Breakfast and Young Hyson Tea which you sent me gives great satisfaction. You may expect my future orders. Yours, &c.,

S. SKINNER.

COBOURG, January 8, 1868.—Montreal Tea Company: Gentlemen, I beg to inform you that the two boxes of Tea you sent me are of excellent quality, especially the Young Hyson at 60 cents. Please send another box, or 20 lbs., at same price, and oblige yours, &c.,

F. OLIVER.

The contributors to the Medical Journal have frequently declared that one-half the nervous diseases are caused by drinking impure Tea. The Company have carefully selected and imported a supply of Teas that can be warranted pure and free from poisonous substances, in 50, 25, 20, 15 and 12 lb. boxes.

BLACK TEA.

Common Congou, Broken Leaf, Strong Tea, 45c, 50c.; Fine Flavoured New Season, do; 55c, 60c and 65c; Excellent Full Flavored do, 75c; Sound Oolong, 45c; Rich Flavored do, 60c; Very Fine do, do, 75c; Japan, Good, 50c, 55c; Very Fine, 60c; Finest, 65c, 75c.

GREEN TEA.

Twankay common, 38c; Fine do, 55c; Young Hyson, 50c, 60c, 65c and 70c; Fine do, 75c; Very Fine, 85c; Superfine and Very Choice, $1.00; Fine Gunpowder, 85c; Extra Superfine do, $1.

All orders for 20 or 25 lbs., or two 12 lbs., sent carriage free to the country. Teas not mentioned in this circular sent equally cheap. The Company having determined to take a stand in the Montreal market, weight, quality and circular may be implicitly relied on. Where a 20 lb. box would be too much, two or three clubbing together could divide. An excellent mixed Tea could be sent for 60c to 70c; very good for common purposes, 50c. Buyers living beyond Railway Stations will please send Post Office order or enclosed notes. The carriage will be paid to the nearest station. Tea will be forwarded immediately on receipt of the order by mail containing money, or the money can be collected on delivery by express-man where there are express offices. A trial solicited.

FRIDAY, MAY 15, 1868.

THE meeting of the FRASER Clan did not amount to much yesterday. It appears pretty evident that the days of clanship are over; or at least that the family distinctions which led to so much mischief in the Old World, in former days, are not likely to be revived in this country to any very great extent. We cannot say that we are sorry. The "clans" probably had their uses; the little we know of history makes us positive that they had their abuses; and in sober parlance, but with all respect to the FRASERS, we look upon the failure of the attempt to form the clan, as a tribute to the good sense of that portion of the population bearing the name. In all seriousness we suggest to the committee appointed to call the next meeting, to fix its assemblage in the Greek Kalends, or, as the real FRASERS would say—let it be held on "the morn come never." The affair has been something of a fizzle, but we hope that so far it has tended to promote good feeling among those who, though holding a common name, have very little else in common, and that thus far it has been the means of extending goodwill and friendship.

BEYOND the bare announcement of the arrest of "DUGGAN" by Detective O'NEILL, the Montreal papers of yesterday morning furnish no ground for the highly sensational "trash" with which the Citizen regaled its readers yesterday. We may state, however, that one of the morning papers of the sister City, in an article on sensational journalism, "pitching into" one of its local contemporaries, which gets out several editions daily, upon this very subject, quotes sentence after sentence of the stuff which the Citizen palmed off upon its readers as having been "exclusively" furnished by its own correspondent; and then winds up by showing that the same paper had disavowed, on later information, the whole concern!

The morale of this affair is that "special correspondents" who have "exclusive" information, and who STEAL unblushingly, verbatim et literatim, the stuff that they send across the wires, are not the persons deserving of the highest degree of credibility. Readers of newspapers might very fairly test the telegrams, as they do the advertisements of quack medicines. Wherever they see in the one case the correspondent, the "sole and exclusive" owner of special information, or in the other, the advertiser, the solitary possessor of some mysterious receipt, they may set down both as the profligacy of humbug, and "govern themselves accordingly."

"We are not inclined to use strong language unnecessarily, and would not wish to excite violent passion and vindictive feeling, but this Fenian farce, ever hovering on the verge of tragedy, and now and again passing into crime of the darkest dye, has gone on now quite long enough. Great leniency has been shown and that leniency has been falsely attributed to fear. It is but right that we should say to all within our borders, that we don't mean this playing at treason and practising assassination to go on any longer. The number of disaffected in Canada we have always believed to be very small, and very uninfluential; and the revelations in connection with the Ottawa murder will, we are persuaded, make this more than ever unquestionable; but be the number small or large they will find that they have preached treason in Canada with impunity for the last time; and that though their insignificance may have hitherto protected them, it will protect them no longer."

The above is from an issue of the Globe some three weeks ago. Yet when HYNES, one of the publishers of the Irish Canadian, is sent where he can no longer "preach treason," the Globe suddenly discovers that he is a most innocent, harmless, inoffensive, highly respectable man, whose arrest is a very serious blunder, if not a crime! If it were true that in the middle of April last they had "preached treason for the last "time," how comes it that in May it is a blunder, if not something worse, to put under restraint the very men who before the world are alone responsible for the utterances of the treason-spouting Irish Canadian—BOYLE and HYNES? But Mr. HYNES was only nominally a partner in the concern, and he—once worked in the Globe office! Well, these be rare qualifications. If the respectable Mr. HYNES merely lent his name to a pernicious publication it must have been for the purpose of giving it more weight in the community; and it surely was not for the authorities to measure his complicity by the money share he had in the paper, so long as he voluntarily stood before the public as responsible for its contents.

The vagaries of the Globe on Fenianism from the time the organization first obtained public notoriety to the present date, would, if consecutively presented, give an interesting illustration of journalistic eccentricity. At one time hailing the organization as the ally of the Reformation, as tending to deliver the Irish in America from the Priestly thraldom in which their forefathers had so long been held in the Old World, as in fact a kindred co-laborer with itself in the great work of modern enlightenment; at another, pooh-poohing its threats against the supremacy of British rule in Canada; then again raving in the wildest paroxysm of terror, as in the summer and fall of 1866, about the Fenian invasion, which its own correspondent (writing in petticoats from the counter of a groggery in Troy) assured this country, was positively to take place—day and date given. Anon, protesting, as the whim might strike it, that it was a vile libel upon Irishmen to insinuate that Fenianism had any foothold in Canada; next calling in trumpet tones that the thing should be stamped out, that the leniency of the past has been "falsely attributed to fear," and that now, "they have preached treason "for the last time."

But when some four or five arrests are made, straightway the Globe gets horrified, lest the Government and the country should have become panic-stricken, and, feeling that it alone has wisdom left, it warns the Government of the danger of carrying things too far; and pleads that they who have been preaching treason may be permitted to return to the work. Waxing very wise on the 13th inst., and fancying it sees in the "organs" of the Government, the phrenzy which periodically attacks itself, it valiantly comes forward as the champion of Irish Catholics, after the following fashion:

"But we maintain, as we have always done, that the mass of the Roman Catholics of this country are free from the taint of Fenianism. They have their opinions, no doubt, of the wisdom and justice of British rule in Ireland; but we do not believe that those opinions are at all likely to lead many Roman Catholics to become disturbers of the peace in Canada."

Now, who in the world ever said anything to the contrary? Against whom has the Globe "always" maintained this doctrine, so complimentary to "the mass of Roman Catholics?" Rather, who but the Globe has ever dealt out wholesale denunciations against them? Who is there in Canada, except the Globe, that believes that "those opinions "(i.e. of Catholics) are at all likely to lead "any Roman Catholics to become disturbers "of the peace?" Yet our watchful contemporary "improves the occasion" by trying at a very cheap rate, to get a little popularity with the Catholics, by persuading them that "the overzealous organs" are their enemies, and that the Globe has come to their rescue! We wish it luck of all the capital it may make out of this game; but it plays it very clumsily, for in a late issue, while discussing the "Ottawa tragedy," it said: "It is not denied that he (WHELAN) "was at the House all that evening, as "were, by the way, somewhat curiously, all "the marshals AND LEADING OFFICIALS of "the Ottawa St. Patrick's Society." This statement was, we believe, entirely incorrect as to "the leading officials," at least no such fact came out in evidence, and the Globe's sweeping assertion, "somewhat curiously" made, could only have had the effect of directing suspicion against these "officials," as well as against the Marshals, for it had no point as against WHELAN. We make these extracts from the Globe of a few weeks ago merely to show that though now it has taken another tack, then it was doing its best, and with its wonted recklessness, to bring about the state of feeling it now pretends to battle against, but which has no existence in fact.

The Globe also says that very few arrests have been made, and that "just now no more "are contemplated." It is quite true that few arrests have been made; and none of them without good reason. As to "whether any more are contemplated" we do not believe the Globe is warranted to speak. Common sense would suggest that the Government will arrest any man against whom there is evidence of guilt, either "now" or at any future time that the evidence may be forthcoming; but the Globe speaks as if a certain numerical "catch" had been predetermined, and praises the authorities for having fixed it at so low a figure!

The balderdash talked by the Globe upon this Fenian subject is not generally deserving of notice; but a periodical review of its vagaries may not be without some value. In the present instance it has a two-fold duty on hand; that of repressing a panic which has no existence, and defending the Catholics who are not assailed, in both of which—need we say it?—the Globe will be eminently successful.

THE Liverpool Courier of the 30th ult., has the following in relation to the attempted assassination of Prince Alfred:

"The following has been received from the Colonial office:—

"Further telegrams, of the same date as those already made public, from the Earl of Belmore to the Secretary of State for the Colonies, intimate that the assassination of the Duke of Edinburgh was attempted by O'Farrell in pursuance of messages sent from conspirators in this country, which ordered the Prince's death. It is understood that O'Farrell was selected by lot to perpetrate the crime, and that the attempt would have been made when the Prince landed in state, but that an opportunity of doing so without risk of injury to others did not occur. The New South Wales Government offered £1,000 reward for the apprehension of each accomplice, and one arrest, considered to be important, has been made in Victoria.

"H. S. BRYANT."

WE have received a spicy invitation to the "Browns," to meet to-day for the purpose of forming a "Brown Clan" for the whole Dominion. We do not publish the "call," having since learned that the committee of arrangement, characteristically "canny," drew back on discovering that they could not effect a satisfactory dissolution of partnership with the Joneses and Robinsons. The old firm will therefore be continued.

JOHN SMITH assures us that he has every prospect of being elected Chief of the Clan. The only thing that perplexes him is that after he is elected nobody will be able to tell which of him is the Chief, and therefore he thinks he had better leave his claims in the hands of a committee. We believe JOHN is pretty nearly right.

BOG OAK JEWELLERY.—Very handsome sets of bog oak jewellery can be had at Young & Radford's, at $1 per set.

ST. LAWRENCE AND OTTAWA RAILWAY.—This morning the new time table of the St. Lawrence and Ottawa Railway takes effect. For particulars see advertisement.

FINE coral jewellery, bog oak jewellery and a large collection of other goods suitable for wedding and other presents can be seen at Young & Radford's; all new and choice goods and will be sold cheap.

ST. PATRICK'S ORPHANS' BAZAAR.—This bazaar continues prosperous. The ladies are very courteous to visitors, and their kind attentions are repaid by the liberality of their recipients. The bazaar continues open till Saturday evening, by which time, it is to be hoped, its treasury will be well replenished.

ARRIVAL OF THE PRISONER DUGGAN.—Detective O'Neill arrived here last night with the prisoner Duggan from Montreal. He is safely housed in the station lock-up. This is the man in whose house the lot is said to have been drawn by Whelan for the assassination of Mr. McGee.

OLE BULL.—In our advertising columns will be found the programme of Ole Bull's concert for to-morrow night. This great master would of himself be sufficient to fill the theatre, but we observe that he is accompanied by Miss Jenny Landsman, a favorite prima donna, by Gustave F. Hall, barritone, and by Egbert Lansing, the eminent pianist. Here, at any rate, our people will be able to learn what genuine music really is. Such another opportunity may not be offered for many years.

MEETING OF THE FRASERS TO ORGANIZE A CLAN AND APPOINT A CHIEF.

Due notice having been given of a meeting of the Frasers, for the organizing the clan and appointing a chief, to be held at the Court House in this city yesterday morning, at 10 o'clock, preparations were made for a large gathering. Punctual to the hour two or three arrived, among whom was the Hon. John Fraser de Berry, of St. Mark's. The hour of eleven arrived, and there were six present. Some conversation took place as to whether they should proceed to business, when Hon. John Fraser de Berry stated that he would have proceeded to business and passed resolutions if there had been none other than himself present. Some one asked how many were present at the meeting held at Quebec, when the hon. gentleman answered that nobody would ever know that. Two others soon came in, and they were followed by two more, making the number ten. There being four delegates, whose credentials however, were not exhibited, and an audience of six, who were all cordially invited to take seats at the table, which they did, and took part in the proceedings.

On motion of Jas. Fraser, Esq., of Ottawa, Deputy Clerk of the Crown, seconded by Hon. James Fraser of Pictou, that the Hon. James Fraser de Berry take the chair, and that Mr. James Fraser of Rideau street, Ottawa, act as Secretary, which was carried.

The chairman submitted that it was expedient to proceed with the organization of the Fraser clan and the election of a chief. He was sorry to see so small a number present which, however, he attributed to the diffidence of the Frasers, which always kept them back in all public undertakings. He then proceeded to give reasons for the organization contemplated. They would be able, in many instances, to materially aid each other, and keep the family in the country. The Frasers were always loyal; they had nearly all remained in British America in spite of the tempting advertisements held out on the other side of the lines, and very few of the name were to be found in the United States. In Nova Scotia they lived in great numbers, and were all loyal, and remembered the ancient family motto, "I am ready." He had written to the Hon. Minister of Militia, offering him two companies of Fraser volunteers, one of them being a Scotch Canadian company, and the other a French Canadian company. The chairman then went into the history at considerable length, and stated that they were divided into one hundred and seventy branches, some of whom were to be found in Sweden, France and Normandy, and in other countries on the continent of Europe, besides many in England. He then traced his own pedigree through a long line of illustrious ancestors from Jules de Berry of Normandy. On account of his taking the name De Berry some people charged him with wishing to pass for a nobleman, but this was not the case; he merely assumed the ancient family name, claiming to be descended only from the fourth son of Jules de Berry. He then read some letters from a number of Frasers in Quebec, all of whom expressed their willingness to abide by any action that he might take at this meeting as their representative.

Mr. Fraser, of Stadacona, speaking in French, moved that the Hon. John Fraser de Berry be elected chief for Quebec.

Mr. James Fraser, of Ottawa, D.C.C., said he observed that the first business which appeared on the prepared list of resolutions, was not the election of the chief, but the organization of the clan, and in regard to this, he certainly thought that in consideration of the fact that of the thousands of Frasers in the Dominion, there were only ten to represent them, this small meeting would be taking a great deal upon themselves in undertaking the work of organizing a clan, and he felt sure that it would be so regarded by the Frasers generally. He was sorry to oppose the organization, but he felt it his duty to do so with so small a number.

The Chairman said there was a full representation of all parts but Ontario, though they were not present.

Mr. James Fraser, of Rideau-st., attributed the smallness of the attendance partly to the meeting not being sufficiently known, and partly to there being so few of the name in this part of the country, there being no more than about six families of the name in this city.

Hon. James Fraser, of Pictou, contended in an able speech that in order to organize the clan in such a manner as was worthy the name, it was necessary to have the confidence and sympathy of those in whose name they acted, and their sympathy certainly was wanting, when we looked around and saw but ten persons to represent the many thousands who bore the name of Fraser, when it was well known that they were to meet here to-day to form a clan and elect chiefs. He was therefore in favor of passing a short resolution, such as would have no unfavorable result, and might be the means of ensuring a larger attendance hereafter.

It was then moved by Mr. James Fraser, D. C. C., seconded by Hon. James Fraser, of Pictou, that considering the small number of Frasers present it will be better not to organize the Clan at the present time, beyond the organization now existing, but that the matter stand over until a fuller representation of the Frasers be present. The mover said this resolution was by no means intended to interfere with the organizations already existing in Quebec, Nova Scotia, and other places.

Hon. James Fraser, as seconder, spoke at length in support of the resolution. The motion was then put and carried on division.

Mr. James Fraser, D.C.C., seconded by Mr. T. Fraser, of Fitzroy, moved that this meeting is desirous of expressing its indebtedness to the Hon. John Fraser de Berry, for his efforts in regard to the organization of the Fraser clan, as he has thereby brought some Frasers together, who might never have otherwise met.—Carried unanimously.

Mr. James Fraser, of Ottawa, D.C.C., then moved, seconded by Hon. Jas. Fraser, that a committee, consisting of the Hon. John Fraser de Berry, Hon. James Fraser and Thos. Fraser, Esq., be appointed to consider the propriety of holding another meeting of the Frasers, to take place at such time and place as said committee shall name.

The meeting then adjourned.

THE season for muslin dresses and lace shawls being close at hand, ladies should see the great variety of novelties at Magee and Russell's.

ARREST OF A BAD CHARACTER.—The notorious procuress, Madame Campeau, was arrested last evening, on the information of a former inmate. The informant, it appears, has been often insulted on the streets and elsewhere by Madame, and the unfortunate girl has taken this method of shewing her resentment. It will go hard with the lady this time, no doubt. She had three months in jail last time, besides paying $40.

REQUIEM MASS.—Yesterday was celebrated in the Cathedral Church of Ottawa, a requiem mass, or "month's mind," for the repose of the soul of the late Hon. Thos. D'Arcy McGee. The church was elegantly draped in mourning, long festoons of black and white descending from the roof; the altar, pulpit and gallery were also covered with black cloth, which gave to the sacred edifice a solemn and mournful appearance appropriate to the occasion. A grand catafalque was raised in the centre aisle, upon which was placed a beautiful wreath of flowers, the offering of a lady, the sincere friend and warm admirer of the ever to be lamented deceased. At the head of the coffin, we noticed a white lily, emblematic, we believe, both of the purity of his patriotism, and of the fidelity with which he is remembered. High mass was sung by the Revd. Father Dandurand, a select choir, the best the city could afford, under the able direction of the Revd. Father Debruell, of St. Joseph's College, chanted the mornful hymns appropriate to the Catholic service for the dead. There is nothing more touching than the ceremonial of the Catholic Church on such occasions, or more calculated to inspire one with feelings of deep grief. The funeral sermon, eloquently preached by the Revd. Father Dawson, touched on the varied talents, genius and eloquence of the deceased statesmen. Altogether, it was a grand and very imposing ceremony, and inauspicious as was the weather, it did not prevent a great many from attending to prove their respect and religious recollection of the lamented deceased.

TO FILL THE DOMINION.

Active Literary Itinerating Agency Requisite.

Alexander Somerville, "Whistler at the Plough," to the Editor of THE OTTAWA TIMES.

SIR,—About a month since you were good enough to mention my name and literary avocation; saying that after ten years of travel, research, observation, in the British American Provinces, I proposed going to England to publish a book, BEAUTIFUL CANADA. I thank you for that spontaneous commendation, and presume on your courtesy to bring under the notice of Hon. Senators and members of the House of Commons, suggestions which may not occur to others as they do to me. First, resident agents:

At the port of embarkation, or in some inland town, a resident agent may give useful information to such as come for it. But intending emigrants have decided on what country in the world, or what British colony, they are going to, before reaching a port of embarkation. If not, the British colony would be, probably, as well without them.

They, who do not, as yet, think of leaving old homes for a land of better family fortunes, should be invited to think of it. They, who have nearly resolved to go to some new country, but have not decided on which country, or which British colony, should be made to comprehend that the Dominion of Canada is preferable to every other country on earth.

Assuming that the persons whom it is desirable to attract to the Dominion, are enterprising owners of capital; or men of muscle and of money in combination; or men endowed with youth and muscular strength only; or young women of industrious life; or old country farmers with families; or agricultural laborers with families; or rural mechanics: How are such to be filled with pleasure and hope, so full of pleasing information, that they converse with neighbors about the Dominion of Canada? Going to church, going to market, at the market table, in the field at work, in the smithy, in the wheelwright's shop, on the village green, at breakfast, at dinner, at supper, the husband, when unbuttoning to go to bed, the wife in a pleasant curtain colloquy, sons to father, sisters to one another overjoyed to think of it, if—if, some one else, not named, would go: How are they to be led into such conversation? to be inspired with a desire to live in the Dominion of Canada? to be resolved; to be confirmed in the resolution, to emigrate there in preference to any other colony of Great Britain, or other country in the world?

They are to be led to such delightful family colloquies, to such hopes of future freehold estates, such resolutions to prefer Canada, by reading in their local newspaper accounts of persons whom they already know, or once knew, or heard of.

Advertisements have no effect. Editors of newspapers will not insert paragraphs of Canadian statistics, except as advertisements. Statistics are dry reading, and not attractive. But personal or family memoirs of emigrants who left that district, in which the local paper circulates, will be inserted and read. Tell how that family, or this, lived in such a parish, on such a farm; how they went out in that year, or in some other year; describing the place where they settled; how much land at first; how much now; who the daughters were married to; the township reeve husband to one; what is a reeve? a member of the county council married another; what is a county council? Editors will insert descriptive matter like that. And it will be read and talked about. It will induce inquiry for statistical information. And then the inland agent, or one at the port of embarkation, may be of use.

The literary itinerant agent is, first of all, the apostle of the Dominion, who is to fire the ambition of youthful sons; inform the sagacious father; fortify the mother; diffuse new topics of conversation in any given neighborhood.

Such literary agent should, to be useful, have studied and travelled the Dominion of Canada well. He should be known in the old country as a reliable writer. If he has vivacity of style, aptness of narrative, so much the better.

As a matter of course I am recommending myself; and in doing so add this other characteristic; although Scotch by birth, I am as well known in Ireland and rural districts of England, as in Scotland; having written and published much, but never a sentence which was not in the interests of fair play between man and man; rights of labor, rights of property.

HAMILTON, Ontario, May 11, 1868.

Alexander Somerville.

The Revd. Dr. Ormiston has written the following letter:

HAMILTON, Ontario, May 11, 1868.

Mr. Alexander Somerville, who is about to proceed to England for the purpose of publishing a volume on the Dominion of Canada, is in my opinion, possessed of every qualification for such a work. Extensive and accurate acquaintance with the past history, present position and future prospects of the country, a thorough knowledge of its natural resources; existing manufactures, and facilities for further extension. Of its educational system and the supply of Gospel ordinances throughout the land. For several years, Mr. Somerville has written much and well on various questions affecting the interests of the Provinces. His style is fresh, vigorous and peculiarly graphic. Few men are fitted to write a book at once so readable and so reliable. All he writes bears the stamp of genius, and bears the spirit of manly freedom, and lofty patriotism.

YESTERDAY'S DESPATCHES.

LONDON, May 13.—The Queen, to-day, laid with imposing ceremonies the corner stone of the hospital which is to be built on the Thames, immediately opposite the Houses of Parliament.

The Corporation of London presented an address to the Queen, declaring sympathy with Her Majesty for the injuries received by Prince Alfred at the hands of an assassin, and expressing their detestation of the attempted crime.

In the House of Commons Mr. Gladstone this afternoon moved a Bill to prevent the making of further appointments to livings in the Irish Church for a specified period, and also to suspend the proceedings of the commission on the Irish Church establishment for some length of time.

PARIS, May 13.—The funeral of Lord Brougham took place to-day at Cannes.

THIS MORNING'S DESPATCHES.

PARIS, May 14.—M. Thiers yesterday made a public speech in which he took ground in favor of the protection of home industry.

The Bourse closes dull.

LONDON, May 14—9 p.m.—In the House of Commons to-night, the Bill moved by Mr. Gladstone to suspend the making of appointments in the Irish Church passed to its first reading. The Bill is to remain in effect until the first of August, 1869.

BERLIN, May 14.—The Government budget of the North German Confederation has been made public. The total expenditure for the ensuing fiscal year is estimated at seventy-three million thalers, of this sum seventy-two million will be required for the military and marine administration of the Confederation. Total income from customs and imposts levied by the Zollverein postal and telegraphic services, and other Federal services, is estimated at eighty million thalers, and the individual States of the Confederation, including Prussia, are to contribute the balance of twenty-three million thalers, according to their respective financial quotas, as appointed by the Federal constitution.

CARPETS AND HOUSE FURNISHINGS.—Garland Mutchmor & Co. make this department a speciality. They have just received a large stock and invite the attention of parties furnishing to it. Purchasers will find their stock in this department second to none in Ottawa. 582-y

—There are 170,000 children in London alone who ought to be at school, but who are not, and there are eight London parishes with a population of 7,000 where there is no school at all. This is a state of things worse for the future of a population than even the want of Italian Bitters.

FOREIGN REPRINTS OF BRITISH COPYRIGHT WORKS.

Hon. Mr. SANBORN said the object of the Bill was to put this duty of 20 per cent. upon the large number of British copyrights now in existence, whereas now we have them free.

Hon. Mr. RYAN said if his hon. friend would look at the "Acts" upon this subject, he would see that these reprints of British copyright works are prohibited from coming in at all, therefore he was under a mistake in saying they come in free. It is because this prohibition has been evaded, that they are now to be allowed to come in by paying a duty. He did not think it possible that they could pass an Act to interfere with the Imperial Act, and therefore he was obliged to go in this round about way to ask the Governor General to forward an address to the Imperial Government to induce them to take such legislation as will allow us to print those works in Canada.

Hon. Mr. TESSIER contended that the Union Act (91st Sec.) distinctly gave us the power to legislate in respect of the rights of authors; but otherwise doubted whether the Imperial Act was in force in Canada. The Bill gave rights to foreigners which we cannot give according to these pretensions to our own publishers. He thought it would be better to put a high rate of duty on American reprints of British copyrights.

Hon. Mr. McCULLY was inclined to think that there was no intention on the part of the Imperial Parliament to confer new powers upon the Dominion by the British North America Act. It was but a reasonable construction of that Act to say it gave the Dominion power to legislate upon the subject of copyright, and it may be fairly presumed they have that right. The intention of the Act was to give to the Dominion any rights which the separate Provinces had before those rights were taken away by the passing of the Union Act. The power we now possess is no greater than exercised before Confederation in Canada, proper, so far as their jurisdiction extended. If that be the true construction of the North America Act, we have no more right to legislate against an Act of the Imperial Parliament than we had before. In that view of the case his hon. friend (Mr. Ryan) had taken a proper course in moving for an address. He was not prepared to say that this legislature did not possess very extensive powers, still he could not help thinking that it was not the intention of the Imperial Parliament to confer upon us any greater power than we possessed before.

Hon. Mr. SANBORN understood the Imperial Parliament to have conceded to us by the Union Act everything which they did not reserve. The opinion has been entertained by the highest legal authorities that patents granted by the British Government, when tested by Statute Law, would be of no validity in these Provinces. Are we to minimise our powers into a mere municipality having only the powers delegated to us by the strict terms of the Union Act, or are we to be considered as something almost approaching to a nation, having power to legislate upon whatever would benefit our people if not adverse to the sovereignty of Great Britain. We have the right to legislate adversely to the interests of Great Britain in our tariffs, and if these copyrights are prohibited by what law are they prohibited? It is by our own law and for the interest of the public, and now we should consider whether we are legislating for the benefit of authors solely, or for the public in imposing this duty. We have full powers given us in the 91st Section of the Union Act to legislate upon this subject, direct and specific, but we have approached it from a wrong stand point.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL said this was a question upon which great doubt existed as to our right to legislate upon it, therefore, the course pursued by his hon. friend (Mr. Ryan) was the only safe one to be adopted. Legal men in England would hold stronger views upon this point than legal men in this country. As an instance of this he would mention that Judges of the Court of Queen's Bench in England had assumed to exercise a judiciary power over a power which was under the jurisdiction of the Courts of Upper Canada, and it was only after application was made, and an Act of the Imperial Parliament passed, that this power was abandoned. Where we find that the Imperial Parliament have enacted in express terms particular provisions extending to all the colonies; it is held that each colony notwithstanding that it may have a Legislature of its own, is bound by the Imperial Act, as in the case of the Merchants' Shipping Act. The Bank of British North America held its power under an English Charter in Canada for some years, without any power being granted by the Local Legislature.

Hon. Mr. McCULLY—It has no other power in Nova Scotia now.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL—It had additional power conferred upon it in Canada, but it was after it had existed here for some years under its English charter. He doubted whether the rule which governed patents would govern copyrights, because he thought that in England copyrights were issued under the authority of the Crown. The best way of approaching the subject was in the way suggested by the hon. member for Montreal, (Mr. Ryan), to move an address to the Governor-General; desiring the attention of the English Government to this law, with a view to having it altered, so as to give us the right to avail ourselves of any opportunity for reprinting English copyright books, reserving a per centage for the author. In the meantime we are all agreed that the provisions of this Bill are just and right, and will redound to the advantage of authors of British copyright works, as it will increase the area of the publication of their books, to allow new reprints to be circulated where they were altogether prohibited before. Formerly the authors derived no benefit from the circulation of their works, so far as Canada is concerned, but under this Bill they will receive 20 per cent., therefore the Bill is good so far as it goes. It may be that although the right to legislate upon copyright is given us it does not include the right to legislate upon British copyrights. We have only the right in regard to copyrights which are issued in this country, and no right to legislate adversely to those existing in the Mother Country.

Hon. Mr. WILMOT did not like this round about way of coming at the question. He thought where no injury was to be done to the authors we should try to benefit our own country. This referring to Royal Charters was a policy which had been worn out. In New Brunswick they had repeatedly altered Royal Charters. The Seamen's Act had been referred to, but that was a general policy the same as the navigation law. If there was an Act passed merely to benefit our own publishers without injuring British authors, it would be the best way to try this question.

Hon. Mr. TESSIER expressed his opinion that the Dominion Government had a full right to deal directly and in any way it judged proper with this question now before them.

Hon. Mr. SANBORN proposed to move an amendment giving Canadian publishers the right of printing and selling the reprint of British copyrights by paying 20 per cent. which the Bill proposed to take from the American publishers.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL hoped the hon. member (Mr. Sanborn) would defer his amendment until to-morrow, to enable him to consult the Law Officers of the Crown on the point.

Hon. Mr. RYAN was happy at the new lights that have been thrown on the subject, but like all subjects where Lawyers interfere, there must be two sides for discussion; his object was to take the safest and shortest mode, and hoped hon. members would not object to the course proposed as the safest and, perhaps, in the end, the most expeditious. He feared if the Lawyers had the collection of this proposed 20 per cent. on the reprints of British copyrights, there would be very little left for the public Treasury or the authors.

The Committee then rose, reported progress, and asked leave to sit again to-morrow.

PATENTS OF INVENTION BILL.

Pursuant to order, the House then resolved itself into Committee of the Whole on the Bill relating to patents of invention,

Hon. Mr. SHAW in the chair.

Hon. Mr. SANBORN objected to the clause requiring one year's residence in the Dominion before being enabled to obtain a patent for invention—placing Englishmen in an inferior position to a colonist in a British colony. It was an anomaly and absurdity in his opinion.

Hon. Mr. CHAPAIS said that the main object of the Bill was to assimilate the law in all the Provinces of the Dominion, and he could not consent to the amendment in the sense proposed; he thought there should be no discrimination. If the proposed change were made, all the British subjects in the United States and other countries would be flocking in here to obtain patents. There was no injustice to Englishmen, or any one else, as all were to be placed on the same footing by this Bill.

It being six o'clock the SPEAKER left the chair.

After Recess.

Hon. Mr. MITCHELL said it would cost from £500 to £800 in England, whilst the English inventor can come here and with one year's residence can obtain a patent for a mere trifle. We should have no national discrimination. He thought the Bill a reciprocity of free trade in patent rights, and as such a move in the right direction.

Hon. Mr. LETELLIER DE JUST could see no principle in this Bill, thought it very objectionable in many of its leading features, and hoped it would be amended as proposed.

Hon. Mr. SANBORN moved, seconded by Hon. Mr. AIKINS, that the following be added to the 31st clause of the Bill: Any resident British subject, being the original inventor, holding a patent for any invention or discovery, in any of the Provinces of the Dominion, when this Act comes into force, shall be entitled to have the same extended to the whole Dominion for the expiration of the period the same was granted for, upon the payment to the Commissioner of Patents of twenty dollars for five years, and a sum proportioned thereto for any greater or less period such patent may have to run, and in such case it shall be lawful for the Commissioner of Patents to issue under the seal of his office, a new patent to the person applying for such extension, upon the production of his letters patent, and the deposit thereof in the office of the Commissioner of Patents, granting him the exclusive right to the use of his invention or discovery throughout the Dominion for the remaining period unexpired of his first patent, upon the terms and restrictions applicable to persons obtaining new patents under this Act, provided the patent shall not prevent any persons manufacturing, using or vending any art, machine, manufacture or composition of matter, in any of the Provinces to which the original patent did not extend, who had prior thereto manufactured, used and vended such art, machine, manufacture or composition of matter therein.

Hon. Mr. AIKINS seconded the amendment as reasonable and just. Why should Canadians be excluded, who have, through the faith of the Legislature and Government, taken out patents for particular Provinces of this now united Dominion, from the benefit of this Bill. Others can step in and use their inventions, and all the remedy will be a suit at law, always attended with expense and trouble, and often great uncertainty.

After considerable discussion, the amendment was declared carried by a vote of 21 yeas to 17 nays—majority in favor of the amendment, 4. The Bill, as amended, was then reported to the House, which amendment being concurred in, the Bill was fixed for a third reading to-morrow.

ACT RESPECTING LARCENY.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL moved the second reading of the Bill intituled, "An Act respecting larceny and similar offences," and said it was a Bill introduced by the Minister of Justice, for the purpose of consolidating all the laws of the Dominion relating to larceny.

Hon. Mr. SANBORN said he did not intend to make any lengthy remarks, but as he had noticed that there were eleven bills of this description before Parliament, he thought the Government were deserving of censure in not having brought some of them before the Senate previous to this. It had been admitted by high authority that these Bills could not be considered in the House of Commons, on account of the press of business which they had before them. They have been framed by a power not behind the Throne, but behind the Ministry, who have sent up a voluminous matter, and have made serious alterations in the criminal law. It seemed to be a dangerous experiment; if not dangerous it was certainly inexpedient, while we are extending the laws of the Dominion to enact new laws, without giving either of the two branches of the Legislature time to understand them. These laws, or amendments, ought to go before a legal committee, and be carefully examined and understood. He did not wish to disparage any of the parties who had charge of those Bills, but he found they were very largely copied from the English Act of 1861. There was this to be said, in justice to those who drafted them, that though they were men of extensive information, none of them had much practice in criminal law. Suggestions will occur to men who have had an extensive practice, that will not occur to those who have not had that practice. He found a great many changes had been made in the old law in regard to larceny. There was one in reference to stealing a tree of the value of twenty-five cents; the penalty for the first offence is imprisonment for a short time; and the second offence makes it one of ordinary larceny. Heretofore there was no penalty for taking a tree, only a summary trial before a Judge for taking trees to the value of $4. Then, for stealing fences and fixtures of various kinds, there are clauses providing penalties which are not to be found in the original law. There are also clauses in reference to persons misappropriating property, and trustees taking property which they had in trust; this is declared to be larceny. Then there is a new feature introduced into our law, although it is retained in English law, that is, introducing whipping as a punishment for offenders under sixteen years of age. That is a thing that is very repugnant to the feelings of the people of the present day. He would much prefer to have these Bills lie over until another Session. He saw no absolute necessity for passing them now, as the criminal law was now in force throughout the Dominion. The Postmaster-General must see that we have no time to take up these laws and give them that consideration which they deserve.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL said there was nothing novel in the clauses to which his hon. friend had referred, except the last. There was great force in his remarks, that we had no time to give due consideration at this late period of the Session. They had been drafted with great care by the law officers of the other branch of the Legislature, and though they had no practical experience in criminal law, yet the reverse is the fact as regards the Minister of Justice under whose supervision they were drawn. These Bills have been prepared without making any substantial change in the criminal laws of these Provinces of the Empire. To a great extent the House has to take these Bills upon the faith of the officers who have charge of them. They have embodied the criminal laws which existed in the several Provinces of the Dominion, and even if we now had more time to consider them we would to a great extent have to take them upon the faith of those who have examined them more minutely than we could.

Hon. Mr. TESSIER regretted that a Bill of this importance was brought in at the end of the Session, when there is no time left for discussion. He also objected to the clause that enacts the "whipping penalty" as repugnant to our feelings, and only suited for military discipline.

The Bill was then read a second time. To be referred to a Committee of the whole House on Friday next.

A message was brought from the House of Commons to return the Bill intituled "An Act respecting the Navigation of Canadian Waters," and to acquaint the House that they had passed the said Bill without amendment.

A Bill intituled "An Act respecting Malicious Injuries to Property," and also

A Bill intituled "An Act to incorporate the Canadian Shipping Company;" were brought from the House of Commons, and read a first time.

Hon. Mr. ALLAN presented the eleventh report from the Committee on Standing Orders and Private Bills.

The House then adjourned.

WEDNESDAY, May 13, 1868.

The SPEAKER took the chair at three o'clock.

After routine,

PATENTS FOR INVENTION BILL.

Hon. Mr. CHAPAIS rose and said (in French and English) that in consequence of the amendment proposed and carried into Committee of the Whole, the Government would not take the responsibility of passing the Bill as it now stands. He would, therefore, move that the order of the day for the third reading of the Bill be discharged, and so dropped the Bill.

CAUSES OF THE RECENT FINANCIAL CRISIS.

Pursuant to the order of the day the House went into Committee on the late financial crisis in Ontario.

Hon. Mr. MACPHERSON, in submitting this report on the financial crisis, said he thought the House would admit that the Committee had been the means of submitting a large amount of valuable information, both in regard to the crisis of last autumn, and on the general subject of banking and currency. So far as the crisis was concerned the report was a mere summary of evidence, and here he would state that he regretted very much that an error took place in printing a portion of that report. It was his intention, as well as the intention of the Committee, not to express any opinion in regard to the matter, but a very valuable officer of the House, in revising the proof, thought it was the intention of the Committee to express an opinion, and had prepared the report accordingly. When he (Mr. Macpherson) saw the report he immediately wrote to that officer, calling his attention to it and telling him that a correct report must be printed and an explanation given. That correct report has been printed and the explanation he had now given. The evidence given in the first report was exceedingly valuable, and it contained a large amount of information respecting banking and currency. The gentlemen connected with banking in Upper Canada are almost unanimous in opinion in regard to the causes of the crisis. The only exception was a gentleman connected with the Bank of British North America, who held views somewhat different from the others. He had stated in moving for the appointment of this committee, that it was no part of his intention to reflect on any banking institution in the country, and the committee had acted upon this principle in conducting their enquiry, and in submitting their reports. It was no part of the duty of the committee to enquire into the particular causes of the failure of the Commercial Bank, though it seems to be the common opinion that that was their intention. It is not the duty of any bank, more than it is the duty of any commercial firm, to sustain any other bank when in a position of embarrassment, unless it be for its own interest. He did not intend in any way to assail the management of the Bank of Montreal, or to hold either it or the Government blameable for the failure of the Commercial Bank. His object was to enquire into the cause of the crisis in Ontario, which he held to have been more wide spread in its consequences than could be properly traceable to the suspension of any bank. Though the Commercial Bank did a large business, its suspension was not sufficient to account for what succeeded it. Every bank should be governed by its own interest as to the course it should pursue, and its success, like other institutions, depends upon its management, and when that management is bad, it will certainly fail. He would now, with the permission of the House, read one or two extracts from the evidence. He would first read what was said by the cashier of the Bank of Toronto, who is obviously very familiar with the subject upon which he has given evidence. In answer to the question of what legislation would be best adapted to prevent a recurrence of similar crises he says: "No legislation has hitherto been devised, and in my opinion it would be impossible to devise any, by which the failure of banking establishments would be entirely prevented." Then the manager of the Bank of British North America, in Montreal, says: "No Government legislation can prevent the recurrence of such events as have unhappily taken place within the past two years in Canada, viz., the failure of the Bank of Upper Canada and of the Commercial Bank. Such events can only be prevented by the circumspect, cautious and intelligent management of those who have the direction and charge of the banking institutions of the country." Mr. King says: "I think it is quite beyond the reach of legislation to prevent the recurrence of monetary derangement, caused by imprudent management or excessive competition in banking. The Legislature may mitigate the effects of such monetary derangement by an improvement in the banking system, and by providing greater security for the note issues permitted in the country." He (Mr. Macpherson) agreed with those gentlemen that nothing can be devised here which would prevent the bad management of banking institutions, and if bad management does take place nothing that we can do will prevent failure. He thought the evidence obtained fully justified him in asking for a committee of enquiry on a subject of so much importance, especially to the people of Ontario. His object was to discover whether any particular system was the cause of that unfortunate crisis. The evidence is very distinct upon the subject and the gentlemen who have given the evidence ascribe the crisis to the effect of the Provincial Bank Note Act. It was not his intention to censure those who took a legitimate advantage of the system which they found in existence, but if the system is defective we should remedy it. He would now read some of the evidence. Mr. Hague says: "In considering the subject of banking and currency in Canada, it is to be observed that the question cannot be considered simply in the light of an abstract proposition, and as if a system had to be inaugurated de novo. "We have in existence a number of chartered institutions with whom are inextricably associated all the financial interests of the country, the commerce both foreign and domestic, the agricultural, the manufactures, the fisheries, the mining, the shipping, the railways of the Dominion, all stand in such intimate connection with our existing chartered banks that no measure can be taken either to enlarge or restrict their functions, either to jeopardize or benefit their interests, but must tell through numerous channels upon every department of business, and act at once on the revenues of the Government itself. These considerations, while they should not operate to prevent measures being taken for the improvement and reformation in the constitution and charters of our banking corporations, so as to give greater security to the public, should undoubtedly lead to caution, lest in endeavoring to remedy evils in one direction others of a graver and more dangerous character are not brought to pass." The hon. members would see that all the gentlemen who have given evidence here are opposed to the extension, or continuance of the Dominion note system, and desire that the Parliament should retrace its steps in regard to that Act. They are in favor of the system formerly in existence, and suggest additional guarantees for the further security of the noteholders. Mr. Hague goes on to say, "Approaching now the important subject of a circulating currency, I must again take the liberty of calling attention to the position in which the country is placed. At present, nearly all the banks of Canada circulate their own notes. The only important exception is that of the bank which receives the Government deposits, and transacts the Government business, including the agency for issuing and redeeming Provincial currency. This institution ceased to issue its own notes about eighteen months ago, and since then has been issuing only the notes of the Government. I have already pointed out the position in which this institution stood with the Government, enabling this change to be carried out without disturbance to its general business. It would, however, be far different with the other Banks, which have large circulation. On this circulation, is founded a large amount of the banking business of the Province of Ontario, and to destroy it, would necessitate so large a curtailment of business facilities, that the repetition of the revulsion of 1857 would be inevitable." This evidence, he said, went to considerable length, but as it was in the hands of members, he would not take up the time of the House in reading it. He said, an overwhelming majority of the people of Ontario, and he believed a majority of the people of the Dominion, desire that we should return to the system, which existed before those Dominion notes were issued. He would call the attention of the House to the amendments to that system, suggested by a practical man, whose duty and business it is to watch the currency and form an opinion as to the best system for the country, including the best means of securing its redemption. The first suggestion, which he would not detain the House by reading, recommended that those charged with the management of banking institutions should have an interest in them to a sufficient amount to make them take a deep interest in their prosperity. The second suggestion was that a reserve should accumulate until it reaches not less than 25 per cent. on the paid up capital. The third is to prohibit the reduction of the capital of a bank, under any circumstances. If the capital has been impaired by losses, a call should be made upon the shareholders to pay up the amount necessary to bring the capital up to its original amount. In this connection he would allude to the difficulty encountered in managing a bank with a small capital. Where the capital is small the profit is necessarily small. To secure good management high salaries have to be paid, and this seriously impairs the profits where the capital is small. It is simply an impossibility that a bank with small capital can command the management of men of the ability and character necessary to give it success, and no bank should be chartered with a capital less than $1,000,000. Banks with small capitals will generally run the risk of inferior management, trusting that it may turn out fortunately. The fourth suggestion was in reference to the returns to be made by the banks. The fifth suggestion is: "That the privilege of circulation ought certainly to be continued, but it might be an advantage to restrict it to the amount of capital and Government securities." The sixth says: "The banks should be required to hold 20 per cent. of their demand liabilities in specie or legal tenders, and so long as they do this to prevent public interests suffering by any bank jealousies or hostilities, they should be bound to receive all current notes on deposit provided the same were daily redeemed." Seventh: "In case of it becoming necessary to wind up the affairs of a bank, the interests of creditors should be paramount, and the stockholders to be called on to make good any deficiency to the extent of their liability without delay." That was all he would detain the House by reading upon the subject, and he would only repeat that the other gentlemen who have given evidence are in favor of a return to the old system, and are especially opposed to the Dominion note system, either in its extension or continuance. In case the financial requirements of the Dominion should induce the Government to desire the introduction of a new system, the Committee recommend a system somewhat analogous to the national banking system of the United States. That system is one by which bank notes are issued upon the credit of national security. Suppose a company determines to establish a bank, they take a certain amount of securities, one million dollars for instance, to the controller; the Government upon that security issues to them 90 per cent. in bank notes. A margin of 10 per cent. is reserved for security in case of depreciation in value of securities, and they are required to redeem their notes in legal tenders, or as they are usually called greenbacks. These securities, placed with the Government, are held for the security of the noteholders. If through any mismanagement the bank is unable to redeem its notes, and this is brought under the notice of the Government, they close the business and realise these securities for the benefit of the noteholders, as the Government is responsible for them; but they retain a lien upon the assets of the bank for whatever the difference may be between the liabilities of the bank to the noteholders and the amount the securities may realise. That is the national banking system of the United States. The benefit to the bank is, it draws the rate of interest, whatever it may be, upon the amount of security it deposits with the Government. If $1,000,000 in securities is deposited it receives $900,000 in notes, and interest upon the million. The distinction between that and our Dominion note system is, that our Dominion notes have to be paid for in gold. The banks might just as well pay their gold over their counters, unless the Government be in debt to them. The National Bank Note system is one which with certain improvements might possibly be made to answer the purpose here, and give the Government as large an amount of money as they would have under the Dominion Note system. Certain changes would have to be made before adopting the system. It is all very well in the United States where specie payments are suspended to pay a percentage for the whole amount of security, but here it must be upon a specie basis, as banks would be required to redeem their notes on demand, therefore it would be necessary for them to reserve a certain amount of gold to meet the demands for redemption. Probably 20 or 25 per cent. would be sufficient for that purpose. If the national bank system should be entertained, he would suggest that instead of the banks purchasing securities with their gold, and depositing these securities with the Government as a basis for their issues, they should deposit the gold itself with the Government, to remain as a gold deposit, at interest, at the rate of 6 per cent., until required under the provisions of the law. In his opinion, this would be a great improvement; it would secure the currency upon a basis that would not be liable to depreciation, and therefore render it perfectly safe. It would also protect the banks from loss by the depreciation of Government securities. This, in his opinion, would be no more than just. If this mode were adopted, there would be no reason for withholding from the banks any portion of their capital as a margin to cover possible loss. They would be entitled to receive notes for the full amount of their capital. If the securities are not sufficient to pay the notes, the Government pays them, but recovers the deficiency from the Bank; but that would not be required by the mode he suggested of depositing gold with the Government instead of debentures.

Hon. Mr. FERRIER enquired whether his hon. friend had made provision for the expansion of the currency?

Hon. Mr. MACPHERSON said the difficulty in regard to expansion was a defect both in the Government note system, and in the National Bank system. He thought that any system which could not be made to expand, as the wants of the country required, without any particular connection with the Government of the country, was one that was unsuited to the requirements of Canada. If a regular and safer mode of expansion could be devised, it would remove one of the greatest objections to a National Bank system, but if that cannot be done then he had as great an objection to a national banking system as he had to the Dominion note system.

Hon. Mr. WILMOT would like to enquire whether his hon. friend intends that the gold shall be deposited with the Government, and they shall pay interest for it?

Hon. Mr. MACPHERSON—Does not the hon. gentleman see that they would be paying interest in any case? They pay interest on the debentures which are mere vouchers for the gold received for them. Why then not avoid the circumlocution of exchanging gold for debentures and then depositing those debentures with the Government? He, of course, did not expect that the Government would keep the gold in their vaults, but would sell securities, and buy gold when it was wanted.

Hon. Mr. WILMOT—When the Government issue debentures, they get money which they expend, but it is a different thing for the Government to hold this gold and pay interest for it.

Hon. Mr. MACPHERSON did not suppose any Government would be justified in doing anything so absurd as to hold a vault full of gold.

Hon. Mr. WILMOT—What would they do with it?

Hon. Mr. MACPHERSON—What do they do with the securities, which are equal to gold? The hon. member concluded by saying he hoped the Government would not oppose the adoption of the report, but he had strong fears that the Government were inclined to extend the Dominion note system, which he (Mr. Macpherson) believed was unsuited to the wants of the country. He did not suppose the Government had any desire but to serve the best interests of the country, and it was the duty of the members of the House to bring before them what they believed would attain that object. That was what he (Mr. Macpherson) had now been endeavoring to do, therefore, he hoped the report would be adopted, and he thought it could not fail to have a beneficial effect upon the country. It will show to the other House that we are in favor of a return to our former system of banking and currency, with some additional guarantees which he had endeavored to explain, but failing that, if the Government desire a system to give them a larger amount of the capital of the country, then the opinion of the House would be in favor of something analogous to the national banking system of the United States. He then moved the adoption of the report.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

THURSDAY, May 14, 1868.

First Sitting.

The SPEAKER took the chair at eleven o'clock.

After the transaction of business of routine, On motion of Hon. Mr. HOWLAND leave was given to introduce a Bill respecting the Northern Railway of Canada, which was read a first time.

Hon. Mr. HOWLAND moved the suspension of the 60th rule in so far as relating to the Bill.

Hon. Mr. HOLTON, referring to a technical objection made and sustained by gentlemen opposite against the reception of a petition presented by the member for Hochelaga, declined to accede, intimating that his party, finding the rules of the House rigidly enforced against them in the small share of business in which they could take the initiative, were determined that they should also be enforced by them, whenever their indulgence was appealed to.

After some discussion in which Hon. J. H. CAMERON and Mr. McKENZIE took part, and Mr. HOWLAND having ineffectually pressed his motion, Mr. HOLTON still insisting, it was allowed to drop.

JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.

Sir J. A. MACDONALD having moved the third reading of the Bill respecting the duties of Justices of the Peace, out of sessions, in regard to persons charged with indictable offences,

Hon. Mr. DORION objected that this measure, and the three following on the paper, were ultra vires, as creating new courts, and granting a criminal jurisdiction, which this Parliament was incompetent to establish.

Sir J. A. MACDONALD said that the Bill established no new courts of jurisdiction, but merely regulated the practice of those already established.

Hon. Mr. IRVINE held that the Federal Legislature could not interfere with courts of criminal law, which were exclusively under Provincial authority.

Hon. C. DUNKIN and Hon. J. C. CAMERON having further discussed the point, the Bill was read a third time and passed.

Sir J. A. MACDONALD then moved the third reading of the Bill, respecting the duties of Justices of the Peace, out of sessions, in relation to summary convictions, to which Hon. Mr. DORION took similar technical objection, and a long discussion took place, in which Mr. MILLS, Sir J. A. MACDONALD, Hon. J. H. CAMERON, and Hon. Col. GRAY took part, after which the Bill was read a third time and passed.

JUVENILE OFFENDERS.

On motion of Sir J. A. MACDONALD, the Bill for the more speedy trial and punishment of juvenile offenders, also passed the final stage.

MILITIA SALARIES.

On the motion of Sir G. E. CARTIER, the report of the Committee of the Whole upon the resolutions respecting the salaries of the Deputy Minister of Militia and Defence, and others, was received, and referred to the Committee of the Whole upon the Militia Bill.

INDEMNITY TO M. P'S.

On the motion of Sir J. A. MACDONALD, to declare certain persons therein mentioned indemnified for having sat and voted as members of the House of Commons, while holding certain offices under the Crown, was read a second time, and committed (Mr. MILLS in the chair) and, having been amended by the insertion of the name of Hon. Mr. Archambeault, was read a third time and passed, Hon. Mr. HOLTON expressing his hope that Ministers would induce their supporters to desist from the very discourteous conduct they had exhibited in the morning when the formal motion of the member for Hochelaga for reception of the petition of witnesses on election petition seeking remuneration for their time, and reimbursement for their expenses, had been rejected on the strict point of order. He assured hon. gentlemen opposite that, unless amends were to be made, the utmost rigour of the rules would be enforced by the Opposition.

TONNAGE DUES.

On motion of Hon. J. ROSE the House then went into Committee to consider certain resolutions on the subject of tonnage duties now payable in the Provinces of Quebec, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick,

Hon. Col. GRAY in the chair, which was agreed to and reception ordered for the next sitting.

It being two o'clock the House then adjourned.

Second Sitting.

The SPEAKER took the chair at 4 o'clock.

COURTESIES OF PARLIAMENT.

Sir G. E. CARTIER, referring to the complaint made by the member for Chateauguay, at the morning's sitting, of a want of courtesy towards the Hon. Mr. Dorion, in refusing the reception of the petition presented by him, explained that the cries of "no, no," by which the motion had been met, had not proceeded from the treasury bench; after which the petition was received.

On the motion of Hon. Mr. HOWLAND, the 60th rule was then suspended in favor of the Northern Railway of Canada Bill.

DESPATCH OF BUSINESS.

Hon. C. DUNKIN suggested that to facilitate the course of Select Committee business, there should be no morning sitting to-morrow, (to-day), or if the Government were unwilling to consent to this proposal, that there should at least be no sitting between two and four o'clock. Both suggestions were allowed to lapse without discussion, Ministers dissenting.

NORTHWEST TERRITORY.

Hon. Mr. HOLTON, in pursuance of notice, rose to ask the Government in what position the negociations for the transfer of the North-west Territory stood at present, referring to the newspaper statement, that the Government had been so eager to obtain the reply which had not yet, after five months' delay, been communicated, that they had requested its transmission by cable.

Sir J. A. MACDONALD was glad that the question had been asked, to which he was pleased to be able to give a specific reply. The Government had been, as was stated, most anxious for a speedy answer, which they had confidently expected to have received before the 12th March last, and although certainly the Imperial Government had been very slow in giving this answer, probably under the pressure of grave political complications at home, the Ministry of the Dominion could not be in any way considered responsible for the delay. About a fortnight ago a cable message had been received announcing that despatches on the subject had been forwarded, and these despatches, which had been just received, would be brought down by message to-morrow (this day.)

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY.

Hon. Mr. CONNELL, referring to the return which had been ordered of all correspondence upon the subject of the route of the Intercolonial Railway, complained that the most important portion had been omitted, and called the attention of the Chairman of the Printing Committee to the absence of valuable extracts from the letters which had passed between Mr. Wilkinson and Major Robinson.

Mr. McKENZIE said that the New Brunswick gentlemen serving on the Committee had themselves made the selection of the papers they considered necessary to have printed. They appeared to have made some mistake in the matter, but this he would have rectified without delay.

TONNAGE DUES.

The report of the Committee of the Whole upon the tonnage dues of the Maritime Provinces was received, and leave given for the introduction of a Bill founded thereon, which was ordered for a second reading to-morrow (this day).

CONSOLIDATED REVENUE.

On the motion of Hon. Sir JOHN A. MACDONALD, for the third reading of the Consolidated Revenue Fund Bill, considerable discussion ensued between Hon. Mr. HOLTON, Sir J. A. MACDONALD, and Hon. Mr. GALT, on the question of the increased Provincial subsidies agreed to by the London delegates contrary to the Quebec resolutions, which the latter gentleman explained had been permitted as an act of justice to the Lower Provinces at the instance of their representatives, after which the Bill was read a third time and passed.

PRIVATE BILLS.

Mr. GIBBS, by permission of the House presented a report of the Standing Committee on Banking and Commerce, stating that they had agreed to the following Bills with certain amendments, viz.:

An Act to amend Act 63 of the Consolidated Statutes of Lower Canada, relating to the measurement of coal;

An Act incorporating the Stratford Board of Trade; and

An Act incorporating the Canada Live Stock Insurance Company. With regard to the two last mentioned the Committee desired to call the attention of the House to the question of jurisdiction, it having been considered by some of their body that these measures belonged properly to the enactment of the Ontario Legislature.

SUPPLY.

Upon the motion of Hon. Mr. ROSE, for further consideration of resolutions reported from Committee of Supply, No. 115, expenses connected with Confederation, and No. 117, salaries and contingencies of customs,

Hon. Mr. HOLTON desired to ask how it had happened that the office of collectors of customs in the great metropolitan county of York, had been left vacant for more than three months. He presumed that the two local members (Mr. Harrison and Mr. Metcalfe), whose politics were antagonistic, had desired rival proteges to succeed to the appointment, and that this rivalry had complicated the subject, but considered that the Government should have been able before this to arrive at a definite appointment.

Sir J. A. MACDONALD said that the officer next in rank (Mr. Scott) was fully capable of discharging the duties of collector, and that no inconvenience had been experienced from his temporary administration. He has given so much satisfaction as to have been influentially recommended to fill the vacant post, and in the meantime, the amount of salary was being saved to the country. He had no doubt but that the Minister of Customs would be able to make a permanent appointment in a few days, when released from the present burthen of parliamentary duties.

Mr. McKENZIE thought that the hon. member for Chateauguay was unreasonable in this matter. He (Mr. Holton) must have sat long enough in parliament with the hon. premier to understand the policy of the latter in such circumstances. Such vacancies were never filled up for some months after they fell open. They all understood the reason and the desire of the Government to attach to themselves the expectant support of the crowds of applicants who thronged the lobbies, and who in their probationary period of suspense, were prepared to undertake any and all sorts of service for Ministers. He did not believe that the premier actually, and in set promises, deceived any of these office-seekers, but he certainly managed to impress each of them with a sense of his own good fortune, and was able to give such an answer all round as convinced each that he was to be the lucky individual. He knew this because these people had often told him so. The Minister waited until all these applicants were committed up to the neck to his support, and had gone so far—many would have gone to British Columbia if desired, and understood that some had gone to Nova Scotia to urge "conciliation" there—in this course that even the disappointment that was inevitable could not shake their involuntary allegiance. He had no doubt that a score of these gentlemen were at this moment going about the streets of Toronto proclaiming Sir J. A. Macdonald as the best man who had ever governed any country. (Laughter.) This policy might be very useful to the leader of the Government, but was demoralizing to the public service, and calculated to bring the administration as well as the individual applicants into public contempt.

After some further remarks from Hon. Mr. HOLTON and Mr. F. JONES, the latter observing that the admitted desirability of the despatch of business was ill-promoted by the introduction of such rambling discussions, and pointing out the inconsistency of at one time censuring Ministers for the superabundance, and at another for the paucity, of their officials, the resolutions were concurred in.

PENSIONS.

On motion of Hon. Mr. ROSE for reception of the report of Committee of the Whole upon the resolutions respecting the salaries and allowances attached to certain offices,

Mr. DUFRESNE, objecting to the principle involved in the grant of pensions to judges, moved in amendment that the resolutions be not concurred in, but referred back to the committee, with instructions to strike out the provisions for such object.

Sir G. E. CARTIER said the measure was necessary to place the Bench of Lower Canada on the same footing as that of Upper Canada, and to provide for the necessary relief, by retiring allowance, of the judiciary from the incumbency of aged or infirm occupants.

It being six o'clock the Speaker then left the chair.

After Recess.

The SPEAKER explained that the resolutions would be put seriatim, and the first having been concurred in, on the second being put,

Mr. MASSON (Soulanges) continued the discussion, maintaining that the salaries given to judges were excessive, and were only passed so easily because of the large proportion of lawyers in the House, each of whom looked forward himself to one day attaining the bench. (Laughter.) He was strongly opposed to the principle of granting pensions, more especially to officials whose incompetence and immorality were, in many instances, notorious. He would suggest the retention of a percentage, say five, from the salaries paid, which would accumulate to a considerable sum available for future retiring allowances. He regretted being compelled to vote against the Government, but was compelled conscientiously to do so on the present motion.

Hon. Mr. HOLTON, although considering the amendment as involving a stronger expression of want of confidence than that recently proposed by himself, would support the Government on the principle which he believed to be correct—that of assimilating the position of the bench of Quebec to that of Ontario.

After some remarks from Mr. CHAMBERLIN,

Mr. JONES would prefer to see the system assimilated by the repeal of the judicial privileges of Ontario, rather than by their extension to Quebec. Retiring judges frequently got excellent appointments, as arbitrators for example. The principles of extravagance, of which this was one of the fruits, which were being introduced in the country would impose upon the resources and people of the Dominion a burthen heavier than they could bear.

Sir J. A. MACDONALD defended the practice prevailing in Upper Canada. So far from abusing the privilege conceded to them, but two judges had ever availed themselves of it, and these, of one of whom, the late Chancellor Blake, he could not speak too highly, after their retirement, had worked in the Court of Appeal until the hour of their deaths. It was a wise economy to permit of the Government's securing the efficiency of the bench by being able to suggest to any judge who had outlived his vigor that his retirement was desirable and feasible. It must be remembered that a judge was debarred from command of any other professional resources than those afforded by his position, and unless born with a silver spoon in his mouth, as very few were in this country, was in the absence of a provision of the nature proposed, left in his old age to the choice between the preservation of an office for which he was unfitted, and the abandonment of his only source of income.

Sir G. E. CARTIER having paid a high compliment to the character and efficiency of Mr. Justice Day, whom he defended from the insinuations brought against him by the hon. member for Leeds,

Mr. F. JONES explained that he had no intention of making personal reflections upon either of the two distinguished gentlemen named, but he merely referred to the circumstances of their respective cases in illustration of his general argument.

Mr. McKENZIE expressed his acknowledgments to the hon. Premier, for the handsome manner in which he had defended Mr. Blake's high character, and would support the motion of the Government, believing it to be necessary to provide some provision for gentlemen whose health had failed in the public service, and only just to place the judiciary of both Provinces on an equal footing.

The amendment was then put, and the House divided with the following result:—Yeas 35 nays 105; after which the second and third resolutions were concurred in.

Mr. DUFRESNE having demanded a division on the fourth, concurrence was taken by a vote of 101 to 35, after which the fifth and last was concurred in without discussion.

On the motion of the Hon. Mr. ROSE leave was then given to introduce a Bill (founded on the above resolutions) entitled "An Act to provide for the Governor-General's civil list, and for the salaries of other officials, the second reading of which was ordered for to-morrow (this day.)

EVIDENCE BY COMMISSION.

Sir J. A. MACDONALD introduced a Bill providing for the reception of evidence taken in any other portion of Her Majesty's Dominions, the second reading of which was ordered for to-morrow (this day).

RAILWAYS.

Sir G. E. CARTIER presented the report of the Standing Committee upon Railways, agreeing to a Bill entitled an Act respecting railways.

MESSAGE FROM SENATE.

The SPEAKER read a message from the Senate reporting their argument with certain amendments to the Bill, respecting Penitentiaries, the Bill for securing copyright, and the Bill for the amalgamation of the Commercial and Merchants' Banks, the amendments upon which were ordered for consideration to-day.

On the motion of Hon. Mr. ROSE for reception of the report of Committee of Supply.

Mr. McKENZIE desired to call the attention of the House to some items under the head of Public Works, referring to the enormous sums paid to Mr. Page, (Chief Engineer,) whose salary was supposed to be $3,400, but who last year received no less a sum than $7,437; in the year proceeding $5,065; and in the year before that $4,976; making a total for three years of $16,976, or a sum far greater than Ministers themselves. For this rate of payment the public had right to expect good and faithful service, but it was notorious how inefficiently the supervision of the contractors for these buildings had been carried out, the works being nominally undertaken at a stated schedule of prices, which it was easy to ascertain by calculation had been exceeded enormously in almost every item, of several of which he entered into minute statistical particulars in support of his allegation. From these it appeared that the public moneys had been most outrageously misapplied in every special piece of work which he quoted, and squandered in a method almost impossible to believe. Among these remarkable transactions was the item for construction of the steps leading to the Speaker's chair—a piece of work really worth some $7, but charged for at $187. (Oh! Oh!) There was a charge of $1,681 for 200 wardrobes, certified to by Mr. Page as moderate and reasonable. He had applied to competent practical authorities to ascertain the real value of these, and had had them variously estimated at from $1.75 to $2.50 each. The shelving of the library cost $3,300, and was manifestly worth less than half the sum. And these returns from which he quoted, after having been delayed for so long, were accompanied by the astonishing declaration that if it had been expected that they would be looked for minutely the records of information sought for would have been kept more accurately. He was under the impression that business practice required that whether to be ever asked for, or otherwise such information should be kept invariably accessible, more especially by an officer who, in addition to his extravagant salary, was actually paid $5 a day on special account of this supervision alone. He might go on almost indefinitely in his enumeration of such transactions, by which he had almost said that the country was cheated, but had adduced, he imagined, sufficient to adequately attract the attention of the House. If, for instance, he was to tell them that for re-arrangement of that chamber, for turning round the chairs and making a few alterations in the galleries, $7,000 had been paid, it would almost sound incredible. He regretted extremely, being compelled, to make such an exposure of any official, but the facts were too flagrant to permit of his conscientiously keeping silence.

Hon. Mr. MACDOUGALL did not know that it was his especial duty to defend Mr. Page, but proceeded to show that he was, beyond all others, the one Government official, whose character and conduct was above all reproach, or even suspicion. He had undertaken the duties, for performance of which he had been that evening taken to task with the utmost reluctance, and only under the strongest pressure of Government urgency. The extra payment of $5 daily was very small for the services rendered, whereby a large public saving had been effected. If the member for Lambton desired fuller information on matters of detail, he would direct Mr. Page to furnish it, and meanwhile he might say that there was no sufficient ground for the violent attack which had been made on an old and valued public servant.

Mr. McKENZIE said the explanations offered did not touch the point. Mr. Page had stated that the work was done at schedule rates, which he had clearly shown not to have been the case, and he was sure the tax payers of the country would insist upon a more satisfactory explanation.

Hon. Mr. HOLTON characterized the reply of the Minister for Public Works as most unbecoming. Mr. Page was doubtless a highly esteemed officer, but it was impossible for him to discharge simultaneously the duties of architect, engineer, and superintendent, for which he had drawn the several salaries. The member for Lambton had proved gross extravagance and over payment in the Public Works Department, and the manner in which his disclosures had been met was most disgraceful.

Dr. PARKER denied that Mr. McKenzie's accusations had been answered as their clearness and distinctness demanded. Until they were so answered the public could place no confidence in the Department, and he held that the official who had recommended such reckless over payments ought to be dismissed.

Sir J. A. MACDONALD defended the Minister for Public Works from the attack of the member for Chateauguay, and Mr. Page from that of Dr. Parker.

Mr. McKENZIE admitting the right of the premier to apologize for his colleague, justified his own statement, and said that he might mention in support, that he had as long ago as 1866, called the attention of Parliament to the same subject, and had three weeks ago distinctly intimated to Mr. MacDougall that he intended to open up this question, on which he was now taunted with having taken the advantage of surprise, while his purpose had in reality been publicly known, and even communicated by the newspapers to Mr. Page himself.

Messrs. BODWELL, WHITE, and STIRTON, having supported the arguments of the member for Lambton,

Mr. METCALFE defended Mr. Page, whom he had long known as a most efficient engineer, and worthy and reliable official, after which

The report was adopted.

INLAND REVENUE.

On the motion of the Hon. Mr. HOWLAND, the amendments made by the Senate to the Bill constituting the department of Inland Revenue were agreed to, and read a second time.

MILITIA BILL.

On the motion of Sir G. E. CARTIER, the House again went into Committee on the Bill respecting the Militia and defence of the Dominion of Canada,

Hon. S. CAMPBELL in the chair.

The Several remaining clauses of which were agreed to, and the reception of the report ordered for to-morrow (this day).

SUPPLY BILL.

Hon. J. ROSE then introduced a Bill of supply, the second reading being ordered for to-day.

DEPARTMENT OF CUSTOMS.

A message was received from the Senate intimating their assent to the Bill constituting the Department of Customs, with one amendment, which was read a first, second, and third time, and adopted.

CLOSE OF THE SESSION.

Hon. Mr. HOLTON suggested that, at so late a period of the Session, the Bill respecting the Independence of Parliament and the Insurance Bill ought not to be pressed. They could not obtain the consideration desirable for their importance, with a view to completing the course of business by Saturday.

Hon. Mr. ROSE having expressed his sense of the urgency of the latter measure, and a discussion ensuing between Hon. Mr. DUNKIN, Mr. YOUNG, and others,

Hon. Mr. HOLTON intimated a hope that the Government would be able to come to a definite decision on the following day.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.

On the motion of Sir J. A. MACDONALD, the Bill respecting cruelty to animals was read a second time, committed, and ordered for a third reading to-day,

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

As also, on the motion of Hon. Mr. LANGEVIN, was the Bill constituting the Department of Agriculture,

EXCISE.

And also the Bill to increase the duty on spirits, to impose an excise duty on refined petroleum, and to provide for the inspection thereof,

FORTIFICATION.

And the Bills making provision for defraying the expense of certain works of fortification, required for the defence of the Dominion,

QUEBEC HARBOR.

And amending the Act providing for the management of the harbor of Quebec, after which the House rose at twenty-six minutes to one this morning.

MARRIED.

Circular.

DOWNING-STREET,
25th April, 1867.

SIR,—

With reference to the Circular Despatch from this Department dated the 5th of June, 1866, relative to the case of Foreigners naturalized in any of Her Majesty's Colonies who wish to obtain British Passports for foreign travel—I have the honor to inform you that different cases have occurred lately in which such naturalized Foreigners have applied in this country for passports without being in possession either of a Passport from the Governor or of any Official Document from the Colony to establish their identity and character. You will readily perceive that this is calculated to embarrass this Department, and also to cause much private inconvenience to the persons concerned if they should find themselves unable to produce any sufficient evidence of their quality.

I have therefore to suggest that, in every Colony containing naturalized Foreigners who are likely to travel in Europe, it would be convenient that notice should from time to time be given in public newspapers of the necessity for such persons providing themselves before leaving the Colony with some official evidence of their identity and description.

I have the honor to be,
Sir,

Among the most important of modern Medical Discoveries stands the

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER

for Side, Back and Head, Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Sprains, Bruises, Cramps in the Stomach, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery, Bowel Complaints, Burns, Scalds. Frost Bites, &c., &c.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER HAS now been before the public for a length of time, and whenever used is well liked, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single case of dissatisfaction where the directions are properly followed; but on the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its virtues and magical effects.

We speak from experience in this matter, having tested it thoroughly, and therefore those who are suffering from any of the complaints for which it is recommended may depend upon its being a Sovereign Remedy.

The astonishing efficacy of the Canadian Pain Destroyer, in curing diseases for which it is recommended, and its wonderful success in subduing the torturing pains of Rheumatism, and in relieving Nervous Affections, entitle it to a high rank in the list of Remedies for these complaints. Orders are coming in from Medicine Dealers in all parts of the country for further supplies, and each testifying as to the universal satisfaction it gives

The Canadian Pain Destroyer never fails to give immediate relief. All Medicine Dealers keep it. Physicians order and use it; and no family will without it after once trying it.

Price twenty-five cents per bottle.

FOR SALE OR TO LET.

For Sale in Ottawa City.

A VALUABLE LOT, 200 feet square, situated in one of the most desirable quarters of the city, being Lot No. 38, Victoria-street, North. Amongst many advantages it possesses a very great one, viz., that no one can build on three sides of it, on account of the street in front, the bluff on the west, and the Government reserve for fortifications on the north. The situation is charming, as it commands a beautiful view of the Chaudiere Falls and all the surrounding country.

The title is indisputable, and all the taxes are paid.

For particulars, as regards terms, &c., apply by letter to

HORACE L. FORBES,

No. 24, Rideau-street.

THE Undersigned would take this op-portunity to express his thanks to his Customers in Ottawa and vicinity for their very liberal patronage in the past, and to solicit a continuance of their favors in the future, and to assure them that no effort on his part shall be wanting to supply them with the Best and Cheapest English and American Hardware. I do not pretend to sell at cost, but do propose to sell as cheap as any other establishment in Ontario. My stock shall comprise every article in the line of Hardware, and with the one price system I hope to merit and receive a continuance of the very liberal patronage given me in the past.

DARLEY'S

Arabian Heave Remedy

AND CONDITION MEDICINE

IS POSITIVELY SUPERIOR TO ANY or all other preparations for the cure of Heaves, Coughs, Thick and Broken Wind, and all diseases which affect the Wind of Horses; also, as a Condition Medicine, surpassing everything of the kind. It is easy to give, sure to cure, and safe in all cases and at all times, and does not prevent the horse from being worked while using it.

It cleanses the breathing apparatus, by removing from the air-cells the coagulable lymph, or that secretion which in heaves clogs them, causing a difficulty in breathing, and by its action on the diseased part, causing the mucous membrane to resume its natural dimensions, thus equalizing the circulation of the blood, and restoring the distended vessels to their natural size; by its use the horse's appetite is improved, all derangements of the digestive organs corrected, softening the skin, and giving to the coat a sleek and shining appearance.

SHOULD BUY THEIR TEAS FROM

The Importers Direct.

THE MONTREAL TEA COMPANY, 6, Hospital-street, Montreal, have sent over one thousand packages to different parts of the country, and receive every day assurances that the Tea gives entire satisfaction. Subjoined are a few of the numerous testimonials already received:

RUSSELL HOTEL, Quebec, Jan. 7, 1867.—Montreal Tea Company: Gentlemen, the six chests of Tea forwarded some time since arrived in good order. The quality is pure and excellent, and prices cheap. As I am particular in buying the best quality of Tea to be had for our guests, I am pleased to acquaint you that it gives general satisfaction. Your obedient servant,

WILLIS RUSSELL.

FELCOMB, Dec. 23, 1867.—Montreal Tea Company: Gentlemen, the Oolong Tea which you sent me gives great satisfaction. I forwarded part of the chest to a friend in Toronto, who informs me he considers it as good as that he was using for which he paid one dollar per lb. Please send me a chest of Young Hyson at same price, viz., at 75 cents per lb. Address as before. Your obedient servant,

JNO. T. DAY.

HOUSE OF SENATE, Ottawa, December 16, 1867. Montreal Tea Company: Gentlemen, the box of English Breakfast and Young Hyson Tea which you sent me gives great satisfaction. You may expect my future orders. Yours, &c.,

S. SKINNER.

COBOURG, January 8, 1868.—Montreal Tea Company: Gentlemen, I beg to inform you that the two boxes of Tea you sent me are of excellent quality, especially the Young Hyson at 60 cents. Please send another box, or 20 lbs., at same price, and oblige yours, &c.,

F. OLIVER.

The contributors to the Medical Journal have frequently declared that one-half the nervous diseases are caused by drinking impure Tea. The Company have carefully selected and imported a supply of Teas that can be warranted pure and free from poisonous substances, in 50, 25, 20, 15 and 12 lb. boxes.

BLACK TEA.

Common Congou, Broken Leaf, Strong Tea, 45c, 50c.; Fine Flavoured New Season, do; 55c, 60c and 65c; Excellent Full Flavored do, 75c; Sound Oolong, 45c; Rich Flavored do, 60c; Very Fine do, do, 75c; Japan, Good, 50c, 55c; Very Fine, 60c; Finest, 65c, 75c.

GREEN TEA.

Twankay common, 38c; Fine do, 55c; Young Hyson, 50c, 60c, 65c and 70c; Fine do, 75c; Very Fine, 85c; Superfine and Very Choice, $1.00; Fine Gunpowder, 85c; Extra Superfine do, $1.

All orders for 20 or 25 lbs., or two 12 lbs., sent carriage free to the country. Teas not mentioned in this circular sent equally cheap. The Company having determined to take a stand in the Montreal market, weight, quality and circular may be implicitly relied on. Where a 20 lb. box would be too much, two or three clubbing together could divide. An excellent mixed Tea could be sent for 60c to 70c; very good for common purposes, 50c. Buyers living beyond Railway Stations will please send Post Office order or enclosed notes. The carriage will be paid to the nearest station. Tea will be forwarded immediately on receipt of the order by mail containing money, or the money can be collected on delivery by express-man where there are express offices. A trial solicited.

THE MONTREAL TEA COMPANY,
6, Hospital-street, Montreal.

All boxes sent from this establishment have the Company's name printed on them.

The Ottawa Times

SATURDAY, MAY 16, 1868.

It seems a pity that at the present time three regiments of soldiers should be removed from the Province of Ontario, without any apparent intention of supplying their places with others. The Western Province is undoubtedly as much exposed to attack as any other part of the Dominion, and though we have no apprehension that any attempt will be made this summer to invade our territory, yet it is always wise to be prepared for possibilities.

A portion of the citizens of the neighboring Republic are no less lawless and predatory in their dispositions than they have been in former times, though for the present internal discord may have weakened their power for mischief. They are being hounded on by a recreant Irish Canadian through the Buffalo Fenian Volunteer, to deeds of reprisal, should just punishment overtake any of the prisoners now in custody, and though we can hardly believe that the sheet in question can have much influence, even with the most fanatical or the most debased, still it is, par excellence, the organ of the redoubtable O'NEIL, who is endeavoring either to "raise the wind" or provoke another incursion into Canada, or, perhaps both, for money and mischief appear to be equally gratifying to his tastes. It is not, however, because of any anticipation of a Fenian movement on Canada, still less through any doubt of its ignominious discomfiture, if it were attempted, that we regret the necessity which has led to the withdrawal of troops from the West. It is because the seeming absence of a powerful repelling force, may tempt those madcaps to believe that a temporary incursion might be effected with comparative impunity. Such an idea, however foolish, might possibly involve some trouble to demonstrate its absurdity, and it appears, therefore, that as little occasion as possible should be given for its being entertained for a moment.

The political condition of the United States is eminently calculated to be prolific of mischief. A paralysed Executive, with two contending factions, willing to sacrifice everything for the sake of carrying the Presidential election in November next; a press too subservient to party interests to speak out against brigandism and murder, lest thereby they might expose their party to the loss of the Fenian vote; the prospect of the complete consummation of the Radical revolution by the deposition of the President, with the probability of that step being followed by still more turmoil and confusion and general laxity of Executive administration:—these things do not hold out any comforting assurance that the Government will exercise even the tardy measure of restraint put in force by President JOHNSON in 1866. We do not believe that the United States will disregard their obligations; but we hold that it is quite possible that the internal complications existing in the heart of the Union may absorb Executive attention to the entire forgetfulness of the border. This is, at least, among the possibilities, and should warn us to rely upon our own resources, while hoping, and not without reason, for the friendly action of our neighbours in restraining their own citizens.

Another reason why the Western Province ought to be honored with a full share of Her Majesty's forces in this Dominion, may be found in the importance of the Province as an integral portion thereof. It is well known that the cities and towns wherein the military are stationed, set no little value on the acquisition; and in so far as the distribution of troops can be combined with general effectiveness and immediate availability, the claims of Ontario to its full share ought not to be lost sight of.

We are pleased to note that Mr. MORGAN'S "Bibliotheca Canadensis," has met with much favor among the highest literary authorities both in England and America. The following very flattering notice appears in the last number of the Westminster Review:

> "Amongst miscellaneous books, we must not forget to notice Mr. Morgan's "Bibliotheca Canadensis," which is invaluable to all libraries and public institutions. It, in fact, forms a supplement to Lowndes and Watt, and gives special information, which can be found nowhere else, on a special subject. It gives not only titles of all books and pamphlets written in or by natives of Canada, but of all works written upon the history and affairs of the Province. The enormous utility of such a work is at once obvious. The book carries its own recommendation. It only requires to be known in order to be appreciated."

In the same number of the Westminster MERCATOR (of Montreal), is unmercifully critized for his "Bookkeeper and song of the Bell." It is some consolation to know that Canadian authors engage the attention of English critics, even if their works are sometimes damned. The discrimination gives value to praise when it is bestowed.

R. G. HALIBURTON, Esq., arrived in this city yesterday from Halifax, and is stopping at the Revere House.

MR. JONES (Leeds) has given notice of motion challenging the general administration of the Public Works Department during past years, and calling for an entire change of system.

DEPARTURE OF ZOUAVES.—Messrs. Emmanuel Tasse, clerk with Messrs. Kearns & Ryan, son of Mr. Louis Tasse, teacher, and Joseph Vincent, son of Joseph Vincent, Messenger in the Parliamentary Library, left this city on Monday last by the steamer for Montreal for the purpose of joining the second detachment of Zouaves, about to leave Canada in a few days for the Eternal City.—Le Canada.

IRISH PROTESTANT BENEVOLENT SOCIETY.

At the last regular meeting of the Irish Protestant Benevolent Society, the following resolution was unanimously adopted, and since forwarded to the widow of the late Hon. Thos. D'Arcy McGee:

Resolved,—That the "Irish Protestant Benevolent Society of Ottawa," at its first regular meeting since the melancholy morning of the 7th of April last, desires to record its horror and detestation of the vile crime by which the life of the late lamented Hon. T. D. McGee was so untimely cut short, and also to tender to Mrs. McGee and family the expression of its sincere and heartfelt sympathy and condolence with them in the sad affliction which has befallen them; and it prays that the God of the widow and the fatherless will ever protect and comfort them in their sorrow. The I.P.B.S. received many marks of kindness from the late Mr. McGee which it will ever cherish with the proudest remembrance; to his matchless eloquence so freely and cheerfully given, it owes much of its success. His genial, warm heart endeared him as much to the Protestant as the Roman Catholic Irish, both of which it was his earnest wish to see respecting and loving one another as fellow-countrymen, without any compromise of creed or principle. The Society desires to add this humble expression of its sympathy to that of the whole Dominion, and trusts that Mrs. McGee will accept it as coming from true and faithful hearts who loved and admired her late husband, not only for his personal worth, but for those great powers of intellect and eloquence with which he was so eminently endowed, and which it was his happiest pleasure to use in the sacred cause of charity.

(Signed,) WM. F. POWELL,
President I.P.B.S., Ottawa.

LOCAL NEWS.

New hoop skirts just received by Magee and Russell.

BOG OAK JEWELLERY.—Very handsome sets of bog oak jewellery can be had at Young & Radford's, at $1 per set.

THE season for muslin dresses and lace shawls being close at hand, ladies should see the great variety of novelties at Mageo and Russell's.

FINE coral jewellery, bog oak jewellery and a large collection of other goods suitable for wedding and other presents can be seen at Young & Radford's; all new and choice goods and will be sold cheap.

THANKS.—We are requested to return the thanks of the new Edinburgh Church Committee to Messrs. Orme & Son, for the loan of the fine Chickering pianoforte used at their late concert at Her Majesty's Theatre.

ANOTHER BAD CHARACTER HOUSED.—Yesterday afternoon an old offender, named Marie Lariviere, was brought before Thomas Langrell, Esq., one of Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace for the County of Carleton, charged with vagrancy. County Constable Silcox testified to having arrested her in McKay's bush, where he found her dressed in the uniform coat of one of the Rifle Brigade, and having a soldier's mess can, and some other articles bearing the military mark. She is a hard case, and though not twenty years of age has followed her present disreputable career over three years. She was sentenced to one month in jail at hard labor.

NATURAL HISTORY SOCIETY.—A meeting of the Natural History Society was held last evening to organize an excursion on the Queen's Birthday to the Chats Falls, when it was determined that the excursion should take place. Mr. Cassells, on the part of the Union Forwarding and Railway Company, undertakes to convey the members and their friends there and back for $2.50, two sumptuous meals included. Those, therefore, who desire to enjoy the beautiful scenery, and the pleasures of the trip, should make early application for tickets to W. H. Whyte, Secretary of the Society. Such applications should be made as early as possible, than Tuesday next.

THE HULL PENNY READINGS.—An excellent entertainment was given by the Literary Society of Hull on Tuesday evening last, in the Town Hall, which we learn was well attended. Some of the many excellent selections of British and American authors were read in a superior style. We have received a communication on the subject, which want of space prevents us publishing. It is to be hoped that the young gentlemen engaged in this work will labor to acquire a good knowledge of elocution during the summer months, to prepare themselves for the next winter's campaign. Good reading is a rare accomplishment which can be acquired only by diligent study and years of practice.

REQUIEM MASS AT GRENVILLE.—On Tuesday last a Requiem Mass was celebrated for the late Mr. McGee at the Roman Catholic church, Grenville. Flags floated at half-mast on the church and public buildings, and the interior of the edifice was appropriately draped, and a beautiful catafalque was erected, bearing the motto of the deceased: Fac et Spera. There was a very large attendance on the occasion, composed of Christians of all creeds and denominations. The holy sacrifice was offered by the Rev. Mr. Mancius, curate of La Branche, and the Rev. Mr. Marcis, priest of the mission of Grenville, assisted by the Revd. Mr. Bourassa, curate of Montebello, the Revd. Mr. Brunet, curate of L'Orignal, and the Revd. Mr. Bigby, curate of Thurso, who also preached an eloquent sermon on the occasion.

ST. PATRICK'S ORPHANS' BAZAAR.—In our notices of this Bazaar we inadvertently omitted to mention the fine lithograph portrait of His Holiness Pope Pius the Ninth, at the table presided over by Mrs. O'Meara, Mrs. Lemieux, and Miss McCarthy. It is a large and good picture, and we were told a true likeness. It was presented by Mr. Donald Noonan, proprietor of the Imperial Hotel, Quebec. The Bazaar will probably be brought to a close this evening, but visitors who desire a chance in the many objects for sale on exhibition are yet in time. For those who desire to taste the Epicurean delicacies of the refreshment table, so well presided over by Mrs. Enright and Mrs. Mathews, these ladies will be found at their post ready to supply their wants both in eating and drinking.

POLICE COURT.—Edouard Cote was charged with being drunk and disorderly, contrary to the by-law, &c., and fined $2 and costs.—Mary Ann Campeau was charged, on the information of Margaret Dogherty, with keeping a house of ill-fame. The informant was called and testified that she had stopped at prisoner's house for eight weeks, commencing in January, and left in the middle of March. That she saw everything of a disorderly and improper character; that the house was frequented by men, and that she was one of three girls kept by prisoner; and they each paid twelve dollars a week for their board. Sergeants Davis and Brown both testified to the prisoner's house being one of ill-fame. Brown said he had been to the house several times lately with a warrant for her apprehension, but could not find her. She was living now on the previous evening, in an upper storey on Sussex street. She offered, if released, to give up her present mode of life, and retire to privacy, which she hoped some kind friends would enable her to do. The magistrate reminded her of similar promises she made on former occasions, which she had broken, and said he had made up his mind that whenever she should be convicted on good testimony before him, he would punish her; it was the duty of the Court to protect such characters from showing to the innocent servant girls how the wages of sin enabled her servant girls like herself to wear fine dresses and drive in carriages without working, whilst he intended to sentence her to three months hard labor in jail, and pay a fine of one hundred dollars, or be detained in prison three months longer.

AUCTION SALES TO-DAY BY MR. ROWE.—One at Mr. Keating's, Sparks-st., at 11 o'clock, a.m., of household furniture; and the other at the auction room, No. 42 Rideau-st., at 2 o'clock, p.m., of parlor furniture. See advertisement.

OLE BULL'S CONCERT.—Whilst we are satisfied that the world-wide reputation of this, the greatest of living violinists, is amply sufficient to fill the theatre this evening, we cannot nevertheless refrain from alluding to him. Independently of his being in all respects incomparably superior to all other violinists since the days of Paganini, he is to all intents and purposes a good man, and a philanthropist. There is no part of the world in which he has not travelled, where he has not left behind him monuments of his goodness of heart. His native city, Bergen, has abundant cause to revere him for his munificence and indefatigable labours to promote the cause of art. In the icy regions of Moscow and in other parts of Russia, thousands of warm hearts beat in grateful unison to his praise for benefits conferred in all directions with a most liberal hand. In Pennsylvania, some years ago, he built a village for his poor countrymen, who were immigrants there, and since that time, his warm and generous heart has never failed in response to the claims of humanity. The means for the accomplishing the vast amount of good he has done, have all been derived from the exercise of his art. Some of his greatest acts of generosity were performed many years ago, since when he has revisited Europe, where for the last ten years, he has been engaged in perfecting his mastery over his instrument, which is said to be now so complete as to astonish those even who crowded his concerts of a quarter of a century ago. To the vigor and brilliancy of former years he has added a larger and grander tone, a more positive and clear intonation, and a broader delivery; his impassioned thought and execution have become more intensified, whilst his whole style retains all the freshness of the youthful Ole Bull, on whom were lavished riches and honors by the great men of the earth. The lives of great musicians are generally full of interest, but if a faithful biography of Ole Bull shall ever be written, it will exceed, in thrilling and romantic light and shadow, all with which we are acquainted. We know but partially acquainted with his powers and history, who look forward with a kind of awe, mingled with veneration, to his advent upon the stage this evening. Of the troupe accompanying him we have seen in the musical journals excellent reports, but even if we had not, our faith in him would be a sufficient guarantee that he would not be surrounded by other than the very best professional company. Those who would obtain seats should secure them early this morning.

FROM MONTREAL.

Special to THE TIMES.

MONTREAL, May 15, 1868.

Weather close and sultry.

The S.S. Peruvian arrived up last night. The St. David arrived at Quebec to-day.

A fire broke out this evening on Great St. James-st., in the Petroleum Gas Company's store, adjoining Ottawa Hotel. The building was gutted. Stein's tailor shop, and Hall's news depot in the same building all came to grief. Loss about $3,000, partly insured.

Notman was taken by train to-day for Kingston.

The 100th Regiment was inspected this morning on the Champ de Mars. They looked well, and were sharp in drill and movements.

To-morrow, (Saturday,) there will be a grand review on Logan's farm.

Heavy rain, but sultry.

THIS MORNING'S DESPATCHES.

THE IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

Mr. Bright Introduces the Repeal Petition.

AN ECCLESIASTICAL DEPUTATION TO THE QUEEN.

French Ultimatum to the Bey of Tunis.

FRANCE PREPARING FOR WAR.

LONDON, May 15—midnight.—In the House of Commons this evening Mr. Bright presented the petition from the people of Nova Scotia, praying Parliament for a repeal of the Act by which that Province was united to the Dominion of Canada. The petitioners denounce the Canadian Union as evil, uncalled for, and unjust, the result of surprise sprung on the people, and of fraud practised in Parliament. After the reading of the document, the evening of the 26th instant was assigned for debate on the subject.

PARIS, May 15—Eve.—An ultimatum has been despatched by the French Government to the Bey of Tunis.

It is rumored that the Count de Sartigas, Minister at Rome, will be removed.

LONDON, May 15.—Civil dissensions in Japan had killed commerce.

Important despatches from Japan have been received. The civil war is being vigorously prosecuted. The army of Enokado arrived near Jedo. Advices from Athens state that the Montaineers claim that in recent conflicts with the Turks the latter were defeated and driven to the seacoast.

PARIS, May 15.—In the Corps Legislatif the debate on commerce, which has been carried on in the week with a speech from M. Thiers in favor of protection, was continued in yesterday's session by M. de Forcials Paquette. The Minister of Commerce, who replied to the arguments of Thiers and de Forcials, described the opening of the commercial question, and the creation of a crisis in trade, when peace and industrial prosperity were sure and undisturbed. He declared France would not adopt a retrograde policy, either on the question of commerce or other public questions.

General Foilly, commanding the encampment of Chalons, in an address to the troops, says war being possible, the labors of the camp must be prosecuted with vigor.

RESUMED DEBATE ON THE FINANCIAL CRISIS.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL hoped his hon. friend would forgive him for expressing his surprise at the course he had pursued, in presenting this matter before the House. He was sure his hon. friend, as a business man, would naturally desire to pursue a course which would advance the object he has in view, in a practical way. Instead of advancing his object in a practical way, he seeks, by the adoption of this report, to commit the House, which is a practical body, to a series of theories, based upon the evidence of a few bankers, whose testimony is taken and upheld by his own opinion. When he moved for the Committee to be appointed, he had assured the House that he did not desire to reflect upon any banking institution, or the Government, which assurance he (Mr. Campbell) had felt bound to accept, but he must confess that his hon. friend has been unfortunate in the course pursued, if such was his intention. The witnesses summoned, and the report made, does reflect upon the Government, and does reflect upon particular institutions. The first report was put forward in an irregular manner; it was reported in the newspapers before it was submitted to the House. That was a breach of Parliamentary privilege.

Hon. Mr. MACPHERSON—I explained how that occurred. I said an error was made by an officer of the House.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL said he did not make any remark in regard to any error creeping into the report, but he did complain that the report did not make its appearance first on the table of the House, before appearing in the public newspapers of the day.

Hon. Mr. MACPHERSON—My conviction is that no copies of the report were distributed before it was laid upon the table of the House. I saw a telegraphic report of it in the newspapers, but that report was not obtained from me. If my hon. friend means to say that I, as chairman of that Committee, was a party to that report getting into the papers, I can assure him that he is in error.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL had supposed so, but would now apologise for having formed that opinion. It was unfortunate that a report of this kind should have been placed in the hands of the public in a garbled manner.

Hon. Mr. MACPHERSON—The correct report was in the papers.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL—It is a mistake to suppose that the newspaper report was correct, because it is asserted in that report that it was the opinion of the Committee that the proceedings of the Bank of Montreal aggravated the commercial crisis, whereas in the correct report it is not expressed as the opinion of the Committee, but it is expressed as the opinion of witnesses who gave evidence before the Committee. A report went abroad throughout the Province creating the impression that the Committee had formed and expressed an opinion in a very direct manner in reference to this particular point. He was anxious to draw attention to the irregularity of allowing a report to get into the newspapers before it was printed by the order of the House.

Hon. Mr. MACPHERSON was no party to giving an incorrect copy of the report at any time to any newspaper.

Hon. Mr. TESSIER did not communicate the report to any newspaper or any one else.

Hon. Mr. ALLAN did not know that the report was incorrect until his attention had been drawn to the fact. The Committee simply gave expression to the opinions of the gentlemen who furnished the evidence, but refrained from expressing any opinion themselves.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL was quite ready to accept the explanations. In regard to the witnesses who were examined, they were all bankers. It is to be assumed that the whole monetary interests of the country are to be dependent upon simply a Committee of Bankers? Why was there not persons summoned before the Committee who were largely engaged in commerce? Why was it the case that those persons were summoned who were likely to have an opinion in one direction? Why were the witnesses mostly confined to bankers in Toronto? Why was it the case that in the City of Montreal, where four-fifths of the business is done, only two bankers were examined? Was not an effort made to arrive at a conclusion adverse to the action taken by the Government and the Bank of Montreal?

Hon. Mr. MACPHERSON explained that other witnesses were examined from Montreal, and questions had been submitted to bankers in Ontario and Quebec.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL—Why was it that the question was submitted only to bankers? Did those persons engaged in mercantile pursuits have no knowledge of monetary affairs that they were not asked? Why leave it all to a few bankers, coming principally from Toronto? The most unfair course has been pursued; the Committee after giving the result of the investigation, only give certain points as to what should be done in the future as the recommendation of the Committee. What do they recommend in the future? A general recommendation "that your Committee recognize it as one of the first duties of Government, to provide a secure currency—one that will command the largest measure of public confidence, and be convertible into coin on demand." The Government recognizes that as its duty and they have now a committee chosen with great care composed of members from all parts of the Dominion. This committee have propounded a series of questions in order to elicit evidence from all classes of the community to get the information necessary for legislating upon the subject. Instead of having the question open for the House to consider, the chairman of the Committee proposes that we should commit ourselves by pronouncing upon a series of theorems in advance of practical measures. The report goes on to say, "That your Committee are of opinion that the extension of the bank of issue system, now partially in operation, would be unsuited to the requirements of the country and injurious to its best interests." When the hon. gentleman made his speech it was impossible to understand from it whether he was in favor of a return to the old system, or in favor of the American system. His mind was not made up.

Hon. Mr. MACPHERSON—I am in favor of returning to the old system.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL—His report does not say so. It says "that if the financial requirements of the Dominion should induce the Government to desire the introduction of a new system, including the taking possession of the currency of the country, then your Committee would recommend that the issue of the paper currency be based upon the deposit with the Government of public securities of the Dominion, under a system somewhat analogous to that of the national bank system of the United States." Thus it will be seen that the hon. gentleman has been unable to make up his mind between the two systems, and would have it that we should ask this House to commit itself, and say one of these two courses is best, instead of leaving the question to be considered in a practical way at the next Session of Parliament. The report does not follow the evidence; it recommends either a return to the old system, or the adoption of a national banking system, and asks us to pronounce upon that mere question of theory. The report only embodied those parts of the evidence which are most against the action taken at the present day, by the Government of the day, and the system pursued. The report recommends a choice between two systems, whereas one witness alone, Mr. Hague, has made one or ten recommendations.

Hon. Mr. MACPHERSON—He is generally in favor of the old system, and suggests three improvements.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL—Why were they not put in the report? He has confined himself to two recommendations in the report, and these contrast unfairly with the evidence, Mr. Hague says in his evidence: "Let no bank be chartered in the cities of Montreal, Quebec, Toronto, St. John, or Halifax, having a smaller capital than one million dollars, and let the maximum capital for any such bank, at no time exceed five million dollars." Why were these recommendations not put forward in the report equally with the others? Then, again, Mr. Morton makes recommendations involving eighteen or twenty heads, all of great importance, and yet they are not taken notice of in the report which has been made. He (Mr. Campbell) then alluded to the opinions of some of the witnesses, as attaching no importance to the fact that there were provincial bank notes at the time of the crisis; the opinion seemed to be that those provincial notes exercised no influence, as they had only replaced Montreal bank notes. He (Mr. Campbell) did not believe the general public really realised that there was a crisis. There was a distrust for two days in regard to such notes, and then the crisis was over. It had attracted the attention of his hon. friend who had suggested that this Committee should be appointed for the purpose of enquiring into it, and now we are asked to adopt a report, the result of that enquiry. He would ask the House to leave the matter to be dealt with upon the responsibility of the Government, at the next Session of Parliament, as according to the principles of responsible Government, the Government should not shirk the responsibility of the measure. When the Government, after having investigated the subject, and prepared a measure, submits it to Parliament, then the House, if they dislike it, can reject it, and the Government suffer the consequences of that rejection. But to tie members down to theories, was a course he never saw pursued before, in any Parliament. He thought that everything would be met if his hon. friend would withdraw his report, and not divide the House upon it.

Hon. Mr. ALLAN said that he was at a loss to conceive in what way the report now before the House reflected so severely upon the policy of the Government, as to afford any good ground for the very unusual degree of warmth displayed by the Hon. the Postmaster-General in the remarks which he had just made. Certainly there was nothing either in the report itself, or the manner in which the enquiry, on which the report was founded, had been conducted, to justify the very severe strictures of the hon. gentleman. Now he (Mr. Allan) would desire in the first place, to confirm what had been said by the hon. mover of the report, as to the circumstances which led to the formation of the committee, and the spirit in which the enquiry into the subject now before the House had been conducted by that committee. A very strong feeling had existed throughout the whole of Western Canada, during the financial troubles in November last, and up to the time of the meeting of Parliament, that causes far deeper and wider than the failure of the Commercial Bank, had contributed to bring about the monetary crisis which produced such unfortunate effects upon the trade and prosperity of the country, and under those circumstances, he (Mr. Allan) did not think that those who might be considered as more particularly the representatives of Ontario in this Senate, had done anything more than their duty in endeavouring through the instrumentality of a Parliamentary enquiry, to obtain such information in relation to these important subjects as might throw additional light upon the causes which led to the financial embarrassments of last autumn, and might tend to prevent their recurrence in the future. It was true that the Postmaster-General had both upon this and upon a former occasion ridiculed the idea of there having been a crisis in Ontario at all, but the mercantile and farming community of Ontario knew too well by hard experience, that by whatever name it might be called, there had been a period of financial pressure, embarrassment and distrust, which for the time had told most disastrously upon all the industrial operations of the country. Assuming then, as he thought he unquestionably might, that a financial crisis had existed beyond all doubt in Ontario, the committee of which he was a member, had endeavored to obtain the best and most reliable information from those parties whom they considered best qualified to give it, and had applied in, the first instance, not only to the leading bankers in Ontario and Quebec, but to leading merchants and others engaged in trade and commerce generally. Unfortunately the adjournment which took place, immediately after the formation of the committee, prevented their carrying out these enquiries as extensively as had been originally intended, but the report, nevertheless, presented a most valuable body of evidence, from many able and intelligent men, thoroughly conversant with the trade and commerce of the country, and well qualified to express an opinion on the subjects referred to them. The committee in conducting these enquiries had done so in no partisan spirit. He (Mr. Allan), for his own part, utterly disclaimed any such feeling. They had endeavoured to obtain the best and most reliable information, and had endeavoured to lay before the House, a fair and impartial summary of the evidence. The Hon. Postmaster-General had alluded to an expression which had crept into the report (through an error of one of the officials of the House in correcting the proof), by which the committee were made to state as their own opinion, and which they wished the House to concur—what in fact they had merely submitted to the House as the opinion of the gentlemen whose evidence they had reported. His hon. friend had also commented very strongly upon the report having been allowed to get into the public prints before it had been submitted to the House. As to the first, it had already been satisfactorily explained by the chairman of the committee that the one alluded to had been inadvertently committed by an official of the House in correcting the proof, and had been corrected immediately upon its being brought under the chairman's notice. With regard to the latter complaint, he could confirm what had been said by the chairman, and for himself, individually, he could declare that he knew nothing whatever about the matter, and if any copy of the report had been improperly obtained, it was wholly without his knowledge or consent. Throughout the whole of the enquiry, the committee had not sought to find fault with the management of any particular institution, or to make a case against any particular institution, but to lay before the House such information as would enable hon. members to judge of the real feeling which existed among the business men of the country, in reference to the important subjects referred to in the report. He believed that the report would be found to contain a fair and impartial summary of the evidence submitted, as well as a guarded and careful expression of opinion, not arrived at hastily, or without due consideration, on the part of the committee itself, but carefully weighed and well considered before submitting them to the House. But the Hon. Postmaster-General had objected most strongly to the consideration or adoption by this House of any of the views put forth in this report, inasmuch as he says, that it is asking this House to commit itself to mere theoretical views and opinions on measures not now before this House, and moreover that these theories are opposed to the present policy of the Government, and if the report was adopted by the House, it might seriously embarrass hon. members, when the financial policy of the Government on these subjects was brought before the House for their consideration at a future day. Now if the Government had any definite policy at present on this subject, or had any measure before the Parliament for their consideration during the present Session, he (Mr. Allan) could understand the objections which had been urged by his hon. friend, but there is now no such measure before either House, and moreover if the Government do come with such a measure before Parliament at a future Session, how will it in all probability be brought before this Senate? Just perhaps, as many other important measures have been—during the very last week of the Session—when hon. members have neither time nor opportunity allowed them for discussing its details, or considering them with that care and deliberation which their importance demanded. For this reason, then, he thought that the committee had done a most important service in bringing this subject under the attention of the House at the present moment. By so doing an opportunity had been afforded for a calm and deliberate expression of opinion on the part of members of this House—opinions which this House have undoubtedly a right to express, and which are entitled to respect and consideration at the hands of the Government. After the full explanations which had been given by the hon. chairman of the committee, and having regard to the fact, that there were other gentlemen in this House who were peculiarly fitted by long training and experience to speak with authority on such subjects, he (Mr. Allan) would not take up further time by any observations of his own on the various points alluded to in the report. The House were now fully in possession both of the evidence and the conclusions which the committee have deduced from that evidence, and if these conclusions commend themselves to the judgment of hon. members, it would be for them to say, whether they would give effect to them so far as an expression of opinion on the part of this House could do so by voting for the adoption of the report.

Hon. Mr. WILMOT drew a different conclusion from the evidence given before the Committee to that which was embodied in the report before the House. He thought the subject of the crisis was well worthy of being investigated, as at that time there was a general feeling of uneasiness, a great want of bank accommodation and high charges. This was at a time when agricultural produce was high and a great demand abroad for it. It was then if bank accommodation was required the people should have it in order to get their articles to market. In looking over the evidence it rather appeared that the banking system of the country was not in the sound state that some of the hon. gentlemen try to make us believe. There must be something wrong, or that state of things could not exist. He would read one or two remarks from the evidence given by some of those gentlemen. Mr. Paton says: "Trade generally was satisfactory. Importations, especially of dry goods, were in excess, and a serious fall in the prices of dry goods had taken place. Speculators in breadstuffs had lost heavily, and the demand for manufactured lumber from the United States had almost ceased, leaving a large stock of that article in the manufacturer's hands or stored in the United States. The farmers were on the whole prosperous, the high prices obtained by them for wheat and barley, compensating them for the shortcoming in the yield, which was not an average one." Mr. Paton gave that as one reason why those difficulties occurred. There had been large importations and consequently a large demand for foreign exchange, and this naturally had its effect upon the banking circulation of the country. He says: "The failure of the Commercial Bank, the sudden withdrawal of banking facilities from its numerous customers, and the disturbance of the financial arrangements of those having accounts with that bank, or holding its notes, were causes in themselves sufficient to produce much depression in the business of the country, and great monetary derangement." That is another cause of the crisis. The Commercial Bank had a large circulation, and furnished large facilities to its customers, therefore, the failure of that bank must have had a very serious effect upon business. Mr. Cassels says: "The chief causes of the monetary derangement and consequent depression in business, were the suspension of the Commercial Bank of Canada, for which event the public were not prepared, and the very general feeling of distrust occasioned thereby in the minds of the farmers in the other banking institutions in Ontario, and which led to a run on several of them." He then refers to the timely and liberal aid offered by the Bank of Montreal, but for which the distrust would have extended and produced the most serious consequences. This evidence is directly contrary to the report of the Committee. The hon. member then referred to Mr. Hague's evidence, in regard to panics in England, and explained fully the working of the banking system of Scotland, since the time of the Darien scheme. He said instead of paying gold, they settle their balances by a draft on London at twenty-one days. This keeping a large supply of gold on hand was one of the old barbaric ideas. In England, as the gold goes out, it affects not only the foreign trade, but every manufacturing establishment of every kind and description in the country. In the Bank of France, if the gold goes out, they give a higher rate for it, but in England they merely pay a higher rate of interest. The intelligence of the age should devise some other idea than that the value is in gold. Its value is only as we can turn it into exchange. If labor creates wealth, money is the exchange for it. Money is to the body politic is like blood to the human body; it carries on the circulation of the country. He could not concur in this report of the committee, and while he thought it most desirable that this subject should be investigated, they should not decide merely upon the opinions expressed by gentlemen connected with banks. The whole public at large were interested in the question, therefore it was of importance that it should not be decided by the ex parte views of any of those men who have given their evidence upon this subject. The hon. gentleman then expatiated upon the national banking system of the United States as contributing to the successful prosecution of their war, and in conclusion he alluded to the great want felt in the country of a safe and secure circulating medium.

Hon. Mr. McMASTER said it was not his intention to take any part in the discussion, and he only rose to express his surprise that the Postmaster-General had displayed so much excitement when he replied to the hon. chairman of the committee, (Mr. Macpherson.) His departure from his usual dignified way of expressing himself, satisfied him (Mr. McMaster) that he had a very weak cause. The purport of the Postmaster-General's remarks was, that should the members of the House support this report it would tie down their hands, so that they could not have a free discussion of it upon another occasion. He (Mr. McMaster) regarded the question in a different light, and he felt surprised that the report did not embody it in a more decided manner in reference to the different points. He thought the Committee deserved great credit for the able manner in which they had discharged their duty, and they were specially indebted to the chairman for the questions which elicited this information, which was of great importance at this present time. The gentlemen who gave this information were competent to give an opinion upon this question, and their evidence is treated in a candid and impartial manner in the report, although he did not think the report expressed the views of the Committee to as great an extent as it should have done. He would have been better pleased with the result of the labor of the Committee had they taken up the different systems, discussed them in an exhaustive manner, and then recommended the one which in their judgment would have been best adapted to the wants of the country—the one most likely to promote their interests and extend the trade of this Dominion. True, they have expressed themselves in rather a decided manner in reference to the legal tender system now in operation, but he thought they might have gone a little further and demonstrated the disastrous results which must inevitably follow, should the amount of accommodation now extended to the trade of the country be withdrawn for the purpose of purchasing legal tenders. He would say with reference to the Bank which has charge of the legal tender system, that when that bank commenced to prepare for the present state of things a great amount of contraction took place, while if the other banks had been obliged to adopt the same system, the consequences to Upper Canada would have been of a disastrous character. Reference had been made to the United States banking system, and he was free to admit that it contained some very wise provisions, at the same time, when that system was adopted by the American Government, it was intended mainly as a means of carrying on the gigantic war which then raged in that country. The deficits we have every year in our financial statements are large, and in view of the great expenses about to be authorized by this Legislature, which was very little short of thirty million dollars, our financial condition will not be very prosperous. But still he did not think it was necessary for them to resort to the desperate expedient the American Government were obliged to adopt to carry on their war. In regard to our present banking system, he was not prepared to say it was perfect, but if they adopted the schedule prepared by the hon. member for Toronto (Mr. Macpherson), and a necessary means by which the double liability of the stockholders could be collected, he thought the system then would furnish security quite as good as Government security.

Hon. Mr. REESOR said as they were all expected to vote one way or the other on this report, they might venture to make some enquiries if there was anything doubtful, in order to be able to understand it. He had listened with a great deal of attention to the remarks of the Postmaster-General, and he thought that after he (Mr. Campbell) had spoken with so much warmth, he would have shown that in some particular at least this report was really defective. But notwithstanding the care which he (Mr. Reesor) had watched the course of his remarks he found that all the statements he made in regard to the report simply resolved themselves into this: that the report does affirm a general principle, that the House adopt the report they will adopt something very indefinite. The chairman stated very distinctly that his views were, that they were in favor of preserving our present banking system by recommending such amendments as would make it as perfect as possible. These views are also embodied in the report in a clear and distinct manner, with no redundancy of language. The committee there express a hope that the Government would sustain our present banking system with such reasonable amendments as might give satisfaction. The committee next refer in their report to the American system, and it is quite proper that they should report in favor of another system, in the event of the present system being taken away. In the meantime we have only to consider the value of the present system as compared with the Government note system, and it was perfectly legitimate for the committee to say which they preferred. They have declared almost unanimously that our present banking system is better than that recommended by the Government. They go on further to say that if the exigencies of the country require a change, they recommend the adoption of the American system, with some modifications. The Postmaster-General went on to state that the House was not competent to judge of a bank note system. Why then did he bring in a measure of that kind, which had never been tried in any other country, and ask us to take it upon trust, while at the same time they say it is devoid of that system of expansion so necessary in this country? Are we to throw aside a system which we have tried for thirty or forty years and found to be good, so far as any human scheme can be good? He says the bankers are not the parties to judge of the value of a banking scheme. Who are to be the judges? Are the lawyers, medical men, or farmers, more familiar with the currency of Ontario than the directors of banks, assisted by the whole business men of the country? Then are not the members of this House, representing nearly every class of business in the country, the persons to judge of the danger of introducing this Government scheme, and among them there is none more capable than the chairman of the committee who has brought up this report. The hon. member concluded by reading some extracts from the writings of Sir Robert Peel and other English authorities in support of his views.

Hon. Mr. TESSIER (in French) said he thought it was very proper to have a report of a committee composed of such able men submitted to the House on this important subject. It was the only way to deal with such a subject. He regretted the House was not fuller on the occasion of bringing up the consideration of this very important question of banks and banking. If this branch of Legislature is not competent to deal with such subjects, what is the use of it? Why did the Government not issue a Commission themselves instead of opposing the action of this Committee, who have endeavored to do a service to the people of this country? This report is not for the purpose of condemning the Government, but to put them and the public on their guard as to the dangers to be dreaded from the banking system. In the Province of Quebec we have only four banks which have been in existence for a long time, and in Ontario only two banks. The Bank of Upper Canada was killed by the Government account, and the Commercial Bank by lending money outside their legitimate business. It appears the printers got hold of some portions of the evidence and report, and gave a resumé thereof as usual; what was the harm? He thought the banks ought to give more details for the information of the public and have them regularly published in the Official Gazette. He thought the report ought to be received.

Hon. Mr. OLIVIER (in French) said it was but seldom he addressed the House, but the question now before it was so important, he thought he could not give a silent vote. The hon. gentleman from Quebec, who represents the Gulf Division, (Hon. Mr. Tessier) seemed to consider, one of the most important conclusions of the report, in which it is expressed that the Committee hopes the Government will recommend Parliament to come back to the old system of banking. Now, he was not ready to concur in that suggestion of the Committee, although he had very imperfect notions about banking systems, still, in his own mind, it would appear desirable that we should rather adopt the system followed in other countries, not to allow banks to issue notes of a small amount, say for instance, not under five pounds. By this plan he thought we could, perhaps, meet the views of the contending parties. On the one hand, the small currency that passes daily in the hands of the laboring classes, being in Dominion notes, would be perfectly secure, while the economy in the currency that seemed to be wanted by the trade would not be lost, as the banks could issue five pound notes and over, for their discounting business. He must confess he expressed these views with great diffidence, but the real question now before the House was, that as the House had not a perfect system; the question was rather if they were to bind themselves to all the conclusions of the report. For himself, he was not ready to do it, and he would vote against the adoption of the report.

Hon. Mr. MACPHERSON, in reply to the Postmaster-General, said that he would not comment upon his loss of temper. He had reported very distinctly for a return to the old system of banking, and he advocated the same system now. The report does not decide in favor of the American system, except in case it is decided not to return to the old system. The Postmaster-General was scarcely as fair as usual when he imputed to him the withholding of certain views and suggestions of Mr. Hague's evidence. His evidence goes strongly for a return to the old system, and all the suggestions he offers are all in support of that system. The Postmaster-General spoke as if the suggestions were for a different system; he ought not to have fallen into that error with the evidence before him. Then a great deal had been said about the evidence being confined to the bankers of Ontario. Neither the evidence, nor the enquiries, were confined to Ontario. Questions were sent to gentlemen in both Quebec and Ontario, but as the subject of enquiry pressed more fully upon Ontario, more answers were received from that Province. The Postmaster-General complains of the resolution to adopt the report, that it is a violation of the principles of responsible Government, as the Government would have to take charge of the business before the country. He (Mr. Macpherson) did not think it was the duty of the members of this House, always to commit themselves to measures introduced by the Government. If that was the case, responsible Government would differ but little from a Governor in Council. It is our duty to inform the Government of the opinions of the House and country. He did not think that the House, by committing itself to this report, would prevent, or render it impossible for them, to consider whatever measure on this subject may come up at some future Session of Parliament. It would be merely an intimation to the Government as to the general course of financial policy which should be pursued, and if the Government bring up some scheme which would commend itself more to this House than that recommended in the report, then this House would be at liberty to adopt it.

Hon. Mr. McCULLY thought there was a very important principle involved in the adoption of this report. There was no question which had cost him more thought and anxiety than this, and he found it very difficult to know how he ought to give his vote. There had been a great deal said on both sides of the question, which had commended itself to his judgment, at the same time looking at the question from every point of view he was not willing to adopt the report of the committee, because he felt that as a consistent member of the Senate he would be obliged to support a Bill founded upon the principles embodied in that report. He knew that the position of the Government would be exceedingly embarrassed if that report be adopted, because they have framed their whole financial policy upon the existing state of things, and all their arrangements must be founded upon the Currency Bill passed this Session. While he looked upon that measure of the Government with a good deal of jealousy he could not help feeling a conviction that the community should look with just as much jealousy upon banking institutions. He knew that at any moment it only required a word to be passed round from one bank to another to so limit or enlarge the discount as to influence all the public affairs of the country.

The debate was then postponed until the next sitting of the House.

The following Bills were brought from the House of Commons and read a first time:—

"An Act to incorporate the Merchants' Express Company of the Dominion of Canada."

"An Act to annex a portion of the Seigniory of Belair to the County of Quebec, and another portion to the County of Port Neuf."

"An Act constituting the Department of Customs."

"An Act for the better securing of the Crown and of the Government."

"An Act respecting the manufacture or importation of copper coins, or tokens."

"An Act respecting persons in custody charged with high treason or felony."

"An Act respecting Riots or Riotous Assemblies."

"An Act to fix the Salary of the Governor-General."

The House then adjourned until half-past seven o'clock p. m.

After Recess.

FINANCIAL CRISIS—RESUMED DEBATE.

Hon. Mr. McCULLY resumed—If the Government were about to adopt a policy upon the question of banking he could appreciate the position and principles which the hon. mover of the report had enunciated. He would then feel less embarrassed than he now did. If it was a new question he would be apt to take the same view of it as those who had spoken in its favor. The Session is now about closing, and the Government have marked out its own policy for the coming year, and their business and undertakings are all based upon that policy. If this report is to mean anything, it is intended to have a direct application to the future, and must be considered, if adopted by this House, as an instruction to the Government with regard to their future policy on the subject of banking and finance. He thought at this late period of the Session it was inopportune to give those instructions, and it would be hardly fair to the Government to place them in a position which would to some extent put them afloat from what they might fairly have conceived would have been the policy of this Legislature for the next twelve months. What does the hon. mover expect will be the practical effect of this report, if adopted by the House? It is in direct antagonism to a Bill already past the present Session. The committee who prepared this report, in fairness to the country and to themselves, should have had before them men of all classes and of all interests in the community. What would be thought of a report on the subject of "strikes" if it was prepared only by masters? You should take the opinions of men on both sides of the question, and draw your own deductions. Then there would be a substance and validity in the report which cannot be in it if founded upon the opinions of a single class in the community, and that class interested in bringing about what that report itself contains. That is fatal to the efficacy of this report. What would be thought of a report on banking if not a single banker sat upon the committee, or had given evidence before them. While a great deal of consideration ought to be given to the opinions of these eminent men, it was not fair that their opinions alone should be taken in a report upon banking. He then referred to the bankers of Nova Scotia, and their readiness to charge seven per cent. before the time arrived when they would be required to pay one per cent. upon their circulation. He thought whoever drafted the banking bill intended it only to apply to incorporated banks, but there was a class of private banks in Nova Scotia which possessed no charters, yet they were receiving seven per cent. for all the notes they discounted under this Act. He would not longer occupy the attention of the House, but would merely say that he would not interfere with the policy of the Government, or throw obstructions in their way. He did not oppose the report because he considered it advocated an unsound principle, but because it was inapplicable to our present position. The hon. mover deserved great credit for the interest which he has taken in sending this report abroad, to be read by every one who reads the newspapers, but when he presses its adoption upon the Government as a policy, he is going a step further than he (Mr. McCully) can follow him.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

FRIDAY, May 15, 1868.

The SPEAKER took the chair at eleven o'clock.

The Bills respecting Cruelty to Animals was read a third time and passed.

Hon. Mr. LANGEVIN moved the third reading of the Bill for the organization of the Department of Agriculture.

Mr. McKENZIE moved an amendment that it was inexpedient to establish the Department.

The amendment was lost. Yeas 45; Nays 91.

The Bill was then read a third time and passed.

The Order being called for the third reading of the Bill, Act 26 Vic., Chap. 72, of the late Province of Canada relating to the Trust and Loan Company,

Hon. Sir JOHN A. MACDONALD said the subject was within the jurisdiction of the Local Government, and moved that the Order be discharged, which was carried.

Hon. Mr. HOWLAND moved the third reading of a Bill to impose increased duty on refined petroleum.

Mr. O'CONNOR moved in amendment to the effect that all spirits made after the 2nd day of April, 1868 (the day on which the change in the excise was announced) should be exempted from the increased excise duty. The motion was seconded by Dr. Parker.

Mr. O'CONNOR in support of his motion said that when his hon. friend the Minister of Finance, in the speech which he made in introducing the change in the tariff of Customs and Excise, was reported and generally understood to say that this excise duty of three cents on the gallon, spirits, was intended to be in lieu of the duty of ten cents per bushel heretofore charged on corn imported into this country. The present Bill proposed to charge that increased excise duty on the stock then on hand and in bond. The effect was that in respect of such stock then in bond, the distillers would be compelled to pay double duty. This was wrong in principle. The manufacturers had gone on with their business, and paid the duties under the law as it then stood; and upon the faith of the law. It was contrary to sound principle. Besides this the practice of suddenly applying changes like this to stocks in bond under the circumstances of the present case, gave occasion and opportunity for unfair and improper practices upon all such occasions. It is well known that some person invariably got possession of the secret intention—knowledge of the intended change—and profited by it to the detriment of others. In the present instance, a member of a large distilling firm at Toronto came to Ottawa a few days before the change was announced in the House, stayed a few hours, returned, and that firm immediately before the change was announced, had taken their whole stock out of bond and saved thereby $14,000. He referred to this as a fact of public notoriety to illustrate the opinion he had expressed against the sudden application of such change.

Hon. Mr. HOWLAND contended that the principle of the amendment was wrong. It was not usual to exempt stocks in bond on such changes. He objected to the terms of the amendment. He denied emphatically that he had ever given information to any person which could give improper foreknowledge of any kind, or unfair advantage. He did not believe either that any officer of his department had done so. He concluded by assuring the hon. member for Essex, that he held his opinions in perfect contempt.

Mr. O'CONNOR replied stating that he did not think the hon. Minister of Inland Revenue had a right to speak of hon. gentlemen's statements as contemptible, and the hon. gentleman ought to know him well enough to know that he never indulged in insinuations. The few remarks that he had made were upon positive information, and he could assure the Minister of Inland Revenue that he (if he took the trouble to investigate the facts) would find that his statement was correct. He had determined before coming down to that House to do his duty towards his constituents, and he was still determined to do so, notwithstanding the taunt of the Hon. Minister of Inland Revenue.

Hon. Mr. HOLTON thought a Cabinet Minister ought to be incapable of allowing advantages to particular parties.

Mr. STREET said that if the measure was carried in its present shape, it would inflict serious loss as well as injustice upon many people.

Mr. O'CONNOR said he considered he had made out a good case. The principle he had enunciated was correct and had not been displaced by any argument which he had heard. He thought the Government ought to accede to the amendment. He was willing to modify it so as fairly to meet the point, if required. With regard to the term which the Hon. Minister of Excise (Mr. Howland) had used in reference to himself (the member for Essex) to the effect that he held his opinions in contempt, he (Mr. O'Connor) would say that he cared little whether that hon. gentleman held his (Mr. O'Connor's) opinions or himself in contempt or not. He (Mr. O'C.) asked no favors, and was as independent as the Hon. Minister of Excise, and could afford to bear his contempt. He (Mr. O'C.) would, however, suggest to that hon. gentleman that it might be well for him to consider whether it was consistent with good breeding, whether it was gentlemanly, to express contempt for the opinions of his equals. He (Mr. O'C.) had been taught and had acted always on the principle that a gentleman should not express contempt for the opinions of any other gentleman. Such a course was discourteous—ungentlemanly and reprehensible. He (Mr. O'C.) would not follow the example of the hon. gentleman—he was not in the habit of following bad examples. He would not, therefore, retort on that hon. gentleman, and say that he (Mr. O'C.) held his opinions in contempt. On the contrary, he respected that hon. gentleman's opinions, as he did the opinions of every hon. member of the House, as those of his equals. The hon. gentleman might as well also consider, whether it became his position as a Minister of the Crown to use the language he had. With these remarks, he would now leave the hon. gentleman to his reflections. He would merely add that he (Mr. O'C.) had made no attack on the hon. gentleman or on the officers of his department.

Hon. Mr. HOWLAND said after the explanation made by the hon. member for Essex, he would willingly withdraw the offensive term.

The amendment was then put and lost on a division.

Dr. PARKER concurred with the remarks of the member for Welland. This was not a new tax, but was introduced to meet a loss in remission of customs duties.

Mr. GIBBS did not see the necessity for the exception.

Hon. Mr. TILLEY said the 29th of April had been fixed by Government, and thought that date should be maintained.

Mr. McKENZIE thought there could be no better course taken than that taken by the Government. The change was in the interest of the manufacturer rather than the consumer.

Mr. ANGLIN called attention to a case of injustice under the new tariff, at St. John, N.B. When the telegram from the Minister of Customs arrived, increasing the duty, all the merchants took their wines out of bond, except one who was half an hour too late, and had to pay largely in excess.

Hon. Mr. TILLEY maintained that no injustice had been done.

Hon. Col. GRAY thought that one man should not be compelled to pay when all the others escaped, and in reply to Mr. Anglin said that the tariff notices had been sent to Halifax and all ports in the Dominion at the same time.

Hon. Mr. GALT said if there had been any wrong it had been suffered by the Government, as nearly all the merchants had managed to escape the increased duty.

Mr. REID said he hoped the Minister of Inland Revenue would consent to an amendment of the hon. member for Essex.

The amendment was lost on a division, and the Bill was read a third time.

On motion of the Hon. Mr. ROSE, the House went into Committee of Ways and Means.

Hon. Mr. HOLTON attacked the position of the Government in reference to Dominion stock, asserting his belief that instead of being distributed throughout the country, it had been put into the hands of the Bank of Montreal.

Hon. Mr. ROSE showed that the stock had been fully distributed, and also explained that at certain periods it was necessary for the Government to keep large balances on hand to meet payments coming due. It was necessary to be prepared in this respect, and he could not see that the Government could make use of the money in any way that could be of advantage to the country.

The Committee rose and reported progress.

In answer to Mr. DORION, Sir JOHN A. MACDONALD said, he believed that the business of the country would be so far advanced that the prorogation could take place on Wednesday.

Second Sitting.

The SPEAKER took the chair at four o'clock.

INCORPORATION OF THE NORTHWEST AND RUPERT'S LAND.

The Hon. Mr. LANGEVIN brought down a message from His Excellency, transmitting despatches from the Colonial Office, on the subject of the joint address of Parliament, praying for the incorporation of the Northwest Territory, &c., to the effect that the Imperial Government would take steps for the desired territorial transfer as soon as the rights of the Hudson's Bay Company had been definitely determined, and an Imperial Act had been obtained, enabling the British Government to deal with them. The despatch also intimated that the Crown was disposed to retain the extreme westerly section of the district, with a view to its annexation to the colony of British Columbia. The despatch was accompanied by copies of a lengthy correspondence between the Governor of the Hudson's Bay Company and the Secretary of State for the Colonies, which, upon Hon. Mr. HOLTON'S insisting on the paramount importance of the subject, were read by the clerk, the reading occupying nearly an hour.

An animated discussion ensued, in which Hon. Messrs. HOLTON, DORION, McKENZIE and others severely criticized the past action of the Government on this question.

C. B., K. C. B., AND BART.

Hon. Mr. CHAUVEAU presented the report of the Select Committee examining into the correspondence on this subject, which recommended an address to Her Majesty praying that steps might be taken to relieve Mr. Galt from the false position in which he had been placed. The address was adopted, after a discussion lasting up to six o'clock, when the Speaker left the chair.

After Recess.

The following Bills were read a second time, passed through Committee, read a third time, and passed:

An Act to incorporate the Canadian Underwriters' Association (as amended by the Committee on Banking and Commerce.)

An Act to amend the Acts relating to the Canada West Farmers' Mutual and Stock Insurance Company, and to change the name to the "Canada Farmers' Mutual Insurance Company," (as amended by the Committee on Banking and Commerce.)

An Act to incorporate the Stratford Board of Trade, (as amended by Committee on Banking and Commerce.)

On motion of Mr. O'CONNOR, the Bill respecting the Vinegrowers' Association, was read a second time, passed through Committee, and ordered to a third reading to-morrow.

On motion of Mr. CARLING, the Bill to incorporate the Canada Live Stock Insurance Company, was read a second time, passed through Committee, and ordered to a third reading to-morrow.

Hon. Mr. ROSE introduced an Act respecting certain penalties. He explained that it related to stamp duties in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

Ordered to a second reading to-morrow.

FORTIFICATIONS.

Sir G. E. CARTIER moved the third reading of the Fortifications Bill.

Mr. McKENZIE moved in amendment that the Bill be recommitted for the purpose of providing that no contracts be entered into until estimates for each particular work are submitted to Parliament, and that the money be voted from year to year, according to the progress of the works.

A discussion having ensued between Messrs. HOLTON, MASSON and LANGEVIN, the House divided upon the amendment with the following result: Yeas, 49; Nays, 90.

The amendment was therefore lost, after which the Bill was read a third time (on division) and passed.

THIRD READINGS.

The following Bills were also read a third time and passed:

An Act to amend the Act providing for the management of the Harbour of Quebec; and An Act respecting perjury.

MILITIA BILL.

On the motion of Sir G. E. CARTIER, for the reception of the report of Committee of the Whole on the Bill respecting the Militia and defence of the Dominion of Canada,

Mr. JONES (Halifax), moved an amendment exempting firemen from compulsory service, which was lost on division.

Mr. POPE then moved in amendment that the report be not now concurred in, but referred back to Committee of the Whole with instructions to consider the following resolutions:

1st. That it is unjust and inefficient to allow to staff officers a large rate of pay which the battalion and company officers, who have the difficulty and the responsibility of maintaining the strength of the force receive most inadequate remuneration.

2nd. That no money be paid to staff officers until provision be made for the payment of all the officers of the force on a just and equitable basis, according to their respective ranks.

A general debate having followed,

Hon. J. H. CAMERON expressed his desire, if in order, of moving an amendment to that of Mr. POPE, containing a resolution to the effect that the officers of the Service Militia and Volunteers, while on duty and in command, during the period of their annual drill, should receive the pay of their proper respective ranks, as if called for actual service.

Hon. Mr. GALT, (the Speaker having declared Mr. Cameron's amendment out of order), moved the following: That the report be not now received, but that it be referred back to the Committee with the object of so adjusting the expenditure for militia purposes, as to provide that officers of Militia and Volunteers when employed as such, should receive such allowances as would distinguish between their respective ranks, and that of the men.

Sir J. A. MACDONALD, intimating the desire of himself and his colleagues to take the sense of the House upon the principle of this increase of officers' pay, and wishing to avail themselves of any permission which the House were disposed to give for the expenditure of a larger amount than that proposed by themselves, would now move the adjournment of the debate, with the understanding, distinctly expressed, that any member voting against the appropriation of this additional sum ($20,000 or $40,000, or whatever it might be), which, if sanctioned by the House, the Government would duly introduce by message. (Cheers.)

Sir G. E. CARTIER having repeated the same statement in French,

The House divided with the following result: Yeas 106, Nays 32, and the debate was in consequence adjourned.

WAYS AND MEANS.

The House then went into Committee of Ways and Means, the report of which was received.

RAILWAYS.

The Act respecting railways was then committed, and reported, and the third reading fixed for to-morrow, (this day.)

FISHERIES.

The Bill for the regulation of Fishing and the protection of Fisheries was read a second time after some discussion, introduced by Mr JONES (Halifax,) committed, and the third reading ordered for to-morrow, (this day,) after which CIVIL LIST.

The Bill respecting the Governor-General, the Civil List, and the salaries of certain public functionaries was passed through the final stage, and the House rose at twenty-five minutes to two this morning.

—A passenger on the train between Lewiston and Portland was put of the other day having refused to pay his fare. Accordingly he plodded along on foot, and when the train reached Portland the conductor found him sitting on the platform waiting for his luggage. A glass of Italian Bitters to such a man, after such a feat, would be as comfortable as deserved.

YESTERDAY'S DESPATCHES.

Impeachment.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—There are no new developments in the impeachment case. Senator Howard's health is improving; it is thought he will be in the Senate on Saturday.

NEW YORK, May 13.—The Commercial's special says it is by no means certain that a vote on the impeachment verdict will be taken on Saturday. There is an increasing feeling in favor of postponing it until after the Chicago Convention.

John H. Surratt Refused Bail.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—A motion to admit John H. Surratt to bail was argued this morning in the Criminal Court. Judge Carter decided that this was not a case in which the court would be justified in admitting the prisoner to bail.

The Grain Crop of California.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—The best estimates make the wheat crop of California for the present year twenty million bushels; barley ten millions bushels; and oats two and a-half million bushels.

Joe Coburn under Bonds.

CINCINNATI, May 13.—Joe Coburn was required this morning to give bonds to the amount of $10,000 not to fight within the limits of the State of Ohio.

Boiler Explosion.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 13.—The boiler of Van Winkle's saw mill, near Anderson, Ind., exploded last night, instantly killing two men, named Moore and Wolff. Three others are supposed to be fatally wounded.

Fenian Senate.

HARRISBURG, May 13.—The Fenian brotherhood of Pennsylvania met in the Senate committee rooms to-day. Forty-nine circles were represented, officers were elected, and a secret session of the society held. This evening a large and enthusiastic meeting took place.

Departure of Minister Adams from the Court of St. James.

NEW YORK, May 14.—The Herald's London special says that Charles Francis Adams, U. S. Minister at the Court of St. James, who resigned his position some time ago, took leave of the Queen at a special audience, to-day. Mr. Adams left London soon afterwards for the continent, leaving Mr. Morton in charge of the American legation.

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY ROUTE.

To the Editor of THE TIMES.

SIR,—If anything apart from its intrinsic importance and its even minimum cost was wanting to make the question of route of the Intercolonial one of vast interest to the Dominion as to the Maritime Provinces, it is found in the statements frequently made in the House of Commons, by gentlemen who have had much experience in regard to the construction of Public Works in old Canada.

I heard it said, by such a gentleman, the other evening, that the Intercolonial would cost $30,000,000, rather a startling proposition to the younger and poorer branches of the Dominion, when it is considered that New Brunswick's share of the interest would be $120,000 a year. Whatever there is in the history of the past to justify fears of such an excessive expenditure, it can scarcely be supposed that Government will be so blind to the teachings of experience as to follow the course pursued in former times, and by fostering jobbery, stultify the energies of the country. In New Brunswick a road which cost Government $50,000 a mile, might have been built for $35,000 per mile, and be in every respect fully up to the requisite standard. In that Province roads have been and are being built for from $20,000 to $35,000 per mile, and they are quite good enough for the requirements of the country. Had a company been subsidized to build the road first mentioned, it would only have cost the Province $15,000 a mile, and two-thirds of the debt incurred under the management pursued been avoided. That the Intercolonial can be built for the estimated sum guaranteed by the British Government, £3,000,000, has been pretty well established by the proposals already made by different companies. And should the Government by the adoption of a lengthy, expensive and unproductive route, or by an extravagant disposal of money on the route adopted, exceed the estimate submitted to and approved by the Imperial Government, it will be a policy most suicidal in its effects. But while extreme prudence in the general outlay is demanded of the Government, it is not less important that they should look to its future effect upon the country, through which it passes, and its reproductive operations. The question, how locate it, so as, if not to secure a revenue from it, at least secure working expenses to it?—is one which might be well considered. Something is required and something may be gained, apart from making the road a mere iron band of connection of Halifax with Quebec, or a mere highway for the through traffic, which at best will be small, seeking conveyance between the remote points of the Dominion. To secure way traffic and to create such traffic is a desideratum with every railroad. This traffic is the result of population, trade, industry, enterprise, and while being fed by these agents, the Intercolonial may foster them if it runs in that direction in which it opens a field for their development and extension. I may remark here that, as affecting the item of cost, that portion of the connection between Moncton and Truro, is already really under contract with the respective Governments of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, and will likely be at once proceeded with by the companies subsidized to build it, judging from a recent decision by legal authorities in England. Then taking the proposals made to build the intermediate links via Woodstock or Fredericton, we have it demonstrated that the whole road may be completed for some eight millions of dollars. In considering the material at hand, with which to feed the railway, as well as the character and extent of the resources to be developed by it, it is necessary to look from a New Brunswick stand point, as the road must pass entirely through this Province. And there being but one way for it to pass through Nova Scotia. There is but one practicable line North of the water shed which separates the streams flowing into the Bay Chaleur and Gulf of St. Lawrence, and those emptying into the St. John River. On the Southern side several practicable lines have been found, and in the territory lying between the water shed and the St. John River, are found the richest tracts of ungranted Crown Lands that exist in the Province. There is here a belt of land extending from the head waters of the Nashwaak to the foot of Lake Tamiscouata, a distance of some 150 miles, and from 20 to 40 miles wide, capable of settling 80,000 persons, the large proport on of which is of a quality for agriculture unsurpassed in the Dominion. In this tract during the past six years, 140,000 acres have been surveyed and settled by nearly 1,000 families, who are now in a thriving condition, and through this belt, or a large portion of it, either a Central, Central Frontier, or Frontier line would necessarily pass. There is this marked peculiarity between the Northern line and either of the Southern ones. While the former skirts the sea boundary of one whole county, Restigouche, as it also does that of Rimouski in Quebec, running close to the waters of the Bay of Restigouche and the Bay of Chaleur, following this circuitous and questionable course for very apparent reasons.

In the latter case, the lines pass entirely through the heart of the Province, not skirting or encircling, but OPENING UP a great arterial line through the interior counties. The importance of this fact will be better realized on a consideration of some figures shewing relatively the position of the Northern, as compared with the Southern and Central counties, as regards population, productions and productiveness territory, &c.

Of course, in whichever section the largest result from unaided enterprise and industry is shown to exist, while at the same time, there is ample room for extension of that enterprise and ample field for the development of new branches of industry, it is there that the best results are most likely to follow the construction of a railway.

In the following calculations it is assumed that the Northern line serves in common all the Northern counties, and that either of the Southern lines serve all the Southern and Western counties. It may be said that by some of the Southern lines certain counties will be very indirectly served. But the same argument applies to the Northern line as affecting the Northern counties, for practically but a small portion of Restigouche or Gloucester will be benefitted by, or benefit the railroad, and with regard to the former county the distance is shorter from a central part of it to either the Central or Central Frontier line, than to the Northern or its own seaboard.

Westmoreland, inasmuch as it is interested geographically alike in either line, is either left out of, or included in, both sides of the calculations.

Albert is included in the Southern interest as it has given unmistakable testimony through its representatives against the policy of a Northern route.

From these figures, taken from the census of 1861 and other official sources, it seems that, taking the sum of the various items the money value of which is given, the amount per head of the northern countries is $136, of the southern, $189. In imports, the per capita is $11 against $37. The exports $15 against $20. Of hay, the North raised ½ ton per head, the South one ton per head. Of grains, peas and beans, the North raised less than ½ of a bushel per acre of all the granted or located lands, and about 8 bushels per head; the South ½ bushel per acre and 11½ bushels per head. Of butter, cheese and pork, the North 29 lb per head, the South 41 lb per head.

But since the census of 1861, there has been a very material and especial increase in the productions of the Southern countries, owing to the influx of settlers. Taking one settlement, which in 1861 was an unbroken wilderness, I find that in 1866 there were raised 20 tons of hay, 2,526 bush. of wheat, 11,315 bush. of oats, 277 bush. of barley, 3,844 bush. of buckwheat, 140 bush. of rye, 16,855 bush. of potatoes, 4,905 bush. of turnips, and the settlers had stock, horses, &c., valued at $14,289. And several other settlements of the same age and corresponding success might be named—this may be taken in connection with the fact that since 1861 the population of some of the Northern countries has materially decreased.

These items go to prove the productiveness of the St. John river counties, and the inducements the upper ones offer to settlers, which is also shown by the fact that in 1867, while the amount of public lands applied for and granted under the Labor Act for actual settlement was in the Northern counties only 3,600 acres or 36 lots; in the Southern, chiefly in York, Carleton, and Victoria, the amount was 19,425 acres or 194 lots. Then again, the Southern routes would respectively pass through rich mineral deposits of lime, copper, antimony, coal and iron; this latter valuable mineral is found in inexhaustible quantities in the upper counties on the St. John, and of a quality which has been found in England to be the best iron used for plating ships, in the English market. A large establishment for making charcoal iron exists in Carleton county. In 1864, this establishment made 2,750 tons of pig iron, consuming 12,000 cords of wood, paying freight to St. John, amounting to $5,500, and from St. John to the works $4,500. It is estimated that these iron mines cover an area extending to the boundary of Lower Canada, of 250,000 acres, and that such is the abundance, that four acres would provide ore to supply a furnace fifty years. These iron works have not been in operation for the past year, but this suspension, while it has occurred partially through private financial difficulties, has also been partially effected by the absence of railroad connection with the sea. While on the subject of minerals, I should state that in the rivers emptying into the Upper St. John, evidences are found in plenty of the existence of rich auriferous deposits and that gold and silver abounds in paying quantities.

Without, at this time, going into any estimate of the local traffic which a railroad would secure from the trade in lumber, I may state the simple fact that last year some 95,000,000 of shingles were exported from that district of country.

The facts stated above do not merely show why and how it is that New Brunswick is interested in having the railroad go by a central or frontier route; but they also prove that as a Dominion work, it is for the interest of the whole, especially for Ontario, which will contribute most largely and have to wait longest for any appreciable benefit from the undertaking, to have the road go by such a route as will make the largest return, and quickest in the way of business, to assist in meeting running expenses.

Circular.

DOWNING-STREET,
25th April, 1867.

SIR,—

With reference to the Circular Despatch from this Department dated the 5th of June, 1866, relative to the case of Foreigners naturalized in any of Her Majesty's Colonies who wish to obtain British Passports for foreign travel—I have the honor to inform you that different cases have occurred lately in which such naturalized Foreigners have applied in this country for passports without being in possession either of a Passport from the Governor or of any Official Document from the Colony to establish their identity and character. You will readily perceive that this is calculated to embarrass this Department, and also to cause much private inconvenience to the persons concerned if they should find themselves unable to produce any sufficient evidence of their quality.

I have therefore to suggest that, in every Colony containing naturalized Foreigners who are likely to travel in Europe, it would be convenient that notice should from time to time be given in public newspapers of the necessity for such persons providing themselves before leaving the Colony with some official evidence of their identity and description.

I have the honor to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient
Humble servant,

The Officer Administering
the Government, &c., &c., &c.

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE,
Ottawa, 8th May, 1868.

(With reference to the foregoing Circular Despatch.)

Notice is hereby given that parties requiring Passports must apply, until further notice, to this Department, transmitting at the same time a certificate of identity, accompanied in each case with a description of the applicant, signed by a Justice of he Peace and also the fee of one dollar.

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER

de, Back and Head, Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Sprains, Bruises, Cramps in the Stomach, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery, Bowel Complaints, Burns, Scalds, Frost Bites, &c., &c.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER HA now been before the public for a length of time, and whenever used is well liked, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single case of dissatisfaction where the directions are properly followed; but on the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its virtues and magical effects.

We speak from experience in this matter, having tested it thoroughly, and therefore those who are suffering from any of the complaints for which it is recommended may depend upon its being a Sovereign Remedy.

The astonishing efficacy of the Canadian Pain Destroyer, in curing diseases for which it is recommended, and its wonderful success in subduing the torturing pains of Rheumatism, and in relieving Nervous Affections, entitle it to a high rank in the list of Remedies for these complaints, ers are coming in from Medicine Dealers in all parts of the country for further supplies, and each testifying as to the universal satisfaction it gives

The Canadian Pain Destroyer never fails to give immediate relief. All Medicine Dealers keep i Physicians order and use it; and no family will without it after once trying it.

Price twenty-five cents per bottle.

DARLEY'S

Arabian Heave Remedy

AND CONDITION MEDICINE

IS POSITIVELY SUPERIOR TO ANY or allother preparations for the cure of Heaves, Coughs, Thick and Broken Wind, and all diseases which affect the Wind of Horses; also, as a Condition Medicine, surpassing everything of the kind, is easy to give, sure to cure, and safe in all cases and at all times, and does not prevent the horse from being worked while using it.

It cleanses the breathing apparatus, by removing from the air-cells the coagulable lymph, or that secretion which in heaves clogs them, causing a difficulty in breathing, and by its action on the diseased part, causing the mucous membrane to resume its natural dimensions, thus equalizing the circulation of the blood, and restoring the distended vessels to their natural size; by its use the horse's appetite is improved, all derangements of the digestive organs corrected, softening the skin, and giving to the coat a sleek and shining appearance.

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864,

AND AMENDMENTS THEREOF.

In the matter of WILLIAM N. BARRIE and JOHN McMARTIN, Insolvents.

BY virtue of the power vested in me as Assignee of the estate and effects of the above named Insolvents, and also under and by virtue of an order made by James Daniell, Esquire, Judge of the County Court of the United Counties of Prescott and Russell in that behalf, I will on THURSDAY, the twenty-sixth day of June next. offer or sale by Public Auction, at the hour of ten o'clock, in the forenoon of the said day, at the office of Messrs. Morland, Watson and Company, in the City of Montreal, all the real estate and interest of the said Insolvent John McMartin, of and in the lands and premises in the Township of North Plantagenet, and County of Prescott, and Province of Ontario, hereinafter particularly mentioned and described. That is to say:

1st. All the real estate, interest and equity of redemption of the said John McMartin of what nature or kind soever, whether as devisee under the will of Alexander McMartin, deceased, or otherwise, of and in lot number nine, (9) in the fourth (4th) concession, old survey of the said Township of Plantagenet, East of the South Nation River.

2nd. All the real estate, interest and equity of redemption of the said John McMartin, of what nature and kind soever, whether as devisee under the will of the said Alexander McMartin, deceased, or otherwise, of and in Lot Number Ten (10), in the Fourth (4th) Concession, old survey of the said Township East of the South Nation River.

The said two lots are supposed to contain together 399 acres more or less.

3rd. All the real estate and interest and equity of redemption of the said John McMartin, of what nature and kind sover, either in his own right, or as devisee under the will of the said Alexander McMartin, deceased, or otherwise, howsoever, of and in that part of Lot Eleven, (11) in the said Fourth (4th) Concession, old survey of the said Township of North Plantagenet, known as McMartin's Saw Mills, with the privileges and appurtenances to the same belonging. Also of and in the premises known as the old Store, the large Store House the large stable and premises connected therewith, also of and in the Dwelling House now occupied by the said John McMartin, and the outbuildings therewith connected, and lying and being in the Village of Plantagenet Mills aforesaid.

The said several premises will be sold subject to the several mortgages charged upon same, and the said mill and mill premises and other the premises last mentioned with their appurtenances, will be sold subject to the interest of the said Insolvents as copartners or of either of them therein, under the partnership articles the lease therein mentioned or otherwise howsoever at the time of their insolvency for the residue of the unexpired term of fifteen years from the 1st day of December, 1865, and to the mortgages thereon.

There is a rent of one dollar annually, payable during said term to the said John McMartin as devisee thereof, under the will of the said Alexander McMartin.

Terms—Cash.

For further particulars apply to Edward Taylor Dartnell, Esquire, L'Orignal, Solicitor for the Assignee, or to the Assignee.

SHOULD BUY THEIR TEAS FROM

The Importers Direct

THE MONTREAL TEA COMPANY, 6, Hospital-street, Montreal, have sent over one thousand packages to different parts of the country, and receive every day assurances that the Tea gives entire satisfaction. Subjoined are a few of the numerous testimonials already received:

RUSSELL HOTEL, Quebec, Jan. 7, 1867.—Montreal Tea Company: Genflemen, the six chests of Tea forwarded some time since arrived in good order. The quality is pure and excellent, and prices cheap. As I am particular in buying the best quality of Tea to be had for our guests, I am pleased to acquaint you that it gives general satisfaction. Your obedient servant,

WILLIS RUSSELL.

FELCOME, Dec. 23, 1867.—Montreal Tea Company: Gentlemen, the Oolong Tea which you sent me gives great satisfaction. I forwarded part of the chest to a friend in Toronto, who informs me he considers it as good as that he was using for which he paid one dollar per lb. Please send me a chest of Young Hyson at same price, viz., at 75 cents per lb. Address as before. Your obedient servant,

JNO. T. DAY.

HOUSE OF SENATE, Ottawa, December 16, 1867. -Montreal Tea Company: Gentlemen, the box of English Breakfast and Young Hyson Tea which you sent me gives great satisfaction. You may expect my future orders. Yours, &c.,

S. SKINNER.

COBOURG, January 8, 1868.—Montreal Tea Company: Gentlemen, I beg to inform you that the two boxes of Tea you sent me are of excellent quality, especially the Young Hyson at 60 cents. Please send another box, or 20 lbs., at same price, and oblige yours, &c.,

F. OLIVER.

The contributors to the Medical Journal have frequently declared that one-half the nervous diseases are caused by drinking impure Tea. The Company have carefully selected and imported a supply of Teas that can be warranted pure and free from poisonous substances, in 50, 25, 20, 15 and 12 lb. boxes.

BLACK TEA.

Common Congou, Broken Leaf, Strong Tea, 45c, 50c.; Fine Flavoured New Season, do; 55c, 60c and 65c; Excellent Full Flavored do, 75c; Sound Oolong, 45c; Rich Flavored do, 60c; Very Fine do, do, 75c; Japan, Good, 50c, 55c; Very Fine, 60c; Finest, 65c, 75c.

GREEN TEA.

Twankay common, 38c; Fine do, 55c; Young Hyson, 50c, 60c, 65c and 70c; Fine do, 75c; Very Fine, 85c; Superfine and Very Choice, $1.00; Fine Gunpowder, 85c; Extra Superfine do, $1.

All orders for 20 or 25 lbs., or two 12 lbs., sent carriage free to the country. Teas not mentioned in this circular sent equally cheap. The Company having determined to take a stand in the Montreal market, weight, quality and circular may be implicitly relied on. Where a 20 lb. box would be too much, two or three clubbing together could divide. An excellent mixed Tea could be sent for 60c to 70c; very good for common purposes, 50c. Buyers living beyond Railway Stations will please send Post Office order or enclosed notes. The carriage will be paid to the nearest station. Tea will be forwarded immediately on receipt of the order by mail containing money, or the money can be collected on delivery by express-man where there are express offices. A trial solicited.

THE MONTREAL TEA COMPANY, 6, Hospital-street, Montreal.

All boxes sent from this establishment have the Company's name printed on them.

The Ottawa Times

MONDAY, MAY 18, 1868.

On Saturday the Senate rejected one of the Government measures relating to the criminal laws of the Dominion, by a vote of twenty-five to twenty-two, on the ground that sufficient time had not been allowed for its consideration. The Hon. Mr. Campbell thereupon moved the discharge of the other Bills, (three or four in number,) relating to the same subject.

It is hardly likely from the little progress made on Saturday, that the business of Parliament will be concluded in time to permit of the prorogation on Wednesday. However, it is just possible that members will set themselves to work to-day and to-morrow, and dispense with lengthy speeches. From the numbers already left for home, it is not likely that there will be much more than a hundred members present in the Commons to-day.

* * *

It would appear from the vote on the eleventh article of Impeachment that President Johnson is about to escape, by a very narrow majority, the doom to which the extreme Radicals had prejudged him. We hope, for the sake of our neighbors, that this may be so, as no national advantage could accrue to them from the triumph of an infamous partizan conspiracy, using the machinery of the Constitution for the very purpose of setting aside its honest administration. It is not at all improbable that the Radicals will gain more by the failure than they would have gained by the success of Impeachment in the next Presidential election, as the check will warn the extremists that they have gone too far, and since success, at whatever cost, is the point at which they aim, they will, doubtless, trim their sails accordingly.

There is no gainsaying the fact that the "economical fit" has full possession of the members of Parliament, so long as it does not trench upon their own perquisites. In the Militia Bill, which passed its final stages in the Commons on Saturday, the Government had fixed a scale of salary for certain officers, which was deemed consistent with the rank they should hold and the duties they would have to perform. The Adjutant-General was assigned $3,600 per annum—an advance of $600 over his present salary; the Deputy Adjutant-General $2,600, an advance of $360; and the District Deputy Adjutants-General, created under the Act, $1,800 each.

Mr. Bowell objected to this scale of remuneration, and moved in amendment that the Adjutant-General's salary should be fixed at $3,000—the old rate of remuneration, and that the District Deputy-Adjutants should receive $1,200 each, instead of $1,800. This motion was carried by a majority of one; and to upset the decision the Minister of Militia made two ineffectual attempts. Considering the responsibilities and duties of the Adjutant-General we do not think that the proposed increase of salary was open to the imputation of extravagance; but since the Governor-General of the Dominion is to be paid with a less salary than was the Governor-General of the old Province of Canada, the Adjutant-General of the Dominion may consider himself complimented in not being placed on a lower scale than his Provincial predecessor.

It is quite probable that the rate of eighteen hundred dollars per annum was a little too high for the District Deputies, but surely twelve hundred is an error on the other side. There was ample room for a compromise, and since the opinion of the House was so evenly balanced, we thing that had any member suggested fifteen hundred dollars a year, instead of twelve or eighteen, the good sense of the House would have approved it. We hope the Government may be able to secure efficient officers at the reduced figure, but we doubt it. If the services of gentlemen holding the military rank of Lieut.-Colonel, and qualified educationally and professionally, to hold such rank, can be procured for something less than the salary of a first-class clerk in a commercial house, the Government will be exceedingly fortunate.

Though we have had occasion to find fault with some of the economical decisions of Parliament, it does not follow by any means that we desire to encourage extravagance Experience has long ago proved that it is the soundest economy in the end which procures the most efficient officers, and pays them fairly for their labor, and that in nothing so much as in service rendered does the maxim "cheap and nasty" hold good.

The rejection of the proposed increase in the salary of the Adjutant-General, logically led to the abandonment of the increase in that of his deputy; and though some members of the House took strong exception to this proposal, the untenableness of their position was made abundantly manifest by the decisive vote of 127 to 7 in favor of the Hon. Mr. Cartier's motion for this purpose. A number of amendments were proposed to the Bill, to which the House listened with manifest impatience, and the measure was finally passed, some of the Opposition members prophesying that it would prove inefficient and unserviceable.

We believe the Bill is one of the most important of the Session. Judiciously administered, as no doubt it will be, it will, for the amount of money expended, give a very effective militia organization, and though many of the Volunteer Officers are inclined to regard it unfavorably, we have faith that the patriotism of the people will sustain the Government in giving it effect.

In a lengthy defence of its telegraphic "sensationals" the other day the Citizen endeavors to shield its correspondent from the imputation of having filched his despatch from one of the Montreal papers, by insinuating that the same party may have furnished the so-called "information" to the Montreal journal as well as to itself. It says:

"Our contemporary sneeringly alludes to the 'exclusive' information obtained by our correspondent; but has it not occurred to him that that correspondent may have supplied the Gazette as well as the Citizen with the 'exclusive' information he obtained of the proceedings before Judge Coursol?"

We are quite willing to accept the suggestion; but supposing it were the fact, which the Citizen does not affirm, it would not improve the character of the "information," which so little commended itself to the Gazette as to be rejected from its regular edition; or, as the Gazette very mildly put it, "we think it better to hold them over for "confirmation"—and they have been "held over" accordingly ever since! Anything more of the same kind published by our neighbor, whether "legitimately" or otherwise obtained, shall excite no "petty jealousies" in us, though we may, if the fancy strikes us, take the liberty of shewing what it is worth.

Our neighbor pretends to have verified the sensational narration of its correspondent. We should like exceedingly to know by what process, as the information might be valuable to the authorities. It would at all events be interesting to know how much of the story it will now venture to affirm is true.

Mr. Rymal has earned the credit of never boring the House, and generally saying something "good," even if it is by way of a joke, when he does speak. But on Saturday his second allusion to the course of the Minister of Militia was in exceeding bad taste. Without being witty his remarks were abusive, and utterly uncalled for. Mr. Cartier, by pressing his second motion to a vote, merely desired to give certain gentlemen who entered too late to record their votes on the first motion, an opportunity of expressing their opinion. That he did not yield the point at issue until he saw that the judgment of the majority was against him, so far from giving just occasion for such remarks as those indulged in by the member for South Wentworth, was an evidence that he desired, honorably and firmly, to maintain what he believed was the rate of remuneration to which the officers whose salaries were under discussion, were fairly entitled. How any man—even Mr. Rymal—could discover in this a spark of "dishonor" puzzles us not a little.

We learn that late on Saturday night, one of the members of the Senate, on his way to his lodgings from the residence of Sir J. A. Macdonald, where he had been spending the evening, was arrested by the guard at the gaol, being unable to give the countersign. After some fifteen or twenty minutes of confinement the hon. gentleman, after having secured his identification as a loyal subject of Her Majesty, was permitted to go his way.

We beg to direct the attention of the members of the Local Committee of the McGee Testimonial Fund to the advertisement elsewhere calling a meeting for to-day at eleven o'clock.

LOCAL NEWS.

New hoop skirts just received by Magee and Russell.

City Council.—The City Council will meet this evening for the despatch of business.

St. Patrick's Orphan Bazaar.—The bazaar will be closed to-night. The drawing of prizes will commence at 4 o'clock.

St. Alban's Penny Readings, 8 P. M.—The programme this evening consists of readings by Messrs. Haliburton, Meredith and Maingy; ballads and sacred songs by Mr. Sinclair and other amateurs; and choice instrumental morceaux on piano, flute and violin, by Messrs. Harvey, Cross and Herr Stoeckle.

Police Court.—James Irving, just out of jail, found insensibly drunk, and fined $3 and costs, with the option of working it out on a stone heap in jail for one week.—Robert Burns was also found insensible from the potent effects of whisky, and sentenced to pay a fine of $2 and costs, or contribute in lieu thereof, a week's earnings in the manner aforesaid.

Ole Bull's Concert.—On Saturday evening last we enjoyed the never-to-be-forgotten pleasure, and inestimable privilege, of hearing the world-renowned Ole Bull—and here we might stop, for there is no language at our command capable of giving anything like even a general description of his marvellous powers. The finest word painting that can be conceived would be "weary, stale, flat, and unprofitable," to those who listened to the ravishing strains of "the nightingale," founded on, and incorporated into, a Russian legend of most exquisitely thrilling romance. Those of the audience who in by-gone days had listened the live long night to the impassioned, love-lorn anthem of Philomela, in those glorious old lands where her voice is heard from "dewy eve" till "rosy morn," were transported back to the scenes of early youth, when sitting on some mossy, or "cowslip-covered bank;" perchance in some sequestered dell, like Jessica, gazing on those "patines of bright gold," they drank in the delicious melody with thoughts akin to those reproduced by the great master, in the universal language of music. But "The Mother's Prayer" was even more sublime. In that wonderful performance the house was rapt in silence, and naught was heard but the tender, earnest and passionate supplications that would not, and could not, take denial, offered up with all a mother's soul in behalf of her child. This is one of the grand inspirations of Ole Bull, and we can never hear it but from himself. It could never be written so as to be executed by another; as it never could have been conceived by any whose soul had not, like his, been refined in the "alembic of affliction." At the conclusion of this, the audience, bursting the bonds of silence in which they had been held, filled the house with applause, which continued until the good old man returned and played "The Last Rose of Summer," with variations, not as we ever heard it before. It was the language of Flora, and that is all we can say about it. Those who were present would not thank us for an attempt at description, and those who were not, would be unable to form an idea of it from a volume. "The Carnival of Venice" was perfectly comprehensible to all who know what carnival is, either from being present in any of the Italian cities on such an occasion, or from reading a good description. But who ever thought that all the mirth, all the comicalities, and the very individual cries and songs of a Venetian carnival could be brought to Ottawa in a violin? And yet so it was. Two or three voices were heard singing at the same time in the midst of the general hilarity, one of them, a feeble octogenarian voice, joining the crowd and trying to be jolly. This performance created infinite mirth as well as astonishment, and was rapturously encored. On re-entering Ole Bull gave a kind of pot pourri, in which all the passions were in turn appealed to, and ended in a jig in which all the audience who had music in their souls, joined in marking time and other moving manifestations. All who were present will bear us out in the assertion that if the lively strains had been continued two minutes longer, scores would have been on their feet. Of the accompanyist, Mr. Lansing, we can only say that he is far superior to those we generally hear. He has an exquisite touch and a brilliancy of execution which were manifested in his fantasia and danse. Miss Jenny Landsman gave the highest satisfaction, and was encored every time she sang. Mr. Gustavus F. Hall made an excellent impression on the audience. His Largo al Factotum will compare favorably with any rendering of it heard in this city, while his acting was very fine. The whole company proved the correctness of our statement that Ole Bull would not be found in any but the best professional company.

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY ROUTE.

To the Editor of THE TIMES.

Sir,—Your correspondent "New Brunswicker" still declines my invitation to throw off his mask, and meet me on open ground. After assuming an importance to which he has no claim, and boasting of his superior age and greater acquaintance with the politicians and politics of my native Province, (all which I challenged him to substantiate by something more reliable than anonymous assertions), he prefers to retain his disguise, and to use weapons he would not dare to employ over his own name. He thinks himself "singularly unfortunate" in his controversies. I entirely agree with him; and until he assumes less, learns to write grammatically, and pays some respect to truth and manliness, I prophesy his ill fortune will stick to him.

Does New Brunswicker dare to deny that over the signature of "Ontario," he pretended to speak the sentiments of the people of Western Canada; that as a pretended "Nova Scotian," he assumed to be the mouthpiece of that Province, and all to bolster up his favorite Frontier route at the expense of Nova Scotia, Quebec, and the Northern Counties of New Brunswick? If he does, I again challenge him to assume the name he appears to be ashamed of, and I pledge myself to make good my former assertion, that "New Brunswicker," "Ontario," "Nova Scotian," &c., are one and the same person under different disguises, but these are so thin and flimsy, that they are easily be seen through. I again assert that I know this writer and his trio of assistants; that I believe I am the senior of them all but one, that my acquaintance with the public men and public affairs of New Brunswick is more intimate than that of any one of the quartette; that my birth, character, and standing as a man will bear comparison with those of either of them, and I again challenge New Brunswicker to doff the lion's skin, and let the public see him in his ass's hide. And then they will be better able to judge whether I am mistaken, or he is wilfully deceiving them. This is all I shall say at present on the personal part of his last letter, and I regret much that the course he has pursued makes it necessary to say even this much.

It is most amusing to hear "New Brunswicker" chop logic, and talk about his inability to "prove a negative." With all his pretensions I suspect he knows as little of logic as he does of the "desires" of the Charlotte clique. He evidently does not know the difference between a negative and an affirmative proposition, or he would scarcely have the hardihood to "most positively deny the EXISTENCE OF SUCH A DESIRE." I said nothing about a "desire." I affirmed the existence of a "clique." This I am ready to prove, just as soon as my opponent will assume his own name, and I now affirm that he is playing into the hands of this "clique," whether he means it or not.

I have no doubt "New Brunswicker" can get letters, just as easily as he got telegrams, but their truthfulness is just as doubtful in the one case as in the other. I have conversed with the members who complain of the indecent haste with which the resolutions were hurried through the New Brunswick Assembly, and if "New Brunswicker" will dare cast off his borrowed plumes, I will confront him with the men, who will put his boasted "veracity" to the proof, and if he can derive any assistance from the "member of this Parliament" I now challenge him to name the gentleman; he will make as great a mistake in this instance, as he did in the case of his St. Stephen friends, who have, fortunately for themselves, stopped his silly twaddle in their behalf. His covert attack on the Hon. John H. Gray is of a piece with the abuse of the St. John Globe, the organ of the cliques, and will scarcely affect the standing of that gentleman.

"New Brunswicker" attempts to make his readers believe, by giving an incomplete quotation from a despatch of the Duke of Newcastle to the Governor of New Brunswick, that the Imperial authorities had no objection to the Frontier-route. But the fact that the guarantee was steadily refused to this, is a sufficient answer to his special pleading. The following extract from a despatch of the Colonial Secretary to Lord Elgin, will show the decision of the Imperial authorities on this subject:—

"But on a reference to the correspondence "which has already taken place on this sub-"ject • • • • • • • it will "appear that no pledge had been given of assist-"ance to any line, except that originally pro-"posed."

"New Brunswicker" next proceeds to give a whole column of partial quotations from the correspondence with the Imperial Government since the year 1852, in which he produces no less an authority than Sir Francis Hincks on the military excellence of the Frontier line; the object of which is to persuade his readers that the Home Government had waived all preference to the Northern route.

The answer to all this waste of time and labor is simply this—that all through this correspondence the Imperial Government never lost sight of the military character of the road, and always insisted that before any line could receive assistance, it must be approved by the British Government. This has been the uniform and undeviating language of the Imperial authorities, and it is repeated in the very Bill authorizing the guarantee, known as the "Canada Railway Loan Act, 1867," in the preamble of which will be found the following words:—"In a line, and on conditions approved by one of Her Majesty's principal Secre-"taries of State." In section two of the Bill this is repeated as follows:—"Nor unless, and un-"til the line in which the railway is to be con-"structed has been approved by one of Her "Majesty's principal Secretaries of State."

"New Brunswicker" is foolish enough to quote Mr. Wilkinson in opposition to Major Robinson. I have only to ask those of your readers who wish to know the truth on this subject to read Major Robinson's reply to Mr. Wilkinson's remarks, and if they are not convinced that "New Brunswicker's" Frontier mania has entirely blinded his judgment, I shall be much surprised.

He concludes by sounding his own praise, and claiming for his "arguments" strength and conclusiveness. I am quite content to let the public judge of this. I charged him with penning "a tissue of deliberate falsehoods," and he has not even attempted to deny the charge. I have offered to test our "claims to veracity" in a way which will put to the proof his assumed high character. If he is so well satisfied and so proud of his name, let him avow it, that his countrymen may accord him all the honor due to so distinguished a personage. I know him to be a mere puppet in the hands of others, seeking his own selfish ends by pandering to their designs. I would again advise them to change their writer, for this one has fully proved what I before stated—his utter incapacity of arguing fairly, or even of writing grammatically.

His last letter, in point of composition, as well as in point of "logic," would disgrace a schoolboy, and gives the lie to all his brazen assumption of standing and acquirements.

When the mountain next labors I will exhibit the mouse it brings forth.

Yours, &c., Examiner.

AMERICAN NEWS.

FROM WASHINGTON.

President Johnson Acquitted

19 Votes for Acquittal; 35 for Conviction.

The Two-Thirds Majority Wanting.

Three of a Majority for Acquittal!

Washington, May 16.—The Senate proceeded to vote on the Eleventh Article of Impeachment. There were for acquittal 19; for conviction 35.

Fowler, Fessenden, Grimes, Henderson, Vanwikly, Trumbull and Ross voted "not guilty."

SATURDAY'S DESPATCHES.

Impeachment.

New York, May 16.—The Commercial's Washington special says the President's friends count 18 Senators as positive for acquittal on all the articles. This is sufficient to acquit without Wade's vote, but as he intends to vote it is claimed that one or more of the Border State Senators will balance his vote. The Republicans are not certain of the necessary 36 votes for conviction on any one article, although they have received assurances of the votes of that number of Senators.

A special to the Evening Telegram says a portion of the Missouri delegation in the House called upon Senator Henderson last night, who said that acquittal, in his opinion, will not result disastrously to the country. The President had promised those who would vote for acquittal that he would immediately send in a new Cabinet, all Republicans; that he would execute the laws passed by Congress; that he would no longer obstruct the execution of the Reconstruction Acts, and that he would endeavor to bring his administration into harmony with Congress. He further promises to support those Republican Senators who vote for acquittal, with the whole power of the Administration before the people.

Washington, May 16.—Midnight.—The excessive confidence of both sides is unabated. In the judgment of your correspondent the chances are just about even. One vote decides the result.

The Tribune's special says a careful canvass by some of the most sagacious members of Congress shows that the verdict hinges in a great measure on the vote of Mr. Willey, of West Virginia.

Impeachment.

The Post's special says the prospect now is a full vote can be had on Saturday, and the delay is believed to have strengthened impeachment.

The American Express Company have declared a dividend of $10 per share.

Washington, May 14.—The impeachment managers are in session to-day examining witnesses.

A British Captain Arrested for Violation of U. S. Passenger Laws.

Boston, May 14.—Capt. Wilson, of British steamship Halmyca, from Liverpool, was before the United States commissioner to-day on complaint of carrying more passengers than the law allows. He pleaded not guilty and gave personal recognizance to appear on the 9th of July next.

From Rio Janeiro.

New York, May 14.—The Herald's Rio Janeiro correspondence says the impression prevailed that Lopez, in abandoning Curapatis, was driving the allies into a trap. The iron clads which passed Humaita were hemmed in and unable to return. Cholera is spreading in Humaita, but is decreasing in Buenos Ayres.

From Australia.

News from Australia to the 8th gives details of the attempted assassination of Prince Alfred, all of which has been anticipated.

A destructive fire occurred at Sydney. Mr. Holdsworth was the principal sufferer to the extent of $200,000.

A Treaty of Peace Concluded with the Indians.

St. Louis, May 14.—A despatch from Cheyenne, dated yesterday, says that Gen. Sherman has concluded a treaty with the Indians to keep peace, and settle upon the reservation.

MIDNIGHT DESPATCHES.

Effect of Impeachment in New York—Revival of Business.

New York, May 16.—The announcement of the vote on impeachment in this city, caused great excitement in all circles. There was approbation and disapprobation about equally divided. Business men appeared much relieved when the announcement was made, as business has been for a week or more held in suspense awaiting the result.

The Famine in Algeria—Horrible Sufferings—Application for Relief.

Two French missionaries have arrived in this city to obtain aid and relief for the Arabs in Algeria, who are at present, and have been for some time, enduring most horrible sufferings from famine and pestilence. The most harrowing stories are told of the sufferings of these people, many of whom have been reduced to such straits that they eat offal, and dig up the dead bodies of animals that have died of the plague. One hundred thousand of them have died of the famine or the cholera within six months.

Bank Statement.

New York, May 16.—The bank statement shows an increase in loans of $1,068,900; decrease in specie $347,768; increase in circulation $127,160; decrease in deposits $2,036,737; increase in legal tenders $71,253. Foreign exchange dull and nominal. Governments strong, with an active demand for investment.

Adjournment of the Court of Impeachment.

Washington, May 16.—Immediately on the declaration of not guilty on the eleventh article, Mr. Williams moved an adjournment until Tuesday, the 26th instant. The motion was carried by 32 to 21, and the court adjourned.

New York Money Market.

New York, May 16.—At the second board stocks were active.

Gold closed at 139½.

The Post's financial article says money is in good supply at 6 per cent. Railroad shares higher. Governments active. Convertions of 7-30's yesterday were over a million. Coin interest yesterday nearly half a million.

Large Shipments of Specie.

The steamer City of Antwerp took out for Europe, on Saturday, $450,000, the Ville de Paris, $1,400,000, and the Erin, $54,000.

Fine coral jewellery, bog oak jewellery and a large collection of other goods suitable for wedding and other presents can be seen at Young & Radford's; all new and choice goods and will be sold cheap.

Carpets and House Furnishings.—Garland Mutchmor & Co. make this department a speciality. They have just received a large stock and invite the attention of parties furnishing to it. Purchasers will find their stock in this department second to none in Ottawa. 582-y

—Doctor Copland, a high authority in medicine, speaking of the causes of dyspepsia, remarks that "there can be no doubt that the use of tobacco, which has been lately increasing to an alarming extent, is one of the most frequent causes of this disease, notwithstanding what is often said of its harmlessness." The Doctor also refers to the habits of opium-eating and rum-drinking, but says not a word, for he could not, of Italian Bitters.

THE CANADIAN PARLIAMENT.

1st PARLIAMENT. 1st SESSION.

THE SENATE.

Wednesday, May 13, 1868.

Hon. Mr. SIMPSON said he could not give his vote without saying a few words upon the subject before the House, but the representations made by the Postmaster-General in reference to the bankers of Upper Canada, had left him undecided whether he should speak as a merchant or as a banker. If he spoke as a merchant he did not know if his opinions would carry as much weight, although it is said a successful merchant makes the best banker. He referred to his long residence in Canada, and of the great benefit the country had derived from the Bank of Upper Canada, and for which it would only be an act of justice for them to make some acknowledgment. He had never known any bank which had been directed or controlled by Government that did not come to grief. He referred to the disparaging way in which the opinions of the bankers had been referred to by the Postmaster-General, who looked upon them as a class of men not fit to give an opinion upon these matters; but notwithstanding this they had helped to move twenty million dollars' worth of the productive industry of the country. He is mistaken when he says this report contains only the opinions of a few paltry Upper Canadian bankers. These reports contain the opinions of gentlemen of learning, education, and experience, from England, Scotland, and Canada. The questions contained in those reports were submitted to some of the leading merchants of Ontario and Quebec. When the report was first drawn up he had been shown a draft of it, and he did not agree with some portions of it, but upon the whole he thought it gave a fair synopsis of the answers given to those questions by bankers and others. He thought the information given was in the right direction. We are told we have no right to interfere with the policy of the Government. What is the policy of the Government? They say they are going to get all the information they can upon the subject; they have appointed a committee, who have prepared a long string of questions, and when they are answered they are going to determine upon those answers. The only policy they seem to have is to get all the money they can. The Postmaster-General seemed to have an opinion that there had been no such thing as a crisis in Ontario. If he (Mr. Simpson) had before him the telegrams sent to all parts of the country, and the correspondence sent to Mr. King, of Montreal, he could show that Mr. Galt held a different opinion from the Postmaster-General upon this subject. If he (Mr. Campbell) had been a farmer driving into Toronto with a load of wheat, and wanted to get home before sundown, he would have been convinced there was a crisis. He then explained the cause of the late crisis, saying it was principally due to the fact that almost every bank in Ontario had expanded its circulation very largely, and in referring to the character of the banks he said the banks of Canada, in proportion to the business done, had shown more loyalty in meeting their engagements, and in promoting the interests of the country, than any banks in the world. He spoke of the great loss the country would sustain by the adoption of the Government scheme in consequence of the contraction of the currency; as for each legal tender it must take so much gold to pay the Government for it. He thought the committee had done a good work in preparing this report, which would, no doubt, have its effect upon the country.

Hon. Mr. FERRIER said he agreed with the Hon. Postmaster-General that the Boards of Trade of the large cities ought to have been consulted, as well as the business men of the country, otherwise the information is not complete. He must say he was also opposed to changes in banking. The old system has worked well for the last half century, and under it the banks have grown with the wants and requirements of the country. The Upper Canada Bank and the Commercial Bank were not conducted according to their charters, and hence they had to succumb. The information contained in this report is very valuable, but there the commission should have stopped, and not try to attach blame to any other persons, either the Bank of Montreal or the Government.

Hon. Mr. BUREAU (in French) said it was unusual to have such a long acrimonious discussion on the reception of a report of any Committee named by this House, but the importance of the subject of banking was second to no other question of the day, and hence the interest taken in this matter was quite natural. Reports of Committees generally commend themselves to the House, but this is an exceptional case, not only from its intrinsic importance, as from the circumstances attending this enquiry. He thought the Government, as a party interested, as it were put on their trial, should have been represented, as well as the Bank of Montreal also, to whose action the report attributes the calamities that befel the country in the suspension of payment of the Commercial Bank, and the consequent danger and alarm occasioned to all the other banks. There were many good points and suggestions in the report, but he for one could not endorse all its recommendations or suggestions. If it was now a question to establish a commercial or banking system for the country, he would be prepared to go into that question, but such was not the purport or scope of that commission or report. He wished to judge of all questions coming before this House on their own merits, without regard to the interests of political parties, or how they may affect any Government. He was not, what was generally understood by the term, a supporter of the Government, but that was no reason for his voting on this or any other question, contrary to his convictions of right. Viewing it in this light, he must vote against the reception of this report.

Hon. Mr. SANBORN did not pretend to have any particular wisdom in financial matters, but he felt it to be his duty to explain his reasons for the vote he should give upon this report. This report seems to create surprise in some minds and in others embarrassment. He could not say that his mind was altogether relieved from embarrassment. When the chairman had moved for this Committee to be appointed, we had been led to suppose that the subject would be dealt with, and a report made which would have been satisfactory and instructive; but now when the report has been brought forward, it creates an alarming sensation. He thought they were too much inclined to take action in matters without coming to any definite results; when they grappled with questions of the first importance to the country they should come to a conclusion upon them. It has been said by the Postmaster-General that the Committee in this case have sought their information not from the best sources, because it has not been obtained from all sources, but only from the bankers. Not only have they obtained information from bankers and those engaged in banking throughout Canada, but they have obtained it directly and indirectly from merchants. If the information had been given only by bankers, where would you have found a class of men better qualified to give this information. Almost all of them have been extensively engaged in business before they became bankers. We have been told that the Government have a policy upon this subject, and we are disturbing that policy. If they have a policy they have not propounded it; on the contrary, in the House of Commons the Minister of Finance, who is at the head of this particular department, stated that the Government were undecided in their policy. (Hear, hear.) They have struck a Committee for the purpose of informing themselves upon this subject. They will derive evidence of the same nature probably as this Committee. This Committee has had the assistance of the Government. (Hear, hear.) The chairman of the committee cannot be accused of any desire to embarrass the Government, and therefore he (Mr. Sanborn) was wholly at a loss to know why this report has been received by the Government as it has. It has been intimated that if this committee had taken a proper course they would have sent their questions to the physicians, lawyers, and clergymen of the country to get answered. If they had done so, and brought in their report would not the Postmaster-General have said, "I am surprised that the committee, with the ability they possess, did not send those questions to bankers who know something about these matters, instead of to professional men who know nothing about them." He thought many of the hon. members who have put forward their views on this matter seemed to be positive in their theories one way or the other, but the course adopted by the Government does not satisfy any of these theories, or the difficulty which has been complained of, but has operated unfavorably to the general banking interests of the country, and those interests are identified with its commercial prosperity. He referred to the report of the committee in which a synopsis of the evidence is given, which he read, and said both the committee and the evidence recommended a return to the system heretofore maintained, but if another policy is adopted then they recommend another course should be taken. The question now presented to us is, are we prepared to adopt the conclusions at which that committee have arrived? To do so cannot harm any one, even the Government.

Hon. Mr. WILMOT—The report says: "That your Committee are of opinion that the extension of the Bank of Issue system, now partially in operation, would be unsuited to the requirements of the country, and injurious to its best interests." This is declaring that the very Bill this Senate has just passed is injurious to the best interests of the country.

Hon. Mr. SANBORN said he knew his hon. friend had his theory upon this subject, which he demonstrated to his own satisfaction, and he has come to the conclusion that that Bill is the first step towards arriving at the theory he has propounded, but he (Mr. Sanborn) thought if he starts upon this ground, he will never arrive at the position he lays down as the proper one to be adopted by the Government, that is to make the circulation of the country a paper currency based upon the property of the country. He (Mr. Sanborn) was not prepared to say whether that system would be a good one or not, but he maintained that the modification of that system, which was passed to gratify the necessities of the Government at the present time, and which interfered with the banks of the country, was not a step in that direction.

Hon. Mr. MITCHELL—That Bill was not passed to gratify the necessities of the Government at the present time, but to extend that system to the Lower Provinces.

Hon. Mr. SANBORN said his hon. friend had been but a short time in the Government. They had some experience of that kind of legislation in Canada previously, and if it is a blessing he has that blessing extended to the Maritime Provinces. The principle was adopted before, and we are now enquiring whether the extension of that principle is desirable or not. Our object is to have the principles of that report adopted by the House, with a view of determining the policy of the country hereafter, because the question must come up at no distant day, and be decided one way or the other. With regard to the opinion that this Dominion Note system did not arise from the necessities of the Government, he must beg to assure the Minister of Marine that he is wrong if he lays the flattering unction to his heart that there was no necessity for the Government to have anything to do with the proceedings taken upon issuing these notes based upon the security of the Government. In regard to this report he did not see that it committed either the Government or the House to any definite mode of procedure in regard to their policy hereafter. It is but the expression of the opinions of those best able to form an opinion upon the subject, in order to enlighten the House and country upon the question. The Government ought not to be beyond receiving light upon this matter more than the rest of us. We should accept this report as an effort worthy of our approval. Whatever policy may hereafter be found necessary for the Government to adopt, every member who votes upon this question will be free to support the policy of the Government upon the evidence produced then. He could not help sympathising with his hon. friend (Mr. McCully) in the embarrassment he feels, which is occasioned by the struggle between his feelings as to the propriety of voting for the report and his desire not to vote against the Government. However, he felt satisfied in giving his vote in favor of the report.

Hon. Mr. WARK said if he could agree with the statement that a vote upon this question would not commit the House in future, he would feel less embarrassment in voting upon it. He believed we would commit ourselves in recommending this report, consequently he hesitated to give his vote in favor of it. He regretted on all occasions to have to differ with a committee on a subject of this kind, which they had taken so much pains to investigate. But he did not wish to give his vote to bind himself down to vote for the legislation which the report recommended. There was no necessity for adopting the report, therefore he hoped his hon. friend would allow the debate to close and withdraw his motion. He felt that he might, by voting against the report, be approving of a policy which this report condemns. He did not want to be considered as voting against the report, as he was not in favor of a Government currency. He believed that capital and banking should contribute to the support of the Government, as well as other taxable property in the Province; at the same time he was not disposed to admit that the system proposed by the Government is the best that can be devised. He thought it had been adopted as a temporary measure in consequence of the then unsatisfactory position of the country in relation to the United States, and the Fenian movement, but he did not think it was a safe experiment to adhere to. It was not an untried experiment about which there could be doubt, as it had been tested by different countries, and it was generally found that the currency became depreciated. He thought it was quite possible to harmonize the interests of the banks and the country. He believed the Government had a right to derive a revenue from the capital employed now in the banks. This was not a question between the Government and the banking interest alone; the mercantile interest was very largely interested in it. Every man who holds a note ought to feel that it is as good as gold. That is not the case under the system of currency his hon. friend from St. John (Mr. Wilmot) spoke so highly of. Under that system there would be a degree of uncertainty that would render all business unsafe.

Hon. Mr. WILMOT—I always went for a currency secured upon national security.

Hon. Mr. WARK—They must either have a gold basis or a fluctuating paper currency like the United States. He wished to see the House remain uncommitted to any scheme at present. He did not think we should pledge ourselves to the sentiments contained in the report, therefore he would move in amendment, seconded by Hon. Mr. McClelan, "That this House declines to commit itself to the opinions contained in said report, believing that before Parliament proceeds to legislate upon the subject this House should be in possession of more extensive information on the important questions of Banking and Currency."

Hon. Mr. MACPHERSON said in reply to his hon. friend (Mr. McCully) that he had listened to him with a great deal of attention. He has been long in Parliament and is one of the fathers of our Constitution. He looked upon him as great authority, and he always would feel it a matter of regret, when he (Mr. McCully) differed with him on a subject which fell to his lot to bring before the House. He thought, however, that his hon. friend was under misapprehension. He (Mr. Macpherson) was not without hope that he would yet succeed in removing that misapprehension, and if he did he would have the benefit of his support. He was under the apprehension that this motion, if carried, would interfere with the policy of the Government in regard to a Bill passed before. The Government said distinctly that that Bill did not embody their policy, but merely empowered the Government to extend the circulation of Dominion notes to the Maritime Provinces, and when he had said it looked like an inducement to other banks than the Bank of Montreal to come under its operations, and was an indication of Government policy, he had been told it was a mere temporary measure. The motion before us can have no effect upon the measure, therefore he hoped in that particular he had removed some of the misapprehensions from the mind of his hon. friend. The Government say they are in search of a policy on this subject, and they have invited a committee of the other House to settle that policy for them. The committee of this House is entirely ignored upon this important question. He did not object to weight being given to the opinions of the other House, but he maintained that the opinions of members of this House ought to be received with some little consideration. The Government do not profess any intention of bringing in their measure before next Session, and nothing we can do in the meantime can affect their policy. If it did it would not be a proper motion. It would not only be imprudent, but out of order, by a motion of this kind to set aside a Bill passed through the House a short time ago. His hon. friend (Mr. McCully) seemed to take advantage of the occasion to administer a castigation to the bankers of Nova Scotia for expecting such a high rate of interest. He (Mr. Macpherson) was inclined to think that if the Dominion note system be the settled policy of the country, we would have to have a higher rate of interest than seven per cent. If the legal rate of interest is only seven per cent., how the banks can pay the cost of management, and all other expenses, and pay a satisfactory dividend to the shareholders, was more than he could understand. (A member—How did they do it when they received but six per cent.?) They then had a circulation, but under the Dominion note system that is withdrawn, and their only return would be the legal rate of seven per cent. upon the bare amount of their capital.

Hon. Mr. WARK, at the request of several members of the House, withdrew his amendment.

The question being then put on the original motion, the House divided, and the names being called for, they were taken down as follows:—

Contents—The Hon. Messieurs Aikins, Allan, Anderson, Benson, Blake, Bourinot, Christie, Cormier, Dickson, Flint, Hamilton (Kingston), McMaster, Macpherson, Reesor, Ross, Sanborn, Seymour, Simpson, Tessier and Wilson.—20.

Non-Contents—The Hon. Messieurs Armand, Bill, Botsford, Bureau, Campbell, Cauchon, Chapais, Crawford, Dever, Duchesnay, E. H. J., Dumouchel, Ferrier, Guevremont, Hamilton (Inkerman), Holmes, Kenny, Lacoste, Leslie, McClelan, McCrea, McCully, Malhiot, Miller, Mitchell, Olivier, Price, Ryan, Shaw, Skead, Wark, and Wilmot.—31.

QUARANTINE AND PUBLIC HEALTH BILL.

The Bill intituled "An Act relating to Quarantine and Public Health," was read a second time and ordered to be referred to a Committee of the whole House to-morrow.

BANK STATEMENTS.

The second reading of the Bill intituled, "An Act respecting Bank statements," being called, Hon. Mr. MACPHERSON moved that the same be discharged from the orders of the day.

PENITENTIARIES AND DIRECTORS THEREOF BILL.

The House then resolved itself into Committee of the Whole (Hon. Mr. BUREAU in the chair) on the Bill intituled "An Act respecting penitentiaries and the directors thereof, and for other purposes," and reported the same without amendment. The said Bill was then read a third time and passed accordingly.

EVIDENCE IN CANADA RELATIVE TO CIVIL AND CRIMINAL MATTERS PENDING IN HER MAJESTY'S DOMINIONS OR ELSEWHERE.

The House here went into Committee of the Whole (Hon. Mr. SKEAD in the chair), on the Bill intituled, "An Act to provide for the taking evidence in Canada in relation to Civil and Criminal matters pending before Courts of Justice in any of Her Majesty's Dominions or elsewhere."

Hon. Mr. TESSIER objected to the passing of this Bill, as there was no power in this Legislature to pass such a law for the Province of Quebec, which has already its Code Civile. The Local Legislature only could legislate on the rules of evidence, right of imprisoning and examining witnesses if in contempt of our Courts of Law.

The Bill was reported with several amendments.

The Bill was then moved for a third reading by Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL, seconded by Hon. Mr. MITCHELL.

Hon. Mr. TESSIER, seconded by Hon. Mr. BUREAU, moved in amendment to add "this Act shall not have force in the Province of Quebec."

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL objected to the amendment, saying that if the Local Government of Quebec disapproved of this Bill, they could legislate on the subject; in the meantime the Act could effect no possible injury or harm to that Province.

The amendment was declared lost on a division. The Bill was then read a third time and passed.

FOREIGN REPRINTS OF BRITISH COPYRIGHTS BILL.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the "Act to impose a duty on foreign reprints of British copyright works." (Hon. Mr. RYAN in the chair.) Reported without amendment, read a third time and passed.

LAKE MEMPHREMAGOG COMPANY.

The "Act to confirm a certain By-Law passed by the Lake Memphremagog Company, and for other purposes," was read a second time and ordered to be referred to the Committee on standing orders and private Bills.

MALICIOUS INJURIES TO PROPERTY BILL.

The Bill "respecting malicious injuries to property" was read a second time. Ordered to be referred to a Committee of the whole House on Friday next.

INCORPORATION OF CANADA SHIPPING COMPANY.

The Bill "to incorporate the Canada Shipping Company," was read a second time and referred to the Committee on Banking, Commerce and Railways.

ANNEXATION OF THE SEIGNIORY OF BELAIR.

The Bill "to annex a portion of the Seigniory of Belair to the County of Quebec, and another portion thereof to the County of Portneuf," was read a second time. Ordered that the same be referred to the Committee on standing orders and private Bills.

POLICE OF CANADA BILL.

The Bill "respecting Police of Canada" was read a first time. Ordered to be read a second time on Friday next.

The House then adjourned.

Thursday, May 14, 1868.

The SPEAKER took the chair at three o'clock.

After routine

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL begged to state to the House that he found he was in error in saying that the report of the committee on the financial crisis, as it first appeared in the public press, was incorrect. He held in his hand a copy of a Toronto paper containing the report, and published on the morning after the report was presented to this House. It had been telegraphed to that paper from the manuscript copy laid upon the table by the hon. chairman of the committee, and was therefore correct. He regretted very much that he had fallen into the error, and now took the earliest opportunity of removing it, and doing justice to the hon. chairman and the committee.

Hon. Mr. MACPHERSON was glad that the Hon. Postmaster-General had made this explanation, and confirmed his (Mr. Macpherson's) statement, as he had previously stated to the House, the error had been made unintentionally by an officer of the House. After he (Mr. Macpherson) had examined the proof, as soon as he (Mr. Macpherson) had discovered it, he ordered a correct issue to be struck off, and copies sent to all to wh incorrect copies had been distributed.

Hon. Mr. TESSIER moved, seconded b Hon. Mr. Bureau, the following praye "To resolve that in the second report of t committee on contingent accounts, presente on the 11th day of December last, the co sideration of which was afterwards postpone to the 4th day of the second part of this Sess the officers and servants being continued their respective capacities, and with the former salaries, pending the final decision the Senate, which report was referred b to the committee, and presented anew on 20th of March last, and finally adopted the 26th of March last, the sessional mess gers thereby dismissed, namely: R. Gre A. Miller, and J. Mondor were recommend as being entitled to be paid for the pres Session on being dismissed at the comme ment of the Session; but that they we continued and did serve until the 2 March last, when the report was fin adopted, and that they are therefore enti to indemnity to the amount of one-ha their sessional allowances for one Se besides the present Session, and that it ordered that such indemnity be paid to th on the same terms and conditions as t indemnity granted to others who we dismissed under the said report of the co mittee on contingent accounts."

Hon. Mr. TESSIER—These persons h continued in the employ of the House till last Saturday, and he felt common jus required that they should be paid. T remained because there was no person e powered to dismiss them. We all should as we wish to be done by, and surely noth could be more just than to pay these m for the time at least they have been in employ.

Hon. Messrs. SEYMOUR, McCULLY a MILLER were opposed now to reconsider the vote of Committee on contingencies. reopened now, there would be no end to t applications, and it would have been a sha However they might regret the cases n brought forward, they cannot do otherw than vote against it. So it was resolved i the negative.

An Act respecting the manufacture or im portation of copper coins or tokens, wa read a second time.

The House then resolved itself into Com mittee of the Whole on said Bill, repor progress, and asked leave to sit agai Saturday next.

Hon. Messrs. FERRIER and BUREA said the Government alone should have power of issuing money tokens.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL moved, seco by Hon. Mr. MITCHELL, that whe House adjourns on Friday, it do stand journed until Saturday at 11 o'clock in forenoon.—Carried in the affirmative.

An Act respecting persons in custody ch ed with High Treason and Felony— a second time—was referred to a Comm of the whole House—[Hon. Mr. Ham (Kingston) in the chair]. Reported the without amendment. Ordered that it be a third time at next sitting of the House.

SALARY OF THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL.

The next order of the day being calle the second reading of the Bill intituled, " Act to fix the salary of the Governor-G eral,"

Hon. Mr. SANBORN moved, seconded Hon. Mr. Armand, that the same be read a second time. He said the Union fixed the salary at £10,000 until changed the Legislature of the Dominion. This only a preliminary arrangement and amount was not then settled. He thou the general feeling of the country was the sum was too high for a country this. This was said to be an Imperial o and as such should be gauged. That libe hospitality had to be provided and the am to be some inducement to great men to acc the position. As a general rule represen tive governments curtail salaries. Bri India, with a population of one hundred ninety-two millions and corresponding we did not exceed the proposed salary. The h gentleman enumerated salaries of the seve Governors of the British colonies, and co cluded by saying that our Governor-Gene at the sum proposed, was better paid any other officer under the Imperial Go ment, considering climate, position, and advantages. The personal responsibilit removed from the Governor-General t responsible advisers—another reason for compensation. If the honor of being a mem ber of this Parliament was sufficient, as w are told, without pay, but only an indemn surely the position of Governor-General one of the most important colonies un the Crown ought to some extent to stand lieu of pay. The amount named in the B is quite enough as an indemnity. He co associate with a superior people socially a intellectually. NSON said he, too, had strong ubject. He had been looking over the public accounts, and had come to the conclusion that the country would be largely a gainer by voting the whole amount of £10,000 as Governor-General's salary, but without any of those contingencies that appear yearly charged in provincial accounts. He would, therefore, move a motion in amendment, if an hon. member would second it.

Hon. Mr. RYAN would do so in order to have the matter discussed by the House.

"That it be resolved that the sum of £10,000 stg., named in the British North America Act, 1867, as the salary of the Governor-General, was intended and should cover all allowances of every kind and description to that officer, except a furnished residence at the seat of Government of the Dominion, and that no further sum should be paid by the Dominion for any incidental service or charge connected with the personal establishment of the Governor-General."

Hon. Mr. McCULLY thought the motion out of order. The House can only accept or reject the Bill.

Hon. Mr. BENSON thought the motion quite in order, and so argued the question very ably.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL said the House could reject the Bill. The salary was intended to cover all charges and expenses. This was a Declaratory, not a Money Bill, saying on and after such a date the salary will be such an amount. The House can express its intention as to the Imperial Act.

Hon. Mr. RYAN said the rejection of this Bill, would leave the salary as expressed in the Union Act as a matter of course.

Hon. Mr. CHRISTIE said if this amendment be carried, then the House will pledge itself to reject the Supply Bill containing so many items for extras in the Governor-General's salary, as we will find, when the Bill comes before this House. Did the Ministry desire this? Past experience teaches us the value of these promises. The old system of contingencies will be continued unless we act with decision at once.

Hon. Mr. ROSS expressed himself satisfied that the amendment was in order.

Hon. Mr. SANBORN argued that it was not.

Hon. Mr. REESOR quoted from May, doubting even if the House could, by a direct vote, reject this Bill, which would increase the taxes on the people, which this House had no power to do. Several members dissented from this view, but, he argued, reject this Bill sent to us from the Commons, fixing the salary at $32,000, and the amount named in the Imperial Act, viz.: £10,000, will be the salary, and thereby you increase the taxes on the people to the extent of $18,000 yearly. Now, has this House that power under our Constitution?

It being within a few minutes of six o'clock the debate was adjourned until the next sitting of the House.

"An Act to incorporate the Bank of Agriculture," was read a first time, and ordered to be read a second time to-morrow.

Also, "An Act respecting Indictable Offences by forgery," was read a first time, and ordered to be read a second time to-morrow.

Also "An Act respecting offences to the coin," was read a first time, and the second reading ordered for to-morrow.

It being six o'clock, the House adjourned until half-past seven o'clock.

Evening Session.

THURSDAY, May 14, 1868.

The House met at half-past seven.

A number of petitions were presented.

SALARY OF THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL.—RESUMED

Pursuant to the order of the day the House resumed the adjourned debate of the amendment to the second reading of the Bill intituled "An Act to fix the salary of the Governor-General."

Hon. Mr. BOTSFORD contended that it was a money Bill, and therefore they had no right to amend it. It was out of order to move the amendment.

Hon. Mr. BENSON said he would consent to withdraw it.

Hon. Mr. WILMOT said the motion was made and seconded, therefore it was before the House, and could not be withdrawn without the consent of every member of the House.

Hon. Mr. TESSIER remarked that this was not an amendment to the Bill, but an amendment to the motion before the House, that the Bill be read a second time, and was therefore correct.

Hon. Mr. WILMOT quite agreed with his hon. friend that the amendment was in order. He thought the intention, when this salary was decided upon, was that it should cover all the expenses of the Governor-General. The contingencies might amount to more than the salary.

The amendment was then by leave of the House withdrawn.

Hon. Mr. McCULLY was glad his hon. friend had withdrawn his amendment, as they could now simply vote for or against the Bill. It might be expected that he, in addressing the House, should define his position upon this important question. This clause stands alone in the British North America Act. "Unless altered by the Parliament of Canada, the salary of the Governor-General shall be ten thousand pounds sterling money of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, payable out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund of Canada, and the same shall form the third charge thereon." No other clause in the Act contains the same provision for alteration by the Parliament of Canada, therefore we may assume that it was the policy of the Imperial Parliament, and of the delegates, for it is not to be supposed that this was passed without their consent, that this sum should be the maximum of the Governor-General's salary. The clause invites the attention of Parliament to reduce the amount, but not to enlarge it. It is not in their power to give any more. (Cries of oh, oh.) He did not mean to say we had not the abstract power to enlarge it, but it would have to be by the consent of the Imperial Government. The principal point to which he wished to direct attention was that the Imperial Parliament left it to the Parliament o Canada to fix the amount of salary. Now he would ask which House has the right to fix the salary of any officer of the Dominion? That is an important constitutional question. It is the people who pay this amount, and it is the people's representatives, according to the constitution, who are the men to deal with money questions. A Money Bill must arise with the other House, but it is the prerogative of this House to accept or reject it. We cannot add to a salary or diminish it; we can only reject the Bill. If the House of Commons had sent up a Bill fixing the Governor-General's salary at ten thousand pounds sterling, he would not have said a word against it, because it is their duty to deal with the amount. He would ask the House are they prepared to defy the people, and tell them they are not permitted to fix the amount of salaries which they have to pay out of their earnings? That is the point we have to deal with (no, no). The people of Canada, through their representatives, are competent to fix the salaries of the Dominion. If we vote against this Bill we defy the House of Commons, and we say we are the judges; we are above you, we are irresponsible, and will fix the salaries, while you will have to return and give an account of your actions to the people. He (Mr. McCully) was not disposed to assume that position. If this Senate interferes and prevents the action of the Commons in this matter, it will produce disappointment over a large portion of the Dominion. The people of Nova Scotia have said over and over again that the amount was too large. The people's representatives have declared that $32,000 are sufficient for the salary of the first officer of the Dominion; if they find it is not, they have the power to rectify such mistakes, if it be a mistake, when they meet again. He (Mr. McCully) would never thrust himself between the people and their right to dispose of the public money.

Hon. Mr. LETELLIER DE ST. JUST could not endorse the expressions of the previous speaker, that this House should vote on this as on all other questions as they pleased, in defiance of the Commons, and without any regard to their opinions. He objected to such a doctrine as fraught with danger to the working out of our system of Government, which he thought was the best in the world for a free liberty-loving people. He regretted also to be obliged to give a vote which might be considered perhaps to be opposed to the interests or feelings of the present Governor-General, who has always acted fairly with all political parties in this country, since his appointment amongst us. He did not allude to the question of the liberality and extent of his hospitality, and he, for one, never wished to allow such considerations to influence his opinions in voting for this measure. He felt bound to vote for the Bill as containing an ample, liberal allowance for our Governor-General without any other perquisites.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

SATURDAY, May 16, 1868.

The SPEAKER took the chair at twelve o'clock.

The SPEAKER read a message from His Excellency, conveying Her Majesty's expression of sympathy with the family of the late Hon. T. D. McGee.

INSURANCE.

On the motion of Hon. Mr. ROSE it was resolved that the House go into Committee of the Whole on Monday next on the following resolution: That it is expedient to provide that Insurance Companies doing business in Canada shall be licensed for that purpose, and shall give security for the payment of losses to be incurred by them in Canada, by the deposit of a sufficient amount of money in the hands of the Receiver-General, who shall be authorized to invest such money in Dominion stock, creating stock for that purpose if necessary—such stock being liable to be disposed of to meet any claims of the holders of policies of the company depositing the money.

After which, on the motion of Hon. Mr. HOWLAND the House went into Committee of the Whole to consider certain resolutions respecting the Northern Railway of Canada, which was agreed to and concurred in.

MILITIA BILL.

On the resumption of the adjourned debate upon the proposed amendments of Mr. POPE and of Hon. Mr. GALT, the latter was ruled out of order, and the former withdrawn, the mover intimating that he accepted the decision of the majority on the vote of yesterday for adjournment.

On the question of the reception of the report of Committee of the Whole,

Captain BOWELL moved in amendment that the Bill be referred back to the committee with instructions to amend it by providing for the reduction of the salary of the Adjutant-General from $3,600 to $3,000, and those of the District Deputy Adjutant-General from $1,800 to $1,200.

Some discussion took place upon the question as to whether the amendment was in order, and the SPEAKER having ruled in its favor, Sir J. A. MACDONALD, Hon. J. S. MACDONALD, and Sir G. E. CARTIER, strongly opposed its principle, after which the House divided with the following result: Yeas 61; Nays 60.

YEAS.—Ault, Béchard, Bertrand, Bodwell, Bowell, Bowman, Brown, Cheval, Cimon, Connell, Coupal, Daoust, Dobbie, Drew, Dufresne, Fortier, Gaudet, Geoffrion, Godin, Hagar, Holton, Jones (Halifax), Jones (Leeds and Grenville), Kempt, Lapum, Little, Macfarlane, Magill, McCallum, McCarthy, McMonies, Metcalf, Mills, Morison (Victoria, O.), Munroe, Oliver, Paquet, Parker, Perry, Pinsonneault, Pouliot, Power, Pozer, Rankin, Ray, Redford, Renaud, Ross (Dundas), Ross (Prince Edward), Ryan (Montreal West), Savary, Scatcherd, Snider, Stirton, Thompson (Haldimand), Thompson (Ontario), Tremblay, Wallace, Wells, Wilson, Young.—61.

NAYS.—Archambeault, Beaty, Bellerose, Benoit, Blanchet, Bolton, Bown, Brousseau, Burton, Caldwell, Cameron (Peel), Campbell, Carling, Caron, Cartier, Cartwright, Cassault, Cayley, Chamberlin, Chauveau, Desaulniers, Dunkin, Fisher, Fortin, Gaucher, Gendron, Gray, Grover, Howland, Huot, Irvine, Jackson, Keeler, Kirkpatrick, Langevin, Langlois, Lawson, Macdonald (Cornwall), Macdonald (Glengarry), Macdonald, Sir J. A. (Kingston), Macdonald (Middlesex), Masson (Soulanges), Masson (Terrebonne), McDougall, McGreevey, McMillan, Merritt, Morrison (Niagara), O'Connor, Robitaille, Rose, Ross (Champlain), Simard, Simpson, Stephenson, Street, Tilley, Walsh, White, Wood.—60.

The announcement of the numbers was received with loud Opposition cheers.

The House then went into committee, Hon. Col. GRAY in the chair, when

Sir G. E. CARTIER characterized the proposed amendment as a blow to the efficiency of the force, and called upon his supporters from Lower Canada to reject it on the motion for concurrence, as calculated to place them in a position inferior to that of the English speaking population, who would have succeeded in degrading their militia official representatives.

The Bill was then amended as instructed, and on the motion that the chairman leave the chair, and report the Bill as amended,

Mr. JONES (Halifax) said that the reduction of district salaries would affect the people of the Maritime Provinces, as well as those of Quebec. He, however, deprecated this appeal to national prejudices.

Capt. BOWELL repudiated the charge of desiring to reduce the emoluments to any officers on account of nationality. The amendment would affect seven English gentlemen as well as the two French officers spoken of, and he thought the appeal to national feeling most unfortunate.

Hon. Mr. HOLTON strongly deprecated the Minister's appeal to his countrymen's feelings of nationality. The result of such efforts in high places to arouse these prejudices would go so far to injure Confederation as to render the scheme worth less than three years' purchase. He denied that gentlemen on his side of the House ever indulged in such sectional appeals, and hoped that it would be the last time that they should ever be compelled to listen to anything so injudicious and unpatriotic. If any evil results ensued from the excitement of these jealousies of race the Minister of Militia would be held responsible for the injury.

Sir G. E. CARTIER was surprised at the position taken by the member for Chateauguay, who, without any following in the House, assumed to lead the Opposition. He denied that there was any impropriety in his appeal to the ardor and patriotism of his countrymen. It had been found that a fair share of the military organization had not been permitted to Lower Canada, and he had desired to give to French district officers such a standing there as was likely to popularize the system.

Hon. Mr. HOLTON denied that he had assumed any leadership, which was a matter that gave him no concern. He had, as an individual member of the House, a perfect right to express his opinions as he had done, without regard to any question of rank or precedence among those who voted with him.

Hon. Messrs. CHAUVEAU and DUNKIN defended the Minister for Militia, and Mr. D. A. MACDONALD and Dr. PARKER, the member for Chateauguay, and after some further general discussion, the Committee rose and reported, and, on the question of the reception of the report,

Sir G. E. CARTIER said that he proposed opposing the motion for concurrence, which if carried, he intended following up by a proposal to reduce the salary of Colonel Powell, D. A. G., whose salary was unaffected by the amendment.

After some remarks from Hon. Mr. HOLTON,

Mr. J. RYMAL expressed his astonishment to find, on his return from a temporary absence, the House in a state of such disorganization. It was most surprising that the Minister of Militia, as chief of a great party, had not been able to keep his followers in a better condition of drill and discipline, and should be compelled to permit them to act in such independent volunteer fashion. The torpedo which that Minister had introduced had shown itself more likely, in its explosion, to carry destruction into his own camp than into that of the enemy. (Laughter.)

Some remarks were then made by Hon. Mr. BLANCHET and Mr. ROSS (Dundas.)

Mr. LITTLE wished to define his position in the House; it was not because he sat on the Opposition benches, that he was not a supporter of the Government. He would adhere to them in every honest and reasonable project; in this respect he cordially concurred in the observations of the member for Dundas. He could not vote for a Bill which had a tendency to injure the volunteer force in this country. Our constituents, with reason, say that there is too much staff, and too large a proportion of the money asked under the estimates for militia about to be expended on staff officers, and no adequate provision is recommended for the officers and men in the several volunteer and militia companies. The country cannot afford extravagant salaries in any department, and not such as by this Bill is recommended for the Deputy Adjutant-General and other staff officers. He was sorry to hear the remarks from the hon. member of Wentworth, as to the title and position of the Hon. Minister of Militia. As far as regards himself (Mr. Little) he hoped the gallant Baronet would continue to occupy the position he at present fills, but hoped he would not again fall into such mistakes, as in numerous instances appear in this Bill. He was happy in thinking that the vote we were called upon to give, would not be given in the House as a party one. Members ought not to be called upon at all times to abnegate their functions as representatives of the people; they ought to be allowed to act as the honest dictates of their reason and sentiments most approve of, consistent with the wishes and interests of the country, without being called to question by any member, who after all, perhaps, would be the first to leave his party if the wishes of his constituents demanded it.

Sir GEO. E. CARTIER'S motion for re-reference to Committee with instructions to rescind the amendment, was put, and the House divided with the following result: Yeas 63; Nays 64.

Mr. THOMPSON (Haldimand), having however called attention to the fact that the member for South Bruce had entered the House after the question had been put, Mr. Hurdon's vote (yea) was rejected, when the members stood Yeas 63; Nays 64. The motion was therefore lost.

Sir GEO. E. CARTIER then moved the re-reference of the report to Committee with instructions to amend it by striking out the item of $3,000 for the Adjutant-General, and substituting therefor $3,599; and altering the established pay of $1,200 for District Deputy Adjutants-General to $1,799.

Hon. Mr. HOLTON having characterized the motion as factious,

Hon. Mr. FISHER, who had entered after the previous question had been put, complained that, while he was opposed to the amount of pay now proposed for the Adjutant-General, he would be compelled to vote against his convictions on this point, in order to secure what he deemed adequate remuneration for the district officers.

Hon. Mr. DORION pointed out that the member for York could relieve himself from the embarrassment by voting down the Government proposal, and himself subsequently introducing an amendment providing for the increase he desired to effect in other quarters.

Mr. J. RYMAL could not have believed it possible that a Ministry twice defeated would still attempt to press their position. Such had never before, and would never be again, the conduct of a Baronet of the United Kingdom and a Knight Commander of the Bath, and he now perceived that these honours had been unworthily conferred (laughter).

The question was then put and the House divided as follows: Yeas 63; Nays 67.

The motion having been thus lost,

Sir G. E. CARTIER moved for the reduction of the salary of Col. Powell, D.A.G., from $2,600 to $2,240, which was opposed by Hon. Messrs. J. S. MACDONALD, J. H. CAMERON and Mr. SHANLY, and defended by Sir J. A. MACDONALD and Mr. F. JONES, and the House having divided, was carried by a vote of 127 to 7.

The House then went into Committee, Hon. Col. GRAY in the chair, when the amendment was agreed to, and reported.

Mr. SAVARY moved, seconded by Mr. JONES (Halifax) the amendment of the Bill by abrogating all payment to officers, considering the proposed rate of 50 cents too contemptible to be accepted with dignity. Mr. McCALLUM, and Hon. Mr. DUNKIN having spoken briefly in opposition to the motion, the House divided, when it was lost upon a vote of 26 to 102.

An amendment of the Hon. Mr. FISHER to increase the pay of District Deputy Adjutants-General to $1,500 was declared lost on division.

Mr. BROWN moved the amendment of the Bill by providing that volunteers should not be compelled to serve more than two years, but should in this respect be placed on the same footing as drafted men, which was lost by a vote of 36 to 89, and an amendment of Mr. OLIVER'S, proposing the term of three years to be established as the period of service for the latter, declared lost on division.

Several other amendments were proposed and negatived, and the Bill was finally read a third time and passed,

Mr. F. JONES entering his protest amid universal laughter and cheers.

The House then adjourned at ten minutes past six.

It has been tested in every variety of climate, and by almost every nation known to civilization. It is the almost constant companion and inestimable friend of the Missionary, and traveller should be without it. Like every other good thing, the Pain Killer has been extensively counterfeited; which, (while it is an acknowledgment on the part of the counterfeiters of its real worth,) is a serious hinderance to its usefulness, as the deceived purchaser estimates the value of the Pain Killer by the base compound he has purchased for the genuine article.

Purchasers should be careful and not allow the dealer to sell them worthless imitations, on which they realize a larger profit, but take only the Pain Killer, and see that it is the genuine, bearing the signature of Perry Davis & Son upon the label.

The Pain Killer is sold at wholesale by Druggists and Medicine Dealers, and Commission Merchants, in the principal cities, and retailed by Apothecaries, Grocers, and at Variety Shops generally, throughout the world.

PASSPORTS FOR NATURALIZED SUBJECTS.

DOMINION OF CANADA.

Copy.
Circular.

DOWNING-STREET,
25th April, 1867.

SIR,—

With reference to the Circular Despatch from this Department dated the 5th of June, 1866, relative to the case of Foreigners naturalized in any of Her Majesty's Colonies who wish to obtain British Passports for foreign travel—I have the honor to inform you that different cases have occurred lately in which such naturalized Foreigners have applied in this country for passports without being in possession either of a Passport from the Governor or of any Official Document from the Colony to establish their identity and character. You will readily perceive that this is calculated to embarrass this Department, and also to cause much private inconvenience to the persons concerned if they should find themselves unable to produce any sufficient evidence of their quality.

I have therefore to suggest that, in every Colony containing naturalized Foreigners who are likely to travel in Europe, it would be convenient that notice should from time to time be given in public newspapers of the necessity for such persons providing themselves before leaving the Colony with some official evidence of their identity and description.

I have the honor to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient
Humble servant,
Signed, BUCKINGHAM & CHANDOS

The Officer Administering
the Government, &c., &c., &c.

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE,
Ottawa, 8th May, 1868.

(With reference to the foregoing Circular Despatch.)

Notice is hereby given that parties requiring Passports must apply, until further notice, to this Department, transmitting at the same time a certificate of identity, accompanied in each case with a description of the applicant, signed by a Justice of the Peace and also the fee of one dollar.

H. L. LANGEVIN,
739 3 Secretary.

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER

ie, Back and Head, Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Sprains, Bruises, Cramps in the Stomach, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery, Bowel Complaints, Burns, Scalds, Frost Bites, &c., &c.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER HAS now been before the public for a length of time, and whenever used is well liked, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single case of dissatisfaction where the directions are properly followed; but on the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its virtues and magical effects.

We speak from experience in this matter, having tested it thoroughly, and therefore those who are suffering from any of the complaints for which it is recommended may depend upon its being a Sovereign Remedy.

The astonishing efficacy of the Canadian Pain Destroyer, in curing diseases for which it is recommended, and its wonderful success in subduing the torturing pains of Rheumatism, and in relieving Nervous Affections, entitle it to a high rank in the list of Remedies for these complaints. Orders are coming in from Medicine Dealers in all parts of the country for further supplies, and each testifying as to the universal satisfaction it gives

The Canadian Pain Destroyer never fails to give immediate relief. All Medicine Dealers keep it Physicians order and use it; and no family will without it after once trying it.

DARLEY'S

Arabian Heave Remedy

AND CONDITION MEDICINE

IS POSITIVELY SUPERIOR TO ANY or allother preparations for the cure of Coughs, Thick and Broken Wind, and all diseases which affect the Wind of Horses; also, as a Condition Medicine, surpassing everything of the kind; is easy to give, sure to cure, and safe in all cases an at all times, and does not prevent the horse from being worked while using it.

It cleanses the breathing apparatus, by removing from the air-cells the coagulable lymph, that secretion which in heaves clogs them, causing a difficulty in breathing, and by its action on the diseased part, causing the mucous membrane to resume its natural dimensions, thus equalizing the circulation of the blood, and restoring the distended vessels to their natural size; by its use the horse's appetite is improved, all derangements of the skin, and digestive organs corrected, softening the skin, and giving to the coat a sleek and shining appearance.

The Ottawa Times

TUESDAY, MAY 19, 1868.

THE people of Cape Breton, desirous of infusing a fresh energy into the coal trade of the Island, joined very largely in signing a petition to the Canadian Parliament, praying for the Dominion guarantee for the amount necessary to build a railway from Bridgeport to Sydney, a distance of some twelve or fifteen miles, the object being to stimulate coal mining industry at the former point. The International Coal and Railway Company, through their Secretary, have also pressed upon the attention of the Government the desirability of extending this guarantee to the extent of £125,000 sterling, that being the sum required for the construction of the road, and for the ultimate repayment of which they offer abundant security.

The petition was most influentially signed, and had, we understand, about four thousand names attached to it. It set forth the claims of Cape Breton to a greater share in the expenditure of the public money, its advantages hitherto in that regard having been inferior to that of other portions of Nova Scotia. It also dwelt upon the manifest advantages to accrue to the general prosperity by the development of the coal trade—a consideration now fully set forth in the statement signed by the Secretary of the Company already named. But as the prayer of the petition involved the granting or appropriation of money, it was contrary to the rules of Parliament to receive it.

Nevertheless the subject engaged the serious consideration of the Government, and was earnestly pressed on their attention by Mr. MACKAY, the Secretary of the Company, who had the benefit of the active co-operation of the Cape Breton members of the Legislature. But the request was not one which the Ministry could have consistently recommended to the favorable consideration of Parliament. The comparison instituted between Cape Breton and other portions of Nova Scotia in respect of previous railway expenditure on Government account cannot hold good with the Dominion, or rather it would prove vastly too much; for there are iron mines, not to speak of numerous other special interests throughout Ontario and Quebec, and, perhaps, too, in the other Provinces, the owners of each of which would have discovered a precedent in the granting of the prayer of this petition, for their coming to the Government and asking a guarantee for their fifteen or twenty miles of road needed to bring them into connection with the trunk lines of railway or with navigation. And there are large districts of country in Ontario and Quebec wherein never a dollar of the Government was expended on a public work, the people of which would naturally look with jealousy upon the concession of such a special favor as that asked for by the International Company. Whatever Provincial liberality may do towards the construction of local works of public utility, it is quite clear that the Dominion exchequer could never withstand the drafts entailed upon it by the concession of such a privilege; and therefore we conclude that the Government had no choice but to decline to entertain the proposition.

We hope our Cape Breton friends will understand the real state of the case; and that though it may seem hard to them that the proposition is rejected, they will reflect that the compliance with it would have been the introduction of a system of which it would be difficult to prognosticate the end. We have confidence also that the degree of attention attracted to the resources of Cape Breton by this very movement, will be productive of beneficial results; and that as the work in question—the construction of a railway from Bridgeport to Sydney—commends itself as a commercial speculation, private enterprise will, at no distant day, undertake and carry it to a successful completion.

THE evidence taken at the preliminary examination of the prisoner HENRY JOHN O'FARRELL, at Sydney, on the 13th March last, for the attempt to assassinate PRINCE ALFRED, DUKE OF EDINBURGH, on the previous day, leaves no doubt of his guilt, precise details having been given of his coming up behind the Prince and shooting when within a few feet of him; the immediate seizure of the prisoner, the second discharge of the pistol, &c. Several of the witnesses testified to his having declared himself a Fenian, and that he could "die for his country." At the conclusion of Sir W. M. MANNING's evidence, the prisoner said:

> "I have no question to ask, but I would make a remark. If he had not come forward I would have shot the Duke a second time.
> "The Crown Solicitor—Will the prisoner repeat what he has just said?
> "Prisoner—If Sir William Manning had not rushed between me and the Duke, the Duke would have received a second shot. He rushed right at me. The Prince would have received a second shot, and I should have shot myself; but I had not time to do it. Of course I had nothing to do with Sir William Manning."

The whole of the depositions having been read over, the Police Magistrate asked the prisoner if he had anything to say, and cautioned him as usual that the statements he might make might be used in evidence against him.

> "Prisoner—I have nothing to say, but that the task of executing the Duke was sent out and allotted to me.
> "The Crown Solicitor—Will you repeat what you have just said?
> "Prisoner—The task of executing the Prince was sent out to me, but I failed, and I am not very sorry that I did fail. That is all I have to say."

The prisoner was then committed to take his trial at the Central Criminal Court, to have been held on the 26th March last. He was not summarily tried and convicted, as cable advices led the public, in this country, to believe. The court at which he has by this time been tried, appears by the report from which we have quoted, to be the regular court of the district or county.

The point which will naturally excite the most interest, or rather the greatest horror, is the admission of the prisoner that "the task" of assassinating PRINCE ALFRED was "sent out" to him. How many such "tasks" have the secret tribunal of the Fenian organization planned?

The Sydney Herald, in an editorial article on the 16th March, states that O'FARRELL made a voluntary statement to the effect that written instructions had been sent out from the Fenian "Republic," for the assassination of the PRINCE; that ten men had each sworn to do the deed, provided it should fall to his lot, and that he being one of the ten, when lots were cast, it fell to his share. If this statement is true, it proves that murder is a recognized instrument of Fenianism, and that, by consequence, the Fenians are a body of murderers! It is earnestly to be hoped that the investigations in Australia, Great Britain and Canada, will result in unmasking the whole of this infamous plot, which is, to the last degree, a disgrace to our common humanity.

THE Montreal papers of yesterday publish the following letter from LORD MONCK to MRS. MCGEE, accompanied with the DUKE OF BUCKINGHAM's despatch, conveying the expression of HER MAJESTY's deep sympathy with the family in their sad affliction:

VISCOUNT MONCK TO MRS. M'GEE.

OTTAWA, May 14, 1868.

My Dear Mrs. McGee.

I beg leave to inclose to you with feelings of melancholy satisfaction a copy of a despatch which I have this morning received from the Secretary of State for the Colonies, instructing me by the Queen's command to convey to you the expression of the deep sympathy felt by Her Majesty with you and your family, in reference to the sad bereavement which you have lately experienced.

I know full well how inadequate as a source of consolation, any expression of mere human sympathy must be in the sad circumstances in which you have been placed, but I think it must afford you some alleviation of your sorrow to be informed directly how highly your lamented husband's abilities and services were appreciated, and how deeply his untimely loss is deplored by his Sovereign.

Believe me to be,
My Dear Mrs. McGee,
Very truly yours,
(Signed) MONCK.

THE DUKE OF BUCKINGHAM TO VISCOUNT MONCK.

DOWNING ST., April 28, 1868.

MY LORD,—I have the honor to inform you that having received with pain and regret your despatch No. 62 of the 9th instant, informing me of the assassination of the Honorable Thomas D'Arcy McGee, in the city of Ottawa, I felt it my duty to communicate the lamentable event to Her Majesty, feeling certain that Her Majesty would sincerely deplore the crime which had deprived Canada, by the hand of an assassin, of the able and devoted services of Mr. McGee.

I have received Her Majesty's commands to request you to convey to the family of Mr. McGee, the expression of Her Majesty's deep sympathy with them in the loss which they have sustained through this atrocious crime.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) BUCKINGHAM AND CHANDOS.
The Viscount MONCK, &c., &c.

THE HON. MINISTER FOR FINANCE in the course of last night's debate upon the Customs Bill, in reply to the motion of Mr. JONES, Halifax, for amendment of the sugar duties, read an extract from a letter received from Mr. CRAMP, of Montreal, from whom, we understand, the Government have received valuable assistance in the preparation of their measure, to the following effect:

> "The tariff has been so far improved in a mercantile point of view as to be much superior to the previous one, and is generally regarded by men of experience, as by myself, to have been so adjusted as to provide fairly for the purposes of the revenue, with equal justice to the interests of importer and refiner."

THE INVESTIGATION.

Matters have been proceeding quietly for the past few days. Duggan, the prisoner brought up from Montreal, was committed under the Habeas Corpus Suspension Act.

Mr. Michael Starrs, who has been held under the same Act since the middle of last month, was yesterday admitted to bail; himself in the sum of one thousand pounds, and two sureties—Ald. Goulden and Mr. Mansfield—in five hundred pounds each.

Mr. John Lyons, grocer, of this city, was required yesterday, for some cause which seemed good to the authorities, to enter into recognizances to appear when called upon, himself in the sum of five hundred pounds, and two sureties—Mr. J. L. P. O'Hanly and Mr. Patrick Smith—in two hundred and fifty pounds each.

We understand that it is Mr. O'Reilly's intention to proceed to Toronto on Wednesday, (to-morrow), for the purpose of investigating the case of Hynes, in whose favor representations have been made to the Government.

The investigation is still widening, and additional evidence is being accumulated, which will be made available at the proper time.

THE RANGE.

Our volunteer readers will learn with pleasure that the improvements and renewals which have been going on at the Range for some time past are so far completed that rifle practice may be resumed in a few days.

These improvements have been carried out by a number of men of the Rifle Brigade, under the supervision of a board, composed of Majors Anderson, Grant, and Ross, and reflect much credit upon both officers and workmen.

Amongst other things, a new marker's butt has been erected, and two sets of targets prepared, so that in a match the contending parties will be able to fire simultaneously. Last year, with a target on each side of the butt, great inconvenience was experienced as evening approached, from a shadow being cast across the face of the one to the east, a circumstance much against the party firing at it, but under the new arrangement this has been avoided, and each will now have a perfectly equal chance.

The difficulty of getting to the ground with clean boots has also been abated by small drains and bridges across the common to the north, and a number of box drains supported by rough rubble work in the field adjoining. The range itself has been carefully drained, part of the brushwood cut away, many large boulders removed, and those small hillocks and numerous parts of the ground which interfered with the shooting removed.

The butts have been extended and carefully faced with sods, which will prevent the sand from running and, under the hands of a careful marker, will not require renewing for some time to come. There have also been erected three new stiles, a flight of earth steps faced with two inch plank and a gate, in place of the clumsy bars by which carriages were admitted to the ground.

We have no doubt that the coming season will be even more successful than the last, from the increased comfort with which volunteers can now go to the Range, and we hope, that in the contests which are sure to take place, the metropolis will prove itself more than equal to other parts of the Dominion.

As an evidence of the amount of practice which took place last year, we may mention, that although it is the custom of markers to pick up the lead after each day's shootings, the Rifle Brigade men, when facing the butts, picked up about one hundred and fifty pounds of that metal from the sand which they were obliged to handle in doing their work.

Before concluding, we would desire to suggest one great improvement which could be managed with very little expense, that is that the carriage road, and that part of the ground between the two hundred and five hundred yard ranges should be gravelled. At present, from the nature of the soil, the slightest rain converts it into thick black mud, extremely unpleasant to walk or drive through, and which could be prevented by the use of a few loads of gravel.

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY ROUTE.

To the Editor of THE TIMES.

SIR,—I am glad to perceive that my discipline has at length had a good effect upon your correspondent "Confederate." He has actually produced a column and a half of old and thrice-refuted arguments without indulging in his usual personalities. I fear it is hopeless, however, either to improve his perceptive faculties, or to awaken in him any regard for truth and manliness. But, as I before said, you cannot change the spots of the Leopard's skin,—nor is it possible to correct the innate stupidity of this pretentious schemer, whose grammar continues to be as bad as his logic. After all his boasting he declines my invitation to let his readers judge of our motives, by assuming his own name, being well aware that as soon as this is known to the public, the motive of his intense patriotism will be patent.

It matters little, however, since he has ceased his silly braggadocia about his standing and veracity. I have now but to deal with his arguments, and propose to examine them in as few words as possible.

He reiterates the oft-refuted falsehood, that the Intercolonial will cost $30,000,000, and bolsters it up by a pretended hearsay from some gentleman who has had much experience in the construction of public works in Canada. Warned, however, by his former blunder in dragging in the names of his St. Stephen friends, and exposing their motives, he prudently refrains from naming this mythical individual. He then asserts that, had a private company been subsidized, the Shediac road could have been built for $15,000 per mile. He does not mention, however, that a private company commenced the road, and having utterly failed to fulfil its engagements, our Province had to pay a large sum of money to get the road out of its hands. Nor does he allude to the experience we have had of the various St. Andrews companies, and their great success in building CHEAP ROADS!! Oh, no; this did not suit his purpose; but the results are well known to the general public, and that road is now in the hands of the Sheriff, which even "Confederate" has not the hardihood to deny.

He alludes to the Moncton and Truro road also, but he does not tell his readers that the failure of the company to fulfil its engagements has led the Nova Scotia Government to withdraw all further aid.

"Confederate" then gives a most glowing account of the wonderful region through which the frontier line will pass, and the "rich tracts of ungranted Crown Lands" which lie on the route, "ALL THE TIMBER," on which so excites the cupidity of himself and his St. Stephen friends, so long as there is a chance of securing this "job." As a reply to this, I again refer my readers to the works before mentioned, viz.:—Prof. Johnston's report on the agricultural capabilities of New Brunswick, Perley's Hand Book, Bouchette's Canada, Gesner's Geological Survey, Report of A. W. Simms, and Commander Fortin's Reports. "Confederate" may be ignorant of the contents of these books, but an intelligent public will hardly be deceived by this writer's unsupported assertions.

He has not forgotten the trick of the figures, which, as I before said, is certainly his forte. His genius for figures is wonderful, and the ingenuity with which he can manipulate them is surprising, the only slight defect is that they are utterly fallacious. There is no difficulty in deciding which of the quartette has done this part of the work. In manipulating statistics the writer has few equals, but he is so destitute of common judgment that he cannot perceive such tricks only recoil on the friends he seeks to serve.

I wish our readers to mark the ingenuity displayed in this array of figures. There is no clue given, whence or how they are derived—no opportunity is offered to confute them, for the counties to which they pertain are not given. By some stupid error, for which this manipulator is famous, he says Westmoreland is "either left out or included in both sides of the calculations," but whether left out or included he does not inform us. The tricks of this figurer are so well understood where he is known, that I have little hesitation in saying that if the headings of the columns are reversed the table will be much more nearly correct, and I pledge myself to make this apparent just as soon as "Confederate" will get his friend of the figures to give the counties which will be affected by the several lines. I have twice already convicted him of dishonesty in these very tables, and he now adopts this ingeniously confused statement in the hope of escaping detection.

"Confederate" next tells his readers about the "inexhaustible quantities" of iron in the Upper Counties of the St. John, and the "large establishment" for making "charcoal iron," that exists in Carleton County, but he did not tell his readers what I now assure them, that from the first establishment of these works to the present hour they have been a losing concern, and that all who were inveigled into investing money in them have been swindled. He admits that these works are now suspended, and they have been for years, but he asserts that want of railway connection with St. John has been one cause of their failure. So unblushing a falsehood could come only from "Confederate." There is the best water communication in the world from Woodstock to St. John, and unless a railway can change the quality of the iron, there is no hope of its assisting to make this enterprise successful. If that is all these works require, they will soon have it, for the Woodstock Branch and Western Extension will shortly supply the required "railway connection with the sea." He tells us also that quite a large number of SHINGLES were made in that district of country. Of course these will help to make the road pay, if "Confederate" can convince the makers that freight by rail is cheaper than by water.

The concluding paragraph of this letter is a bugbear to frighten Ontario, who will have to contribute most largely to the construction of the road. I wish the people of Ontario understood this writer's game as well as the people of New Brunswick do; they would then properly estimate these appeals to their fears. I would call their attention to the following comparison of the cost of the two routes, merely premising that the data for the St. John River route is furnished by "Confederate" and his trio of assistants. In the last letter of this veracious and patriotic writer, we were informed that the Fredericton Railroad company had offered to build from River du Loup to Fredericton, connecting with Western Extension, for $7,860,000, and from Fredericton to Apohaqui via Grand Lake for $2,430,000. This scheme leaves the road from Fredericton to St. John to be provided for either by leasing or purchasing, and the Nova Scotia section from Moncton to Truro to be built. The offer of the Montreal company to build this, based on Mr. Fleming's estimate, was $5,500,000. The total cost, exclusive of the Fredericton and St. John link, will thus be:

From R. du Loup to Fredericton...	$7,860,000
" Fredericton to Apohaqui.....	2,430,000
" Moncton to Truro..........	5,500,000
Total...............	$15,790,000
Against the offer of Mr. Burpee to build and equip the whole Northern Line from River du Loup to Truro for..................	14,600,000
In favor of Northern line..	$1,190,000

This will serve to show the people of Ontario whose interest "Confederate" has most at heart, his own, or theirs, and I hardly think they will be much misled by such silly arguments as this writer's self-interest leads him to use. In accordance with my promise I warn "Confederate" that his future efforts to mislead will be as fully exposed as his former ones have been, by 1st PARLIAMENT. 1st SESSION.

THE SENATE.

THURSDAY, May 14, 1868.

DEBATE ON GOVERNOR-GENERAL'S SALARY—RESUMED.

Hon. Mr. WILMOT said, as one of the delegates, he would be expected to give his opinion upon this subject. He took exception to the views put forward, that because another branch of the Legislature, directly representing the people, pass a particular Bill connected with the taxation of the country, we should endorse that principle. We have no more right to endorse the opinions of the other House, than we have to endorse the acts of the Government. We stand between the Crown and the people, and we should act independently, whether we have a majority with us in the House of Commons or not. (Hear, hear.) It had been stated that the members of this House who were members of a certain delegation, are bound to act upon what was agreed upon by that delegation. Circumstances may alter cases. If he (Mr. Wilmot) was prepared twelve months since to support a proposition to give the Governor-General a salary of $50,000, and the circumstances of the country were now such that retrenchment were required, he would be prepared to-day to vote for reducing it. (Hear, hear.) That was the principle which had governed him during a long course of legislation. In reducing salaries, he preferred that the reduction should be made in the salaries of future incumbents, instead of in the salaries of those officers who had long been in the service of the public. (Hear, hear.) The Senate came to a decision the reverse of this principle.

Hon. Mr. MITCHELL—The principle was laid down when the question was discussed—that there were no employees in the Senate except the clerk and the usher of the black rod, and their appointments were subject to the action of the Senate.

Hon. Mr. WILMOT—If the principle is laid down that in starting this new Dominion no man's salary is fixed, and no public faith is involved, it applies to every public officer from the Governor-General downwards.

Hon. Mr. MITCHELL—Where the Government of the Dominion, since the first of July last, have entered into any engagement they are bound to carry it out, but we are not bound by any engagement made by the old Province of Canada.

Hon. Mr. WILMOT—Having decided that all engagements entered into before the first of July last, relative to Canada and the other Provinces, were at end, the question arises are we bound to pay this large salary to the Governor-General? The Union Act states clearly that his salary is to be $50,000, until it is altered by the Legislature of Canada; therefore, having this power, and the finances of the country being such that our expenditure exceeds our income, the first principle for us to adopt is retrenchment. He had been charged with extravagance, because he had not voted for reducing the salaries of the employees of the House. The whole amount which will be saved by reducing all those salaries will be less than $13,000, but by passing this Bill we will make a much larger saving than we will by all the economy adopted at that time. This Senate have adopted the principle that economy was to be established, (hear, hear) and the Government have endorsed the same principle, therefore he thought it was their duty to vote for the Bill.

Hon. Mr. ALLAN demurred to the proposition of the hon. member, (Mr. McCully) that the members of this House did not represent the people of this country. It was because they did represent the people in the Legislative Council of Canada that they had the honor now of seats in the House, though they might be life members under our present constitution. He, therefore, was not afraid to take the responsibility of the vote he was about to give on this question. He would vote for the amount named in the Union Act, and consequently against the present Bill. He could not avoid saying that when we consider the expenses that should be incurred by the Governor-General of a large and important colony like this, in vice-regal hospitality, travelling expenses from one end to the other of this large Dominion, and public and private charities, which had to be dispensed with no miserly hand, the Governor General would be compelled to expend his salary in the country, and with that expectation, and for that purpose, he felt constrained to support the vote of a liberal salary.

Hon. Mr. MACPHERSON said it was embarrassing to be called upon to vote upon this measure without more information, with respect to the understanding in England in regard to it. Was it reasonable to suppose that the clause regarding the Governor-General's salary found its way into the Union Act, unless the matter was understood between the British Government and our delegates? If it was understood that the salary named was to be the salary of the Governor-General, then the poorest constituency in the country would say carry it out in good faith, for the country is pledged, and whatever our Delegates agreed to must be fulfilled. We should know whether that is so or not. Is it right for the Delegates to say that what passed in England in regard to this matter is not to be spoken of, and at the same time speak against what found its way into the Union Act, and speak in favor of what is proposed here against it? If this salary was agreed upon merely by a majority of our Delegates there ought to be something to show it. This salary of £10,000 sterling may seem a large sum for the salary of the Governor-General, but we must remember that it is the only Imperial salary paid by the people of Canada. The people of the country desire that the Governor-General—the only representative of Her Majesty in the country—should be enabled to represent her fittingly. Some may say that in our primitive capital the demands of hospitality must be light, but these are not the only duties involving expenditure the Governor-General has to discharge. He should make a periodical progress through the country, one year going east and another year going west. The people should see Her Majesty's representative, and he should be able by coming in contact with the people to give his Royal Mistress their sentiments. This would be one great advantage. Another duty devolving upon the Governor-General is in regard to charities. If demands of this nature bear heavily upon those occupying comparatively humble spheres, how much more heavily must they bear upon the Governor-General? It might be questionable taste to have everything of that kind done gazetted; the true way in such matters is not to let the left hand know what the right hand does. Her Majesty's representative cannot neglect to discharge the duty which of all others will be most pleasing to the kind heart of his Royal Mistress, that of dispensing liberally in charity. His hon. friend (Mr. McCully) spoke of our defying the House of Commons by rejecting or refusing to assent to a Bill coming up here. We hold concurrent authority with the House of Commons. It is our duty to amend Bills which come from the other House, when, in our opinion, they require amendment, and if we did not do so we would fail in our duty. It is quite true that constitutionally we cannot originate or amend a Money Bill, but he speaks of our flying in the face of the taxing power, as if we did not pay taxes, or as if we were a great territorial body occupying a higher sphere, not affected by the legislation of the country, and exempt from its taxation. We know this is perfectly absurd; we are of the people, and probably contribute as largely, man for man, as the members of the other House, to the revenue. Therefore to say that we are not to arrogate to ourselves the right to express an opinion upon a question involving money is a principle he (Mr. Macpherson) was not prepared to admit. We have a right to know what the understanding was with the British Government. If that understanding was only an implied one, and the Colonial Secretary was left with the impression that £10,000 sterling would be paid to the Governor-General he (Mr. Macpherson) would support it, and so would the majority of the people of this Dominion. He could say without exaggeration that when the Legislative Council of Canada was elective, he had represented the most populous constituency in the country, and he would not be afraid to go before that constituency and ask whether we should keep faith with the British Government in this matter. It was very well for the hon. member from St. John to talk about retrenchment——

Hon. Mr. WILMOT—Are you not for retrenchment?

Hon. Mr. MACPHERSON was in favor of proper retrenchment where this House had control—that is, to pay no more to our officers than was adequate to the services performed; but the Governor-General is not our officer, and he (Mr. Macpherson) was not willing to violate an understanding with the Home Government. If there is any justification for violating that agreement, the delegates ought to tell us.

Hon. Mr. WILMOT—The very Act explains itself.

Hon. Mr. MACPHERSON—The Governor-General is the only Imperial officer in the Dominion whose salary is paid by Canada, and to reduce his salary will appear to the British Government and people, to our neighbours and our own people, as it appears to him, (Mr. Macpherson,) an untimely, unworthy, and paltry measure. The British Government is spending a large sum of money in this country, and the only visible tie, connecting us with England, is the Governor-General; in the face of this we are nibbling away at his salary. Can we expect that a high-minded man, holding a first class position in England, will come out here if his salary is made the subject of discussion every Session of Parliament? This measure is unworthy of the Parliament of this Dominion. The people of Canada are willing that the Governor-General should be paid handsomely, to enable him to represent the Queen suitably, but they expect his salary to be spent in the country. They would no more expect that he would carry any portion of it out of the country, than they would desire that he should draw upon his private fortune to defray any part of his expenditure as Governor-General. He (Mr. M.) agreed with his hon. friend (Mr. Benson), that £10,000 sterling should cover all the expenses of the Governor-General. He doubted that he could represent Her Majesty suitably, and expend a smaller sum than is named in the Act of Confederation. If he does his duty in hospitality, travelling, and charity, he will not have much over at the end of the year. He (Mr. Macpherson) knew that the delegates were able and ready to express their opinions on all occasions. He knew them too well to believe that they were silent when this subject was under discussion in the conference in London, and we are entitled to know for our guidance, what understanding was come to, with the British Government, on the question.

Hon. Mr. WILMOT—The whole agreement was embodied in the Act of Union, and the clause regarding the Governor-General's salary was left to the Parliament of Canada to alter or amend if the circumstances of the country required it. We should not be charged with acting in a paltry way in reducing this salary, when we leave it $2,000 more than it was before the Union. If the circumstances of the country are such that there will be a deficit in our revenue, it is our duty to keep our expenditure within our income. When we adopt the principle of reducing the salaries of the employees of the House, we are equally bound to carry out that economy in the expenditure of the country, wherever it can be most fairly borne, and it bears just as fairly upon the head of the Government, as it does upon those who hold inferior positions.

Hon. Mr. MACPHERSON—I must call the hon. gentleman to order; I asked him a question, which he has answered, but he has no right to make another speech.

Hon. Mr. MITCHELL—Did not my hon. friend make two speeches last evening upon one subject?

Hon. Mr. MACDONALD regretted that he felt himself constrained to differ from many with whom he usually concurred most cordially, in regard to the provision to be made for His Excellency the Governor-General. On the general question of economy he desired as earnestly as any one to give effect to the views which undoubtedly actuate the great majority of the people. He did not always see an open course to reduce expenses save at the cost of considerations which sometimes possess more than a money value; but none are more convinced than he, that both as a matter of duty and interest, it is necessary to resist everything tending to encourage extravagance in the organization of the Government, and the general administration of the affairs of the Dominion. The Legislature of his own Province, in the arrangement of its affairs, has set an example which he should be glad to see followed here. It has cut down expenses to the lowest point compatible with efficiency; and while neglecting nothing that is essential, has cared most wisely for the wishes and welfare of its own constituents. Our friends from Nova Scotia and New Brunswick have come here after having been educated in a similar school, and their influence will undoubtedly tend to check, if not to prevent, undue expenditures. Entertaining these opinions he shared fully the feeling expressed in a proposition submitted to the other House, that in the reorganization of the public service thoughout the Dominion the strictest economy should be observed; that superfluous offices should be abolished; and that salaries should be framed with a proper regard for the services rendered. He was not prepared to sustain such a proposition in a shape that implies want of confidence in the Government; but nevertheless cherished the hope that the Government, in maturing its plans, will not ignore these points, or disappoint the popular will touching economy as a prime element in the organization and conduct of the various branches of the public service. He would cut down whatever admits of being so treated without injustice to the present incumbents; and in determining salaries and payments where existing interests are not concerned, he would carry retrenchment as far as it can be carried without impairing the efficiency, or lowering the credit, of the Government. It was because, in his judgment, economy involves something more than the saving of money, that he should deem it his duty to vote against the reduction of His Excellency's salary. He did not forget that, estimated according to the average means and incomes of the people of this country, £10,000 sterling is a large salary. He knew that it was large compared with the salaries paid to Ministers themselves, to the Judges, or to any other class of public men. He knew that nothing would be more easy than the gaining of credit for economy by voting for the reduction of a salary so far in advance of the incomes to which Canadians generally are accustomed. And yet he was prepared to take the responsibility of voting for £10,000, not simply because he considered that salary one of the informal elements of the compact entered into by our Delegates to London, but also because he held that it was not in excess of the allowance which the country may be fairly asked to provide for one whose position must hereafter entail liberal hospitalities, and the maintenance of a dignity becoming the delegated head of the Empire on this Continent. We shall not be satisfied with inferior rank or ordinary attainments. We require, and the interests of the Dominion and of the Empire alike require, the presence here, as the representative of Her Majesty, of a statesman capable of promoting the vast concerns which as yet we ourselves hardly realize, and of maintaining the state which in all communities has much to do with the satisfactory administration of public affairs. For these reasons he was willing to appropriate an annual sum commensurate with the character and abilities which alone are worthy of the position, and with the requirements of the office, political and social. The question, as he saw it, was not whether the salary was above the every-day standard, but whether it was greater than may be properly paid for services and standing such as those which will hereafter be associated with the office of Governor-General. The true standard of comparison in this case is Imperial, not Colonial; and thus considered he was convinced that the sum originally fixed cannot reasonably or justly be called extravagant.

Hon. Mr. FERRIER advocated the allowance of £10,000, but no extras, which, looking over the accounts lately published, seemed to amount to a fearful sum yearly. The Governor General was expected to subscribe liberally to all charitable and patriotic objects, instancing the fire in Quebec, when the Governor-General headed the list of subscriptions with £500, and a large house then subscribed £600, and so on; by this example a sum of over £15,000 was obtained on the spot. He should entertain liberally and bear his own travelling expenses. The travelling expenses from Quebec to Montreal and Ottawa, (before the seat of Government got settled down here,) ran up the travelling expenses to large sums that seem to alarm us now, but we must remember that was an exceptional state of things, and not likely to occur again. He would read from a paper he held in his hand, the following despatch, bearing on the subject, with the comments made thereon, which he thought quite appropriate:

> "The salaries of Governors of the British Dominions are necessarily large, because it is expected that they will expend much of the money they receive in hospitality. The Legislature of Tasmania recently reduced by statute the salary of its Governor, but it was disallowed by the Queen, and the following despatch gives the reasons of its disallowance:—
> "Downing Street, July 10, 1867.
> "SIR,—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your despatch, No. 9, of the 9th of February, forwarding a copy of an Act of the Legislature of Tasmania to reduce the salary and allowance of every future Governor of the colony, which you have reserved for the signification of Her Majesty's pleasure. I regret that I cannot advise Her Majesty to give effect to this Act. It is a matter of the highest importance to secure for the government of the colony the services of men of proved judgment and ability, and that the means of these officers should not be so cramped as to preclude them from taking their proper position in the colony by the exercise of a well-regulated hospitality, by visiting when necessary different parts of the colony, and by taking part in the charitable organizations which are called for by the state of the colony or of society. After careful reflection and inquiry, I am satisfied that the existing emoluments of the Governor of Tasmania are not too high for this purpose; that for the proposed salary, Her Majesty's Government would not readily, if at all, find a person properly qualified and also willing to accept the Government; and further, that any person so appointed would find himself unable to discharge the social and other duties of his office in the manner which is required by the interests of the colony. I regret greatly the present pressure of the finances of the colony which has led your advisers to propose this measure. I trust, however, that the grounds of my decision will satisfy your Ministers and the members of the Legislature that such a measure would not be likely to conduce to the general advantage, and that the position of the Governor should be maintained in its integrity.

> "BUCKINGHAM AND CHANDOS."

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL desired to say a few words upon the Bill now before the House. In the first place he desired to correct a mistake made by some of the hon. members as to the character of the Bill. It was not a money Bill granting supply to Her Majesty, but a Bill to fix the salary of the Governor-General at some future period. It was the right of the House of Commons, preliminarily, to deal with such a subject; but it not being a Supply Bill—simply a resolution of the House of Commons regarding the salary of a high officer of the Crown—the question is not only open, but it is our duty to express an opinion upon it, whether that opinion differs from that expressed by the House of Commons or not. In referring to the contingent expenses of the Governor-General, he said they had been rendered necessary in consequence of his being required to change his place of residence from one part of the country to another, before the Seat of Government was fixed at Ottawa, but as a rule, the salary of the Governor-General covered all the expenses it was proposed to cover. It is more economical to have the salary cover all expenses, than to fix it at a low sum and pay contingent accounts. As an example of a large nation being governed at small expense, we have been told again and again, that the President of the United States received a salary of $25,000, and he (Mr. Campbell) had supposed that this salary covered all expenses. Did that represent the cost of that officer to the people of the United States? We find by referring to the public accounts of that country, that the salary of the President is a mere bagatelle to the whole cost. We find the amount charged for gas alone is between seventy and eighty thousand dollars. The very hospitalities of his table is, in many instances, charged as a contingent account. It is far better to fix a handsome sum to cover all expenses, than to fix an inadequate sum to be pieced out by contingencies allowed from time to time, which will cover more than the whole salary. He did not think they were perfectly free to deal with this matter, because he believed that the salary named would not have been inserted in the Union Act without an accord between the British Government and the representatives of the North American Provinces. If there was an understanding of that kind he thought it was wrong in this early stage of the constitution to make any change in that salary. We must bear in mind that the responsibility of selecting a Governor-General for this Dominion rests upon Her Majesty and her advisers. In the exercise of that responsibility they have their opinion as to what amount of salary ought to be attached to that office in order to get the kind of man that would in their opinion fill that high office, and advance the interests of the Dominion. Then the delegates having in accord with Her Majesty's Government agreed upon such a sum as they thought necessary for that purpose, we should not alter that amount until Her Majesty's Ministers have had an opportunity of expressing an opinion upon it. They may say, "The representatives of the British North American Provinces agreed that $50,000 was the sum they were to give as a salary to the Governor-General in order that we might procure for them a man with such experience in public life as would most conduce to the interests of that colony, and had they adhered to that sum, we would have adhered to that responsibility, but the salary being changed, we cannot adequately carry out that duty." Having in that way agreed to the salary, we ought not to alter it until the British Government have expressed their views upon it. There is another view of this matter which will be taken in England, and it will tend to our disadvantage. This is the only salary which we fix in connection with the public service in England, and there will be a contrast drawn between that and the immense sums of money which they expend for the safety and welfare of this country. There is now being expended by the people of Great Britain one million two hundred thousand pounds sterling annually, exclusive of the naval service, permanent barracks, and hospitals, which he supposed would make a total of one million and a-half pounds sterling expended for our security. This position of Governor-General is the only patronage of any kind which they exercise in this country, and our representatives having fixed the salary it does seem wrong for us in this first Session of Parliament to change it without giving the British Government an opportunity to express their views upon it, or without even knowing whether they can get a suitable person to come here for that sum. The present salary may seem a large sum, but it is not when compared with the salaries which men of experience are likely to get in other colonies or in England. Men who are asked to leave for a time their own political life in the mother country to take a position as governor of a colony would have to do so in many cases at a considerable sacrifice. Suppose a man who has a high position in the Parliament of England leaves it for a time, he loses all those chances which political life gives, the wave of success passes over and he is forgotten. It is very seldom that an opportunity for advancement happens to the Governor of this country, although it did in one instance through the Confederation of these colonies, but in an ordinary and nominal state of things, he has to go home to regain the loss that must invariably be inflicted upon his career as a public man by his absence. So far as the Government were concerned in this question they would like to see the matter rest where it is until they had a further opportunity of ascertaining whether the office could be filled by a suitable person for a less salary than is now given.

Hon. Mr. BENSON said he wished to be assured by the Government that if we vote £10,000, this sum would be in lieu of all other contingencies, and he was satisfied such an arrangement would be the most satisfactory one to all parties and that the country would gain by it. He did not wish to be niggardly, but felt the country should not be saddled with these large sums yearly for extras for the Governor's establishment. He was not satisfied the way the question came up here: if assured that the £10,000 would include everything he would willingly vote for it, but if the old system is to be continued in voting large sums every year for contingencies, which amount to a great deal more than the salary, he sympathised with public opinion on this matter strongly, and unless strong assurances were given that no extras will be charged in the public accounts under this head for the future, he should vote for the second reading of the present Bill.

Hon. Mr. REESOR said the delegates who had been sent to England to confer with the British Government in regard to the Union Act had not exceeded the powers given them in fixing the Governor-General's salary, as they had left the matter open to be determined by the Parliament of Canada. It had been said that a Money Bill could not be altered or amended by this House, but must be accepted or rejected. He would go further and say it was very rarely that a Money Bill was rejected by the House of Lords, and our position relatively to the House of Commons was very nearly similar to the relative position of the House of Lords to the House of Commons in England. The Senate of the United States was also guided in Money Bills by the same rules as the House of Lords. He then referred to a measure passed in the House of Commons in England in 1860 repealing the duty upon paper, but which was rejected in the House of Lords. In that case the Bill passed the House of Commons by a majority of only nine, and the House of Lords had the feeling of the whole country in their favor by rejecting it. He said if they passed this Bill now it would be quite competent for the House of Commons at any future time to increase the Governor-General's salary if it was found necessary. He thought it was requiring too much of the members of the Government in this House to ask them to give any pledge that a change would be made in regard to contingent expenses in the event of this Bill being rejected. As they have had an ample opportunity while the discussion was going on in the other House, to propose that $50,000 should cover all expenses, it was but reasonable to infer that they did not desire to do so. Under these circumstances he felt bound to support the Bill.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL said it was the desire of the Government that the Governor's salary should cover all the charges, but he could not speak positively in regard to traveling expenses.

Hon. Mr. MITCHELL felt that the question was one on which the delegates should speak, particularly the members of the Government. There was one point which he wished to give an explanation to the House, particularly as it had been called for so repeatedly by his hon. friend from Toronto (Mr. Macpherson.) He said he thought it was the duty of the delegates to state to the House the terms of the arrangement in regard to this salary, and he called upon him (Mr. Mitchell) by name to give an explanation as to whether there was an understanding on this subject between the members of the delegation, and any of the members representing the British Government. When the question had been put to the leader of the Government he had replied to that question. During the course of the proceedings of that delegation which lasted for many weeks it was necessary to have frequent interviews with the members of the Imperial Cabinet, and in those discussions it was sometimes necessary to have further explanations with reference to them. He believed the question of the Governor's salary was one on which there was a great deal of discussion, and it was one on which it might be thought the opinions of the members of the British Government, should have some weight and some importance in suggesting, or at all events, in indicating to the members of the delegation the views Her Majesty's Government entertained in the matter. Whatever his individual opinion might be, he believed the sum fixed upon by the delegates met with the approval of Her Majesty's Government, but whether they would have consented to any less sum he, as one of the delegates, was not able to answer. He was opposed at this time to any attempt being made to reduce the salary of the representative of Her Majesty. Having so recently matured the scheme for uniting the Provinces of British North America, this only connection between us and the Mother Country should not be interfered with this first Session of the Parliament of Canada. If it was found by practical experience that this sum was more than the finances of the country would bear, he thought the British Government would not interfere to prevent them from reducing it, but it was injudicious to make this reduction so soon after the representatives from the different Provinces had agreed with Her Majesty's Government as to what that amount should be. For these reasons he felt bound to oppose the passage of the Bill. Reference had been made to the course pursued by him (Mr. Mitchell), in advocating a reduction of salaries, as opposed to the course he was now pursuing in regard to the salary of the Governor-General. There was a great difference between the two cases: in the one case a convocation assembled for the purpose of framing a Constitution for British North America, and an understanding was come to with the British Government, in regard to the sum which the Governor-General shall receive, which was inserted in the Bill; in the other case, we had a Constitution without a single employee, and when Parliament assembled, there had been only two appointed, and their appointments were subordinate to any action which Parliament might take, therefore no injustice was done by this Senate in fixing the scale of salaries. Although he did not agree with all the arguments used by those who opposed the Bill, yet having been one of the delegates he felt that the faith of the country was pledged to the Government of England in this matter. It would morally have a bad effect upon the Union of this country, if we were to insert this entering wedge so soon after the Constitution was formed. He had made these few remarks feeling that it would have been improper for him to give a silent vote upon this question; and feeling that a pledge had been given to the British Government he felt bound to oppose this Bill.

Hon. Mr. SANBORN gave a detailed statement from the public accounts of the contingent expenses of the Governor-General for some years back up to the present time. In this present year according to the estimates the public expense for the purchase of furniture and other items connected with the establishment of the Governor-General would be $122,000. He had been compelled to give this statement; the arguments against the Bill were placed upon the ground that these duties and expenses devolved upon the Governor-General, or that in the contemplation of the law they were to be paid out of his salary. It never had been done, but it was the duty of the Government to see that it was done hereafter whatever his salary may be. The hon. member for Toronto (Mr. Macpherson) said he would be willing to go before his constituency upon this question, and he had no fear but he would be elected by a large majority. He (Mr. Sanborn) could only say to him that he would rely more upon his good standing in the county than he would upon the proposition. In that large constituency which he represents there are a great many men with small-means who would hardly appreciate the conduct of the delegates in pledging the country to the sum of $50,000, because they thought it was necessary to support a high officer of the Crown. He (Mr. Sanborn) should go in opposition to the hon. member if he took that as the ground of his canvass. He is far more secure against in this House under the mandamus of the Queen, than if he was going back to the electors of his constituency, and telling them he was decidedly in favor of keeping the salary of the Governor-General at $50,000 instead of reducing it to $32,000.

Hon. Mr. MACPHERSON—That was fixed according to the arrangement made with the Imperial Government by our own delegates.

Hon. Mr. SANBORN said his hon. friend was wrong in asking an explanation from those delegates, unless it was to give publicity to their opinions, because he knows none of them would betray the secrets of that conclave. It would be contrary to the privileges they enjoyed for them to come here and declare what transpired there, and how each one had voted upon the questions which came before them. The course they have taken is the course taken by all statesmen. It is not the men, it is the litera scripta we look to. We come here as legislators, and not to make an enquiry as to what was the intention of those delegates in London. We are here independently, and we must take the law as our only guide, and interpret it for ourselves. According to the best legal authority the author of a Bill after it becomes law, is not to be taken as evidence upon that law, because he is the person most likely to be mistaken, having a theory of his own to maintain. The hon. member from Nova Scotia (Mr. McCully) gave a correct statement of the matter when he said the clause which relates to this subject is exceptional, as it lays the question before Parliament. The salary is made provisional, and it comes before us for our decision, as to whether that provisional salary is the one to stand or not. The Minister of Marine says it is ungracious to reduce the salary at this time, but he (Mr. Sanborn) thought if they allowed it to go on for several years, they would be told there was a vested right involved in its reduction. He thought by the course taken in the other House this Bill was not to be lightly treated. The Government had brought it forward with all the prestige and power which they have in that House, but they were defeated upon the measure by a vote of two to one, or a majority of fifty. It was not for us to take a position to set at defiance the expressed wishes of the people, as expressed through their representatives. He maintained that this was not a question upon which we should rush forward with a desire to maintain our privileges, because the Bill was one which was in accordance with the wishes of the people. He would be the last one to abridge any of the privileges of this House, or to give up any of our rights to legislate where we have the power, but upon a measure of this kind we would be placing ourselves in a false position before the country if we did not sustain the verdict given by the representatives of the people.

Hon. Mr. BOTSFORD said he thought we should be informed of the compact entered into by the Delegates from these Provinces to the Imperial Government, which he thought ought to be sustained. He respected the vote of the House of Commons on this question, as we should do on all others. They hold the purse strings, and we in this House should act in accord with that branch of the Legislature on every occasion. He would therefore vote for the passing of this Bill. The second reading of the Bill was then declared carried on the following division:—

CONTENTS—The Honorable Messieurs Aikins, Anderson, Armand, Benson, Bill, Blake, Botsford, Bourinot, Bureau, Burnham, Christie, Cormier, Dever, Dickey, Duchesnay, E. H. J., Dumouchel, [illegible], Guevremont, Hamilton (Kingston), Holmes, Leonard, Leslie, Letellier de St. Just, McClelan, McCrea, McCully, McMaster, Malhiot, Miller, Olivier, Reesor, Sanborn, Seymour, Simpson, Wark, Wilmot, Wilson.—37.

NON-CONTENTS—The Honorable Messieurs Allan, Campbell, Cauchon, Chapais, Ferrier, Hamilton (Inkerman), Kenny, Lacoste, Macdonald, Macpherson, Mitchell, Price, Ross, Ryan, Shaw, Skead, Tessier.—17.

On motion of the Hon. Mr. SANBORN, seconded by the Hon. Mr. Armand, the said Bill was ordered to be read a third time to-morrow.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the Bill intituled "An Act relating to quarantine and public health" (Hon. Mr. Letellier de St. Just in the chair), reported the same with several amendments, which were concurred in, and the Bill read a third time and passed.

The Bill, as amended, intituled "An Act constituting the Department of Customs" was read a third time and passed.

Also, the Bill intituled "An Act for the better security of the Crown and of the Government," was read a third time and passed without amendment.

"An Act respecting the inspection of steamboats, and for the greater safety of passengers by them," was read a second time, and passed through Committee of the Whole (Hon. Mr. Macpherson in the chair), without amendment, and ordered to be read a third time to-morrow.

The Bill intituled "An Act respecting the Civil Service of Canada," was read a second time, passed through Committee of the Whole without amendment (Hon. Mr. Ferrier in the chair), and ordered for a second reading to-morrow.

The House then adjourned.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

MONDAY, May 18, 1868.

First Sitting.

The SPEAKER took the chair at eleven o'clock.

JUDGE LAFONTAINE.

Hon. J. H. CAMERON presented the first report of the Select Committee appointed to decide upon the merits of the petition presented by Mr. Wright against His Honor Judge Lafontaine, in which the Committee stated that they had ordered the service of a copy of the charges to be served upon His Honor, and considering the lateness of the period of the Session, contemplated taking no further action before prorogation.

CANADA LIVE STOCK INSURANCE COMPANY.

Hon. Mr. CARLING having moved the third reading of the Bill to incorporate this company,

Hon. Mr. HOLTON raised, and Hon. Mr. DUNKIN sustained, the doubt as to the Federal jurisdiction on the subject of the Bill, the latter contending that, though nominally a Dominion measure, its action would be practically confined to the extreme West. The capital of the company was small, and its organization could not be considered other than Provincial. Its objects would be provided for in Quebec by local statute, and its own provisions, if confined to Ontario, would doubtless be readily recognized by the judiciaries of the sister Provinces. The introduction of such measures in the General Legislature would be the entry of the thin edge of the wedge by which all proper jurisdiction might be eventually torn away from the Provincial assemblies, where they could be discussed more intelligently by representatives possessing the desirable local information with regard to their scope and tendencies. He hoped that the Bill would be withdrawn.

Mr. McKENZIE supported the objection, expressing surprise that a member of one of the Local Governments should have brought in such a measure. It was introduced very late in the Session, and even then its consideration should be more fitly postponed until after the discussion upon the General Government policy, likely to arise upon the proposed Insurance Bill of the Hon. Minister of Finance, which latter he hoped also would not be pressed through.

Hon. Mr. CARLING saw no ground for surprise at his action in the matter. His position in his own Government did not override his station there, as a member of the General Legislature, entitled to take any action he might deem due to his constituents and the public interests. He would, however, desire that the motion might be allowed to stand over until the next sitting of the House.

After some observations from Mr. BLAKE, Hon. Mr. DUNKIN and Hon. J. S. MACDONALD, the motion was allowed to stand.

Mr. O'CONNOR moved the House into Committee on the Vinegrowers' Association Bill.

Mr. McKENZIE objected that the measure belonged properly to the Local Legislature.

Hon. Mr. HOWLAND said he had been ill when the question was formerly before the Legislature, but had taken the earliest opportunity to enquire into the matter, and found that the company claimed the right to manufacture spirits, which was manifestly contrary to the intention of the Legislature.

Mr. O'CONNOR wished to say a few words in reply to the Minister of Inland Revenue. That hon. gentleman had said that the association was about establishing a distillery. Such was not the case, and no one authorized to speak for the company had ever made such a statement. It would have been proper to have applied to the company to ascertain their intentions. It was true that negociations had been going on for the purpose of purchasing an old distillery building, but not for the purpose of starting a distillery. The Secretary of the company with the books in his possession had been fully prepared to give all information, but the Minister of Inland Revenue had never given him an opportunity of communicating to the Government. He (Mr. O'C.) thought it unfair that the Minister had taken his information from some one who was perhaps an enemy of the company.

Hon. Mr. HOWLAND explained that in November last, he had obtained his information, but from no secret source, that the company claimed the right to manufacture spirits. Hon. Mr. Howland made some further remarks in reply to the member for Essex, and the motion was allowed to stand.

QUESTIONS PUT BY MEMBERS.

It was elicited from Ministers in reply to the understated questions, viz.:

Of Mr. SHANLY, who asked whether any report has been made by the Privy Council on the last despatch from the Duke of Buckingham, Secretary of State for the Colonies, to His Excellency the Governor-General, relative to the unsatisfied claim of Mr. George H. Ryland; also, what has been the cause of delay in the payment of the moiety of the interest still due to Mr. Ryland under the award of the late Chief Justice Carter.

That no such report had been received, and the claim of Mr. Ryland had never been admitted by the Government. (Mr. ROSE.)

Of Mr. FORTIN, who asked whether it is the intention of the Government to cause a hydrographic survey of the Ports of Amherst and House Harbor in the Magdalen Islands, in Canada, to be made during the present season of navigation, with the view of ascertaining the possibility of works for the removal of the sand banks which obstruct the entrances to those ports, and render access to them extremely difficult even for small fishing vessels, and also to prevent the formation of fresh sand banks; these two being the only ports which can be used by vessels navigating along the coast and engaging in the maritime fisheries in those parts?

That a survey would be made, but whether hydrographic or otherwise was uncertain. (Mr. MACDOUGALL.)

Of Mr. SAVARY, who asked whether it is the intention of Her Majesty's Government in the Dominion of Canada, to exercise the power expressly vested in His Excellency the Governor-General, by His Excellency's commission, to constitute and appoint Justices of the Peace in the Dominion, and if not, whether a Bill will be introduced during the present Session to enable His Excellency to transfer such powers by his Commission to the Lieutenant-Governors in the Dominion?

That the Government had no such intention (Sir J. A. MACDONALD.)

A similar answer was also given by the Minister for Justice to Mr. FORTIN'S question as to whether it is the intention of the Government to bring down during the present Session a measure to amend the Act respecting the inspection of fish, and to make its provisions applicable to all the Provinces constituting the Dominion of Canada?

A large number of notices on the paper were either dropped or allowed to stand.

EMIGRATION.

Hon. J. H. CAMERON moved an address for a return of the sums appropriated for emigration purposes for the current quarter and year.

A desultory debate ensued, in which Messrs. POPE, ROSE, CARTWRIGHT, DUNKIN, J. S. MACDONALD, and T. R. FERGUSSON took part, the latter contending that as public works are necessary to promote emigration, the Ontario Government should grant ten millions of acres of land to the Huron and Ontario Ship Canal Company.

Mr. CAMERON'S motion was declared carried.

Hon. Mr. HOLTON moved that there be allowed payment to Joseph Anctil, Thos. LeBel and Michael LeBel, of usual allowances to witnesses attending on Committees of this House.

Hon. Mr. LANGEVIN replied, shewing that these parties were themselves implicated in the illegal proceedings of the Kamouraska election, had taken part in the riot, and had received bribes. For this reason the Committee decided that they should not receive the customary compensation, as likely to prove an encouragement to similar illegality.

Hon. Mr. HOLTON taunted the Secretary of State with being unable to rise above the petty local squabbles of the constituency, and argued that the report of the Committee showed that the rioters had received the utmost provocation by the conduct of the Returning Officer, who had been selected by an unpopular party to disfranchise that portion of the district, where public opinion was most adverse to them, (no, no,) and who had proved a willing tool to obtain by fraud a result which fair means were unable to bring about. He asked the Minister for Justice if he considered it just to summon witnesses to give evidence here, and refuse them all compensation for their time and outlay. It was not pretended that they had not spoken truly, and it was monstrous to maintain that they should be treated unjustly as a measure of punishment for their complicity.

Mr. CHAMBERLIN said that the appeal made by Mr. Holton to party feeling and passion, was most unfortunate to his clients, and denied the imputation of partiality, which had been cast upon the Returning Officer.

Mr. DUFRESNE said that all the evidence produced before the Committee, had not been laid before the House. If it had been, even the member for Chateauguay would scarcely have proposed to remunerate witnesses who, by their own confession, appeared to have been among the most prominent of the rioters. If these parties were to go back with the reward of $130 or so, they would be so far encouraged that at the next elections they would not only use stones, but even take firelocks and shoot. He went on to detail some of the particulars of the riot, from which he drew the inference that, if Mr. Chapais had not succeeded in secreting himself, he would not be sitting in the other House to-day. He felt very angry on the matter, and hoped the House would reject the proposal without division.

After some remarks from Mr. LAWSON,

Mr. CASAULT defended the recommendation of the Committee, whose course, with regard to witnesses, was that which would be taken in any court of law. The admissions of the witnesses showed that they deserved severe punishment instead of premium.

Hon. Col. GRAY urged that the allegations of impropriety brought against these witnesses should not be admitted, before proof, as grounds for withholding a payment to which they were justly entitled by their attendance in obedience to the summons of Parliament.

Hon. Mr. HOLTON had taken up this matter, with the full particulars of which he was but imperfectly acquainted, only in the absence and at the instance of the member for Hochelaga. He would submit, in the question of legality, to the expressed opinion of the Minister for Justice.

Sir J. A. MACDONALD felt bound to support the Committee. He might state that the parties referred to were not called as witnesses, but had been summoned to appear, and be examined, in consequence of their names appearing prominently in the report of the Returning Officer.

The motion was then withdrawn.

ADDRESSES, &C.

The following motions were then made and carried without discussion:

By Mr. O'CONNOR—To remit the sum of one hundred dollars required to be paid into the Private Bill Office in respect to Bill No. 119.

Mr. BENOIT—For Address—Requesting copies of accounts presented to the Government, by the proprietor of the Journal de Sorel.

Hon. Mr. GRAY—Adoption of second report of Select Standing Committee on privileges and elections.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS.

Mr. F. JONES had consulted members on both sides of the House, and having found a general opinion that no effect could result from his proposed motion for enquiry into the Works Department, desired to hold it on the paper for next Session (laughter), which being declared impossible by the Speaker, was allowed to drop.

PUBLIC WORKS.

Mr. McKENZIE'S motion for a Select Committee to report upon the accounts of work done in the Parliament Buildings, as shown in return to address, dated April 21st, 1868, &c., was allowed to drop.

Hon. Mr. MACDOUGALL undertaking to bring down, before the close of the Session, a full explanation from Mr. Page, respecting the items in which his supervision had been impugned.

LIBRARY.

Considerable discussion took place upon the motion of Hon. Mr. BLANCHET for the adoption of the first report of Joint Committee of both Houses on the Library of Parliament, which was carried, on the understanding that no books of general reference, nor of great rarity or value, should be permitted by the Speaker to be removed from the Library.

MEASUREMENT OF COAL.

The House, on the motion of Mr. BROUSSEAU, then went into Committee on the Bill to amend chapter 63 of the Consolidated Statutes for Lower Canada, in so far as the same relates to the measurement and discharge of coal (as amended by the Committee on Banking and Commerce).

And the Committee having reported progress, and asked leave to sit again, the House resumed, and adjourned at two o'clock.

Second Sitting.

The SPEAKER took the chair at four o'clock.

QUESTIONS.

It was elicited from Ministers in reply to the understated questions, viz., of Mr. CHAUVEAU, who asked whether it is the intention of the Government to extend any assistance to the fishermen of Nova Scotia,—of the District of Gaspe,—and of the coast of Labrador, who are now in great distress in consequence of the failure of the fisheries?

That the matter was one for consideration by the Local Government (Sir J. A. MACDONALD).

Also in reply to Hon. Mr. CHAUVEAU asking whether it is the intention of the Government to bring forward any measure for granting aid to the De Salaberry family, and recognizing the important services rendered to the Province by the late Col. De Salaberry, who, more than any other person, contributed to preserve to Great Britain the possession of the Colonies on this Continent, and to maintain the integrity of the Provinces which now form part of the Canadian Confederation?

That the Government had no such present intention (Sir J. A. MACDONALD).

Of Mr. McCONKEY—Whether the Government have yet decided in reference to continuing the road from Fort William, Lake Superior, to Fort Garry, and if in the affirmative, whether it is their intention to go on with the work this season?

That the subject had not been yet decided upon.

MEASUREMENT OF COAL.

The House again went into Committee upon Mr. BROUSSEAU'S proposed measure for amending the Law of Lower Canada relative to the measurement of coal, and, after some consideration, the Committee rose, reported progress, and obtained leave to sit again.

SPECIAL COMMISSION.

Mr. BURTON resumed the discussion on his motion (postponed from a previous day,) for an address to His Excellency the Governor-General, for all correspondence which has taken place between the Minister of Justice or the Government of Canada, and the Attorney-General, or the Government of the Provinces of Ontario, respecting the issue of a Special Commission for the trial of the persons now in jail, accused of the assassination of the late Hon. Thomas D'Arcy McGee, stating that a feeling of dissatisfaction existed with respect to the non-issue of such a Commission, which he regarded as likely to deter further Fenian outrages.

Sir J. A. MACDONALD having stated that no such correspondence had taken place, the motion was withdrawn.

PATENT LAW.

Mr. MASSON (Soulanges) moved the second reading of the Bill to amend Chapter 34 of the Consolidated Statutes of Canada respecting patents for inventions.

After a pause,

Hon. Mr. HOLTON supposed that the Government would give some expression of their opinion upon the Bill.

Mr. MASSON—I am the Government. (Much laughter.)

The Bill was then read a second time, and committed for to-morrow (this day),

Sir J. A. MACDONALD, in reply to Hon. Mr. HOLTON, stating that the Bill introduced by the Government in the Upper House, had been there so far modified that they declined to take any further responsibility regarding it, and might probably take advantage of that of the member for Soulanges, which was thus kept before the House.

RAILWAYS.

Sir G. E. CARTIER having moved the third reading of the Bill respecting railways (and amendments),

Hon. Mr. HOLTON moved, seconded by Mr. McKENZIE, in amendment, that the Bill be not now read a third time, but referred back to the Committee of the Whole, with instructions for its amendment, by providing that all railway companies be bound to grant equal facilities on equal terms to all express companies demanding such privileges. The hon. member stated that railway companies which were themselves of the nature of a monopoly, had created a sort of sub-monopoly in favor of the only express company at present existing, which it was desirable to break through.

Sir G. E. CARTIER had previously taken objection to the same proposal in Committee, and proceeded to oppose it as out of order. The Bill was purely prospective, whereas the amendment would introduce a retrospective clause, affecting existing contracts between railway and express companies. The Bill had no application to existing railway companies, with which it was incompetent therefore for any amendment to interfere.

After some further discussion on the point of order, and the Speaker having given his ruling against the amendment, it was withdrawn by Mr. HOLTON, who moved in substitution an instruction for the amendment of the 47th clause, to the effect that all railway companies affected by that clause should be compelled to place all express companies, who might desire it, on equal footing.

Sir G. E. CARTIER said that the motion had been already defeated in Committee, and would not, he hoped, be now consented to by the House. The proposal was unjust and impracticable, and imposed restrictions on the Railway Companies most prejudicial to them.

Mr. McKENZIE said that such enactment was in force in the United States, where no difficulty has been experienced in its working.

Hon. Mr. HOWLAND having opposed the amendment,

Mr. BOWELL maintained the necessity of granting such facilities to Express Companies as would render possible a competitor of advantage to the interests of the public.

It being then six o'clock the Speaker left the chair.

After Recess.

FISHERIES.

Sir J. A. MACDONALD having moved the second reading of the Bill for the regulation of fishing and protection of fisheries, some discussion ensued, in which Messrs. FORTIN, JONES (Halifax), McKENZIE, SAVARY, and Sir JOHN took part, the latter stating that American vessels of war in our waters had always shown every readiness to aid us in enforcing our fishery laws against their own countrymen, and Mr. McKENZIE bearing testimony to the good spirit with which our imposition of $2 per ton on American fishing vessels had been accepted in the United States as not only just, but even liberal.

The Bill was then read a third time and passed.

RAILWAYS.

Hon. Mr. HOLTON having intimated that he desired to withdraw his motion for recommittal of the Railway Bill, in order to amend it by the introduction of a clause to which the Minister for Militia had consented, the Bill was read a third time.

Hon. Mr. HOLTON then proposed its amendment by the insertion of the following, as the third subsection of clause 47: "That any Railway Company granting special facilities to any incorporated Express Co., shall grant equal facilities on similar terms and conditions to any other incorporated Express Companies desiring to avail itself thereof.

Hon. Mr. WOOD could not understand why such exceptional legislation should be sought for in favour of Express Companies particularly. It might as reasonably be enacted that all millers, with whom the Railway Companies had dealings, should be treated on precisely equal terms.

The amendment was then put and carried.

Mr. A. P. MACDONALD moved an amendment to the effect that all Railway Companies should be compelled to keep the ditches and culverts along their lines in such a state of repairs as would effectually drain off all the stagnant water which might accumulate there.

Hon. Mr. WOOD did not think it necessary to enact such provisions of common law by incorporating them in the present Bill.

Mr. STEPHENSON said that the amendment could not be considered unnecessary. In the portion of the country which he represented, and through which the G. W. R. ran it was especially called for. Repeated application had been made to the railway authorities on the subject, but had only been laughed at by their officials. In his constituency this want of proper action on the part of the company was considered a great grievance, and he thought that if the proposed clause could be inserted, it should properly be introduced as calculated to remedy the evil.

After some further general discussion,

Sir J. A. MACDONALD pointed out that the Bill was prospective, intended to affect only the Intercolonial Railway and any other that might hereafter be constructed, and that therefore the proposed amendment would not succeed in effecting the relief aimed at on the Grand Trunk or Great Western lines. The common law contained provision applicable for the abatement of all such nuisances which might be enforced against the railway companies as well as against any other offenders.

Mr. A. P. MACDONALD said that common law was like any other piece of machinery subject to being made so clumsy and cumbersome as practically to forbid its use.

The amendment was then put and declared lost on division.

Mr. BLAKE moved an amendment to the effect that in any suit for recovery of loss by railway negligence, or breach of contract, no defence by the company, based upon any special conditions of their agreement, shall be held valid, unless such condition be upheld by the court or judge, before whom the case shall be tried, as just and reasonable.

Hon. Mr. WOOD and Mr. F. JONES having opposed the amendment as calculated to induce profitless litigation, and it having been modified by the mover so far as to permit the notice of the company upon which defence should be founded to remain prima facie valid evidence, until decided by the court to contain unreasonable provisions, after some further discussion, the amendment was agreed to, and the Bill read a third time and passed.

CUSTOMS.

The House then went into committee on the Bill imposing duties of customs with the tariff of duties payable under it which being considered and reported, on the motion for reception,

Mr. JONES (Halifax) moved its re-reference with instruction for its amendment, so as to admit barrels containing molasses duty free.

Hon. Mr. ROSE stated that the Government had fully and deliberately considered the tariff which they had proposed, and decided against the admission of any alterations.

Hon. Mr. HOLTON saw no utility in the proposition of any amendment after such a statement. The whole tariff would require revision next Session.

The amendment was after some further discussion put, and declared lost on division.

Mr. JONES then moved the recommittal of the Bill with instruction for its amendment by establishing the duty on sugar at 25 per cent. ad valorem, and ½ cent. specific, instead of the sliding scale proposed.

Hon. Mr. ROSE, supported by Hon. Mr. HOLTON having opposed the motion, it was declared lost.

Mr. YOUNG moved the recommittal of the Bill with instruction for the reduction of the duty on green tea to six cents per pound, which was supported by Mr. McKENZIE, and opposed by Mr. T. R. FERGUSSON and Hon. Mr. ROSE; and finally lost on a division of 44 to 65.

Mr. YOUNG then moved the recommittal with instruction that it be amended by providing for the admission free of all articles under the head of iron now included in the five per cent. list, which was put and declared lost on division.

Mr. OLIVER moved the abolition of duty on live stock when imported by agricultural societies for agricultural purposes, which was lost on a division of 51 to 65.

Mr. BLAKE then moved recommittal with instruction for the insertion of rice on the free list, which was lost on a division of 34 to 81.

Mr. MONROE moved that Indian corn be be struck out of the free list, and left as before, which was rejected by a vote of 93 to 21.

The report was then concurred in, and the Bill read a third time and passed.

SUPPLY.

Hon. J. ROSE moved for leave to introduce a Bill for granting supply to Her Majesty, which was read a first time, the second reading being fixed for to-morrow, (this day.)

INSURANCE.

The order of the day for the second reading of the Bill respecting Insurance Companies having been discharged, the House, on motion of Hon. Mr. ROSE, went into committee to consider certain resolutions providing for the licensing of Insurance Companies doing business in Canada.

Hon. Mr. HOLTON said that the measure was being introduced solely for the purpose of raising revenue, an extraordinary proceeding to be initiated within 48 hours of the close of the Session.

Hon. J. ROSE said that his object was to place the insurance business of the country on a sound and satisfactory footing.

After some further discussion the resolutions were agreed to, and the reception of the report ordered for to-morrow (this day).

INDEPENDENCE OF PARLIAMENT.

Sir J. A. MACDONALD, in moving the second reading of the Bill for further securing the independence of Parliament, stated that it was designed to make officers of the army and navy, and the chief Commissioner of the Intercolonial Railway eligible for seats in the Legislature, a practice which had been found to work well in Nova Scotia.

Mr. BLAKE objected to the principle, and would have desired a prohibition to Local representatives holding seats in the Federal Chamber.

The discussion was further continued at great length by Sir G. E. CARTIER, Mr. SAVARY, Hon. Mr. HOLTON and Sir J. A. MACDONALD, after which the Bill was read a second time.

Sir J. A. MACDONALD then moved the House into Committee, on which Mr. McKENZIE commented on the unfairness of attempting to press the measure through when 50 or 60 members of the House had left already.

Hon. Mr. HOLTON having intimated that there would be no opposition to the remaining stages being taken to-day,

Sir J. A. MACDONALD consented, after which,

GENERAL LAWS.

The following Bills were read a second time, committed, and ordered for third reading to-day:

The Bill respecting procedure in criminal cases.

The Bill respecting riots near public works.

The Bill to provide for oaths to witnesses being administered in certain cases, for the purpose of either House of Parliament (from Senate.)

The Bill relating to light houses, buoys, and beacons.

The Bill respecting the internal economy of the House of Commons.

The Bill for better securing the payment of the duty imposed on tobacco manufactured in Canada.

The Bill respecting sick and disabled seamen and river police.

And the following passed through the final stage:

The Bill respecting the treatment and relief of sick and distressed mariners.

The Bill respecting fishing by foreign vessels.

The Bill respecting the Northern Railway of Canada.

The Bill respecting certain penalties.

After which the House rose at half-past two this morning.

OPINIONS OF THE LONDON PRESS ON IMPEACHMENT.

LONDON, May 18.—The announcement of acquittal of President Johnson on the eleventh article created a profound sensation. The Times says the eleventh article was almost too vague for a substantial charge, but the vote upon it, corrects the fear of any party bias, and shows the case to have been judged on its own merits alone. The Morning Telegraph has as follows:—Dignity and decorum have marked the whole trial, and the non-removal of the President is a most fitting close. Even the most ultra Radicals will be compelled to admit this at no distant day. The Standard says:—"The Radical plot has been beaten, and the country has been saved the shame of disposing its Chief Magistrate for refusing to obey an illegal Act of Congress.

She is a neat, compact, well built boat, and above the average speed, having made the trip from Montreal in much less than the ordinary time.

THE ST. PATRICK'S ORPHAN'S BAZAAR.—In consequence of the premises in which the bazaar was held, being rented, it was found necessary to bring its affairs to a close last evening, when the raffling was continued till a late hour amidst a great deal of interest and anxiety as to who should become the possessors of the many really beautiful articles, which from the commencement have attracted general admiration. We do not yet know the exact amount realized, but we are probably not beyond the mark insetting it down as over one thousand dollars.

MEETING OF THE McGEE FUND COMMITTEE.—The Committee of the McGee Fund met yesterday at the City Hall, and made returns of what they had collected, though they had not yet finished their work, and believe that they will be able to collect a great deal more. None of the wards being anything like finished, they will continue collecting, and make their final returns at the City Hall, Monday, at eleven o'clock a.m. The returns made yesterday were as follows: Victoria Ward—Collectors: Hon. James Skead and Mr. O'Connor, $93.32; Ald. Rochester and Cunninghan, $50.25; from Mr. Cambie, $5 00—$148.57. Wellington Ward—Collectors: Messrs. Jas. Cotton and A. Duff, $107.00; H. McCormick and Ald. Hunter, $84 25—$191.25. By-ward—Collectors: Messrs. P. A. Eagleson, Caldwell and Traversy, $136.05. St. George's Ward—Collectors: Ald. Mosgrove and A. Rowe, $86.75. Ottawa Ward—Collectors: Ald. Goulden and Robinson, $8 00—$570.62. We shall probably be enabled in a few days to give the result of the canvass in the departments, which we have reason to believe will be something handsome.

THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION.—The Municipal Committee appointed at the last meeting of the City Council to make arrangements for the due celebration of the Queen's Birthday, met yesterday and agreed upon the following programme: The military, including all the volunteers, to parade in front of the Parliament Buildings, and fire the usual feu de joie at 12 o'clock, noon. At 2 o'clock a grand parade of the Fire Brigade will take place in front of the City Hall, whence they will march in procession through the principal streets. At the same hour, 2 o'clock, there will be a Lacrosse match between the Union club of Ottawa and the Prescott club. At 7:30 o'clock p.m., the Fire Brigade will have a torch-light procession, starting from opposite the Canadian Institute, marching up Sussex to Spark's street; up Spark's street to the upper-town market, and back through Wellington street to the City Hall, and dismiss. At nine o'clock a grand display of fire-works will take place on the north-east corner of Paliament Hill, to be viewed by spectators on Major's Hill, where the display will be seen to the greatest advantage. Should any additions be made to the above programme, we shall give due notice of the same.

MESSRS. YOUNG & RADFORD having secured the services of first-class working jewellers in etruscan, filagree, plain, fancy and solid gold work, and having made large additions to their work shop are now better prepared to execute any orders with which they may be entrusted than heretofore. Masonic jewels gold and silver medals, and every kind of gold and silver work done on the shortest possible notice. Remember the place, 30 Sparks-st., and encourage home manufacture.

—Doctor Copland, a high authority in medicine, speaking of the causes of dyspepsia, remarks that "there can be no doubt that the use of tobacco, which has been lately increasing to an alarming extent, is one of the most frequent causes of this disease, notwithstanding what is often said of its harmlessness." The Doctor also refers to the habits of opium-eating and rum-drinking, but says not a word, for he could not, of Italian Bitters.

The Florence Nightingale of the Nursery.—The following is an extract from a letter written by the Rev. C. Z. Weizer, to the German Reformed Messenger, at Chambersburg, Penn.:

A BENEFACTRESS.—Just open the door for her, and Mrs. WINSLOW will prove the American Nightingale of the Nursery. Of this we are sure, that we will teach our "SUSY" to say "A Blessing Mrs. Winslow," for helping her to survive a escape the griping, colicking and teething ge We confirm every word set forth in the prospectus It performs precisely what it professes to perform, every part of it—nothing less. Away with your "Cordial," "Paregoric," "Drops," "Laudanum," and every other "Narcotic," by which the babe is drugged into stupidity, and rendered dull and idiotic for life.

We have never seen Mrs. Winslow—know her onl through the preparation of her "Soothing Syrup for Children Teething." If we had the power, we would make her, as she is, a physical saviour to the infant race. 25 cents a bottle. Sold by all druggists. Be sure and call for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup." Having the fac-simile of "CURTIS & PERKINS" on the outside wrapper. All others are base imitations. 709d14w2m

To Consumptives.—The advertiser, having been restored to health in a few weeks by a very simple remedy, after having suffered for several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease Consumption, is anxious to make known to his fellow-sufferers the means of cure.

To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge), with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a SURE CURE for CONSUMPTION, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, COUGHS, COLDS, and all Throat and Lung Affections. The only object of the advertiser in sending the Prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and spread information which he conceives to be invaluable, and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing. Parties wishing the prescription, FREE, by return mail, will please address,

Mothers Read This!—Holloway's Worm Lozenges are a certain and safe remedy for Worms in Children and Adults.—As it is a well-known and melancholy fact that one great cause of death among children is from Worms alone, it cannot be too deeply impressed upon the minds parents the necessity of closely watching their children. By so doing; and understanding he symptoms and true cause of the disease, thousands of children might be saved from early graves. SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.—The following are a few of the very numerous symptoms and diseases which are caused by Worms: deranged appetite, emaciated extremities, offensive breath frequent picking at the nose, grinding of the teeth during sleep, hardness of the belly, with frequent slimy stools, and sometimes convulsive fits; itching of the arms, pain in the head and stomach, unquiet sleep, faintings, tremblings, coughs, indigestion low spirits, frightful dreams, and a gradual waisting away of flesh.

They are palatable and self-administered to th child—drive out the worms thoroughly without pain and completely cleanse the stomach—thereby doing away with the necessity of administering Casto Oil or other unpleasant cathartics—as in the use of other Worms.

Each box contains the fac-simile signature of NORTHROP & LYMAN, Newcastle, C.W., who are he sole proprietors.

N.B. Ask for Holloway's Worm Lozenges and take no other. Sold by all the druggists in Ottawa, and medicine deale eve where. 578y

PASSPORTS FOR NATURALIZED SUBJECTS.

DOMINION OF CANADA.

Copy.
Circular.

DOWNING-STREET,
25th April, 1867.

SIR,—With reference to the Circular Despatch from this Department dated the 5th of June, 1866, relative to the case of Foreigners naturalized in any of Her Majesty's Colonies who wish to obtain British Passports for foreign travel—I have the honor to inform you that different cases have occurred lately in which such naturalized Foreigners have applied in this country for passports without being in possession either of a Passport from the Governor or of any Official Document from the Colony to establish their identity and character. You will readily perceive that this is calculated to embarrass this Department, and also to cause much private inconvenience to the persons concerned if they should find themselves unable to produce any sufficient evidence of their quality.

I have therefore to suggest that, in every Colony containing naturalized Foreigners who are likely to travel in Europe, it would be convenient that notice should from time to time be given in public newspapers of the necessity for such persons providing themselves before leaving the Colony with some official evidence of their identity and description.

I have the honor to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient
Humble servant,
Signed, BUCKINGHAM & CHANDOS

The Officer Administering
the Government, &c., &c., &c.

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE,
Ottawa, 8th May, 1868.

(With reference to the foregoing Circular Despatch.)

Notice is hereby given that parties requiring Passports must apply, until further notice, to this Department, transmitting at the same time a certificate of identity, accompanied in each case with a description of the applicant, signed by a Justice of the Peace and also the fee of one dollar.

H. L. LANGEVIN,
Secretary.

Among the most important of modern Medical Discoveries stands the

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER

Side, Back and Head, Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Sprains, Bruises, Cramps in the Stomach, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery, Bowel Complaints, Burns, Scalds, Frost Bites, &c., &c.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER HAS now been before the public for a length of time, and wherever used is well liked, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single case of dissatisfaction where the directions are properly followed; but on the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its virtues and magical effects.

We speak from experience in this matter, having tested it thoroughly, and therefore those who are suffering from any of the complaints for which it is recommended may depend upon its being a Sovereign Remedy.

The astonishing efficacy of the Canadian Pain Destroyer, in curing diseases for which it is recommended, and its wonderful success in subduing the torturing pains of Rheumatism, and in relieving Nervous Affections, entitle it to a high rank in the list of Remedies for these complaints. Orders are coming in from Medicine Dealers in all parts of the country for further supplies, and each testifying as to the universal satisfaction it gives

The Canadian Pain Destroyer never fails to give immediate relief. All Medicine Dealers keep it; Physicians order and use it; and no family will be without it after once trying it.

Price twenty-five cents per bottle.

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864,

AND AMENDMENTS THEREOF.

In the matter of WILLIAM N. BARRIE and JOHN McMARTIN, Insolvents.

BY virtue of the power vested in me as Assignee of the estate and effects of the above named Insolvents, and also under and by virtue of an order made by James Daniell, Esquire, Judge of the County Court of the United Counties of Prescott and Russell in that behalf, I will on THURSDAY, the twenty-sixth day of June next, offer or sale by Public Auction, at the hour of ten o'clock, in the forenoon of the said day, at the office of Messrs. Morland, Watson and Company, in the City of Montreal, all the real estate and interest of the said Insolvent John McMartin, of and in the lands and premises in the Township of North Plantagenet, and County of Prescott, and Province of Ontario, hereinafter particularly mentioned and described. That is to say:

1st. All the real estate, interest and equity of redemption of the said John McMartin of what nature or kind soever, whether as devisee under the will of Alexander McMartin, deceased, or otherwise, of and in lot number nine, (9) in the fourth (4th) concession, old survey of the said Township of Plantagenet, East of the South Nation River.

2nd. All the real estate, interest and equity of redemption of the said John McMartin, of what nature and kind soever, whether as devisee under the will of the said Alexander McMartin, deceased, or otherwise, of and in Lot Number Ten (10), in the Fourth (4th) Concession, old survey of the said Township East of the South Nation River.

The said two lots are supposed to contain together 399 acres more or less.

3rd. All the real estate and interest and equity of redemption of the said John McMartin, of what nature and kind sover, either in his own right, or as devisee under the will of the said Alexander McMartin, deceased, or otherwise, howsoever, of and in that part of Lot Eleven, (11) in the said Fourth (4th) Concession, old survey of the said Township of North Plantagenet, known as McMartin's Saw Mills, with the privileges and appurtenances to the same belonging. Also of and in the premises known as the old Store, the large Store House the large stable and premises connected therewith, also of and in the Dwelling House now occupied by the said John McMartin, and the outbuildings therewith connected, and lying and being in the Village of Plantagenet Mills aforesaid.

The said several premises will be sold subject to the several mortgages charged upon same, and the said mill and mill premises and other the premises last mentioned with their appurtenances, will be sold subject to the interest of the said Insolvents as copartners or of either of them therein, under the partnership articles the lease therein mentioned or otherwise howsoever at the time of their insolvency for the residue of the unexpired term of fifteen years from the 1st day of December, 1865, and to the mortgages thereon.

There is a rent of one dollar annually, payable during said term to the said John McMartin as devisee thereof, under the will of the said Alexander McMartin.

Terms—Cash.

For further particulars apply to Edward Taylor Dartnell, Esquire, L'Orignal, Solicitor for the Assignee, or to the Assignee.

Dated at L'Orignal, this 23rd day of April A.D., 1868.

The Ottawa Times

TUESDAY, MAY 19, 1868.

His Excellency the Governor-General will come to the Parliament Buildings on Friday, to sanction the Bills and formally prorogue Parliament.

The Senate meets to-day at eleven o'clock, in order to expedite the despatch of business.

We understand that the officers commanding the Volunteers have received instructions to hold their respective commands in readiness for frontier service at any moment. This is merely a precautionary measure, for which there is, no doubt, good grounds; but the very fact of the country being in a state of preparation is about the best guarantee that it will not be molested. It was mainly on the ground that we should maintain a shew of force to repel force, that we remonstrated the other day against the withdrawal of the troops from the Western Peninsula, and we trust now that the knowledge of the fact that our Volunteers hold themselves ready for any emergency, will not be without its influence in deterring marauders from crossing our borders.

Yesterday the Committee to which was referred the petition of Col. Denison, of Toronto, in relation to the seizure and detention of the Georgian at Collingwood, in 1865, reported to the effect that though the Government may have been warranted in making the seizure, there was no just foundation for the belief that the vessel was being fitted out for raiding purposes, and that Col. Denison had lost during the season upwards of $4,000 by the loss of the vessel's service, and the expense to which he had been put in endeavouring to secure her release. The vessel was held from the 7th of April to the end of November, so that the whole season was utterly lost to the owner. The evidence in the case is very voluminous, but the facts may be stated in a few words. The notorious Hynes, of yellow fever notoriety, swore to the affidavit on which the vessel was held, though she had been previously seized on other information. The testimony furnished by Colonel Denison shows conclusively that there was no intention to use the vessel for other than purely commercial purposes, and it seems therefore only a matter of simple justice, that he should be re-imbursed for his loss. From the report of the Committee, which was founded on a careful consideration of the whole case, we believe that the Government cannot honestly refuse to pay the claim, the reasonableness of which has been so fully proved.

The Toronto Globe has been consoled by the receipt of a letter from "Catholicus," which, with its usual modesty, it publishes. The grateful writer not only speaks for himself, but for the whole Province. He says:

> "Dear Sir,—The Irish Catholics of Ontario must feel sincerely thankful for your generous and manly vindication of their character as a body from the taint of Fenianism in that article of yesterday's Globe, headed 'Fenian arrests.'"

This, we think, is being thankful for very small favors. What the Globe valiantly did was to proclaim that the "mass of Roman Catholics" were not tainted with Fenianism, and that "their opinions" would not lead "many" of them to disturb the peace! and for this they must be sincerely thankful!

Had anyone assailed the Catholic body, or accused the "mass" of them with the "taint" from the imputation of which the Globe undertook to vindicate them, we could readily have understood that its defence might have called for an acknowledgment. But wherein the course of the Globe was "generous and manly," or even honest, regarding the matter, we utterly fail to perceive. It most unfairly attempted to convey the impression that the Government "organs" were hounding on the authorities in making indiscriminate arrests, and then pretended to champion the cause of Irishmen against the "panic-stricken journalists." There may be in this something "generous and manly," but we look upon it as transparent clap-trap.

The writer of the letter quoted, after alluding to the annoyances to which he says the Irish Catholics have been subjected for the past few years, concludes his letter with the following significant passage:—

> "And now, after all this charitable blowing, after all this annoyance and pain, what does a thorough search and investigation result in? Only a few live Fenians in the whole Dominion, and these ignorant and easily influenced by knaves. Surely of this big thing it may be said—'Montes parturiunt et ridiculus mus nascitur.'"

And so in the eyes of this much-be-pained "Catholicus," "the thorough search and investigation" has but emulated the "mountain in labor"—the "bigthing" is, in his view, but a farce. Surely it was no "Catholic" who penned such a passage, and no loyal man who conceived the sentiment it conveys. The Globe, by airing such notions, will undoubtedly assist in confirming the "mistrust" of which the writer complains; but it seems odd that a paper which a month ago called aloud upon the authorities to "put down" Fenianism, should now lend its columns to the ridicule of the investigation which has been conducted so skilfully, and with so much apparent success, up to the present time. Not a single rash step has been taken, of which the public has been made aware, and it is too soon to speak of the "result" of an enquiry which is not yet closed, especially since many of the revelations to which it has led have not been communicated to the public.

Carpets and House Furnishings.—Garland Mutchmor & Co. make this department a speciality. They have just received a large stock and invite the attention of parties furnishing to it. Purchasers will find their tock in this department second to none in Ottawa 582-y

The editor of the St. John, N.B., News thus sets himself right with respect to certain references to his journal made by our correspondents:—

> "Confederate" and "Examiner," who are now waging a newspaper war on the route question in Ottawa, have mixed this journal up with their quarrel—one of them most unjustly. It occurred, in this wise: "Examiner" made a quotation from the News, and "Confederate," in order to destroy its force, resorted to the use of the following language, previously applied by a writer dealing with another paper in this section. The objectionable words read thus:—
> "Is it the same paper as which a 'True "New Brunswicker' writes in the Times of the '6th as a venal paper, which has been pur- 'chased.'
> "Confederate's" employment of the calumnious accusation against the News, whether by implication, as in the present instance, or openly, is without warrant and savors too much of cunning malignity to entitle the user to much consideration at our hands.
> Subsequently, in an explanation forced from "Confederate" by his opponent, the following appeared:
> "Comparisons are so odious, I will not remark upon his misconstruction of what I said about a certain newspaper, any further than to say that the term venal was applied by a best writer friend of 'Examiner,' and I, in this, nor in any other instance, have not applied one single unfriendly epithet to any man, body of men, or institution, except so far as my friendly advice and remarks, and kindly advice to 'Examiner,' have being misconstued."
> This explanation is but the iteration of another falsehood. The language quoted, as used, originally, was not applied to the News. "Confederate" cannot, therefore, lay the blame of its present obnoxious use at the door of another. His attempt to do so, is a proof of dishonesty which will detract very much from the character for fairness which it was thought he had established for himself in the early part of his short political career.

Mr. A. L. Spedon, of Chateauguay County, is at present in the city, offering for sale an extersting little work entitled "Sketches of a tour from Canada to Paris by way of the British Isles, during the summer of 1867." It is a book of some two hundred and forty pages, and is written in a very pleasing style. It has just been issued from the press of Mr. Lovell, and the last few pages contain a well written poem on the death of the Hon. Thomas D'Arcy McGee, with whom the author was first brought into contact in 1857, Mr. McGee having in that year favorably reviewed "The Woodland Warbler," which was the first of Mr. Spedon's publications. The reading community of Ottawa will, we hope, give the "sketches" a liberal patronage.

Mr. Bureau's "Hand Book to the Parliamentary and Departmental Buildings" was so favorably received in November last, that the first edition was speedily exhausted and a second has just been issued from the press of Mr. Desbarats. There is such a mass of valuable information in this little volume, that, no doubt, this second edition will soon be exhausted by the public. It is sold for twenty-five cents per copy. In addition to the information concerning the Government offices and the Legislature, it contains a plan of the city, a sketch of the Ottawa valley; postal and savings bank regulations; game and fishery laws of Ontario and Quebec, &c., &c.

LOCAL NEWS.

New hoop skirts just received by Magee and Russell.

New Dominion Base Ball Club.—A meeting of the members of this club will be held at the Skating Rink, this afternoon, at eight o'clock p. m, to make arrangements for a match on the 25th instant.

Fine coral jewellery, bog oak jewellery and a large collection of other goods suitable for wedding and other presents can be seen at Young & Radford's; all new and choice goods and will be sold cheap.

New Edinburgh Church Concert.—We are glad to learn that the proceeds of the concert, lately given at the Theatre, in aid of the Building Fund of the new church in New Edinburgh, amount to about three hundred and forty dollars, which is more than was expected.

Painful Accident.—A man named Stewart who resides on Clarence street, in this city, being engaged at Leamy's mill, was walking over some floating saw logs the other day, when he accidentally fell between them, and badly broke one of his legs.

A Man Missing.—On Sunday evening last, as we are informed, the man whose duty it was to oil the machinery in Eddy's mill, at the Chaudiere, went on his ordinary duties in the lower part of the building, and has not since been heard of. The machinery was stopped on Monday, and every search made, but all to no purpose. No one has seen or can imagine what has become of him, and the fear is that he is drowned.

Honor to whom Honor is Due.—In our remarks yesterday on the Rifle Range, we stated that the improvements had been carried out by a number of men of the Rifle Brigade, under the supervision of a Board, composed of Majors Anderson, Grant and Ross, and reflect much credit upon both officers and workmen. We have since found out that the Board was composed of Major Forrest, President, and Major Anderson and Grant, members, and did not include Major Ross.

Base Ball.—The game of base ball having been introduced into the "Capital," through the exertions of Mr. R. Wood, the worthy president, with the assistance of Mr. Cohr, it is the intention, on the celebration of the Queen's Birthday, to give all parties an opportunity of witnessing this game. In the afternoon a grand match will be played, behind the Skating Rink, between the clubs, which will be well worth seeing, as some capital play may be expected.

A Runaway.—A horse with a buggy attached, was seen running at an easy gait yesterday without any one to guide him, having probably started from some place where he was left, standing longer than suited his inclination. Knowing where he was often fed, however, he increased his speed as he neared the stables of the Union Hotel, into which he dashed, buggy and all, without having killed anybody or anybody's child on the way.

Before Mr. Langrell.—Annie Whelan was brought before Mr. Langrell yesterday, charged with vagrancy, having been found about the outskirts of the city. She had a little while before left jail and promised to leave this neighborhood. She was sent to hard labour for one month with the assurance that next time she would get two months.—Patrick O'Donnell was charged with using scandalous language towards his own daughter, Mrs. Fletcher, and was fined $2 and costs.

A Horse Swam Across Grand River.—Yesterday morning Mr. Archambeault being on the bank of the river in Lower Town, saw a horse swimming from the Hull side of the river towards this city, and waited for his arrival. He succeeded in making good his landing, when Mr. Archambeault took him in charge and walked him about a little while to get him warm, for he was very much chilled, and after a while gave him feed. The horse is supposed to belong to Mr. McGarr, at Hull, and can be heard from by enquiring of the finder, or of Police Sergeant Brown.

A New Work.—We have seen the prospectus of a new work, a collection of minor poems, to be shortly issued from the press in London and Montreal, from the accomplished and versatile pen of Mr. Charles Mair, of Perth, Ontario. Mr. Mair, as the author of many fugitive pieces which have appeared in the Canadian periodical and newspaper press, has stamped himself as a writer of no ordinary or second rate power; and we cordially wish his first volume all the success which we are sure it will undoubtedly merit.

Major's Hill.—The Rifle Brigade Band will play the following programme on the Major's Hill to-day, from 3:30 to 5:30 p. m.:—

1 March. All the Rage, or Not for Joe. Riviere
2 Overture........Le Macon.......Auber
3 Waltz.........Silver Chimes.........Coote
4 Operatic Selection. Mose in Egitto. Rossini
5 Quadrille. Les Fleurs du Printemps. Hartung
6 Serio Comic Fantasia.. Echoes of the Night ..Riviere.
7 Galop.....Feuer und Flamme.....Faust
The Rifle Brigade Marches.
National Anthem.

Police Court.—Mary Mackie was charged with being drunk on the street. This is the old woman who some weeks ago, being brought up on a similar charge, delivered her opinion in court to the effect that so long as the law allowed liquor to be sold prisoners would always be found in the court and in jail, because many were unable to resist the temptations to drink too much. She has verified her own prediction, and was sent for a week to jail.—Two trifling cases of assault against Mr. and Mrs. Custis were tried, one of which was dismissed, and the other visited with a fine of $1 and costs.

The Health of the City.—The health of the city is at present good, and this fact is no doubt in a great measure to be attributed to the vigilance of the police in enforcing the law according to the Mayor's proclamation, and the very laudable efforts in the same direction of the Board of Health. It would be well, however, if the authorities would refrain from setting such an example as is presented in the hay market, where a heap of manure is thrown against the house, close under the windows of a private person, and who if the same were actually on his premises, would, long before this, have been fined and compelled to remove it. Let the police have the courage to bring up and fine the corporation for the nuisance. Fiat Justicia, &c.

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY ROUTE.

To the Editor of THE TIMES.

Sir,—I should be wanting as well in respect to myself as to your readers, were I to enter upon any lengthy answer to the ill-mannered letter of "Examiner" in your issue of this date. Such scurrility will not much advance his claims as to "birth, standing, and character as a man." There are just two points which I will notice. "Examiner" seems very anxious that proper names should appear, and is very brave in his challenges to me, who have claimed it as my highest honor that I can call myself a "New Brunswicker."

"Examiner" says: "I again challenge him to assume the name he appears to be ashamed of, and I pledge myself to make good my former assertion, that "New Brunswicker," "Ontario," "Nova Scotian," &c., are one and the same person under different disguises, but these are so thin and flimsy, that they are easily to be seen through."

Now, sir, I deny that the writers over the above named signatures are "one and the same person." I charge him with direct falsehood in making the assertion, and I pledge myself that if he will make good his pledge of giving, or of bringing positive evidence to justify that assertion over his real name, that then I will give my real name. My arguments on the question at issue, so far as the public are concerned, stand upon their own merits, and cannot be affected by my name. The other point is here: "Examiner" assumes that any but a Northern route is, and has been, ignored by the Imperial Government. I have shown when, and how, the agitation of an Intercolonial railroad originated, and that it grew out of, and superceded a proposition to build an Imperial military common road, through the centre of New Brunswick. I now give you a few short extracts from a speech of Mr. Under-Secretary Adderly, in the House of Commons, England, on the 28th of March, 1867. Mr. Adderly, after referring to Major Robinson's survey, and that engineer's "preference on grounds principally military, for what was called the Eastern line, which was the longest," goes on to say: "He believed the intention of Lord Grey was that this country should not only guarantee the line, but undertake the work itself. We had now different views of our relations to the colonies, and the colonies had taken a much more spirited view of their own responsibilities." He then goes on to state that now all that was asked of the Imperial Government was a guarantee for the interest. After giving a sketch of the various negotiations which had been considered by the Imperial Government at various times, Mr. Adderly proceeds: "Without this line for six months in the year, the inland portion of the Confederation would be entirely cut off from communication with the sea; and this country could not use it for the passage of troops, while the long line of frontier would be in an absolute defenceless condition." How could "the long line of frontier" be made defensible by the road going north? And again he said, showing the change in the position of the Imperial Government with regard to route. "The late Government were enabled to stipulate that Parliament should not be called upon to legislate until the line of railway was actually fixed, whereas, under existing circumstances, it was necessary that Parliament should assent to the conditions required of them before they could know which of the THREE proposed lines was to be adopted." "When the new Parliament of Canada assembled, they would form a judgment as to which of the THREE surveyed lines it would be best to carry out, and would then refer their decision to Her Majesty for her approval." Thus the decision of the line was virtually left to the Canadian Parliament. Mr. Adderly said: "The line involving the largest expenditure in its construction, was the Eastern line, running on the borders of the St. Lawrence."

Mr. Aytown, following Mr. Adderly, said "The line was not fixed upon, because the Parliament of Canada—that was to meet next year—was to fix upon the line to be adopted.

Reference has been made to Mr. Wilkinson's observations on Major Robinson's report. And the Major's reply, but "Examiner" says nothing about Mr. Wilkinson's subsequent letter, from which I quoted the other day, and which I observe, is, shortly to be printed for the House of Commons. I trust all these documents will be thoroughly studied.

I am, Sir, yours,
"A New Brunswicker."

Bog Oak Jewellery.—Very handsome sets of bog oak jewellery can be had at Young & Radford's, at $1 per set.

—Juries in England have some privileges not yet accorded in this country. In a recent case at Chester, a bill of £5 for liquor and cigars consumed by the jurors was allowed by the court. At a late session in this city a juror was peremptorily refused a glass of Gianelli's Bitters.

Messrs. Young & Radford having secured the services of first-class working jewellers in etruscan, filagree, plain, fancy and solid gold work, and having made large additions to their work shop are now better prepared to execute any orders with which they may be entrusted than heretofore. Masonic jewels gold and silver medals, and every kind of goid and silver work done on the shortest possible notice. Remember the place, 30 Sparks-st., and encourage home manufacture.

THE CANADIAN PARLIAMENT.

1st PARLIAMENT. 1st SESSION.

THE SENATE.

Friday, May 15, 1868.

The SPEAKER took the chair at three o'clock.

After routine,

Hon. Mr. HAMILTON (Kingston) reported from Committee on Commerce and Railways to whom was referred the Bill, intituled "An Act to incorporate the Canada Shipping Company," that they ordered him to report the same without amendment. Same ordered to be read a third time to-morrow.

Hon. Mr. ALLAN from Standing Orders and Private Bills Committee reported, "That having examined the petition of the Canada Vine Growers' Association," praying for certain amendments in their Act of Incorporation, and found that no notice has been given; but as no other interest than those of said company are likely to be affected, your Committee beg leave to recommend that the rule relative to notice be suspended in this case. Ordered said report to be adopted.

The Bill intituled "An Act to annex a portion of the Seigniory of Belair to the County of Quebec, and another portion thereof to the County of Portneuf," was reported from same Committee and read a third time, and passed without amendment.

Also "An Act to confirm a certain By-law passed by the Directors of the Lake Memphremagog Navigation Company, and for other purposes," was reported from same Committee, read a third time and passed without any amendment.

Hon. Mr. CHAPAIS presented to the House a Bill intituled "An Act respecting Trade Marks and Industrial Designs."

"An Act to incorporate the Merchants' Express Company of the Dominion of Canada," was reported from the Committee on Standing Orders and Private Bill with several amendments, which Bill as amended was then read a third time and passed.

The Governor-General communicated to the Senate the despatch received from the Secretary of State for the colonies, in answer to the address voted to Her Majesty the Queen, on the 18th day of December, 1867, which was referred to the Joint Committee on the printing of Parliament.

An Act to declare certain persons therein mentioned, indemnified for having sat and voted as members of the House of Commons, while having certain offices under the Crown, was read a first time, and ordered for a second reading at next sitting.

An Act respecting the Consolidated Revenue Fund, was read a first time, and ordered for a second reading at the next sitting of the House.

An Act respecting offences against the person, was read a first time, and ordered to be read a second time at the next sitting of the House.

An Act respecting the duties of Justices of the Peace out of sessions, in relation to persons charged with indictable offences, was read a first time, and ordered for a second reading to-morrow.

A message was received from the House of Commons returning Bills intituled,

An Act respecting the Department of Inland Revenue, and

An Act respecting the Department of Customs, that they have agreed to the amendments in the Bills, without amendment.

Also a message returning the Bill intituled,

An Act for the organization of the Department of Agriculture, and that they had passed the same without amendment.

Hon. Mr. RYAN moved, seconded by Hon. Mr. FERRIER, to resolve that an humble address be presented to His Excellency the Governor-General, praying that His Excellency would be pleased:

1st. To call the attention of Her Majesty's Government to the provisions of the Imperial Act 9th and 10th Vict., cap. 95, by which power is given to Her Majesty to approve of any Act passed by the Legislature of any British possession, admitting into such possession foreign reprints of British copyright works, provided that reasonable protection to the authors is, in Her Majesty's opinion, thereby secured to them.

2nd. To impress upon Her Majesty's Government the justice and expediency of extending the privileges granted by the above cited Act, so that whenever reasonable provision and protection shall, in Her Majesty's opinion, be secured to the authors, colonial reprints of British copyright works shall be placed on the same footing as foreign reprints in Canada, by which means British authors will be more effectually protected in their rights, and a material benefit will be conferred on the printing industry of the Dominion.—Carried.

And ordered, that such members of the Privy Council as are members of this House, do wait on His Excellency the Governor-General with the said address.

Pursuant to the order of the day, the Bill intituled, "An Act respecting persons in custody, charged with high treason and felony," was read a third time and passed.

GOVERNOR GENERAL'S SALARY.

An Act to fix the Governor-General's salary, was read a third time and passed, on a division.

The Acts respecting the inspection of steamboats, and for the greater safety of passengers by them, was read a third time and passed.

An Act respecting the Civil Service of Canada, was read a third time and passed.

An Act respecting larceny and other similar offences, was partly passed through Committee of the Whole, (Hon. Mr. McCREA in the chair), progress reported, and leave granted to sit again at the next meeting of the House.

An Act respecting cruelty to animals, was read a first time, and ordered to be read a second time to-morrow.

An Act respecting the prompt and summary Administration of Justice in certain cases, was read a first time; second reading to-morrow.

An Act respecting the trial and punishment of of juvenile offenders, was read a first time, and ordered for a second reading tomorrow.

It being six o'clock, the House then adjourned until 7½ o'clock p m.

After Recess.

AN ACT RESPECTING LARCENY.

Pursuant to the order of the day the House went into Committee of the Whole, on a Bill, intituled "An Act respecting larceny and other similar offences."

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL remarked that it had been said all these Bills on the criminal law had been copied from the statutes of England, and it had been intimated that laws which were proper in a populous country like England, were not proper here, because the rights of property were not so strictly looked upon. He could inform them that the greatest care had been taken to strike out everything that was not adapted to this country. It was not a complete adaptation of the English laws, but these Bills were prepared after a careful examination of them and an adaptation of those portions which were applicable to Canada. The provision relating to stealing pigeons had been pointed out, and it had been said there was no use in having a law on a subject so trifling. He knew a pair of pigeons, in Toronto, said to be worth $80, and there were many fanciers of particular breeds, who believe a pair of pigeons may be worth $100. The law is intended to apply to house pigeons, and it is no unreasonable thing to say a person shall be punished for stealing them. Then the same objection had been taken to a provision of the Bill, making it criminal to steal oysters. That was intended to apply to Quebec and the Maritime Provinces, and it applied not to oysters in general, but to oyster beds, which had been planted. After a man has spent his time and labor in planting an oyster bed there is no reason why he should not be protected. Another objection has been taken to the provision of the Bill relating to saplings and small shrubs. That is not anything new in the laws of Canada, and it was very desirable to have some criminal law to protect that kind of property. He thought if there were any defects in the law they should let experience teach them what those defects were, because without any practical experience of their working they would not be in any better position next Session to legislate upon them than they were now. These Bills were the fruit of seven or eight years' attention to this subject by a commission of eminent men in England, and they were considered as safe a starting point as we could get for the preparation of criminal laws. No matter what course we take we cannot legislate upon this subject from our own knowledge. In a matter involving so much study we must trust somebody else to prepare those Bills, and it could not very well be undertaken by a committee of our own House. It had been said that similar legislation in reference to the Bankruptcy Law had been taken by a committee of the other House, but there a particular member had taken a particular interest in the subject, and in that way the Bill had been prepared. These Bills must be taken upon the responsibility of the Government, and we must wait until experience teaches us what changes are necessary before we build theories upon them in advance of their practical working. The object in having so many separate provisions was in order to be able to refer to them, item by item, in subsequent legislation. This was far better than to consolidate them in advance, because it was only after having experience in the working of the law that we can find out what is imperfect or deficient, and then we can perfect and consolidate the whole scheme.

Hon. Mr. McCULLY said that allowing his hon. friend's arguments to be sound, they ought not to send down to the Maritime Provinces a Code of Criminal Law which not a single professional man in those Provinces would know anything about. He knew what the answer would be if he went down to Nova Scotia and attempted to induce the people to accept some of those clauses. The genius of the people of that Province would revolt if we attempted to introduce them. The whole of the criminal law is severe to an extent we have long since abandoned. We look to the neighboring Republic for an example in these laws, instead of to those old severe punishments which were formerly in operation in England. It would be far better to have these Bills remain over until next Session, and then we would have time during the early part of the Session to go through them clause by clause. It was not fair that the people of the Maritime Provinces should have these laws placed upon them, without their representatives having time to consider them at all. There is one provision of the law making rape a capital offence, for which a man is liable to be hung. This severe punishment for that offence has been banished out of our laws and the laws of England for many years. Why are these severe laws required? For the most trivial offences men are to be sentenced to hard labor, in jail, for a period less than two years. There was not a jail in the Maritime Provinces adapted for hard labor.

Hon. Mr. MITCHELL said his hon. friend must not make the assertion that there were no jails adapted for hard labor in the Maritime Provinces.

Hon. Mr. McCULLY said he meant there were no such jails in Nova Scotia.

Hon. Mr. WILMOT said there were none in the country districts of New Brunswick.

Hon. Mr. McCULLY said if every one convicted of these small offences were to be confined in jail for such a length of time, the jails would be filled with these people. This would increase the county expenses, and taxation would thereby be increased all over the Province. It is well known that a hostile feeling against Confederation has been produced in Nova Scotia by the Stamp Act and Newspaper Postage, but if they pass a Bill to confine men in jail for two years for these trivial offences it will produce a state of feeling there which will astonish every one. In reference to the remarks made about the value of pigeons he said that not long since he had purchased the place where he now resided, and he had found some thirty or forty pigeons. These pigeons destroyed every garden in the neighborhood, and in consequence the pigeons were killed. Under a clause of this Bill every man who touched one of those pigeons, which were a nuisance to the neighborhood, would have brought down upon himself this penal law.

Hon. Mr. SANBORN said it was plain to be seen that there was a great repugnance to accept these Bills in their present shape, but in consequence of the late period in the Session in which they were brought forward, they had no time to give them proper consideration. He thought the difficulty might be removed if the Government would consent that all these Criminal Bills, if they are passed, should not come into operation until a proclamation is issued, and have it understood that that proclamation will not be issued until after the next Session of Parliament. Then a joint Committee could be formed during the next Session of Parliament, who would be familiar with the subject; they would then have time to consider the matter fully, and those who objected to the provisions of those Bills, would have an opportunity of giving their reasons for those objections; by this means, the Committee would be able to digest a law which would be more satisfactory than a law arrived at in any other way. He was satisfied that if this law now came in force, it would be looked upon in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick with a great deal of repugnance. He then compared portions of the criminal law in the revised Statutes of New Brunswick with the proposed law, saying that these laws were more in detail than those existing in the Maritime Provinces. They were accustomed to give the general principles of their laws in a very concise manner, and that very fact would be sufficient to create a strong objection to this mode of legislating upon the subject. Their local legislation has not prepared them for these laws, and we do not know what machinery they have for carrying them out, therefore, this was one strong reason why they should not be put in force.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL said the reasons given by the hon. member, commended themselves to the House. While his hon. friend was speaking, he had taken an opportunity of consulting the Minister of Justice who has taken charge of these Bills, and in deference to the opinions expressed by hon. members of the House, he was ready to adopt the suggestion of his hon. friend from Wellington division (Mr. Sanborn), and consent that all these Bills should be passed upon the faith of the Government, who will introduce a separate Bill to provide that they shall not come in force until a proclamation is issued by the Governor in Council, after the next Session of Parliament. This will afford the Local Legislatures time to pass measures which must be necessary in order to harmonise their legislation with these Bills, while the opportunity will be afforded to the Dominion at large, to furnish suggestions for the amendment of those Bills.

Hon. Mr. LETELLIER de ST. JUST objected to aid in passing this Bill on any such understanding. If it must be changed next Session, what is the use of passing it now? There was no time left to examine this or any of these Bills, and he did not want to take any Bills on the word or opinion of any persons, even if a Minister of the Crown.

Hon. Mr. TESSIER (in French) pointed out the great dissimilarity between the laws of England and those in force in Canada. We, in the Province of Quebec, consider the English Criminal Law best, and the French Civil Law best suited to our wants and wishes. He thought the English Criminal Law the best in the world and was happy to live under its power. But he could see no necessity for this hurried legislation regarding the Criminal Law procedure in the Lower Provinces for another year. We are responsible for the laws enacted as well as the Ministry. Leave the important measures before the country for an expression of opinion, and when we meet again we will be prepared to deal with them intelligently.

Hon. Mr. CHAPAIS (in French) contended there was no risk in passing these Bills having been well and carefully prepared by the leader of the Government and the leader of the Opposition from the Province of Quebec (Messrs. Cartier and Dorion) in the other House, and they, after mature reflection and some debate, sent these Bills to this House approved of by them. The amendments can be made next Session, if required, to the portions wanting amendment, much better than if no attempt were made to pass the Bills assimilating or codifying the Criminal Laws of all the Provinces. There never was a code made complete at once, being of law so different in many parts. Then surely every member of Parliament cannot read every clause of every Bill that is passed into law, hence we all have to take certain measures on the faith of tried and trusted leaders of the parties that compose the Legislature. He could not see the force of the opposition to the passage of this and other similar Bills.

Hon. Mr. BUREAU (in French) explained the feodality for pigeons under the old French regime. But it is obsolete in Canada, and he could not now consent to its provisions being placed on our statute book. When the codifiers undertook the codification of our laws, they sent copies all over the country to get the opinions of those learned in the laws, and so we had a very complete and almost perfect code of civil laws. The English criminal law is the greatest glory and happiness of the French Canadians, who know and appreciate its many benefits and advantages. Before next Session we will have time to consider the Bill, and then deal with all these measures so as to satisfy the public and our own consciences. It is the interest of the Government to delay the final passage of the Bill, and so pass it in a form that will give full and ample satisfaction. Hasty legislation is to be deprecated, as they encumber and embarrass our system of criminal procedure.

Hon. Mr. McCULLY spoke also against forcing the Bill upon the Maritime Provinces without preparation. He was satisfied that legal men of great ability and eminence in their profession had prepared and worked at this Bill with zeal and assiduity, so as to make it a perfect measure of criminal procedure. He could not accept the responsibility of this measure. It was now too late in the Session to discuss and settle a measure of the importance of a Bill to amend, consolidate, or assimilate the laws of criminal procedure now existing in all the Provinces into one general law for the whole Dominion of Canada. This Bill, and others of a like nature, ought to be entrusted to the best legal minds of the various Provinces, and give them ample time to consider them well and arrange all the details, and not run the risk of passing an incomplete or imperfect measure on the subject of all others that requires the greatest care and diligence.

Hon. Mr. WARK also said he feared this hurried legislation would create confusion in our laws, and give great dissatisfaction, and hoped the Government would listen to the voice of this House, and defer it until the early part of next Session.

Hon. Mr. SANBORN said as there was no time in this Session to examine the Bill, and he did not wish to take measures of such great importance as this Bill on trust, he hoped the Government would listen to the reasonable wish of the House, and defer the further consideration of this Bill until the early part of next Session, when we will have ample time and leisure to discuss it in all its bearings. Great changes are often very objectionable, particularly in the public criminal laws of the land. English laws are unsuited to this country, and cannot as a general rule be imported into our prevailing systems without great danger. What we all must admit, this Bill, as well as all others of the same important character, should have been brought down earlier in the Session, and then we could have devoted the time and attention which they required before passing them. There is not an absolute want of this measure in the country until the next meeting of Parliament, and then let us take it up at once, before Bills come down to us from the other House, and discuss it in all its bearings. Surely this was reasonable. The Commons did not seem to him to have devoted all the time and attention that this measure demanded, doubtless they were so overwhelmed with work that they had appeared to pass some of it carelessly to outsiders. Though he did not say but this compilation is as perfect as possible under the circumstances, but he wanted to assure himself o this, and be able to give satisfaction to himself, as well as others, that such was the fact. He did not wish to throw the whole responsibility off this House, and put it on the shoulders of the Government. We, too, had our duties and responsibilities, as well as the Government, and he did not desire to assist in legislation that may or may not commend itself to his judgment. He, therefore, felt bound to oppose any further progress being made with this Bill, as far as he could do so.

Hon. Mr. WILMOT objected to importing the English policy into this new country. The practice was wrong in principle, and the portions of the criminal procedure attempted to be incorporated with our system here will work unsatisfactorily. Hence he thought we should have time to decide what portions of them are suited to us and our wants here in Canada, and therefore he begged the Postmaster-General to accept the proposal to defer the consideration of this and similar Bills until the House meets again.

Hon. Mr. ROSS was quite content to leave the responsibility with the Government, as they were much better qualified to prepare such a measure as the present. He knew for a fact that the best legal minds of the country had prepared this measure, and any person familiar with such measures knows well that two to five persons are as many as can assist at the same time at the same Bill. This is a very comprehensive measure, and he thought well and carefully prepared. Any defects that may be discovered in its working can be remedied hereafter when desirable. The codification of our criminal laws is a move in the right direction, and he hoped they would assist in passing the Bill, so that the country would not be deprived of its advantages any longer.

Hon. Mr. ALLAN also was desirous that the Bill should be passed this Session, and then it would call out the opinion of the judges and professional men on its working, so that if any amendments were required we could be prepared to add them next Session.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL said if the delay desired by some hon. members be granted, we shall be no farther advanced when we meet again than we are now, as it is certain no judge or jurist will say anything on the Bill unless it is passed into law and put before the courts. It is well known that our judges are so hardly worked that they have no time to study questions not submitted to them for their decision. If any defects be discovered they can be amended and remedied next Session, but if the Bill be not passed into law it is certain we shall get no suggestions affecting this Bill before it is put on our Statute Book. It has been taken for granted that this is a very crude, ill-digested bungle of legislation; nothing can be farther from the truth or the facts. Let any one examine over carefully the Bill, and he must be satisfied that a painstaking attention and marked legal ability have been expended on this Bill. As a whole he thought it a very perfect measure, though some minor isolated clauses might be amended hereafter with advantage, perhaps, but these defects (if such there be) can be remedied best after the Bill goes into force.

Hon. Mr. MACPHERSON said all Bills similar to the present have to be taken to some extent on trust, and he for one was willing to do so in this case. It was manifestly impossible for all the members to read every Bill, and if they had the time how many of them were familiar with this subject. Let us take the advantage of the present time, and then it will not be too late to amend the Bill next Session. The hon. member from Nova Scotia (Mr. McCully) always fears embarrassing the Government, but whenever they may seem to want his aid to pass any measure of importance, he is not to be found with them. He would not for one refuse his assent to the passing of this Bill.

Hon. Mr. McCREA reported the Bill with amendments, which report the House agreed to receive on Monday next.

An Act respecting riots and riotous proceedings was read a second time, passed through a Committee of the Whole, (Hon. Mr. ANDERSON in the chair), with several amendments, which were concurred in, and was then read a third time and passed.

The House then resolved itself into Committee of the Whole on the Bill, intituled "An Act respecting malicious injuries to property," (Hon. Mr. BENSON in the chair), reported the same with several amendments, which report was ordered to be received on Monday next.

An Act respecting Police of Canada, was read a second time, then passed through Committee of the Whole, (Hon. Mr. SHAW in the chair), reported without amendment, and on the suspension of the 42nd rule of the House, was read a third time and passed, and ordered to be sent down to the House of Commons to ask their concurrence to the said Bill.

An Act to incorporate the Bank of Agriculture was read a second time, and ordered to be referred to the Committee on Banking, Commerce and Railways.

An Act respecting indictable offences of forgery was read a second time, passed through Committee of the Whole, (Hon. Mr. BUREAU in the chair), reported without amendment, and ordered for a third reading on Monday.

Also, an Act respecting offences relating to coin was passed through the same stages and ordered to be read a third time on Monday.

An Act to declare certain persons, therein mentioned, indemnified for having sat and voted as members of the House of Commons while holding certain offices under the Crown, was read a second time, passed through Committee of the Whole without amendment, and ordered to be read a third time to-morrow.

An Act respecting the Consolidated Revenue Fund was read a second time, passed through Committee of the Whole without amendment, and (the 42nd rule being suspended) read a third time and passed, and ordered that the Clerk do go down to the House of Commons and acquaint that House that the Senate have passed the Bill without any amendment.

A Bill intituled "An Act to increase the excise duty on spirits, to impose an excise duty on refined petroleum, and to provide for the inspection thereof," was read a first time, and the second reading fixed for to-morrow.

Hon. Mr. CHAPAIS presented to the House a Bill, intituled "An Act respecting copyright," read a first time, and ordered for a second reading on Monday.

An Act for the release and surrender of offenders wrongfully arrested in certain cases was read a first time, second reading fixed for to-morrow.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL presented a return to an address to His Excellency the Governor-General, dated 12th inst., being a statement showing the debts of the Provinces of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick to the Dominion at the most recent date.

The House then adjourned until to-morrow at 11 o'clock, a. m.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Tuesday, May 19, 1868.

First Sitting.

The SPEAKER took the chair at eleven o'clock.

SWEARING OF WITNESSES.

The Bill to provide for Oaths to witnesses being administered in certain cases for the purposes of either House of Parliament was read a third time and passed.

INSURANCE.

Mr. ROSE'S resolutions providing for the Licensing of Insurance Companies doing business in Canada were reported from Committee, and a Bill introduced founded thereon.

INDEPENDENCE OF PARLIAMENT.

The House having gone into Committee upon the Bill for securing the farther independence of Parliament,

Hon. Mr. HOLTON contended that, so far from accomplishing the purport of its title, this Bill actually went to destroy the independence of Parliament. It admitted Sheriffs, Registrars, County Attorneys, Clerks of the Peace, and prothonotaries to hold seats in the House, and would effect the result of filling Parliament with placemen. There were two members of the House only waiting the passing of this Bill to accept office—one the office of Sheriff of Three Rivers, and the other that of prothonotary. The Minister of Militia controlled the Local Parliament of Quebec as effectually as he controlled this House.

Hon. Messrs. CHAUVEAU and DUNKIN defended the independence of the Provincial Governments.

Mr. POPE supported, and Messrs. CONNELL and PARKER opposed the Bill, which

Mr. BLAKE proposed to amend by making the first clause exclude from the House those holding temporary as well as permanent employments, putting the clause in the same position as in the old Act. To say that the clause, as it stood, was the same as in England, was not sound argument, the pecuniary circumstances of the English representatives rendering them less open to influences than it was notorious that public men here had shown themselves in times past.

Sir J. A. MACDONALD repudiated the idea that public men here were less independent than in the United Kingdom.

After some remarks from Hon. Mr. HOLTON, the amendment was put and declared lost on a division, as also were several others proposed by the same gentleman, after which the Committee rose and reported.

RIOTS NEAR PUBLIC WORKS.

The Bill respecting riots near public works having been withdrawn, the House adjourned at two o'clock.

Afternoon Sitting.

The SPEAKER took the chair at 4 o'clock

Mr. A. MORRISON presented the report of the Committee upon the petition of George T. Dennison, the younger, of Toronto, respecting the steamer Georgian.

Mr. McKENZIE, as a member of the Committee, entirely dissented from the conclusion of the Committee, that damages should be allowed, as he believed the Government was bound to detain the vessel.

Hon. J. S. MACDONALD held that the Government was bound to give its opinion on the question, as they were responsible for the facts, and would be for any payment of damages, and it ought not to be left to an irresponsible Committee.

Mr. A. MORRISON said the hon. member for Lambton had withdrawn from the Committee, and was therefore not in a position to find fault with what they had done.

VINEGROWERS' ASSOCIATION.

Mr. O'CONNOR moved that the House go into Committee on the following resolution, amended verbally at the suggestion of the Minister of Inland Revenue:

Resolved, that it is inexpedient to extend the period mentioned in the second section of the Act of the Legislature of the late Province of Canada, 29 and 30 Vic., cap. 121, for the incorporation of the Vinegrowers' Association, for a further period of two years, to commence from and after the period limited by the said section.

Mr. MAGILL said he hoped that the resolution would not pass, as it would defeat the object of the Bill, which was to encourage vine growing generally.

The motion was carried.

The House went into Committee on the resolution, rose and reported it as amended, and the Bill was then read a third time and passed.

On the motion by Sir JOHN A. MACDONALD that the House go into committee on the Act to further secure the independence of Parliament,

Mr. BLAKE moved in amendment that the Bill be referred back with instructions so to amend that sheriffs, registrars, postmasters and all other persons holding offices of profit under the Crown, be made ineligible as members of the House of Commons, except members of the Government of Canada.—Lost.

Yeas 30; Nays 66.

Yeas—Blake, Bolton, Bourassa, Burpee, Caldwell, Cheval, Coffin, Connell, Currier, Godin, Holton, Johnson, McKenzie, McCallum, Mills, Morison, (Victoria, O.,) Munroe, Oliver, Parker, Pozer, Redford, Ross, (Prince Edward,) Rymal, Scatcherd, Snider, Stirton, Wallace, Wells, White, Young—30.

Nays—Messrs. Archambeault, Ault, Bellerose, Blanchet, Bowell, Bown, Brousseau, Burton, Cameron, (Peel,) Campbell, Carling, Cartier, Cartwright, Chamberlin, Chauveau, Cimon, Daoust, Desaulniers, Drew, Dufresne, Dunkin, Ferguson, Fortin, Gaucher, Gaudet, Gendron, Gray, Grover, Howland, Huot, Irvine, Keeler, Kirkpatrick, Langevin, Langlois, Lapum, Lawson, Little, Macdonald, (Cornwall,) Macdonald, Sir J. A. (Kingston,) Macdonald, (Middlesex,) Magill, Masson, (Soulanges,) Masson, (Terrebonne,) McCarthy, McDougall, McGreevy, McMillan,

Hon. Mr. MACDOUGALL moved an amendment by attaching the office of patents to the Bureau of Agriculture, and that the Minister of Agriculture be Commissioner of Patents.

The amendment was carried.

The Bill then passed through the Committee, and after a very long discussion as to the forms of the House and the urgency of the measure, the Bill as amended received its several stages, except the last, which was ordered for the next sitting.

The House then adjourned at twenty-five minutes past 2 o'clock.

MR. FORTIN'S SPEECH ON THE FISHERIES.

Mr. P. FORTIN said, before this Bill is read for the third time, he had some remarks to offer to the House. When he spoke on the second reading of the Bill, he said he approved its several clauses with few exceptions; he had some amendments to suggest, when the Bill came before the House in Committee, but on the assurance that what he wanted to remedy could be done by an order in council, he would let it pass. There was an omission in the Bill; it was the clauses of the Bill of 1859, which have established a bounty in favor of fishing vessels. The bounty had had good results during the few years that it had lasted; and the whole Maritime population would feel dissatisfied, when it would come to the knowledge that the bounty was abolished. The remarks that he had made on the second reading of the Bill had been answered by the Hon. the Minister of Finance in a very polite and genteel manner, but not to the satisfaction of the fishermen. The Maritime population of Canada had always been in favor of Confederation, not that they expected to receive the money of the country, but they expected that it would develop all the resources of the country, and especially the Maritime element. But what was their position now? They labor under disadvantage rather than otherwise. The bounty was taken away, and they receive nothing in return; and our fishermen had to compete in our own waters with American fishermen who had received the bounty for nearly sixty years, and who, by this means, had been enabled to build up a fishing fleet of 1,000 vessels, and more, I may say, the best equipped in the world. Could we expect our people to have any chance under such circumstances? No. The advantage was all on the side of our neighbors. Add to this the want of protection to our sea coast fisheries, from the end of the American war, to a period not remote from us, and every one will understand the great difficulties under which our people always labored. He hoped the Government would take all this under consideration Now, by the licensing of our waters to the American fishermen, there is a good sum accruing to the Government. Last year the Provinces received in all $18,000. With the $2 fee, it can be about $36,000. Add to this the salmon and trout license fees and we will have more than $40,000. Well, if the Government added to this of $50,000 or $60,000, we would have a fund of $100,000, which, employed in encouraging and fostering the fisheries, would produce a great deal of good. If there was not money enough to give the same amount as last year to our fishing vessels, it might be reduced to one-half or even one-fourth; but even with this reduced rate, there would be some encouragement, and he hoped the Government would give it. This increase in the license to be paid by American vessels from one to two dollars has created a good deal of excitement among our neighbors on the other side of the line, as shown in the House of Representatives of the United States, and a large majority of that body has even voted a proposition calling on the President to send an armed force in the Gulf of St. Lawrence for the protection of the American fishermen, under the supposition that they would be molested by British cruisers. Now the American fishermen have never been molested in the gulf, by British or Provincial cruisers, and there is no danger of it ever happening. Why how have matters stood in the gulf for a long time? For many years until the year 1852, the American fishermen have been amitted in British waters without hinderance, and to the great annoyance and disadvantage of our own fishermen. And I could cite many fishing grounds inside of British limits, which, for a long time, were in the hands of the American fishermen. No, they have no reason to complain. It is our own fishermen who would have had reason to complain many times for the utter neglect and abandonment in which those important fisheries were allowed to remain for so long a period by the Provincial as well as by the Imperial Governments. Now the fisheries are very important in many ways, as he had explained to this House on the second reading of the Bill. He would not go over the same arguments again, but there is one point that he would touch. The fisheries are closely connected with the defence of the country. The more they are developed the larger would be the Maritime population. The gulf is the door way of our country, and Canada as well as England are interested in keeping this way in our possession. By it we will receive this assistance for our defence which has been so solemnly promised to us by the Government of England: but, at the same time, we must keep it shut to our enemies. And who would help England to attain this end, but the sailors and fishermen of this Dominion? Increase their number, make them prosperous and happy, and you have so many defenders of our country. Our fisheries are also of great importance to the Mother Country, and they are closely linked with the question of the supremacy of the seas. As long as Great Britain owned the fisheries of British North America, there was no danger of her losing her Maritime power. But if they were to pass into the hands of the Americans, and with them the Maritime population of the Provinces—well, he did not want to prophesy, but it was his earnest conviction—he said it before the statesmen of Canada, and if be was in presence of the statesmen of Great Britain, he would make the same statement that less than twenty years after—such an irreparable misfortune, provided of course the American Union was not broken—the United States would be in a position to wrest from England the naval supremacy than she has enjoyed so long, and our neighbors and rivals would become the first naval power in the world. Have not the fisheries always been considered the life blood of commerce and the best nursery for seamen? After offering those few remarks, he would resume his seat, and express his firm hope that the Government would not abandon such an important industry to itself, but would do everything to encourage and foster it.

THE PRINCE'S WOUND;

If the telegraphic information respecting the character of the injury received by His Royal Highness the Duke of Edinburgh can be depended on, the nation has to be thankful that the life of the Prince has been saved by one of the most extraordinary escapes which has ever been recorded in the history of gunshot pounds. If the ball which, we are told, entered the back half an inch from the spine, and in a downward direction, had taken the course which in nine hundred and ninety-nine cases out of every thousand, it would have taken, it could not have failed to pierce the heart and great vessels, the lung, diaphragm, and intestines, or liver, such an injury to any of these viscera being almost certainly fatal. That it should have traversed a distance of 12½ inches on the outside of the ninth rib and lungs under the skin of the abdomen, without even touching the peritoneum, is all but incredible, and the fact, if true, will add another to the few extraordinary cases in which balls have glanced for their natural direction and taken a totally unexpected course. Cases are on record in which a ball entering the hip came out of the heel, where it entered the temple and passing over the bones of the head lodged at the opposite side. Mr. Lawson narrates a case in which a grain of shot striking the eye, passed from side to side under the conjunctive; and a case was communicated to the Surgical Society of Ireland about a year ago in which a bullet was removed from the heart of a man who received it in the battle of Salamanca thirty-three years previously.—Medical Press and Circular.

Attempted Assassination of the British Minister in Japan.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18.—Advices from Japan state that while the British Minister was passing through the streets of Kioka on April 1st, he was fired on by two fanatic priests, who wounded eleven men of his escort and five horses. The Minister and five horses escaped unhurt. One priest was killed, and another captured and executed.

CABLE NEWS

YESTERDAY'S DESPATCHES.

LONDON, May 18.—The Morning Post considers the vote on the 11th article of impeachment conclusive, and says the result of this trial demonstrates the folly of the Radicals, as the certainty of success is the only excuse for their taking such a step as impeachment. After all, it the right is vindicated, that result is due to accident.

The Daily News takes widely different ground in its comments, and thinks the vote is not conclusive of the whole case.

A respite of one week has been granted to Barrett, the Clerkenwell conspirator, who is under sentence of death.

BERLIN, May 18.—In a debate on the treaty with Austria, Count Von Bismarck said while Prussia, applying herself to the pressure, waits for the time when the South German States shall seek union with the Confederation of the North. She condemns the exercise of any restraint upon the action of the Zollverein Diet.

LONDON, (midnight) May 18.—In the House of Commons to-night, the Scotch Reform Bill was under consideration. Mr. Wm. E. Baxter, the member for Montrose, moved to add to the number of the Scotch members of the House, taking the franchise from some of the small English boroughs. Mr. Bouverie, member for Kilmarnock, moved that the voting clause in the Bill be thrown out. The Government opposed the motion, and on division of the House were beaten in both cases. Mr. D'Israeli, after the result of the last division was announced, rose and said the Ministry must not consider their position.

PARIS, May 18.—The Pays newspaper to-day says the Emperor Napoleon has been ill, but his condition is now much improved.

THIS MORNING'S DESPATCHES.

THE PARIS JOURNALS ON IMPEACHMENT.

PARIS, May 19.—The following are the opinions expressed by leading journals on the vote in the impeachment case:

The Temps, (Democratic,) says that Mr. Johnson has been saved by a legal form only. He has been deposed in the minds of the country.

The Journal des Debats, (Orleans,) says that while Mr. Johnson is acquitted the vote was such as to render him powerless hereafter.

La Liberte, (Radical Opposition,) says simply that the verdict shows that liberty is the best guarantee of justice.

The Constitutionel, (Semi-Official and Imperialist,) regards the vote as fatal to the Radical party.

The Epoque was opposed to the impeachment project from the beginning. It blames the Republicans for attempting to remove the Executive on grounds so slight, and says that the great Radical party could not have more clumsily lost its prestige.

The Presse (Austro-Catholic) gives no decided opinion on the merits of the question, but confines its remarks to admiration of the vitality of Republican institutions, which permits the Chief Magistrate of forty millions of people, to be brought to trial without bloodshed or national disquiet.

AMERICAN NEWS.

YESTERDAY'S DESPATCHES

FROM HAYTI.

Desperate State of the Country—The American Consul Sends for Assistance—A British Gunboat Sent to Him.

NEW YORK, May 18.—The Herald's Havana special gives important news from Hayti. President Salnave had escaped from Port Haytien and reached Port au Prince. He and Gen. Delorme, who acts as Secretary of State, Interior War and Navy arrested many citizens and ordered some to be shot. Robberies and murders were frequent. The stores of six American merchants were robbed by the troops. Salnave threatened to seize the town, and burn it to ashes; he also used violent menaces to foreign consuls. Many Americans had been shot at in their own windows, and forced to seek refuge in the American consulate. The American consul had an interview with Salnave and Delorme. He demanded protection, but was received defiantly and with threats. The American Minister at once sent a despatch to Havana for some American men-of-war to go to his assistance. He also sent to Jamaica for a British war steamer. A later despatch says a British gunboat had gone from Jamaica to the assistance of the American Minister at Port au Prince. The latest despatch from Port au Prince states that the whole country is reported in arms against President Salnave, excepting Goinaves, Jacmel and the Cape. The revolution in the North has been successful. The entire South is now in arms against the Government.

The Impeachment Court.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The impeachment managers were in session to-day, preparing their plans for taking the testimony relative to alleged improper means being used to influence the vote in the Senate on the impeachment question.

Lake Disasters.

ROCHESTER, May 18.—The schooner Sarah Bond, laden with lumber, is lying one mile west of the Gennessee river, water logged and deserted by her crew. The schooners John Wesley and Defiance are sunk in the harbor.

SANDUSKY, O., May 18.—The propellor Oneida, of Buffalo, went ashore on Cedar Point this morning, and was scuttled to save her from breaking up.

THIS MORNING'S DESPATCHES.

Attempted Assassination of Gen. Logan.

NEW YORK, May 19.—At York, Pa., yesterday, an attempt to assassinate Gen. Logan was made, when on the train, by a party of men, who threw several large stones through the windows of the car where Gen. Logan sat with his family. He escaped, but Governor Hohn, of Lousiana, was hit on the breast Others had narrow escapes.

Position of the Candidates for the Vice-Presidency.

NEW YORK, May 19.—The Times' Chicago special says: Colfax for Vice-President will get on the first ballot, 100; Fenton, 75; Wade less; Wilson, 50; Hamlin, 50; and Curton, 35. Although the New York delegation indicate no second choice, they will go for Colfax, or Hamlin, to prevent the nomination of an unpopular man.

NEW YORK, May 18.—The Commercial's Chicago special says: The contest for Vice-President is narrowing down to Colfax and Wilson with the changes favoring the latter.

Fatal Boiler Explosion.

LINN, O., May 18.—By the explosion of the steam tug Belle Potter, on Sunday, four persons were instantly killed, and Captain Cowstock, so badly injured, that he will probably die.

Impeachment.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The impeachment managers this morning examined Mr. Dundery, a Cincinnati broker, who testified that he had paid $25,000 to the order of C. W. Wooley. Mr. Wooley was also examined and admitted having received and disbursed that amount of money, but absolutely refused to divulge to whom it was paid, or for what purpose, though he averred it was not used by him to affect the impeachment verdict. Mr. Butler intended to introduce a resolution to compel him to answer the question, but was cut off by the adjournment of the House.

Soldiers' and Sailors' Convention.

CHICAGO, May 18.—The Soldiers' and Sailors Convention organized to-day, with Fairchilds as chairman.

COUNTY OF RENFREW

At a meeting of the Municipal Corporation of Bagot and Blythfield, County of Renfrew, held at Springtown on the 18th instant, it was moved by Mr. James Barry, seconded Mr. Jos. Taylor, and resolved, that this Council having learned with dismay and regret, the lamentable tragedy of the assassination of the Hon. Thos. D'Arcy McGee, they seize the first available opportunity of expressing their indignation and horror at so atrocious and brutal a deed, by which our country has been deprived of the services of a patriotic and illustrious statesman, who would have been an honour to any state and people, and we unanimously express our deep felt sympathy with the bereaved widow and family of the deceased gentleman. And further that we rely on the active vigilance of the authorities to ferret out the detestable perpetrator or perpetrators of this barbarous and diabolical deed.

Mr. P. Kennedy moved, seconded by Mr. W. Fillater, that the foregoing resolution be transmitted for publication to the Ottawa TIMES.

From Mexico.

NEW YORK, May 18.—Mexican news state that the anniversary of the victory over the French was celebrated on the 5th inst., with considerable pomp. Miramon's property had been confiscated. Negrete's forces had been defeated. The vomito was raging; even old inhabitants were dying.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THE CANADA HOUSE, CALEDONIA SPRINGS, near L'Orignal, on the Ottawa, will be open for the reception of visitors on the 1st of June. 745b

The Florence Nightingale of the Nursery.—The following is an extract from a letter written by the Rev. C. Z. Weizer, to the German Reformed Messenger, at Chambersburg, Penn.:

A BENEFACTRESS.—Just open the door for her, and Mrs. WINSLOW will prove the American Nightingale of the Nursery. Of this we are sure, that we will teach our "SUBY" to say "A Blessing Mrs. Winslow," for helping her to survive and escape the griping, colicking and teething siege We confirm every word set forth in the prospectus It performs precisely what it professes to perform, every part of it—nothing less. Away with your "Cordial," "Paregoric," "Drops," "Laudanum," and every other "Narcotic," by which the babe is drugged into stupidity, and rendered dull and idiotic for life.

We have never seen Mrs. Winslow—know her only through the preparation of her "Soothing Syrup for Children Teething." If we had the power, we would make her, as she is, a physical saviour to the infant race. 25 cents a bottle. Sold by all druggists. Be sure and call for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup." Having the fac-simile of "CURTIS & PERKINS" on the outside wrapper. All others are base imitations. 709d14w2m

To Consumptives.—The advertiser, having been restored to health in a few weeks by a very simple remedy, after having suffered for several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease Consumption, is anxious to make known to his fellow-sufferers the means of cure.

To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge), with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a SURE CURE for CONSUMPTION, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, COUGHS, COLDS, and all Throat and Lung Affections. The only object of the advertiser in sending the Prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and spread information which he conceives to be invaluable, and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing. Parties wishing the prescription, FREE, by return mail, will please address,

Mothers Read This!—Holloway's Worm Losenges are a certain and safe remedy for Worms in Children and Adults.—As it is a well-known and melancholy fact that one great cause of death among children is from Worms alone, it cannot be too deeply impressed upon the minds parents the necessity of closely watching their children. By so doing; and understanding the symptoms and true cause of the disease, thousands of children might be saved from early graves. SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.—The following are a few of the very numerous symptoms and diseases which are caused by Worms: deranged appetite, emaciated extremities, offensive breath frequent picking at the nose, grinding of the teeth during sleep, hardness of the belly, with frequent slimy stools, and sometimes convulsive fits; itching of the arms, pain in the head and stomach, unquiet sleep, faintings, tremblings, coughs, indigestion low spirits, frightful dreams, and a gradual waisting away of flesh.

They are palatable and self-administered to the child—drive out the worms thoroughly without pain and completely cleanse the stomach—thereby doing away with the necessity of administering Castor Oil or other unpleasant cathartics—as in the use of other Worms.

☞ Each box contains the fac-simile signature of NORTHROP & LYMAN, Newcastle, C.W., who are the sole proprietors.

PAIN KILLER.

The Great Family Medicine of the Age.

THE UNIVERSAL REMEDY for INTERNAL & EXTERNAL COMPLAINTS!

OUR FIRST PHYSICIANS USE AND RECOMMEND ITS USE!

It Enjoys the Largest Sale of Any Proprietary Medicine in the World!

THE PAIN KILLER

HAS been favorably known for more than thirty years, during which time we HAVE RECEIVED THOUSANDS OF TESTIMONIALS, showing this Medicine to be an almost NEVER FAILING REMEDY for diseases caused by or attendant upon—Sudden Colds, Coughs, Fever and Ague, Headache, Billious Fever, Pains in the Side, Back and Loins, as well as in the Joints and Limbs; Neuralgic and Rheumatic Pains in any part of the system, Toothache and Pains in the Head and Face.

As a BLOOD PURIFIER and TONIC for the STOMACH, it seldom fails to cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Kidney Complaints, Sick Headache, Piles, Asthma or Phthisic, Ringworms, Boils, Felons, Whitlows, Old Sores, Swelled Joints, and General Debility of the System.

It is also a PROMPT and SURE REMEDY for Crampand Pains in the Stomach, Painters' Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer Complaint, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Scalds, Burns, Sprains, Bruises, Frost Bites, Chilblains, as well as the Stings of Insects, and the Bites of Poisonous Insects and Venomous Reptiles.

☞ Directions accompany each bottle.

It has been tested in every variety of climate, and by almost every nation known to civilization. It is the almost constant companion and inestimable friend of the Missionary, and no traveller should be without it. Like every other good thing, the Pain Killer has been extensively counterfeited; which, (while it is an acknowledgment on the part of the counterfeiters of its real worth,) is a serious hinderance to its usefulness, as the deceived purchaser estimates the value of the Pain Killer by the base compound he has purchased for the genuine article.

Purchasers should be careful and not allow the dealer to sell them worthless imitations, on which they realize a larger profit, but take only the Pain Killer, and see that it is the genuine, bearing the signature of Perry Davis & Son upon the label.

The Pain Killer is sold at wholesale by Druggists and Medicine Dealers, and Commission Merchants, in the principal cities, and retailed by Apothecaries, Grocers, and at Variety Shops generally, throughout the world.

NOTICE.

THE Undersigned will either sell or let for a few years his well known farm, being lot Twenty-five in the Fourth Concession of Gloucester, Rideau Front, 215 acres all cleared, and well fenced and in a good state of cultivation Also, the one-half of lot Twenty-seven in the Third Concession, being in its natural state, all wood and excellent land. It is just the cross of two hundred acres from the corner of the one lot to the other. The railroad line runs within ten feet of the front corner of the one hundred and in sight of the two hundred for two or three miles. The Station at Cunningham's is scarcely a mile and a half from the front of Lot Twenty-five. The above farm is capable of keeping thirty head of milch cows, two span of horses, and as many young cattle as it would be proper to raise. Eight or nine years ago I kept twenty-two milch cows, and ten or twelve horses, and raised five or six calves every year. The above farm is about ten miles, from the door, to the limits of the City. The improvements cannot be surpassed for a farmer's purpose. The dwelling-house is stone, 30 by 40, a story and a half over ground; and a cellar nine feet high, the one half used for a kitchen and the other half capable of holding 1,000 bushels of anything you wish to put into it; there is three small windows in it, and when cleaned in the Spring, makes an excellent milk-house or dairy; there is a frame wood shed at the door, 60 by 24, with 14 feet taken off the one end for a coachhouse, and overhead for a storehouse; next to that is a stable 36 by 26, finished inside, complete with four large double stalls and two single ones, and good room for hanging up harness, and oat box; convenient to that is a barn 40 by 50, in which I have often put 1,000 bushels of grain in one year; connected with that is 200 and 20 feet of frame sheds, all 20 and 24 deep, under pinned with stone and lime from two to seven feet, according to level; on the north side of the house is another barn, 30 by 40, commonly filled with peas and oats. And if either tennant or purchaser has a desire for religious purposes you can lie in your bed and look at the bell tolling on the Catholic Church every Holy Day, and go to the front door and you will see the Presbyterian Church, where the Rev. Mr. Lochead has preached for the last twenty-two years, and go to the back door and you will see both English Church and Methodist Church within two miles. The above farm would be a desirable situation for a young man wishing to give his attention to farming, as the Ottawa Market cannot be surpassed in the Dominion. I think that I can say that I have not sold one pound of butter under one shilling this eight years: if one went under two went over. Some reader may ask what am I selling for, it is neither for scant nor for want of anything, but I am in the seventieth year of my age, and has purchased off this lot seven hundred and fifty acres of land and all is paid for, and all my sons is settled on their own farms, so I would rather sit down and take my ease as be attending to marketing and farming any longer. Persons wishing to get any information on any point from me, can do so by addressing, post-paid, JAMES JOHNSTON, Senr., South Gloucester.

Another Wonderful Cure of Consumption in Canada.

MESSRS. YOUNG & CHAMBERLAIN,—Sirs, I feel it a duty I owe to you, as well as to the public, to inform you of the most wonderful cure of Consumption, accomplished in my person, by the use of the Great Shoshonees Remedy and Pills. I coughed a great deal day and night, expectorating large quantities of matter, and had a great pain about my left lung. I had cold chills every day, and severe night sweats every night, and between the racking cough and great sweating I was almost deprived of sleep; by these miseries, as well as the loss of appetite, I was so reduced that I could hardly stand alone. I was under the care of a physician for a length of time, but finding no relief, I tried different receipes, but all without any good effect. Squire Peterson of Bath, recommended me to use the Great Shoshonees Remedy; I procured three bottles at once, with the Pills; so soon as I commenced using it I began to get better, and when I had finished this complement, the Cough, expectoration of matter, pain about the lung, chills, sweating, &c., left me, and by continuing its use I became strong and healthy. It is now over two months since I quit the remedy, and there have been no symptoms of the disease returning, and I have been, and am now, healthier and better than I have been for many years. I trust you will make this known to the public, that they may be aware of the peculiar virtues of this truly wonderful Indian Remedy.

PETER C. V. MILLAR.
Ernestown, Co. of Lennox & Addington, C. W.

To all to whom it may come.—This is to certify that I have been acquainted with the above mentioned gentleman, Peter C. V. Millar, Esq., for many years, and have known him always to be of the very highest respectability, and a very candid and creditable person; and I am confident that I can safely vouch for the truth of the above, or any other statement made by him.

Rev. W. F. S. HARPER

STOP and SEE!

THE following remarks on Testimonials of most extraordinary cures in Canada by the great Indian Remedy. They are stern undeniable and incontestible facts, sufficient to the most skeptical that the great medicinal compound yearned after for ages is now accessible in the Great Shoshonees Remedy.

For diseases of the throat, lungs, liver, digestive organs, kidneys, &c., as well as scrofula, the various skin diseases, humors, and all diseases arising from impurities of the blood, we boldly state that this great remedy has never been equalled. Where was there ever such a cure as that in the person of Wilson Storms, of Brighton, C W, of consumption; or that of Peter C V Miller, of Ernestown, C W, of consumption; or that of Ambrose Wood, of Consecon, C W, of dyspepsia and liver complaint; or that of John Rosey, of Napanee, C W, of rheumatism, who had actually been on crutches for years, in spite of all treatment heretofore, and is now well? Scores of such cases might be mentioned had we space.

Price of the Remedy in large pints $1.

PASSPORTS FOR NATURALIZED SUBJECTS.

DOMINION OF CANADA.

Copy.
Circular.

DOWNING-STREET,
25th April, 1867.

SIR,—

With reference to the Circular Despatch from this Department dated the 5th of June, 1866, relative to the case of Foreigners naturalized in any of Her Majesty's Colonies who wish to obtain British Passports for foreign travel—I have the honor to inform you that different cases have occurred lately in which such naturalized Foreigners have applied in this country for passports without being in possession either of a Passport from the Governor or of any Official Document from the Colony to establish their identity and character. You will readily perceive that this is calculated to embarrass this Department, and also to cause much private inconvenience to the persons concerned if they should find themselves unable to produce any sufficient evidence of their quality.

I have therefore to suggest that, in every Colony containing naturalized Foreigners who are likely to travel in Europe, it would be convenient that notice should from time to time be given in public newspapers of the necessity for such persons providing themselves before leaving the Colony with some official evidence of their identity and description.

I have the honor to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient
Humble servant,

Ottawa, 8th May, 1868.

(With reference to the foregoing Circular Despatch.)

Notice is hereby given that parties requiring Passports must apply, until further notice, to this Department, transmitting at the same time a certificate of identity, accompanied in each case with a description of the applicant, signed by a Justice of the Peace and also the fee of one dollar.

Among the most important of modern Medical Discoveries stands the

de, Back and Head, Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat Sprains, Bruises, Cramps in the Stomach, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery, Bowel Complaints, Burns, Scalds, Frost Bites, &c., &c.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER HAS now been before the public for a length of time, and whenever used is well liked, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single case of dissatisfaction where the directions are properly followed; but on the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its virtues and magical effects.

We speak from experience in this matter, having tested it thoroughly, and therefore those who are suffering from any of the complaints for which it is recommended may depend upon its being a Sovereign Remedy.

The astonishing efficacy of the Canadian Pain Destroyer, in curing diseases for which it is recommended, and its wonderful success in subduing the torturing pains of Rheumatism, and in relieving Nervous Affections, entitle it to a high rank in the list of Remedies for these complaints. Orders are coming in from Medicine Dealers in all parts of the country for further supplies, and each testifying as to the universal satisfaction it gives

The Canadian Pain Destroyer never fails to give immediate relief. All Medicine Dealers keep it. Physicians order and use it; and no family will without it after once trying it.

HARDWARE!

HARDWARE!

Great Reduction

IN THE

PRICE OF HARDWARE

AT THE

SIGN of the ANVIL

No. 24, Rideau-street.

THE Undersigned would take this opportunity to express his thanks to his Customers in Ottawa and vicinity for their very liberal patronage in the past, and to solicit a continuance of their favors in the future, and to assure them that no effort on his part shall be wanting to supply them with the Best and Cheapest English and American Hardware. I do not pretend to sell at cost, but do propose to sell as cheap as any other establishment in Ontario. My stock shall comprise every article in the line of Hardware, and with the one price system I hope to merit and receive a continuance of the very liberal patronage given me in the past.

T. BIRKETT,
Sign of the Anvil, 24 Rideau-st.

DARLEY'S

Arabian Heave Remedy

AND CONDITION MEDICINE

IS POSITIVELY SUPERIOR TO ANY or all other preparations for the cure of Heaves, Coughs, Thick and Broken Wind, and all diseases which affect the Wind of Horses; also, as a Condition Medicine, surpassing every thing of the kind. It is easy to give, sure to cure, and safe in all cases and at all times, and does not prevent the horse from being worked while using it.

It cleanses the breathing apparatus, by removing from the air-cells the coagulable lymph, or that secretion which in heaves clogs them, causing a difficulty in breathing, and by its action on the diseased part, causing the mucous membrane to resume its natural dimensions, thus equalizing the circulation of the blood, and restoring the distended vessels to their natural size; by its use the horse's appetite is improved, all derangements of the digestive organs corrected, softening the skin, and giving to the coat a sleek and shining appearance.

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864,

AND AMENDMENTS THEREOF.

In the matter of WILLIAM N. BARRIE and JOHN McMARTIN, Insolvents.

BY virtue of the power vested in me as Assignee of the estate and effects of the above named Insolvents, and also under and by virtue of an order made by James Daniell, Esquire, Judge of the County Court of the United Counties of Prescott and Russell in that behalf, I will on THURSDAY, the twenty-sixth day of June next, offer or sale by Public Auction, at the hour of ten o'clock, in the forenoon of the said day, at the office of Messrs. Morland, Watson and Company, in the City of Montreal, all the real estate and interest of the said Insolvent John McMartin, of and in the lands and premises in the Township of North Plantagenet, and County of Prescott, and Province of Ontario, hereinafter particularly mentioned and described. That is to say:

1st. All the real estate, interest and equity of redemption of the said John McMartin of what nature or kind soever, whether as devisee under the will of Alexander McMartin, deceased, or otherwise, of and in lot number nine, (9) in the fourth (4th) concession, old survey of the said Township of Plantagenet, East of the South Nation River.

2nd. All the real estate, interest and equity of redemption of the said John McMartin, of what nature and kind soever, whether as devisee under the will of the said Alexander McMartin, deceased, or otherwise, of and in Lot Number Ten (10), in the Fourth (4th) Concession, old survey of the said Township East of the South Nation River.

The said two lots are supposed to contain together 399 acres more or less.

3rd. All the real estate and interest and equity of redemption of the said John McMartin, of what nature and kind sover, either in his own right, or as devisee under the will of the said Alexander McMartin, deceased, or otherwise, howsoever, of and in that part of Lot Eleven, (11) in the said Fourth (4th) Concession, old survey of the said Township of North Plantagenet, known as McMartin's Saw Mills, with the privileges and appurtenances to the same belonging. Also of and in the premises known as the old Store, the large Store House the large stable and premises connected therewith, also of and in the Dwelling House now occupied by the said John McMartin, and the outbuildings therewith connected, and lying and being in the Village of Plantagenet Mills aforesaid.

The said several premises will be sold subject to the several mortgages charged upon same, and the said mill and mill premises and other the premises last mentioned with their appurtenances, will be sold subject to the interest of the said Insolvents as copartners or of either of them therein, under the partnership articles the lease therein mentioned or otherwise howsoever at the time of their insolvency for the residue of the unexpired term of fifteen years from the 1st day of December, 1865, and to the mortgages thereon.

There is a rent of one dollar annually, payable during said term to the said John McMartin as devisee thereof, under the will of the said Alexander McMartin.

Terms—Cash.

For further particulars apply to Edward Taylor Dartnell, Esquire, L'Orignal, Solicitor for the Assignee, or to the Assignee.

Dated at L'Orignal, this 23rd day of April A.D., 1868.

The Importers Direct.

THE MONTREAL TEA COMPANY, 6, Hospital-street, Montreal, have sent over one thousand packages to different parts of the country, and receive every day assurances that the Tea gives entire satisfaction. Subjoined are a few of the numerous testimonials already received:

RUSSELL HOTEL, Quebec, Jan. 7, 1867.—Montreal Tea Company: Gentlemen, the six chests of Tea forwarded some time since arrived in good order. The quality is pure and excellent, and prices cheap. As I am particular in buying the best quality of Tea to be had for our guests, I am pleased to acquaint you that it gives general satisfaction. Your obedient servant,

WILLIS RUSSELL.

FELCOME, Dec. 23, 1867.—Montreal Tea Company: Gentlemen, the Oolong Tea which you sent me gives great satisfaction. I forwarded part of the chest to a friend in Toronto, who informs me he considers it as good as that he was using for which he paid one dollar per lb. Please send me a chest of Young Hyson at same price, viz., at 75 cents per lb. Address as before. Your obedient servant,

JNO. T. DAY.

HOUSE OF SENATE, Ottawa, December 16, 1867.—Montreal Tea Company: Gentlemen, the box of English Breakfast and Young Hyson Tea which you sent me gives great satisfaction. You may expect my future orders. Yours, &c.,

S. SKINNER.

COBOURG, January 8, 1868.—Montreal Tea Company: Gentlemen, I beg to inform you that the two boxes of Tea you sent me are of excellent quality, especially the Young Hyson at 60 cents. Please send another box, or 20 lbs., at same price, and oblige yours, &c.,

F. OLIVER.

The contributors to the Medical Journal have frequently declared that one-half the nervous diseases are caused by drinking impure Tea. The Company have carefully selected and imported a supply of Teas that can be warranted pure and free from poisonous substances, in 50, 25, 20, 15 and 12 lb. boxes.

BLACK TEA.

Common Congou, Broken Leaf, Strong Tea, 45c, 50c.; Fine Flavoured New Season, do; 55c, 60c and 65c; Excellent Full Flavored, do, 75c; Sound Oolong, 45c; Rich Flavored do, 60c; Very Fine do, do, 75c; Japan, Good, 50c, 55c; Very Fine, 60c; Finest, 65c, 75c.

GREEN TEA.

Twankay common, 38c; Fine do, 50c; Young Hyson, 50c, 60c, 65c and 70c; Fine do, 75c; Very Fine, 85c; Superfine and Very Choice, $1.00; Fine Gunpowder, 85c; Extra Superfine do, $1.

All orders for 20 or 25 lbs., or two 12 lbs., sent carriage free to the country. Teas not mentioned in this circular sent equally cheap. The Company having determined to take a stand in the Montreal market, weight, quality and circular may be implicitly relied on. Where a 20 lb. box would be too much, two or three clubbing together could divide. An excellent mixed Tea could be sent for 60c to 70c; very good for common purposes, 50c. Buyers living beyond Railway Stations will please send Post Office order or enclosed notes. The carriage will be paid to the nearest station. Tea will be forwarded immediately on receipt of the order by mail containing money, or the money can be collected on delivery by express-man where there are express offices. A trial solicited.

The Ottawa Times

THURSDAY, MAY 21, 1868.

THE Insurance Bill was passed through the Commons last night, despite the threats of the Opposition against it. Of all the measures of the Session we look upon this as the most practical and common sense in its provisions. It simply proposes to compel those who trade upon the confidence of the public, to give an earnest of their sincerity, and exact from them an amount of security which cannot be accounted excessive. At the same time it furnishes the Government a certain amount of accommodation legitimately acquired, as the guardian of the public interests, which will no doubt have some beneficial effect on the national financial policy. But why the fact that the general public will benefit by the Act, should have been held as an argument against the special security which the Bill proposes to individual assurers, puzzles us not a little, and we think that never did an Opposition pin its fortunes to a more forlorn hope than when it tried by the rules of parliamentary formality to defeat the Bill in question.

IT is about time that our correspondents on the railway route question should give up their wordy war, as it has mainly degenerated to a mere personal quarrel, in which the public can take but little interest. It is not at all likely that anything they may say in the future will influence the determination of the railway route; and as we have been waiting patiently for an opportunity to "shut down" upon them, whenever we could do so fairly to both parties, we beg to inform them that the letter, published elsewhere to-day, will be the last of the series. In so far as the main argument is concerned, it appears to us to stand entirely unaffected by anything that has recently been written, and if the claims of the MAJOR ROBINSON route are to be set aside, it must be for reasons which our correspondents in opposition to it have not yet set forth. We trust, therefore, that our correspondents will from this time leave the question in the hands of the Government, or send their communications directly to the Privy Council, as our readers get tired of so many rehashes of the same matter.

ONE of those scenes which give spice and piquancy to the dull routine of Parliamentary proceedings was enacted at the morning sitting of the Commons yesterday, when the Hon. Mr. HOLTON "laid himself out" for the purpose of monopolising the sitting, to the exclusion of the consideration of the Insurance Bill, which the Government were anxious to press upon the attention of the House. It was bad enough when the Clerk had to read, on the request of Mr. HOLTON, the minutes of the previous day's proceedings, filling several pages of closely printed matter; but when the same performance was required to be gone through in French, there was something Blue-Beardish in the torture which the member for Chateauguay had contrived to inflict on the unoffending Clerk. Fortunately for the latter, the opportune arrival of the printed minutes, enabled Mr. SPEAKER to rule out this request, and the Clerk was spared. The member for Lambton, however, set himself in order by moving the adjournment of the House, and went at it with a will in vindication of the rights of Parliamentary minorities, and in severe denunciation of the occupants of the Ministerial benches.

Mr. MCKENZIE succeeded, thanks to the interruptions from the other side, in raising several points of order, against the decision of the SPEAKER, on one of which he appealed to the House, and had the verdict given against him. The point was this: Mr. MCKENZIE charged Ministers with having "bullied and threatened" the Opposition; Mr. BELLEROSE raised the point of order that his language was unparliamentary. Mr. SPEAKER decided affirmatively, and Mr. MCKENZIE appealed, when the decision of the SPEAKER was sustained. As in all "family jars," mutual explanations followed: Ministers willingly confessed that the Opposition had not been absolutely boorish; the member for Lambton had been in fact the very pink of courteous and conscientious Opposition, and he of Chateauguay had at least some times acted so as to deserve and receive the thanks of the leading lights on the Treasury Benches for the assistance rendered to the progress of the public business. In this happy frame of mind, it is needless to add that both sides of the House discovered that they had better go to work at the business before them; but Mr. MCKENZIE, out of respect to Mr. SPEAKER, who is held in high esteem by both sides of the House, and whose judgment he did not desire to show had been impugned by him, suggested that the points raised, and the rulings, should be omitted from the Journals, a suggestion which was readily endorsed. He also expressed his regret that the "very expressive words," bullied and threatened, should have been tabooed; and in this regret we heartily sympathise with him. They are both sprung from unimpeachable Saxon roots, and we think Mr. SPEAKER's fastidious judgment calculated in this particular to emasculate the healthy vigor of parliamentary debate. It is true that "bullied" has some very vulgar associations. "The bully boy with the glass eye" is a mythical personage of modern invention, whose surroundings it may be, are not quite respectable; and "bully for you!" though a very emphatic, is hardly a polite commendatory salutation. While, therefore, we cannot impeach the wisdom of the SPEAKER, in expunging from the Parliamentary vocabulary, a phrase bordering so closely on the regions of slang, we can afford, with Mr. MCKENZIE, to bewail the fact that its "expressiveness" has been lost to the Commons. But was it not a cunning contrivance of the member for Lambton to have the sentence against his favorite phrases omitted from the Journals of the House? Who shall say hereafter, that they are unparliamentary in the absence of any recorded judgment against them? And thus it happens that the "very expressive words" still stand a chance of doing service in Parliamentary debates, notwithstanding their unrecorded condemnation yesterday.

THE Washington Chronicle of Monday last has the following:

"The Secretary of the Treasury recently submitted to the House of Representatives, a supplemental report upon the various trade questions between the United States and the British North American Provinces, including the matter of the free navigation of the river St. Lawrence and the Gulf fisheries. The supplemental report was written by Mr. George W. Brega, at the request of the Secretary, and taken in connection with that gentleman's recent report, covering substantially the same ground, will be particularly interesting at this time, when public attention is awakened by the threatened re-opening of the long silent fishery dispute. A resolution has been passed to print ten thousand extra copies of the report. Mr. Brega's former report was written with marked ability and candor, and has created a very favorable impression upon Congress. It is understood that the Committee of Ways and Means will take the matter up as soon as the Tax Bill is disposed of. The question of trade alone with Canada is of no little importance, ranking, as it does, THIRD in the list of countries with which we hold commercial intercourse; but added to that question is the consideration of an adjustment of the free navigation of the St. Lawrence, the national outlet to our vast northwestern territory, and a settlement of the vexed fishery disputes. The importance of a speedy solution of all these matters can scarcely be exaggerated."

MR. BREGA is now in this city prosecuting further inquiries relating to the subjects above mentioned. Our readers may remember that some time ago we gave a pretty full review of Mr. BREGA's "supplemental report," mentioned by the Chronicle, and we are exceedingly glad to find that it has made a favorable impression upon Congress, as well as to learn that the subject of the trade relations between this country and the United States, is soon to engage the attention of the Committee of Ways and Means of the House of Representatives.

THE INVESTIGATION.

We understand that Patrick Murphy, grain dealer at the market, was brought up yesterday and examined. His testimony went to show who were the frequenters at Michael Starrs' tavern. From what he said we understand that both the Eglesons, Whelan, and certain other parties, who, for the present shall be nameless, but who are under the strict surveillance of the authorities, were in the habit of meeting almost nightly, and discussing over matters of common interest in a friendly way.

Mr. O'Reilly intended to have left last night for Toronto, for the purpose of investigating the case of the parties held in Toronto under the Habeas Corpus Suspension Act.

LOCAL NEWS.

NEW hoop skirts just received by Magee and Russell.

THE season for muslin dresses and lace shawls being close at hand, ladies should see the great variety of novelties at Magee and Russell's.

NO BUSINESS AT THE MONTREAL HOUSE.—This being a statutory holiday no business will be done at the Montreal Warehouse, Sussex-st.

THE BAND.—The Rifles' Band was listened to throughout their excellent programme yesterday on Major's Hill, by a large assemblage of admirers.

RIFLE ASSOCIATION.—The subscribers to the Metropolitan Rifle Association will hold a general meeting this morning at ten o'clock, for the election of officers.

FINE coral jewellery, bog oak jewellery and a large collection of other goods suitable for wedding and other presents can be seen at Young & Radford's; all new and choice goods and will be sold cheap.

POLICE COURT.—There was little business done at the Police Court yesterday. One case for infringing the licence law, was adjourned for a week, and an adjourned nuisance case was dismissed.

ARREST FOR LARCENY.—Joseph Gelis was arrested for the larceny of a set of harness, which he is charged with having sold to Thos. Kinchy, from whom it was taken on Saturday last by the police.

JULIA RING AGAIN.—This well-known character was released from jail yesterday morning and in the afternoon was arrested again for being drunk and disorderly. She will probably go back to her old quarters from the Police Court this morning.

DISCONTINUANCE OF THE PARLIAMENTARY TRAIN.—By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that the parliamentary train on the St. Lawrence and Ottawa Railway will be discontinued after Saturday, the 23rd inst.

AUCTION SALE IN MONTREAL.—John Leeming & Co., auctioneers, will offer for sale by auction at their rooms, in Montreal, on the 29th of May, a large assortment of white and colored ware, lately imported. The attention of those in the trade is especially directed to this sale.—See advertisement.

VOLUNTEERS ATTENTION.—Instructions were issued from the Militia Department to the effect that the several volunteer corps of this city will parade to-morrow at the prorogation of Parliament. It is to be hoped that employers will grant those of their employees who are volunteers the necessary leave to parade.

FIELD BATTERY.—The Ottawa Field Battery was out for exercise yesterday afternoon on the parade ground and fired several rounds. This was preparatory to their being inspected to-day by Lieut.-Col. Atcherly, D.A.A.G. The other companies of volunteers have not received any notice of inspection.

LECTURES ON CANADIAN LITERATURE.—We perceive from our French Canadian contemporary, that the Rev. Mr. Dawson and M. Blain de St. Aubin of this city, have lately been lecturing on the subject of Canadian Literature before the Institut Canadien. Mr. Dawson's address is described as a masterly and exhaustive effort. He spoke for nearly two hours, and was attentively listened to by a large and intelligent audience. We hope to see the lectures published in some permanent shape.

CORRECTION.—The following memo. will correct an error into which we were led yesterday:

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY ROUTE.

To the Editor of THE TIMES.

SIR,—Your correspondent "New Brunswicker" was evidently "in the humor," when he wrote the letter in your columns this morning, but he is as unfortunate in his use of Irony as he was when he attempted Metaphor. His former attempt reminded me of a sentence in "Junius"—his present one brings to my recollection the pithy remark made by Gen. Pelissier, on witnessing the celebrated charge at Balaklava, "c'est magnifique mais ce n'est pas la guerre!"

In reply to his personalities I have only to remind our readers that he was the first to boast of his age, his standing, and his superior opportunities for acquiring information. It was easy to do this behind his mask, and to insinuate that his opponent was an infant in comparison. I offered to let the public judge of this by assuming my own name, if he would come out from behind his screen. It was surely not making any great claims to character and intelligence to be willing to compare with one who has so often been convicted of falsehood in the course of this discussion, and whose grammar and diction give the "lie direct" to his assumption of birth and education. He may consider it an honor to be a "New Brunswicker," but his mendacity, arrogance and ignorance are not calculated to reflect honor on his native Province,—if, indeed, his assertion of nativity be true, which I much doubt.

I pledged myself to make good my assertion as to the identity of "Ontario," "Nova Scotian," and "New Brunswicker," as soon as the last writer assumed his real name. Notwithstanding his bold denial, I repeat the pledge, and hold myself in readiness to redeem it just as soon as he complies with the preliminary condition. I will do this over my own name, and at the same time I will make some curious revelations concerning this writer and his trio of assistants, whom I know well, with all their antecedents. Our readers can then judge of the motives which have prompted all these efforts to bolster up the frontier route.

Now for his "arguments." Pity he did not allow them to "stand on their own merits" from the first, without claiming for them more importance than their "merits" deserved, by pretensions to standing and knowledge which he is unable to substantiate. "New Brunswicker" gives more extracts from the correspondence, and seeks to weaken the force of my former quotations, showing that "no pledge had been given of assistance to any "line, except that originally proposed," but his native stupidity always gets him into a muss. Witness the following; he quotes from Mr. Adderly: "Without this line for six months in the year, the inland portion of the Confederation would be entirely cut off from communication with the sea; and this country could not use it for the passage of troops, while the long line of frontier would be in an absolutely defenceless condition." He then asks, "How could the long line of frontier be made defensible by the road going North?" Does this writer imagine that Mr. Adderly expected the rail road to defend the frontier? Can he not understand that the road was intended to facilitate the speedy movement of troops and munitions of war? and can he not see that to locate the road where it could be most easily destroyed or turned against us, would frustrate the whole object of it, while its location by the Northern route would render it safe from attack, and secure the object intended? This brilliant New Brunswicker, with his vast experience, his great standing, and his "intimate acquaintance with her politicians and politics" may not be able to grasp this idea, but people of plain common sense will have no such difficulty.

He asserts that the "decision of the line was left to the Canadian Parliament," in the face of the quotations I gave from the Railway Act of 1867, which I now repeat: "In a line, and on conditions approved by one of Her Majesty's principal Secretaries of State." * * * "Nor unless, and until the line in which the railway is to be constructed, has been approved by one of Her Majesty's principal Secretaries of State." The unbounded assurance of this writer in thus daring to insult the common sense and intelligence of his readers, is equalled only by his stupidity in not seeing that his own words are his best refutation.

I am glad to learn that the letters of Major Robinson and Mr. Wilkinson are soon to be placed within the reach of our readers. I commend them to a careful perusal, and although "New Brunswicker" may not be able to see the complete defeat of Mr. Wilkinson, I have no fear of the verdict of an intelligent public.

Having now exhibited this last birth of the mountain in labor I await the next throes of this giant.

Yours, &c.,

EXAMINER.

BASE BALL.

To the Editor of THE TIMES.

DEAR SIR,—In looking over your valuable paper this morning, under the head of Base Ball being introduced in the capital through the exertions of Messrs. Wood and Corr, we wish to contradict the statement as the (New Dominion) Club was in operation some months before we had the pleasure of joining the same. Please give "honor to whom honor is due."

Yours respectfully, R. WOOD, L. CORR.

OTTAWA, May 20, 1868.

To the Editor of THE TIMES:

SIR,—Having seen a reference to the game of Base Ball under the heading of "local news" in your issue of to-day, in which Messrs. Wood and Corr are credited with having introduced the game in this city, I beg to say that the New Dominion Base Ball Club was fully organised, comprising some twenty members, playing in accordance with the rules of the United States National Association of Base Ball players, and had played a match with the Ogdensburgh Club, at Ogdensburgh, before either of the persons above named had any connection with the club. I may add that the club now numbers over sixty members, and is rapidly increasing.

Trusting that your well known love of justice in minor, as well as in more important, matters, will secure this a place in your columns.

I am yours, &c.,

FAIRPLAY.

OTTAWA, May 20, 1868.

RESCUE OF A PRISONER.—County Constable Silcox having been sent to McKay's bush on Tuesday, to rid it of the disreputable women who are in the habit of infesting that sylvan retreat, succeeded in making one of them his prisoner, and when passing by the gate of Rideau Hall, one of the soldiers on duty seized hold of her and ran into the gate way, using some insulting language to the constable, and refused to give her up. Yesterday, Silcox appeared at the court-martial, where the soldier was convicted of the offence, for which he lost his good conduct stripes, and was sentenced to eight days' confinement in barracks.

BOG OAK JEWELLERY.—Very handsome sets of bog oak jewellery can be had at Young & Radford's, at $1 per set.

—Glover, Vermont, has a smart old woman of 87, who had an offer of marriage the other day from a man of 45 years old, and who told him she could take care of herself. She works for wages, and can do as much as many young women. It would be wrong to ask such a noble woman to cease from work, for such is her happiness, and will increase her glory hereafter, but if she were in this neighborhood, we have not the slightest doubt that a well-known citizen would sweeten her toil by an occasional present of Italian Bitters.

MESSRS. Young & Radford having secured the services of first-class working jewellers in etruscan, filagree, plain, fancy and solid gold work, and having made large additions to their work shop are now better prepared to execute any orders with which they may be entrusted than heretofore. Masonic jewels gold and silver medals, and every kind of gold and silver work done on the shortest possible notice. Remember the place, 80 Sparks-st., and encourage home manufacture.

THE CANADIAN PARLIAMENT.

1st PARLIAMENT. 1st SESSION.

THE SENATE.

SATURDAY, May 16, 1868.

The SPEAKER took the chair at eleven o'clock a.m.

After routine,

Pursuant to the order of the day, the Bill intituled, "An Act to incorporate the Canada Shipping Company," was read a third time and passed.

Also, "An Act to declare certain persons therein mentioned indemnified for having sat and voted as members of the House of Commons, while holding certain offices under the Crown."

AN ACT RESPECTING OFFENCES AGAINST THE PERSON.

The order of the day being read for the second reading of the Bill intituled, "An Act respecting offences against the person,"

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL moved that the Bill be now read a second time.

The order of the day being called for going into Committee of the Whole on the Bill intituled, "An Act respecting the manufacture or importation of copper coins or tokens," was postponed until Monday.

The second reading of the Bill intituled, "An Act respecting offences against the person" being called,

Hon. Mr. SANBORN said the feeling of the Senate was against passing this and the other Bills on the Criminal Law this Session. The proposition he had made was, that the Government should give them an assurance that these Bills should be revised next Session by a Committee skilled in these matters, and this revision should be upon the responsibility of the Government. They should be put together in one pamphlet, and distributed throughout the country, in order that they might receive the comments of Judges and others well versed in law, and then, at the next Session of the House, we could settle upon a law which would require a great deal of weighing before we attempted to alter it afterwards. We ought not to pass these Bills and leave them with the expectation that amendments will be sought by individual members of the Legislature at some subsequent Session. If we do so, the result will be, that instead of having a permanent code we shall have private Bills brought in to amend this or that section, which will destroy the consistency and harmony of the whole code, and render it unsatisfactory in its operation. Perhaps the Government cannot give this assurance, because they think it would be an anomalous mode of proceeding. If this is so we ought not to proceed with these Bills, because it is declared in many quarters that we are not prepared to give them the deliberation which they deserve. If no other mode was proposed, he should be prepared to move that this Bill be not read a second time, because at this late period of the Session, in the absence of so large a number of members, the Senate cannot give this Bill that deliberation and examination its importance deserves.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL was glad his hon. friend had taken that position, because it would dispose of the whole question. The Minister of Justice has said that they will not be able to agree upon a Bill to pass conjointly with these measures, to stay the operation of them until after the next Session of Parliament. The Government feel that they have done everything they can do to make these Bills perfect, and they can only be amended after actual experience of their working. The only practical way is to take them upon the authority of professional men and wait until defects are shown before they are amended.

Hon. Mr. McCULLY said the feeling of Nova Scotia was not favorable to the introduction of those measures. They are a pretty severe code taking them altogether. There is not a first class school, but some of the boys might be brought under the operation of that law, and disgraced for life, for merely taking a few apples, and this was as liable to happen to the best boy in the school as any other.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL—It has been the law in Canada for twenty years, and it is the law now in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

Hon. Mr. McCULLY said if it was the law there now it would be the law whether we passed this Bill or not, therefore we should take time to look into the matter and get a code up worthy to carry out the object proposed. Then we would not have to be at the expense of printing this whole law, and distributing it over the Dominion, when it will have so soon to be brought before us again to be amended.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL was quite willing to be guided in this matter by the action of the House. His hon. friend had said that, perhaps, under this law the best boy in a school might be treated cruelly for stealing apples, and when informed that it is the law in the Maritime Provinces, he says then let it be, for there is no necessity for changing it. This removes one objection that we are introducing any novelty or arbitrary Act into that Province. He believed these laws would not be enforced arbitrarily. If there was any possibility of adding to their usefulness by their being placed in the hands of a Committee for revision, he would not object to it, but he believed these laws should not have any other starting point than from professional men.

Hon. Mr. LETELLIER DE ST. JUST objected to pass this Bill, enacting penalties that are obsolete, and never in the memory of any hon. member of this House have such been attempted to be enforced. It is too much to ask to pass this Bill without examining it. If our consent is necessary to pass such measures, we ought to get the Bills before the last days of the Session, when all the Bills are crowded down upon us. There is no absolute necessity for this measure, until we can have time to examine its clauses during the next Session of Parliament. The fault of the delay is not with us, if fault there be, but with the Ministers who have the control of this legislation.

Hon. Mr. CHAPAIS—The object of this Bill is not to enact new laws, but to assimilate the existing Criminal Laws of the different Provinces of this Dominion. The same difficulty will exist next Session that prevails to-day. We find it requires experience to perfect the laws of any country, and it is only by time that they can be made perfect. The sensibilities are all on the side of the criminals, not on behalf of outraged society. The punishments, &c., enacted in some clauses of the Bill, have already existed on the Statutes, and have not been altered in the past. Why would they be more so in the future? Great crimes require exemplary punishments. Society is always safer to have the remedy in its own hands, than be at the mercy of the malefactors. Far be it from him to wish to circumscribe the powers of this hon. House in the forcing of this Bill, or any other, upon this House, against the wishes of a majority in it.

Hon. Mr. TESSIER thought this House did not generally discuss enough the measures brought before it. He could not admit that this House is only an echo of the other House, without any of the responsibilities that always attach to reasoning and reasonable members of the Legislature. He wished to take nothing on trust, in matters of legislation. He entirely dissented from the propriety or wisdom of passing Bills of this importance at random, and without time to examine them before they are placed on our Statute Books. Our codification of laws for the Province of Quebec, was distributed from one end of the Province to the other, to receive the criticism and remarks of all the best legal minds of the Province, and see the happy results and the general satisfaction which this code has given, but which crude and undigested laws never can receive. He felt this railroad speed in passing laws was the great cause of all our troubles.

Hon. Mr. MILLER desired to make a few observations before this division was taken on the question before the House. The subject of the criminal law was one of the highest importance, and if he had not earlier joined in the discussion, it was not because he did not take deep interest in it, or did not fully realize his responsibilities in legislating respecting it. He had heard nothing to induce him to oppose the second reading of the Bill, but on the contrary he believed the arguments in favor of passing the criminal laws under consideration in the manner asked by the Postmaster-General were sound and unanswerable. The opponents of the Bill say that it is disrespectful to the Senate to be called upon at this late period of the Session to pass this and like important measures, but might not the same thing be said of the other branch of the Legislature? The Bills relating to criminal justice were passed in the House of Commons with even less debate than they have excited here. That body—the especial protectors of popular rights, and those liberties of the subject in relation to which we have heard so much buncombe spoken by some hon. members—in his (Mr. Miller's) humble opinion pursued the course this Senate should adopt on the present occasion. They threw the whole responsibility of these Bills on the Administration, where it should rest, and where it had very properly been assumed. How could it be said that the same manner of passing this and similar Bills in the popular branch of the Legislature could be disrespectful to hon. members, if adopted in the Senate. Some hon. gentlemen had contended that the creation of the criminal code for the Dominion should have been referred to a Special Commission of the ablest legal minds in the country, and that if this had been done, there would be little objection to asking Parliament to adopt the result of the labors of such a commission in the manner now proposed. Suppose these bills had come before us from such a commission, what hon. member would approve of submitting them to a species of legislation whereby they might be altered in every clause to suit the different views of the seventy professional members of this House? Lawyers did not require to be told that in many cases even simple verbal alterations, which appeared of no consequence to laymen, might destroy the symmetry, scope and character of a whole Bill. He argued that the criminal laws were essentially of that class which could not be submitted to general tinkering, but could be much more safely adopted on the responsibility of the Department of Justice, and the trained legal minds that had prepared them. But if these Bills had not been formally referred to a commission, it was well known they had been framed by a number of legal gentlemen of the highest standing, at the head of whom was the Minister of Justice. Therefore they have in fact, if not in name, come to this Legislature from a commission who have spent months of patient labor on their revision. Would it not then be injudicious in the haste of going through committee to make ill-considered alterations? Would it be a wise and proper mode of legislation that every member of the House on such a purely legal subject as the formation of a criminal code should be at liberty to make alterations to suit his own particular views? It had been said that the proposed code was too voluminous, and a comparison had been drawn with the criminal laws of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, which were spoken of as models of brevity and simplicity. He had frequently heard it regretted in our Courts of Justice that this brevity was secured only by the loss of that precision of generality, which was necessary to the comprehensiveness and punishment of all classes of offences. Besides, the peculiar construction of our laws is not so favorable to a ready and precise application of the decisions of the great minds of the English Bench as is desirable. The Bills before the Senate being a transcript, so far as suited the circumstances of the country, of the English law, the advantage by the proposed change must in this respect be manifest. Although much may be said in favor of simple law, it is not always possible to have it simple and safe. Was it expected that in the formation of the criminal code for the Dominion, that because our laws were brief and simple—no matter how imperfect, they should be taken as our models, in preference to those which had been evolved by time and experience, and were the productions of the ablest legal minds in Britain. He would not undervalue the clever men the Maritime Provinces had produced, but to talk of comparing our criminal code to that of England, and setting it up as a model for the guidance of this Parliament on the inauguration of a system of laws for the Government of four millions of people, was absurd. Such a course might please the local prejudices of some small communities, but this was not the object the Legislature had in view. Where could we find a better model for our criminal code than that of Great Britain? It has been said that much of the Criminal Law of that country would not apply to Canada. He readily admitted that, but it is not proposed by the Bills to apply the whole English criminal code to this country. On the contrary, we are only asked to accept such portions as are applicable to our circumstances. He thought this House should do, as had been done elsewhere, and take these Bills on the responsibility of the Department of Justice. They will not come into operation till the beginning of next year, and there would be no hesitation hereafter in amending them if they worked unjustly. They were not asked to pass laws which would be unalterable, like those of the Medes and Persians. We want a uniform code—our present codes are discordant and imperfect. The sooner we make the first step, the sooner will we arrive at a safe and successful result. Objections have been taken to particular clauses of these Bills. It would not be an easy task to frame a criminal code which would not in some minor particulars be possibly capable of a tyrannical operation. The cases supposed are extreme cases, and the objections only of a minor character. Similar objections might be urged against any law that came before us. He was therefore willing to throw the whole responsibility of the Bills before the House on the Department of Justice, where the other branch of the Legislature had left it, and where he thought the Senate would be wise in allowing it to rest.

Hon. Mr. SANBORN moved in amendment, seconded by Hon. Mr. McCULLY,

To leave out all the words after "be," and insert, "not now read a second time, but that it be resolved that at this late period of the Session, and in the absence of a large number of Senators, this Senate cannot give the revision and assimilation of the laws relating to the administration of Criminal Justice throughout the Dominion that deliberation and careful examination its importance deserves."

The question of concurrence being put thereon, the House divided, and the names being called for they were taken down as follows:

CONTENTS:—The Hon. Messieurs Aikins, Benson, Blake, Bourinot, Bureau, Clifford, Christie, Cormier, Dever, Dickson, Dumouchel, Flint, Leonard, Leslie, Letellier de St. Just, McClelan, McCrea, McCully, McMaster, Malhiot, Reesor, Sanborn, Tessier, Wark, Wilmot.—25.

NON-CONTENTS:—The Hon. Messieurs Allan, Armand, Bill, Burnham, Campbell, Cauchon, Chapais, Duchesnay E. H. J., Ferrier, Guevremont, Holmes, Kenny, Lacoste, McDonald, Miller, Mitchell, Price, Ross, Ryan, Seymour, Shaw, Skead.—22.

The amendment was therefore declared carried.

An Act respecting Trade Marks and Industrial Designs was read a second time, and ordered to be referred to a Committee of the Whole on Monday next.

The orders of the day for the second reading of the following Bills being called, the same were discharged on motion of Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL, seconded by Hon. Mr. MITCHELL, viz.:—

An Act respecting the duties of Justices of the Peace out of Sessions, in relation to persons charged with indictable offences.

An Act respecting cruelty to animals.

An Act respecting the prompt and summary administration of justice in certain cases.

An Act for the release and surrender of offenders wrongfully arrested in certain cases.

An Act respecting the trial and punishment of juvenile offenders.

And an Act respecting the duties of Justices of the Peace out of Session, in relation to summary convictions and orders.

Pursuant to the order of the day the Bill intituled "An Act to increase the excise duty on spirits, to impose an excise duty on refined petroleum, and to provide for the inspection thereof," was read a second time, and ordered to be committed to a Committee of the Whole on Monday next.

The Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL acquainted the House that he had a message from His Excellency the Governor General, under his sign manual, which His Excellency had commanded him to deliver to this House.

The same was read by the clerk, and is as follows:

MONCK.

The Governor-General communicates to the Senate the accompanying despatch, addressed to him, by command of the Queen, by the Secretary of State for the Colonies:

Government House,
Ottawa, May 16th, 1868.

(Copy—Canada—Separate.)

DOWNING STREET, 28th April, 1868.

MY LORD,—I have the honor to inform you that having received, with pain and regret, your despatch, No. 62, of the 9th inst., informing me of the assassination of Mr. D'Arcy McGee, in the city of Ottawa, I felt it my duty to communicate the lamentable event to Her Majesty, feeling certain that Her Majesty would sincerely deplore the crime which had deprived Canada, by the hand of an assassin, of the able and devoted services of Mr. McGee.

I have received Her Majesty's commands to request you to convey to the family of Mr. McGee the expression of Her Majesty's deep sympathy with them in the loss which they have sustained through this atrocious crime.

I have, &c.,

(Signed,) BUCKINGHAM & CHANDOS.

THE VISCOUNT MONCK.
&c., &c., &c.

Hon. Mr. MITCHELL presented to the House a return to an address to His Excellency the Governor-General, dated the 14th instant, praying His Excellency to cause to be laid before this House copies of all correspondence between the Department of Marine and Fisheries, and the Trinity Board and the Harbour Trust of Montreal, since the 14th December last.

Ordered that the same do lie on the table.

Then on motion of the Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL, seconded by the Hon. Mr. MITCHELL,

The House adjourned until half-past seven o'clock, this evening.

After Recess.

The House met at half-past seven o'clock.

The following Bills were brought from the House of Commons by their Clerk, viz:

An Act to incorporate the Canadian Lake Underwriters' Association, received two readings.

An Act respecting the Governor-General, the Civil List, and the salaries of certain public functionaries, was read a first and second time.

An Act to make provision for defraying the expenses of certain works of fortification required for the defence of the Dominion, was read a first time, and second reading ordered for Monday.

An Act to amend the Acts relating to the Canada West Farmers' Mutual and Stock Insurance Company, and to change the name of the Company to the Canada Farmers' Mutual Insurance Company, received two readings.

An Act respecting perjury, was read a first time, and second reading ordered for Monday next

An Act to amend an Act to provide for the improvement and management of the harbor of Quebec, and the Act to amend the same, was read a first and second time.

An Act to incorporate the Stratford Board of Trade, was read a first time, and second reading ordered for Monday next.

A message was brought from the House of Commons to return the Bill intituled,

An Act to incorporate the Merchants' Express Company of the Dominion of Canada.

Also, the Bill intituled, an Act respecting riots and riotous assemblies, and to acquaint the House that they have agreed to the amendments made to the said Bills without any amendment.

Hon. Mr. ROSS presented to the House the second report of the Joint Committee on the library of Parliament.

On motion of the Hon. Mr. ROSS, it was ordered that the said report be taken into consideration on Monday next.

The House then adjourned until Monday next, at three o'clock p.m.

MONDAY, May 18, 1868.

The SPEAKER took the chair at three o'clock.

After routine,

Hon. Mr. ANDERSON, chairman of Committee on Banking, Commerce and Railways, to whom was referred the Bills intituled "An Act to incorporate the Bank of Agriculture," reported the same with several amendments which were concurred in, and the said Bill was then read a third time and passed, and ordered that the Clerk do go down to the House of Commons and acquaint that House that the Senate have passed this Bill with several amendments, to which they desire their concurrence.

Hon. Mr. TESSIER, from the Select Committee, to whom was referred the Bill intituled "An Act to provide for the improvement and management of the harbor of Quebec and the Act amending the same." Ordered that the said Bill be read a third time presently and passed, and sent down to the House of Commons without any amendment.

Hon. Mr. CHAPAIS presented to the House a return to an address to His Excellency the Governor-General, dated 7th May, 1868, praying that His Excellency will be pleased to cause to be laid before this House copies of all correspondence which has taken place from the 1st of January last to the present date, between the Hon. the Minister of Agriculture and the Emigrant Agents at Hamilton, Toronto, Kingston, Ottawa, Montreal, Sherbrooke, Quebec, St. John, N.B., Halifax, and any port or ports in Europe, having reference to the probable extent and character of the immigration of 1868, as well as to the arrangements made and means provided, or to be provided, in aid and encouragement of such immigration; also, of any correspondence which has taken place between the Government of the Dominion and any of the Local Governments upon the said subject.

Ordered, That the same do lie on the table.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL presented to the House a return to an address to His Excellency the Governor-General, dated 7th May, 1868, praying His Excellency to be pleased to cause to be laid before this House copies of the reports made by John Page, Esq., Engineer of the Public Works Department, on the subject of the deepening of Lake St. Peter, in virtue of an Order in Council made about the 1st of July, 1862.

Ordered, That the same do lie on the Table.

On motion of Hon. Mr. TESSIER, seconded by Hon. Mr. BOURINOT, it was Ordered, That the last mentioned return be referred to the Joint Committee of the Senate and House of Commons on the Printing of Parliament.

Hon. Mr. RYAN moved, seconded by Hon. Mr. FERRIER,

That an humble address be presented to His Excellency the Governor-General, praying that His Excellency will be pleased to cause to be laid before this House, copies of any correspondence, proposals or suggestions received during the present Session of Parliament, by the Hon. the Minister of Fisheries and Marine, having reference to deepening and improving the Ship Channel between Quebec and Montreal, and to reconstructing and uniting the Trinity Board and Harbor Trusts of Montreal.

The question of concurrence being put thereon, the same was resolved in the affirmative, and it was Ordered, That such members of the Privy Council as are members of this House do wait on His Excellency the Governor-General with the said address.

Hon. Mr. WILMOT moved, seconded by Hon. Mr. WARK,

That an humble address be presented to His Excellency the Governor-General, praying that His Excellency will be pleased to direct that copies of all documents and surveys relative to the construction of a canal connecting the waters of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, with those of the Bay of Fundy, may be procured from the Local Governments of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, and submitted to the Commissioner of the Board of Works for his report thereon, to be laid before Parliament at its next Session.

The question of concurrence being put thereon, the same was resolved in the affirmative, and it was Ordered, That such members of the Privy Council as are members of this House do wait on His Excellency the Governor-General with the said address.

Hon. Mr. ALLAN, from the Committee on standing orders and private Bills, to whom was referred the Bill intituled "An Act to incorporate the Canadian Lake Underwriters' Association," reported the same with several amendments, which were ordered to be taken into consideration by the House at the next sitting thereof.

Hon. Mr. ALLAN, from same committee, reported without amendment the Bill intituled "An Act to amend the Acts relating to the Canada West Farmers' Mutual and Stock Insurance Company, and to change the name of the company to the Canada Farmers' Mutual Insurance Company," which said Bill was read a third time and passed, and a message ordered to be sent to the House of Commons, that the Senate have passed the Bill without any amendment.

The following Bills were discharged from the orders of the day on motion of Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL, seconded by Hon. Mr. Mitchell, viz:

"An Act respecting indictable offences by forgery."

"An Act respecting larceny and other similar offences,"

"An Act respecting malicious injuries to property,"

"An Act respecting offences relating to the coin."

The Bill intituled "An Act respecting copyright," was read a second time, and ordered to be referred to a Committee of the Whole at the next sitting of the House.

The House then resolved itself into Committee of the Whole on the Bill intituled "An Act respecting the manufacture or importation of copper coins and tokens," (Hon. Mr. Anderson in the chair). Reported the same with several amendments, and read a third time and passed, and sent down to the House of Commons for their concurrence.

Also, "An Act respecting trade marks and industrial designs," was passed through its several stages with some amendments, and ordered to be sent down to the House of Commons.

EXCISE DUTIES ON SPIRITS AND PETROLEUM.

The House went into Committee of the Whole on a Bill to impose excise duties on spirits and petroleum,

Hon. Mr. DICKSON in the chair.

Hon. Mr. WILMOT thought it was entirely wrong to place a duty upon oil, as light was one of the necessaries of life, and it entered into the consumption of every family. A part of the duty imposed upon many of our imports had to be paid by the person who sent the articles, but in this case the whole duty would have to come from our own people. It would operate very injuriously against our own industrial establishments. He knew one establishment in New Brunswick for the manufacture of the Albertine coal oil, which would have to be shut up, and the operatives discharged.

Hon. Mr. CHRISTIE said this tax was actually about fifty per cent. upon the original price of the oil, and it would operate very severely upon the poor people of the country.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL said the expense of light for a small family was not much, therefore this tax of five cents per gallon upon oil would not be felt very severely.

The Bill was then agreed to, when the SPEAKER having resumed the Chair, it was read a third time and passed.

The Bill intituled "An Act respecting the militia and defence of the Dominion of Canada," was read a first time, and ordered to be read a second time at the next sitting of the House.

The House then resolved itself into Committee of the Whole on the Bill intituled "An Act respecting the Governor-General, the Civil List, and the salaries of certain public functionaries, (Hon. Mr. MALHIOT in the chair), was read a third time, passed, and sent down to the House of Commons without amendment.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

WEDNESDAY, May 20, 1868.

The SPEAKER took the chair at eleven o'clock.

Hon. Mr. HOLTON asked that the minutes of the previous day should be read, on the ground that they had not been printed. His object was to prevent the forcing through of the Insurance Bill.

The minutes having been read by the Clerk in English,

Hon. Mr. HOLTON asked that the amendments to the Patents' Bill, referred to in the minutes, should also be read.

Sir J. A. MACDONALD denied the right of the hon. member to make such a demand, and the objection having been sustained by the SPEAKER,

Hon. Mr. HOLTON demanded that the minutes be read in French. He had desired, as a matter of favor, that the second reading of the Insurance Bill should be deferred until after two o'clock, in order to give himself time to enquire into the law and practice of Parliament in connection with this measure. He had made this a matter of private request before the House met, but as it had been declined, he was prepared to avail himself of all the rules of the House to vindicate the rights of the minority, and secure time for the examination of the point referred to.

Hon. J. ROSE said that the Government could not always consent to admit that public business was being carried on by sufferance of the member for Chateauguay. They had endeavored to meet him in a conciliatory way, but could not consent to be intimidated by threats, as had been used towards them that morning, (Mr. Holton—no, no), of obstruction, annoyance, and procrastination.

Hon. Mr. HOLTON—Order. I ask for the reading of the minutes in French. We can have this discussion afterwards.

Mr. BELLEROSE—We have them in French.

Hon. Mr. ROSE continued. These obstructions could only delay the prorogation. The House would, if necessary, sit till Monday in order to give an opportunity of pronouncing on the Bill.

Sir J. A. MACDONALD asked if the member for Chateauguay had not threatened to talk till two o'clock.

Mr. McKENZIE supported Mr. Holton's disclaimer, which he thought should be accepted. He thought that the threat had come from the other side—in the hint that the House might be forced to sit for a week to discuss the Bill.

The SPEAKER having declared the conversation out of order,

Mr. McKENZIE moved an adjournment, and continued at some length to maintain the necessity of granting time to consider so important a measure, which he was surprised to find brought forward when so few members remained in town. He complained that language had been applied to the Opposition which was ruled out of order when used against Ministers.

The discussion was maintained for some time longer in angry tones, and with much animation, between Sir J. A. MACDONALD, Hon. Mr. HOLTON and Hon. Mr. ROSE, and finally it was agreed that the second reading of the Bill should stand over until after four o'clock, and the subject dropped.

BAY OF FUNDY.

On the motion of Mr. BURPEE an address was voted asking for copies of surveys, plans, &c., with reference to the construction of a canal between the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the Bay of Fundy.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.

Before proceeding with the orders of the day, Mr. McKENZIE wished to call the attention of the Government to an extraordinary statement made by the chairman of the Grand Trunk Railway Company at the recent general meeting in London. That statement was to the effect that considerable additional Government assistance was expected by the company, and that the Minister of Finance would shortly arrive in town to arrange the matter.

Sir J. A. MACDONALD stated that there had been no negotiations whatever upon any such subject, after which the matter dropped.

PATENT LAW.

On the motion of Hon. Mr MACDOUGALL the Bill to amend chapter 34 of the Consolidated Statutes of Canada respecting Patents for Inventions, was, (after amendments had been proposed by Mr. SAVARY and Mr. BLAKE, and rejected, read a third time and passed.

SUPPLY.

On the motion of Hon. Mr. ROSE for the third reading of the Bill, "An Act for granting to Her Majesty cert in sums of money required for defraying certain expenses of the public service, for the financial years ending respectively the thirtieth of June, 1868, and the thirtieth June, 1869; and other purposes connected with the public service.

Mr. McKENZIE, in a speech of considerable length, condemned the whole financial policy of the Government, and contrasted their lavish expenditure on Militia and fortifications with their negligence of the Northwest territory, characterizing it as humiliating that residents of the Red River settlement were compelled to pass through American territory in order to reach their homes, while a shorter route existed through British territory, which needed only the attention of the Government to make it practicable.

Hon. Mr. MACDOUGALL pointed out that the Government had not yet got possession of the Northwest territory, but that all that was possible would be done towards opening the Red River road this season.

After some observations by Hon. Mr. HOLTON the House adjourned at two o'clock.

Afternoon Sitting.

The SPEAKER took the chair at four o'clock.

Hon. Mr. HOLTON enquired whether there had been further information with regard to the subject of the Northwest?

Hon. Sir JOHN A. MACDONALD said there had been a despatch received, pointing to legislation by the Imperial Parliament on the question, but it would not be in the interest of the public to give the information, as it could do no good here, and might embarrass the Colonial Office.

Hon. Mr. HOLTON also enquired if there had been any farther action taken in regard to the Intercolonial Railroad to the appointment of Commissioners.

Sir J. A. MACDONALD replied that the survey had not been completed as soon as was expected, but when that was completed, the route would be recommended to the Imperial Government, and the Commissioners would then be appointed—probably during the summer—and Parliament would be asked to acquiesce at its next meeting.

In answer to a further question from Hon. Mr. HOLTON,

Sir J. A. MACDONALD said the mission of Dr. TUPPER was simply to answer such questions as might be put to him by the Colonial Minister. Private letters had been received, but nothing further.

Mr. JONES (Leeds) spoke at length in reference to the acquisition of the Northwest, characterizing the course of the Minister of Public Works on this question as disgraceful and delusory. It seemed that since certain titles had been conferred it had been the leading idea of the recipients to imitate the extravagance of the aristocracy of England. The people did not care for these titles, but desired justice and economy. He denounced the appointment of members of Parliament as Commissioners of the Intercolonial Road without requiring them to return for approval to their constituents. It was such acts that had led to the rebellion of '37 8. In reference to the survey of that road the information had been before the Government and country for years, and the mission of Mr. Fleming, as his employment had been for years, was a useless piece of extravagance. If this course were pursued further, the whole sum granted for the building of the road would be consumed in surveys, and we would be no wiser than at present.

Mr. BLAKE had warned the Government, that the course they were pursuing on the Northwest question was a wrong one. It had been held that no recognition of claims should be entertained, but it was now clear that the claims of the Hudson's Bay must be recognized. When it had been said that if there was any claims they must be settled in Canadian Courts, and stock would consequently fall and make the acquisition easier; and further that any sum we had to pay would be raised by a guaranteed loan. These and other promised advantages now turned out to be utterly fallacious. The policy of the Government had not met the approbation of the Imperial Government, and they would finally find it utterly overthrown.

Dr. PARKER followed on the same ground, and further argued that before our Government entered into this negociation they should have sent out some practical persons to give some information as to what value we would receive for our expenditure. On the information now possessed, he (Dr. Parker) would not purchase an acre of land in that territory. He then reviewed at length the legislation of the Session under the direction of the Government, showing that it had a fair trial, and ought not to retain the confidence or toleration of the House, or the country, any longer. The expenses incurred would astonish the people of the Dominion, and this extravagance was the result of a weak and inefficient administration.

Hon. Mr. MACDOUGALL said the speeches just made were intended for the country. His hon. friend from West Durham seemed to gloat over the statement that other parties had made propositions to the Imperial Government, which weakened the position of Canada. He (Mr. McDougall) thought it rather a subject of regret, but the Government could not be blamed in that matter. The Government had sufficient information that the Northwest was a great country and fit for a great agricultural population; and it was the proper policy for the Government to endeavor to get possession of it without conditions, which would retard emigration. He had agreed to accept a position in the Government at some inconvenience to himself as a politician, to work out a great policy, and he would continue in it so long as he believed it to be his duty to do so, but the moment he thought his continuance would be detrimental to that great project he would leave it. He did not care whether men called themselves Conservatives, Radicals, or Clear Grits, so long as they worked fairly for the great object of consolidating the Dominion.

Hon. Mr. HOLTON replied briefly, and on motion of Hon. Mr. ROSE, the Supply Bill from 30th June 1867 to 30th June 1869, was read a third time and passed.

It being six o'clock the Speaker left the chair.

After Recess.

Hon. Mr. ROSE moved the second reading of the Insurance Bill.

Hon. Mr. HOLTON urged several objections to the Bill. He considered it embraced a subject that did not come within the jurisdiction of the Dominion Parliament, and thought that its final passage should be postponed until next Session. He said it partook of a character of forced loan.

Mr. McKENZIE believed the Bill would fail to secure the object professed to be desired—security to the public. Some companies had very large liabilities, and the supervision of companies was of much more importance than any mere security that could be given. He also considered it was interfering with the province of the Local Governments.

Hon Mr. ROSE said that companies holding their charters from any of the Legislatures of the Provinces would be exempt from the provisions of this Bill, as well as those that might hereafter be incorporated by any of the Local Legislatures, and carrying on business within the Province wherein their charter was granted. By this means every trouble with Local authorities would be avoided.

Mr. McKENZIE said that companies might receive charters from each of the Provincial Governments, and thus while carrying on business in the whole Dominion, evade the provisions of this Bill. He would move in amendment that the Bill be not read a second time, but it be resolved that in the opinion of this House the regulation of Insurance Companies is a subject properly within the jurisdiction of Provincial Legislatures.

A discussion then took place, Mr. BLAKE supporting the amendment, and Hon. Messrs. CHAUVEAU, J. H. CAMERON, and DUNKIN opposing.

The amendment was then put and lost: Yeas, 5; Nays, 44.

The Bill was then read a second time, and the House went into Committee upon it. (Mr. CHAMBERLIN in the chair.)

The Committee then rose and reported the Bill as amended. It was then read a third time and passed.

On motion of Sir J. A. MACDONALD, an Act to provide for taking evidence in Canada, in relation to civil and commercial matters,

The Bill respecting Forgery, Perjury, and Intimidation, in connection with the Provincial Legislatures and their acts (from Senate), was then read a second time, passed through Committee, amended, and read a third time and passed.

Mr. A. P. MACDONALD moved that the order for the third reading of the Canada Live Stock Insurance Company be discharged.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL moved the second reading of the Bill relating to the rate of interest in Nova Scotia. Second reading ordered for Friday next.

Hon. Mr. MACDOUGALL entered into a lengthy defence of the Chief Engineer of Public Works, (Mr. Page), in order to disabuse the mind of the public with reference to the charges made by the member for Lambton, and widely circulated in the Western newspapers. He also read a statement made by Mr. Page in explanation of the charges made against him. This statement was long and minute, and seemed to be a fair one.

Mr. McKENZIE replied, maintaining that his statements were quite justified, and going minutely into the statement, to show that he had been correct. It was a question of fact, and by the next Session he would be prepared to maintain his position before a committee of the House.

In reply to Mr. HOLTON, Sir G. E. CARTIER stated that the only matter to be brought before the House on Friday would be a resolution or address for $10,000, for the purpose of paying volunteer officers $1 per day for drill during the 16 days to be put in during the current year.

Sir J. A. MACDONALD said it was extended to officers as a matter of principle, the officers being willing to give their services gratuitously, rather than a proper military distinction should not be maintained.

After remarks from Hon. Mr. HOLTON, Messrs. CHAMBERLIN, and McKENZIE.

On motion of Sir J. A. MACDONALD, the House adjourned at twenty minutes past eleven o'clock, until Friday at eleven o'clock a.m.

CABLE NEWS

YESTERDAY'S DESPATCHES.

LONDON, May 19.—Hungary asks the treaty-making power to negotiate with the United States of America a convention by which she may fully participate in the benefits of the treaty for the protection of naturalized citizens, recently concluded by the American Government with the North German Confederation.

THIS MORNING'S DESPATCHES.

LONDON, May 20.—The political news to-day is unimportant.

BERLIN, May 20.—The Zollverein Diet has refused to impose a tax on petroleum.

VIENNA, May 20.—The Emperor of Austria has given his assent to the law passed by the Reichsrath establishing the legal equality of religious sects.

LONDON, May 20.—The Government has forbidden the deposition of Dr. Colenzo, Bishop of Natal.

PARIS, May 20.—In the Corps Legislatif today, during the debate on the interpelation in regard to commercial treaties, Minister Rouher made an important speech, defending the free trade policy of the Government. He declared that the commercial crisis raised in this Chamber, was now ended. France would not renounce the treaty of 1860 with Great Britain, nor forego advantages of other commercial treaties of a similar character; nor would she destroy the good effects of the vote of the Chamber in the cause of commercial reform, for the tendency of the Government was to refer questions of reform to the Legislature. He concluded by expressing the conviction that free trade constituted the basis of the future greatness and commercial prosperity of the country.

AMERICAN NEWS.

YESTERDAY'S DESPATCHES

Stealing the Plates off the Coffins Containing the Putnam Family.

BOSTON, May 19.—One of the most revolting and depraved robberies ever heard of has been discovered in the town of Danvers. A tomb in the old burying-ground holding the remains of the Putnam family for generations past was broken into by some young men who stole the silver plates from the coffins, then broke the coffins open, stole the skeletons of the dead, and sold them to a manufacturer of bone manure. Some boys who were playing about the bone yard got hold of a human skull, and were using it for a foot ball when a man passing discovered the nature of their amusement, and a further investigation disclosed the horrible facts. Some of the thieves have been arrested.

How the Impeachment Trial is Conducted.

NEW YORK, May 20.—The Tribune's Washington special says: In the investigation before the impeachment managers yesterday, Mr. Dunlevy testified that he had been sent by Wooley to Judge Blackman, of Ohio, offering him $2,500, if he (Blackman), would use his influence to defeat the conviction of the President, which Blackman declined. C. W. Wooley was next called. At first he denied the right of the managers to question him on this subject, but at last he accounted for about $9,000 in dinners for the President's counsel. He said he was a lawyer, and had come to Washington in the interest of his client with $2,500. He declined to tell what became of the remaining $16,000, and was put into the custody of the Sergeant-at-Arms. A host of witnesses is yet to be examined.

Important Mail-Carrying Contract.

The Post Office Department has made mail-carrying contracts with the New York Central Railroad Company, including two lines of postal cars between Albany and Buffalo, also between Rochester and the Suspension Bridge. All contracts are to take effect on the first of July.

The Vice-Presidency.

CHICAGO, (midnight) May 19.—For Vice-President Fenton stock is highest; Colfax next; Wade is losing ground. It is conceded that Grant will be nominated for President by acclamation.

THIS MORNING'S DESPATCHES.

Opening of the Republican National Convention.

CHICAGO, May 20.—The Republican National Convention was called to order at noon. The hall was filled and many people could not gain admittance. The interest is mainly centred in the nomination for the Vice-Presidency, and the impeachment question. Wade made considerable strength for the impeachment movement, and present indications are that he will receive 100 to 120 votes on the first ballot. Gen. Carl Schurz was made temporary chairman. The Convention adjourned until evening.

Denial of the Attempted Assassination of Gen. Logan.

YORK, PA., May 20.—The railroad officials at the station here deny the report of an attempt to assassinate Gen. Logan.

New York Money Market.

NEW YORK, May 20.—The Post's financial article says: Money abundant at 5 per cent.
Governments active at an advance.
The stock market is still inactive.
At the second board stocks were steady.
Gold closed at 138½.

CARPETS AND HOUSE FURNISHINGS.—Garland Mutchmor & Co. make this department a speciality. They have just received a large stock and invite the attention of parties furnishing to it. Purchasers will find their stock in this department second to none in Ottawa. 582-y

CARELESSNESS.—Many persons neglect their horses' health and condition until it is too late, when at a trifling expense and no trouble the horse might have been saved if attended to in time. To all who may have occasion to use an article of the kind we would confidently recommend "Darley's Arabian Heave Remedy and condition medicine; it is without doubt the best preparation in use, as thousands who have used it testify. Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co. is on each package. Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C.W., proprietors for the Canada. Sold by all medicine dealers.

The steamer City of Antwerp took out for Europe, on Saturday, $450,000, the Ville de Paris, $1,400,000, and the Erin, $54,000.

—Juries in England have some privileges not yet accorded in this country. In a recent case at Chester, a bill of £5 for liquor and cigars consumed by the jurors was allowed by the court. At a late session in this city a juror was peremptorily refused a glass of Gianelli's Bitters.

—Twenty years experience in using Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers have proved them to be the most effectual remedy for coughs, and irritation of the throat, caused by cold, or unusual exertion of the vocal organs; public speakers and singers will find them most beneficial. The entire freedom from all deleterious ingredients, renders Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers, or Cough or Voice Lozenges, a safe remedy for the most delicate person, and has caused them to be held in high esteem by all who have used them. Sold by all medicine dealers at 25 cents per box.

—Is this not true. There is scarcely anything but what may be applied beneficially in some way, either simply or in compound. West's Sarza Compositum we believe to be an excellent medicine for purifying the blood, and curing diseases of the Lungs, Stomach, Liver, Kidneys, &c. It has never been equalled for such diseases excepting by that particular Indian Medicine the Great Shoshonees Remedy; of course we do not deny the superiority of this article over all other remedies of the 19th century.

THE RECIPROCITY TREATY.—Again rumors reach us that the Reciprocity Treaty is in danger, and we have reason to fear there is some foundation for these statements, but we have every faith in the "Canadian Pain Destroyer" in cases of rheumatism, neuralgia, burns, bruises, &c. Can be had in every city, town or village at 25 cents per bottle. Sold by all medicine dealers.

The Florence Nightingale of the Nursery.—The following is an extract from a letter written by the Rev. C. Z. Weizer, to the German Reformed Messenger, at Chambersburg, Penn.:

A BENEFACTRESS.—Just open the door for her, and MRS. WINSLOW will prove the American Nightingale of the Nursery. Of this we are sure, that we will teach our "SUSY" to say "A Blessing on Mrs. Winslow," for helping her to survive and escape the griping, colicking and teething ge We confirm every word set forth in the prospectus It performs precisely what it professes to perform, every part of it—nothing less. Away with your "Cordial," "Paregoric," "Drops," "Laudanum," and every other "Narcotic," by which the babe is drugged into stupidity, and rendered dull and idiotic for life.

We have never seen Mrs. Winslow—know her only through the preparation of her "Soothing Syrup for Children Teething." If we had the power, we would make her, as she is, a physical saviour to the infant race. 25 cents a bottle. Sold by all druggists. Mothers Read This!—Holloway's Worm Lozenges are a certain and safe remedy for Worms in Children and Adults.—As it is a well-known and melancholy fact that one great cause of death among children is from Worms alone, it cannot be too deeply impressed upon the minds parents the necessity of closely watching their children. By so doing; and understanding the symptoms and true cause of the disease, thousands of children might be saved from early graves. SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.—The following are a few of the very numerous symptoms and diseases which are caused by Worms: deranged appetite, emaciated extremities, offensive breath frequent picking at the nose, grinding of the teeth during sleep, hardness of the belly, with frequent slimy stools, and sometimes convulsive fits; itching of the arms, pain in the head and stomach, unquiet sleep, faintings, tremblings, coughs, indigestion low spirits, frightful dreams, and a gradual wasting away of flesh.

They are palatable and self-administered to the child—drive out the worms thoroughly without pain and completely cleanse the stomach—thereby doing away with the necessity of administering Castor Oil or other unpleasant cathartics—as in the use of other Worms.

PAIN KILLER.

The Great Family Medicine of the Age.

THE UNIVERSAL REMEDY for INTERNAL & EXTERNAL COMPLAINTS!

OUR FIRST PHYSICIANS USE AND RECOMMEND ITS USE!

It Enjoys the Largest Sale of Any Proprietary Medicine in the World!

THE PAIN KILLER

HAS been favorably known for more than thirty years, during which time we HAVE RECEIVED THOUSANDS OF TESTIMONIALS, showing this Medicine to be an almost NEVER FAILING REMEDY for diseases caused by or attendant upon—Sudden Colds, Coughs, Fever and Ague, Headache, Billious Fever, Pains in the Side, Back and Loins, as well as in the Joints and Limbs; Neuralgic and Rheumatic Pains in any part of the system, Toothache and Pains in the Head and Face.

As a BLOOD PURIFIER and TONIC for the STOMACH, it seldom fails to cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Kidney Complaints, Sick Headache, Piles, Asthma or Phthisic, Ringworms, Boils, Felons, Whitlows, Old Sores, Swelled Joints, and General Debility of the System.

It is also a PROMPT and SURE REMEDY for Cramp and Pains in the Stomach, Painters' Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer Complaint, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Scalds, Burns, Sprains, Bruises, Frost Bites, Chilblains, as well as the Stings of Insects, and the Bites of Poisonous Insects and Venomous Reptiles.

☞ Directions accompany each bottle.

It has been tested in every variety of climate, and by almost every nation known to civilization. It is the almost constant companion and inestimable friend of the Missionary, and no traveller should be without it. Like every other good thing, the Pain Killer has been extensively counterfeited; which, (while it is an acknowledgment on the part of the counterfeiters of its real worth,) is a serious hinderance to its usefulness, as the deceived purchaser estimates the value of the Pain Killer by the base compound he has purchased for the genuine article.

Purchasers should be careful and not allow the dealer to sell them worthless imitations, on which they realize a larger profit, but take only the Pain Killer, and see that it is the genuine, bearing the signature of Perry Davis & Son upon the label.

The Pain Killer is sold at wholesale by Druggists and Medicine Dealers, and Commission Merchants, in the principal cities, and retailed by Apothecaries, Grocers, and at Variety Shops generally, throughout the world.

PASSPORTS FOR NATURALIZED SUBJECTS.

DOMINION OF CANADA.

Copy.
Circular.

DOWNING-STREET,
25th April, 1867.

SIR,—With reference to the Circular Despatch from this Department dated the 5th of June, 1866, relative to the case of Foreigners naturalized in any of Her Majesty's Colonies who wish to obtain British Passports for foreign travel—I have the honor to inform you that different cases have occurred lately in which such naturalized Foreigners have applied in this country for passports without being in possession either of a Passport from the Governor or of any Official Document from the Colony to establish their identity and character. You will readily perceive that this is calculated to embarrass this Department, and also to cause much private inconvenience to the persons concerned if they should find themselves unable to produce any sufficient evidence of their quality.

I have therefore to suggest that, in every Colony containing naturalized Foreigners who are likely to travel in Europe, it would be convenient that notice should from time to time be given in public newspapers of the necessity for such persons providing themselves before leaving the Colony with some official evidence of their identity and description.

I have the honor to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient
Humble servant,
Signed, BUCKINGHAM & CHANDOS

The Officer Administering
the Government, &c., &c., &c.

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE,
Ottawa, 8th May, 1868.

(With reference to the foregoing Circular Despatch.)

Notice is hereby given that parties requiring Passports must apply, until further notice, to this Department, transmitting at the same time a certificate of identity, accompanied in each case with a description of the applicant, signed by a Justice of the Peace and also the fee of one dollar.

H. L. LANGEVIN,
Secretary.

NOTICE.

THE Undersigned will either sell or let for a few years his well known farm, being lot Twenty-five in the Fourth Concession of Gloucester, Rideau Front, 215 acres all cleared, and well fenced and in a good state of cultivation. Also, the one-half of lot Twenty-seven in the Third Concession, being in its natural state, all wood and excellent land. It is just the cross of two hundred acres from the corner of the one lot to the other. The railroad line runs within ten feet of the front corner of the one hundred and in sight of the two hundred for two or three miles. The Station at Cunningham's is scarcely a mile and a half from the front of Lot Twenty-five. The above farm is capable of keeping thirty head of milch cows, two span of horses, and as many young cattle as it would be proper to raise. Eight or nine years ago I kept twenty-two milch cows, and ten or twelve horses, and raised five or six calves every year. The above farm is about ten miles, from the door, to the limits of the City. The improvements cannot be surpassed for a farmer's purpose. The dwelling-house is stone, 30 by 40, a story and a half over ground; and a cellar nine feet high, the one half used for a kitchen and the other half capable of holding 1,000 bushels of anything you wish to put into it; there is three small windows in it, and when cleaned in the Spring, makes an excellent milk-house or dairy; there is a frame wood shed at the door, 60 by 24, with 14 feet taken off the one end for a coachhouse, and overhead for a storehouse; next to that is a stable 36 by 26, finished inside, complete with four large double stalls and two single ones, and good room for hanging up harness, and oat box; convenient to that is a barn 40 by 50, in which I have often put 1,000 bushels of grain in one year; connected with that is 200 and 20 feet of frame sheds, all 20 and 24 deep, under pinned with stone and lime from two to seven feet, according to level; on the north side of the house is another barn, 30 by 40, commonly filled with peas and oats. And if either tennant or purchaser has a desire for religious purposes you can lie in your bed and look at the bell tolling on the Catholic Church every Holy Day, and go to the front door and you will see the Presbyterian Church, where the Rev. Mr. Lochead has preached for the last twenty-two years, and go to the back door and you will see both English Church and Methodist Church within two miles. The above farm would be a desirable situation for a young man wishing to give his attention to farming, as the Ottawa Market cannot be surpassed in the Dominion. I think that I can say that I have not sold one pound of butter under one shilling this eight years: if one went under two went over. Some reader may ask what am I selling for, it is neither for scant nor for want of anything, but I am in the seventieth year of my age, and has purchased off this lot seven hundred and fifty acres of land and all is paid for, and all my sons is settled on their own farms, so I would rather sit down and take my ease as be attending to marketing and farming any longer. Persons wishing to get any information on any point from me, can do so by addressing, post-paid, JAMES JOHNSTON, Senr., South Gloucester.

DARLEY'S

Arabian Heave Remedy

AND CONDITION MEDICINE

IS POSITIVELY SUPERIOR TO ANY or all other preparations for the cure of Heaves, Coughs, Thick and Broken Wind, and all diseases which affect the Wind of Horses; also, as a Condition Medicine, surpassing everything of the kind is easy to give, sure to cure, and safe in all cases and at all times, and does not prevent the horse from being worked while using it.

It cleanses the breathing apparatus, by removing from the air-cells the coagulable lymph, or that secretion which in heaves clogs them, causing a difficulty in breathing, and by its action on the diseased part, causing the mucous membrane to resume its natural dimensions, thus equalizing the circulation of the blood, and restoring the distended vessels to their natural size; by its use the horse's appetite is improved, all derangements of the digestive organs corrected, softening the skin, and giving to the coat a sleek and shining appearance.

PAIN KILLER.

The Great Family Medicine of the Age.

THE UNIVERSAL REMEDY for INTERNAL & EXTERNAL COMPLAINTS!

OUR FIRST PHYSICIANS USE AND RECOMMEND ITS USE!

It Enjoys the Largest Sale of Any Proprietary Medicine in the World!

THE PAIN KILLER

HAS been favorably known for more than thirty years, during which time we HAVE RECEIVED THOUSANDS OF TESTIMONIALS; showing this Medicine to be an almost NEVER FAILING REMEDY for diseases caused by or attendant upon—Sudden Colds, Coughs, Fever and Ague, Headache, Billious Fever, Pains in the Side, Back and Loins, as well as in the Joints and Limbs; Neuralgic and Rheumatic Pains in any part of the system, Toothache and Pains in the Head and Face.

As a BLOOD PURIFIER and TONIC for the STOMACH, it seldom fails to cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Kidney Complaints, Sick Headache, Piles, Asthma or Phthisic, Ringworms, Boils, Felons; Whitlows, Old Sores, Swelled Joints, and General Debility of the System.

It is also a PROMPT and SURE REMEDY for Cramp and Pains in the Stomach, Painters' Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer Complaint, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Scalds, Burns, Sprains, Bruises, Frost Bites, Chilblains, as well as the Stings of Insects, and the Bites of Poisonous Insects and Venomous Reptiles.

☞ Directions accompany each bottle.

It has been tested in every variety of climate, and by almost every nation known to civilization. It is the almost constant companion and inestimable friend of the Missionary, and no traveller should be without it. Like every other good thing, the Pain Killer has been extensively counterfeited; which, (while it is an acknowledgment on the part of the counterfeiters of its real worth,) is a serious hinderance to its usefulness, as the deceived purchaser estimates the value of the Pain Killer by the base compound he has purchased for the genuine article.

Purchasers should be careful and not allow the dealer to sell them worthless imitations, on which they realize a larger profit, but take only the Pain Killer, and see that it is the genuine, bearing the signature of Perry Davis & Son upon the label.

The Pain Killer is sold at wholesale by Druggists and Medicine Dealers, and Commission Merchants, in the principal cities, and retailed by Apothecaries, Grocers, and at Variety Shops generally, throughout the world.

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1864,

AND AMENDMENTS THEREOF.

In the matter of WILLIAM N. BARRIE and JOHN McMARTIN, Insolvents.

BY virtue of the power vested in me as Assignee of the estate and effects of the above named Insolvents, and also under and by virtue of an order made by James Daniell, Esquire, Judge of the County Court of the United Counties of Prescott and Russell in that behalf, I will on THURSDAY, the twenty-sixth day of June next, offer or sale by Public Auction, at the hour of ten o'clock, in the forenoon of the said day, at the office of Messrs. Morland, Watson and Company, in the City of Montreal, all the real estate and interest of the said Insolvent John McMartin, of and in the lands and premises in the Township of North Plantagenet, and County of Prescott, and Province of Ontario, hereinafter particularly mentioned and described. That is to say:

1st. All the real estate, interest and equity of redemption of the said John McMartin of what nature or kind soever, whether as devisee under the will of Alexander McMartin, deceased, or otherwise, of and in lot number nine, (9) in the fourth (4th) concession, old survey of the said Township of Plantagenet, East of the South Nation River.

2nd. All the real estate, interest and equity of redemption of the said John McMartin, of what nature and kind soever, whether as devisee under the will of the said Alexander McMartin, deceased, or otherwise, of and in Lot Number Ten (10), in the Fourth (4th) Concession, old survey of the said Township East of the South Nation River.

The said two lots are supposed to contain together 399 acres more or less.

3rd. All the real estate and interest and equity of redemption of the said John McMartin, of what nature and kind sover, either in his own right, or as devisee under the will of the said Alexander McMartin, deceased, or otherwise, howsoever, of and in that part of Lot Eleven, (11) in the said Fourth (4th) Concession, old survey of the said Township of North Plantagenet, known as McMartin's Saw Mills, with the privileges and appurtenances to the same belonging. Also of and in the premises known as the old Store, the large Store House the large stable and premises connected therewith, also of and in the Dwelling House now occupied by the said John McMartin, and the outbuildings therewith connected, and lying and being in the Village of Plantagenet Mills aforesaid.

The said several premises will be sold subject to the several mortgages charged upon same, and the said mill and mill premises and other the premises last mentioned with their appurtenances, will be sold subject to the interest of the said Insolvents as copartners or of either of them therein, under the partnership articles the lease therein mentioned or otherwise howsoever at the time of their insolvency for the residue of the unexpired term of fifteen years from the 1st day of December, 1865, and to the mortgages thereon.

There is a rent of one dollar annually, payable during said term to the said John McMartin as devisee thereof, under the will of the said Alexander McMartin.

Terms—Cash.

For further particulars apply to Edward Taylor Dartneil, Esquire, L'Orignal, Solicitor for the Assignee, or to the Assignee.

The Ottawa Times

FRIDAY, MAY 22, 1868.

His Excellency the Governor-General will come to the Senate Chamber at two o'clock to-day, when the first Session of the first Parliament of the Dominion will be closed with the usual formalities.

The House meets to-day at eleven for the purpose of making provision for the payment of $1 per day to the Volunteer Officers during drill. This proposal will, we are quite sure, meet the general approval, as it is admitted on all hands that these gentlemen have to make heavy sacrifices, both of time and money, to maintain the Volunteer organization.

It is stated in well informed circles here, that the Earl of Mayo will succeed Viscount Monck in the Governor-Generalship of Canada, and that the Earl may be expected out in July.

It is also said that His Excellency the Governor-General will shortly leave Rideau Hall, and take up his residence at Spencer Wood, for the brief remaining period of his term of office. Lord Monck has seen the inception, and, to a certain extent, the completion, of the Confederation movement, and among the distinguishing features of his administration, the Union of the two political parties in 1864 to effect this object will ever hold a prominent place. The reports which for the past year have from time to time been circulated of his withdrawing from Canada, and being succeeded by the distinguished nobleman whose name is mentioned above, will probably receive their confirmation within the next two months.

We give place to-day to the memorandum submitted by the Hon. Commissioner of Public Works, in reply to the member for Lambton's charges against Mr. Page, with respect to the alterations and repairs in the Parliament Buildings. This is a hobby which Mr. McKenzie rides every Session. He has the whole matter off by rote, and with the powers of sarcasm which he undoubtedly possesses, a quality by no means rare in his countrymen, he can make out at least a plausible case, so long as the other side is not presented to view. But when the other side comes to be examined, the Lambtonian invective is robbed of its sting. The points raised by Mr. McKenzie are well met in the memorandum which we publish elsewhere, and though it may serve a political purpose to decry against extravagance, yet the independent testimony of professional men, ought to be held as of more weight than the unsupported assertions of politicians who are known and even famous for tramping up charges against the powers that be. People are not unwilling to believe in charges of jobbery and corruption, however loosely made, and therefore it is necessary that the plain facts should be laid before the public.

The Hon. Mr. Macdougall is not responsible for Mr. Page's appointment; but he willingly assumes the responsibility of his continuance in charge of the works over which he found him placed when he assumed office. Mr. Page's high character for honesty and ability, acknowledged by successive Governments of all shades of politics, will give weight to his plain, unvarnished statement of the facts connected with the several items of expenditure challenged, and we fancy that the public will accept his explanation in preference to the assertions of the member for Lambton.

The following was intended as the subject-matter of a speech, to have been delivered with closed doors, when the Speaker took the chair to-day, by one of the "unphotographed" members who thereby wished to take satisfaction out of the Reporters' gallery. But as the rain of yesterday presented a tempting occasion for setting out the cabbage plants, the hon. gentleman hurriedly left for home, and confided his notes to us. Want of familiarity with his caligraphy must be our apology for any mistakes we may have made in amplifying his notes:

VIEWS FROM THE FLOOR.

By an "Unphotographed" Member.

Mr. Speaker,—

I have seen, sir, in recent numbers of the United Service Gazette a series of sketches entitled "Photographs in the Commons," which, sir, I indignantly stamp as a breach of the privileges of this House (hear, hear). Mr. Speaker, I have stood on the floor of this House, as much as a minute at a time, vainly endeavoring to catch your eye, and failing in that, sir, I have cast my own at the Reporters' Gallery, and, sir, I wish to show this House that those gentlemen in the gallery are not the only ones who can do a little at viva voce, or pen and ink, photography. But, sir, why should any member of this House be photographed against his own good pleasure? Why should the honorable member for South Wentworth be set in classics? Why the glossy locks of Missisquoi dallied with by the profane fingers of a mere reporter? Why the low insinuation of the shop, that that hon. gentleman was a "type?" Sir, my hon. friend from Missisquoi is the owner of bushels of type, (hear, hear,) and I speak here to-day, sir, with closed doors, to mark my disapprobation of the unwarranted liberties indulged in by gentlemen of the press. (Great applause.) And, sir, when a "goose feather" and a "boomerang" and the "twang of the yew"—the latter, sir, no doubt intended for the bleating of a sheep—are all promiscuously blended with my friend Mr. Rymal, I say, sir, there is a mixture and confusion of ideas, not only derogatory to the hon. member, but subversive of the dignity of this honorable House. (Renewed applause.) And, sir, it has been insinuated that the leader of the Government has curly hair, and that the Minister of Militia——but why review the long list of infractions against our rights and privileges? Why should one man be photographed and not another? Sir, have my speeches been reported? (A voice—Not quite.) Mr. Speaker, I anticipated that remark and was prepared for it, but, sir, if my speeches are not reported, and my picture not taken, I can write the one out myself and get the other for a york shilling any day from the gentlemanly artist who operates on a vacant lot in our village with his apparatus perched on a hand cart neatly encased in canvas. Sir, I do not want my picture taken by "our own artist" of the United Service Gazette. (Hear, hear.) But, sir, I wish to show this House that I can photograph the Reporters' Gallery if the Reporters' Gallery can't photograph me. [A blank was here left for "laughter," but we hesitate to insert it.—Ed.] Sir, let us take a look at immediately behind your own chair. Are the occupants of those narrow stalls fit to photograph, or be photographed? From the loungers who hang themselves lazily over the desks, and peer down upon this honorable House, to the loafers behind them, with heels perched on the railings of their stalls—are they not a fine picture? Sir, beginning at the pillar which divides this den of stalled scribblers ["laughter" was also intended to have come in here—Ed.] from the gallery of more promiscuous but respectable resort, and running the eye along this whole Reporters' Gallery is there to be seen one man who is worth a photograph? Sir, they have talked of the "dark hair" of honorable members of this House, but is it not the fact that the burly figure, half concealed behind the pillar to which I have just alluded, has dark hair and a wig at that. (Great laughter.) And, sir, with respect to the allusion so improperly made against the member for Missisquoi on this very subject of hair, is it not true that in the immediate neighborhood of the figure to which I have just alluded, there is a portly youth of thirty summers, with his hair daintily parted down the middle and straightened at the expense of the contingencies of this House? (Another blank for laughter or applause.) But, sir, following up the question of hair so indecently raised against the member for Missisquoi, do we not frequently see in close proximity to those already described, one with not only "dark," but glossy black hair, with moustache and whiskers, too, and such a hat under his arm! He, sir, is a fit companion picture to the two already mentioned. Look again at the long drawn form of humanity, with Roman nose and marble features—and on his left the gay youth who dares to raise an opera glass before his eyes and stare right into the faces of the venerable—sir I mean honorable—ladies—members—I should say—of another House! The artist in the gallery takes a column for a solitary picture, but I can put two in a single sentence (hear, hear). Need I ask you to look at the figure enclosed in the adjoining stall? We have heard of "toilet" in these photographs, but, sir, I ask is this dainty limner who sits behind an eye-glass the man to cast reflections upon hon. members because a few of them do choose to bestow a little extra care on their personal appearance? Sir, I am disposed to be severe upon this particular stall, but I pass it and all its occasional occupants with silent contempt, and merely ask you to glance at the dissolving views in the next to the left, taking in the melancholy figure who hugs the adjoining pillar as if he bore the burthen of Atlas upon his shoulders. Why do these two busy bodies bob up and down, and watch so eagerly for the silvery tones of my hon. friend from Lambton? Why the melancholy look of our grizzly friend who leans against the pillar? Ah sir! the load of Atlas weighs upon their shoulders, and a greater than he who hugs the pillar has been found in him with the black moustache! Mr. Speaker, I suppose His Excellency is waiting for you in another place, and I shall dismiss the other loungers, to whom I had intended to direct attention, without a word. I rose, sir, to a question of privilege—to vindicate the rights of the unphotographed members, and, sir, to take down the Reporters' Gallery—and I have done it (great cheering from the unphotographed.)

The subject to which the letter of "A Giver of Fair Play" refers is of no public interest, hence we cannot afford to throw away our space upon it. This explanation, "altered to suit," will meet the case of several other correspondents.

METROPOLITAN RIFLE ASSOCIATION.

Yesterday, pursuant to notice, a general meeting of those interested in this Association was held at the City Hall, kindly granted by His Worship the Mayor for such meeting, and among those present we observed His Worship the Mayor, Dr. Grant, M.P., Majors Forrest, Grant and Seale, Dr. Garvey, Capts. Perry, Brush, May, McGillivray, Morgan, Higginson, Lieut. Falls, &c.

Major Forrest having taken the chair, Capt. Perry, Secretary, read several communications, together with the minutes of previous meetings.

The constitution was then read, clause by clause, and adopted, after which the following officers were elected by the members of the Association:—

President—Lieut.-Col. W. F. Powell.

Vice-Presidents—J. M. Currier, Esq., M.P., Dr. Grant, M.P., John Holmes, Esq., M.P., and Alonzo Wright, Esq., M.P.

Council—Major Forrest, do. Grant, do. Bearman, do. Seale; Capt. Perry, do. May, do. Morgan, do. Forsyth, do. Parsons, do. Higginson, do. Corbett, do. Brush, do. McGillivray, do. Ashford, do. Craig; Lieut. Clarke, do. Gemmill, do. Mowatt, do. Graham, do. Falls, do. Armstrong; Quarter-Master Lang; Surgeon Garvey; Adjt. McPherson; W. B. Lindsay, Esq.; T. D. Harington, Esq., Nicholas Sparks, Esq., W. P. Lett, Esq.

The meeting then adjourned to allow the council to proceed with their business. In accordance with letters received, His Excellency the Governor-General and their Excellencies the Lieut.-Governors of Ontario and Quebec were appointed patron and vice-patrons respectively. The secretary was requested to write to several gentlemen requesting them to become honorary vice-patrons, and in the event of their acceding, they shall be placed on the list of honorary vice-patrons.

Capt. Perry was then elected Secretary, and a by-law will be made appointing Lieut. Gemmill as Assistant-Secretary. Capt. May was appointed Treasurer, after which the following members of the Council were constituted a Managing Committee—Major Forrest, do. Grant, do. Seale; Capt. Brush, do. Higginson, do. McGillivray; Lieut. Clarke, do. Mowatt, do. Graham, do. Falls.

A resolution was passed requesting the gentlemen in whose hands are the surplus funds of last year's tournament, now amounting to over sixty-six dollars, to pay the same over to the Treasurer, on account of the Metropolitan Rifle Association.

The meeting then adjourned.

THE ALTERATIONS IN THE PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS.

Before the House adjourned on Wednesday evening Hon. Mr. MACDOUGALL said that he desired to reply to certain charges made by the hon. member for Lambton against a prominent officer of the Board of Public Works—Mr. Page. The speech of the hon. gentleman containing these charges had been very fully reported in a Western newspaper, (the Globe) and an article containing strong editorial comments—comments not at all justifiable—followed the speech. As he (Mr. McD.) had previously stated, he did not feel it his special duty to enter into a defence of all the matters charged by the hon. member, because, in the first place, he (Mr. McD.) had not personally a knowledge of the details; and secondly, because he was not chief of the officer in question at the time covered by these charges. But on coming into office, knowing no reason to the contrary, he had extended his confidence to Mr. Page, and that confidence, he firmly believed, had not been misplaced. He (Mr. McD.) had directed that a full explanation of the charges preferred against that officer should be prepared for submission to Parliament and to the country. He had to-day examined that statement and arrived at the conclusion, in which he believed the House would join, that so far as Mr. Page was concerned, nothing blameworthy could be laid to his charge. (Hear, hear.) With respect to these public buildings there was much to complain of. There had been many mistakes, and clearly some one was to blame, not only for the adoption of a plan unsuited to our climate, but for the estimates and contracts as originally agreed upon. It was unnecessary for his present purpose to express any opinion as to where the blame lay; but he would say that as far as Mr. Page was concerned, he was not consulted, and had given no advice upon these points. The charges preferred by the hon. member for Lambton, all arose out of sundry changes and alterations made after the buildings were completed. Mr. Page was the Chief Engineer of the Public Works Department. It was no part of his duty to advise upon questions of architecture, but from his high character, acknowledged ability and honesty, the Government had assigned him the duty of coming to Ottawa to superintend the work under the second contract, and to fit the public buildings for the reception of the Legislature. An order in Council was passed giving him additional remuneration for that work. It was against his wishes that this additional and difficult task was imposed upon him; but he felt it his duty to obey the directions of the Government. As the employment was not of Mr. Page's seeking, he (Mr. McD.) submitted that if there was anything wrong in the matter of additional salary, the Government and not Mr. Page, ought to be blamed. As head of the Department of Public Works, he (Mr. McD.) felt bound to see that all the subordinates in that Department had fair play, when charged with misconduct. He would not stop to enquire into their history, or the political party they belonged to, but would contend that in every case there should be a hearing and investigation into the specific charges made before judgment. (Hear, hear.) He would now furnish a specific answer to the several allegations made in the speech of the member for Lambton, and if this did not satisfy the hon. member it would be for him to consider whether he ought not to strike a committee next Session to investigate the matter fully, and to take the opinion of disinterested persons of the requisite professional skill on the points in dispute. The following statement had been prepared by Mr. Page. It covered every item mentioned or objected to by the member for Lambton; and in two cases with reference to which two or three hon. members had spoken to him, he had obtained a measurement and valuation by Mr. Hutchison, Clerk of Works—a practical man, well known, he believed, to the member for Lambton, as a person whose statements and opinions were entitled to credit.

Mr. MACDOUGALL then read the following memorandum:

1st. "Mr. McKenzie says that the shelving of the Post Office cost $1,450—it should have only cost $650 at schedule rates. Overcharge $800."

The schedule is wholly inapplicable to this class of work. There is no work of the elaborate character of the screen at the Post Office embraced in the contract. It is an entire mistake to suppose that the sum of $1,450 was paid for the shelving—that sum represents the whole cost of the work. Mr. McKenzie's estimate of $650 would not pay for the screen ("with its columns, carved caps and wrought bases of cherry—the cornice having a continuous carved member")—glazing and cresting without any shelving whatever. This screen, it will readily be seen by any one, is of a most expensive class of work. The fact is there is no shelving, the interior work consists of about 650 "pigeon boxes." This is of a much more expensive class of work than mere "shelving."

2nd. "He says lift, which cost $170, should not have cost more than $41 at schedule rates."

There are no lifts of this kind provided for in the schedule. The mere cost of the lift, standards, ropes, wheels, &c., does not fairly represent the value of the work, as the concrete floor had to be removed—the iron joists cut and afterwards secured. On the lower floor, the lift was enclosed and a door for access provided.

3rd. "Two screens at East and West corridors cost $310 each. Value at schedule rates stated by Mr. McKenzie to be $180 each."

These screens are of elaborate tracery work, deeply moulded on both sides; and the remark previously made as to the inapplicability of the schedule rates to the Post Office screen apply even more forcibly to this work. The screens have ornamental wrought iron cresting on top; the doors are made in two leaves, and so as to swing in either direction.

4th. "Post Office to Senate $1,200. Mr. McKenzie values it at $520 at schedule rates."

The schedule is entirely inapplicable to this work, and the sum at which it is valued by Mr. McKenzie would not pay for the screen, glazing, and cresting. The same remarks as to the interior, which refer to the Post Office, Commons' side, are also applicable to this item, except that the number of pigeon boxes is about 260.

5th. "Lifts Senate side cost $170. Mr. McKenzie's valuation $41."

Same remarks apply, as to lifts on Commons' side.

6th. "Screen in front of retiring room cost $345, should have cost $210."

This work is of a still more expensive character than the Post Office screen, inasmuch as both its faces are wrought. It is also glazed with heavy plate glass, ground. The price, $210, estimated by Mr. McKenzie, does not represent anything like the cost of the work.

7th. "He says the platform of the Speaker's chair, i. e., merely the three steps, exclusive of upholstery, &c., was paid for at $130. Should have cost at schedule rates $70."

This platform is constructed on a series of heavy joists, which were necessary to support it and the high back. The steps themselves are circular work, and there is a pedestal on each side, in which were drawers. The back is double sheeted, in rear of it were shelving and doors. The sum paid for this work includes the making of three openings for ventilation through the concrete floor underneath the platform, all of which it is absurd to say could be done for $70. See valuation by Mr. W. Hutchison, hereto appended, wherein he states that this work is worth $138 93.

8th. "Throne in Senate Chamber, $447, should cost, as nearly as Mr. McKenzie could estimate, $200."

The platform of this throne is 9 ft. x 7 ft. 6 in., front circular, and three steps above floor, back and top circular, double sheeted, and of 6 in. x 6 in. scantling, framed, morticed and tenoned, and strapped with iron—strengthened and arranged to carry the heavy coat-of-arms in front, bookshelves, with doors, &c., in back. The bottom is of heavy timbers and joists well connected, so as to ensure the stability of the whole, and there is a large amount of iron bolts, straps, and other work which cannot now be seen. The sum of $200, estimated by Mr. McKenzie, for the execution of this work, would barely provide the materials.

9th. "Common rough shelving in vaults for keeping records and papers was put down at $512, should cost only $369, at schedule rates."

There is of this 4,400 feet, which, at the schedule rate of 10 cents per foot, would, of itself, amount to $440. The remaining $72 represents the cost of standards, cutting a doorway through the wall between two vaults, &c. Additional expense was entailed by these shelves having to be put up in numerous divisions.

10th. "Some work in the attics, shelving doors, and glazing for windows, was charged $394, and should have been $136."

There is in the partitions of this work

1,292 feet of 1¼ inch boards, matched and dressed on both sides (fastening strips included) at 12 cts.	$155.04
Shelving 1,644 feet at 10 cents, (schedule price)	164 40
Stuffs, &c.	31.56
Furnishing and hanging nine doors, and making and placing, and glazing nine small windows	43.00
	$394.00

11th. "Fitting up a record room in the Senate should have cost only $90. Paid $240."

The shelving alone (at the schedule rates) amounts to about the sum estimated by Mr. McKenzie for the whole work. But in addition to the shelving the contractor had to floor the saloon, put up a door and steps to tramway, construct a brick wall between the piers, plaster it on both sides, and put in a window to light the passage.

12th. "Fitting up stationery room, Senate, should have cost $56, paid $164."

The cost of fitting up the stationery room up stairs was $134, not $164.

This was made up of 1,340 feet of shelving, at the schedule price 10 cents	$134.00
In the basement vault there are 300 feet at 10 cents	30.00

13th. "The wooden post on which the rails of the bar of the House rested was worth $5, and $25 was paid; and when it was removed from the end of the Hall to the side, $25 were again charged and paid."

The present base of the bar is entirely new. It is carved, built in pieces, and faced with thin stuff, the whole secured by bolts passing down through the concrete floor, on which it stands. This price of $25 includes making good cement around and everything complete. It was not, therefore, merely "moved" as alleged—the former bar being wholly different and entirely unsuitable for the present site.

In the price which is alleged to have been paid for the first one ($25) was included the cost of the base of the railing on both sides of the Speaker's chair at the opposite end of the Chamber.

14th. "A change had been made in the roof of the Reading Room, and over the corresponding portion of the building in the Senate wing, so that the snow should not rest on them as formerly; and Mr. Page had allowed for this change about $7,000, enough to build a first-class house."

No idea of the magnitude of the work involved by this alteration is conveyed by the bare statement of a "change" having been made in the roof of Reading Room. The fact is, that the skylights in the roofs all round the east, north and west sides of the building, a distance of 294 feet, had to be removed and replaced by a continuous line of dormers. These are divided by rows of ornamental columns, and glazed with best 26 oz. sheet glass. By this arrangement, the space previously occupied by the skylights was changed so as to form part of the deck, which was covered with 7 lb. sheet lead. This item alone would, at schedule rates, amount to over $4,600. The space, together with the roof of the dormers, had, of course, also to be joisted and boarded over with two thicknesses of roof-boarding to receive the lead.

The work is generally of an expensive character, and had to be hurriedly done at a most unfavorable season of the year, in order to be ready for the meeting of the House. The ceilings of the wardrobes, reading rooms, and alongside both chambers, had to be removed and rebuilt, at a level 2½ feet lower, so as to admit light into the corridors. Other extensive internal changes were also made.

15th. "Mr. McKenzie was told that the price of this door was $350. (Main door under tower.")

This door is of oak, 4 inches thick, and in four leaves, the two centre leaves (pointed) opening outwards. There are 16 panels, the frame-work deeply moulded and stop-chamfered on both sides. This work is not yet complete—the oak-moulding round the frame is not yet in place.

16th. "Wardrobes cost $1,681; was informed by practical men that they should have cost from $1.75 to $2 50. Mr. Page paid $8 for them!"

Neither of the prices mentioned by Mr. McKenzie would do much more than pay for the cost of the door, at a valuation based on schedule rates; not taking into account the price of the ironmongery, backing, sides, ornamental cornice, skirting, fastening to the walls, &c., &c.

There are 213 wardrobes (not 200 as alleged) beside tinned spaces for registers, &c. As Mr. McKenzie states that he has consulted practical men in reference to the cost of these wardrobes, Mr. Hutchison, a reliable practical man, was requested to measure and value them. From his return (hereto annexed) it appears that the fair average cost would be $8.28 for each, or in all $1,769.64.

17th. "In fitting up the shelving for the Library, all the old shelving from Quebec was used. $3,305 were paid, which any one who looked at must see at once was an exorbitant charge."

The cost of this work (generally made up at schedule rates so far as applicable,) was as follows:

1. Picture gallery and passage leading to Library proper $2,739 75

No old shelving whatever was used either on the lower or gallery floor of the picture gallery, or in the Library passage.

2. Governor-General's and Chaplain's rooms and dressing room $450.00
3. Smoking room, Senate side 800.00

$3,989 75

In these rooms some old shelving (after having been refitted) was used. It is to be borne in mind that this is not mere ordinary shelving. In the Picture Gallery there is a gallery floor carried all around on proper supports, and having a proper railing—with a stairway leading up to it. The shelving is generally made moveable, and is lined at the back throughout—double centre stands provided, &c. Various other works had to be done to adapt the rooms for the temporary Library—the cost of all of which is included in the above amount, $3,989.75.

18th. "Moving doors and filling up old doorways in the Chamber cost $480."

The moving of the marble jambs, arches, oak doors, &c. In three of the doorways, cutting new doorways, replacing marble jambs, arches, &c., in new sites and building up old openings, together with plastering on both sides, making good cement skirting, altering flues and everything complete, cost $410 not $480.

19th. "Bar of Senate, cost $120."

This is not for the base of the Senate Bar alone; but includes the cost of that on both sides of the Throne. This work is carved, moulded, and secured to the floor by iron bolts, and fitted up complete.

20th. "When $7,000 had been spent in altering the arrangement of the seats in this Chamber, and making a few changes in the galleries, &c."

The cost of changing the platforms for the members' seat in the Chambers, and adapting them to their present position, together with providing and laying a wooden floor over the body of the House on strips let into the concrete, was $650. The "few changes" alluded to as having been made in the galleries absolutely involved a rearrangement of the whole. The reporters' desks, stalls, &c., were changed from the North to the West galleries, and 10 additional desks provided. The seats previously in the West were moved to the North (now the public) gallery. The Senate gallery was moved from the south to the east side of the House, and an oak partition made in rear of it. The seats all round the galleries were taken up and extended one foot forward; the oak partitions shifted and altered to suit their new positions; the steps between the seats were also taken up and replaced where required; an entirely new range of seats was provided alongside of the walls of the Chamber, in rear of the ladies' and gentlemen's galleries, together with other details, so numerous that it would occupy a long time to refer to them. These works cost $1,711. This sum of $7,000, mentioned by Mr. McKenzie, also includes the cost of construction of the extensive system of ventiducts over the ceiling of the House and galleries, which cost $600 alone. It also embraces the cost of the various works done in the basement, in connection with taking the air from the fan in the boiler-house to the Chamber, amounting to nearly $500. It also includes the cost of removing and fitting up new doorways—and that of five new inside porches, as well as two of the exterior ones—the removal and refitting of others. The increasing the height of the warm air flues around the south and north ends of the Chamber to bring them up to the level of the perforated grating on the east and west sides—and for the downward extension of the same—cutting off projections along east and west sides of Chamber, and plastering the whole of this with Portland cement. The cost of the wardrobes ($1,690) is also included in the sum of $7,000.

From the above it will be seen that the off-hand reference to "altering seats," a "few changes in the galleries," conveys a false idea of the extent and character of the work actually done for the sum of $7,000, referred to by Mr. McKenzie.

The principle of valuation adopted by Mr. McKenzie is entirely wrong inasmuch as he has admittedly applied the schedule rates to works of a wholly different and more expensive character than any provided for in the schedule, or embraced in the contract. This statement does not admit of a doubt, as any man of common sense can satisfy himself by the most casual inspection that the elaborate tracery screens across the corridors, and those in front of the retiring rooms and post office, have no type in any class of work to which the contract schedule could with any degree of fairness be applied. Still, Mr. McKenzie may have thought himself justified in adopting this erroneous method, from his not being familiar with works of this class. But it is difficult, on a like basis, to account for the great difference which exists between the valuation made by Mr. McKenzie, and the prices actually paid for those items of additional work to which the schedule rates were applicable, and to which they were consequently applied.

In considering the prices fixed for the different pieces of work, it should not be lost sight of that many of them were executed under exceptional circumstances, which, in some cases, enhanced their cost. It is not meant by this that any apology whatever is necessary for the arrangements made; but, that in order to ascertain the fair value of any work, the time and manner in which it was executed has, or ought to have, an important bearing upon the question.

For example—the bulk of the works enumerated in the first account, were only authorized in March, 1866, and had to be fully finished in time for the meeting of Parliament in the early part of May. Indeed it was then anticipated that a meeting might take place as early as the middle of April.

In the latter end of February, 1867, when the alterations necessary to prepare for the reception of the Confederate Parliament, and other works embraced in the second account, were authorized, it was understood that a meeting of the House might take place some time in April, immediately on the arrival of the Delegates from England.

It will thus be seen that in both cases the works had to be proceeded with and pushed on as fast as possible, in order to be completed in due season. In the first instance (1866) the contractor was then actively engaged in carrying out the works embraced in his contract, and the order for additional work necessitated his making great exertions to obtain a sufficient number of a proper class of workmen, and in some cases night work had to be resorted to. Mr. Macdougall remarked, in conclusion, that it was evident from these details that the member for Lambton had made but a very cursory examination of the subject on which he had spoken so positively, and he advised the hon. gentleman to be more careful in future—to be sure of his information—before he ventured to assail a public officer, whose reputation for honesty and devotion to duty in most difficult and responsible positions, had never been questioned. (Hear, hear.)

MEETING OF THE CITY COUNCIL.

The council met last night, when there were present His Worship the Mayor, Ald. Rochester, Pratt, Hunter, Bangs, Robinson, Featherston, Mosgrove, Abbott, Goulden, Guerard and Martineau.

Moved by Ald. Rochester, seconded by Ald. Featherston, that this council having learned with sincere regret the severe domestic affliction recently sustained by Ald. Cunningham, do now adjourn until to-morrow evening, as a mark of their sympathy with him in his sad bereavement.

The season for muslin dresses and lace shawls being close at hand, ladies should see the great variety of novelties at Magee and Russell's.

Fine coral jewellery, bog oak jewellery and a large collection of other goods suitable for wedding and other presents can be seen at Young & Radford's; all new and choice goods and will be sold cheap.

YESTERDAY'S DESPATCHES

Impeachment.

New York, May 21.—The Tribune's Washington special says Gen. Boynton testified before the Managers that Senator Ross told him he had no doubt the President was guilty, as charged in the 11th article; that it was true the Managers had not introduced testimony to support it, but that Mr. Johnson's whole record supported the charge. While the agents of the telegraph companies were being examined by the Board of Managers to-day Wooley was present. To questions relative to despatches about pecuniary matters he gave evasive replies, and declined to give information about several of his messages of that character. The messages, however, have been secured. Further evidence shows Wooley's money amounted to $30,000.

The Times' special says the impeachers believe the second article can be carried. If corruption can be proved a new article will be framed, and the Managers will demand at the Bar of the Senate that the Court will be purged.

New York, May 21.—The Sun's Washington special says the feeling among the Managers that conviction can be carried is very strong. Some of those who voted for acquittal on the 11th article are said to be in favor of conviction on the second article. This creates considerable uneasiness among the President's friends.

THE CONVENTION AT CHICAGO.

Grant Nominated for President.

Schuyler Colfax Nominated for Vice-President.

Resolutions, &c.

Chicago, May 21.—In Convention to-day Mr. Thompson, as Chairman of Committee on Resolutions, reported resolutions congratulating the country on the assured success of the reconstruction policy of Congress, on the guarantee by Congress of the right of suffrage to all loyal people in the South, which was due to them, and must be maintained. Denouncing all forms of repudiation as a national crime; that the national obligations must be paid according to the letter and the spirit of the law; that taxation should be equalized and reduced as rapidly as possible; that the redemption of the national debt should be extended over a long time, reducing the rate of interest whenever it can be honorably done. The Government of the United States should be administered with the strictest economy; and the corruption and extravagance of Andrew Johnson reformed. They deplore the death of Lincoln, and deplore the accession of Johnson, and denounce the latter as a usurper and violator of the law, an obstructor of reconstruction, and justly impeached for high crimes and misdemeanors. (Prolonged cheers.) Repudiate the doctrine once a subject, always a subject. No citizen of the United States native, or naturalized, must be deprived of liberty when abroad, except for violation of the law. He eulogized the soldiers and sailors; their bounties are obligations never to be forgotten; their widows and orphans are the nation's wards. Immigration should be fostered by a liberal and just policy. The Convention sympathized with all oppressed people struggling for their rights. The resolutions were adopted with two or three dissenting votes amid great cheers.

On motion of Carl Shurz the Declaration of Independence was recognized as the true foundation of a Democratic Government, and also commending the magnanimity of the reconstructed rebels, who now support the Government, and favoring the removal of the restrictions and disabilities imposed upon them as rapidly as their loyalty justifies it.

On motion of General Logan, General Grant was nominated by every State for President. The greatest enthusiasm followed the vote and its announcement. After some balloting, Schuyler Colfax, of Indiana, was nominated for Vice-President. The Convention adjourned sine die at 6 o'clock p.m., subject to the call again of the National Committee.

PRESENTATION OF A GOLD WATCH CHAIN.

On the 16th instant the waiters of the Russell House assembled for the purpose of presenting Mr. James Doran, the head waiter, with a gold watch chain, as a token of their regard for his uniform kind bearing towards them in the discharge of their duty. The following are the address and reply:

ADDRESS:

Russell House, May 16th, 1868.

James Doran, Head Waiter,

Sir,—We, the waiters of the Russell House, take the greatest pleasure in presenting this gold watch chain to you for your kindness and impartiality to us during the first Session of the Dominion Parliament. Hoping that you will live long and happy to wear it is the wish of all present.

REPLY:

My Friends,—This unexpected and beautiful present has entirely taken me by surprise, and I cannot express to you my feelings for this kind manifestation of your good will. We, as waiters, must, as a rule, be civil and polite to the guests of our employer, and I think we have done nothing during the Session to bring us into disrepute, and I think the members of Parliament and families, as well as other guests, will return to their homes perfectly satisfied, that we have at least tried to do our duty. I accept this beautiful present as an act I shall never forget.

Monday, May 18.

FORTIFICATIONS.

The order of the day was then read for the second reading of the Bill intituled "An Act to make provision for defraying the expense of certain works of fortification required for the defence of the Dominion."

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL said a Bill of this kind originating in the House of Commons to grant supply to Her Majesty for the construction of fortifications to provide for the defence of the country, would, he was sure, meet with the hearty approval of members from both sides of the House. The matter of the defence of the country has formed the subject of communications between the Imperial and Canadian Governments, and has been brought before Parliament repeatedly. From the infancy of this country, the expense of its defence has been borne almost wholly by the Mother Country until the last few years. If the amount of money expended by the people of Great Britain for the defence of this country, for the last sixty years, had been added up, the amount would startle us. Not only have the people of Great Britain expended money to defend our country against foreign invaders, but against every source of annoyance and trouble whatever, therefore we should only be too ready and too willing to give our assistance in the way this Bill provides. During this year, Great Britain has expended £998,000 sterling for the defence of this country, exclusive of the large sum they expend in connection with the naval service, armories, barracks and other services, making a total of about £1,500,000 sterling. They expend here annually a larger sum of money than the House of Commons propose to grant in this Bill for the purpose of permanent fortifications. He alluded to former appropriations which had been made for the permanent defence of the country, and said it was gratifying to find there was a disposition evinced by the people of this country to do their part towards its defence. The country had passed beyond a state of pupilage, and we should not hesitate a moment to provide for these fortifications, without which it would be impossible to defend it, and our annual expenditure for the militia service would be useless and vain. The necessity of these fortifications had been pressed upon the people of Canada again and again by the Mother Country, and experienced officers had been sent out to prepare plans and specifications for those works. These plans having been made, the subject was again brought under the consideration of the Government of Upper Canada, and a correspondence ensued between them and the Imperial Government, which was followed up by a deputation being sent to England, composed of members of the then Executive Council, who were authorized to meet the Imperial Government and come to an understanding upon this important question. In the report which they presented to the Governor-General on their return, the subject is treated at great length, and the necessity for the people of Canada to bear their fair share of the expenses for the defence of the country is strongly adverted to. He (Mr. Campbell) then read extracts from the said report, commenting upon them, and said it was upon that understanding with the British Government that the sum proposed by this Bill for the erection of fortifications has been voted by the House of Commons. He was confident that all the power and resources of the British Empire would be given for our defence, on condition that we did our share of what was necessary for that purpose. He then read extracts from despatches received from the Colonial Secretary, the last one being received in February last, in order to show that the arrangements made between the two Governments was even more than fair towards the people of Canada. The Imperial Government were to undertake the construction of the necessary works at Quebec and Halifax, with all the naval defence of the country, and all the armaments in all the fortifications in the Dominion. The course of conduct pursued by the British Government was one which reflected honor upon them, and for which this country should feel grateful. Are we content to take upon ourselves a fair share of this burden? He thought nothing would be more unmanly than not to do so. If we admire the institutions of the Mother Country, and prefer a limited monarchical form of Government, let us not only say so, but let us do our duty under it as men; let us say we are willing to make a sacrifice for the sake of those institutions which we love. If we adopted any other course, which he could not for a moment suppose, what would be said in England where they have for fifty or sixty years past defended our country from infancy to mature age. They would say we have defended the people of Canada, from the time of their infancy with a sparse population until they have grown up to a population of four millions, and now we offer to defend them with all our resources, if they will join with us in carrying out those measures necessary for their defence, and they refuse; therefore we must come to the conclusion that they pretended to be actuated by a loyalty which did not exist. Under these circumstances this measure has been passed by the House of Commons, but no scheme has been laid down for the expenditure of this money. The plans and estimates have been drawn and shown, in confidence to the gentlemen who formed the deputation to which he had referred, but it would be impossible and impolitic to bring a confidential report like that before Parliament, because its value depends in a great measure upon its not being known. He would draw attention to the fact that the delegation when in England objected to any scheme that did not make provision for the defence of the whole country. This scheme, he said, made that provision, and he thought it was a shame for persons to represent this country as defenceless. It was the opinion of the eminent men, who had drawn the plans of those fortifications, that after their erection the defence of the country would be easy, the fortifications affording a rallying-place for the troops. The works for Montreal would extend in an arc of three miles, and the centre would be about the termination of the Victoria Bridge. These works would include seven forts, besides the curtain of earthwork which would make it almost impossible for any army to approach them successfully. These forts could be easily manned. One hundred and fifty artillery men in each fort would be enough to instruct the less informed militia men in the discharge of their duties. In regard to the expenditure of this money, it is proposed that the expenditure shall be in St. John, Montreal, Kingston, and some places West. A question had been raised about this expenditure not being given more in detail for the different localities; he thought it would be impossible to give a detailed estimate, as the expenditure would be directed by the Royal Engineers, and it would take place in those portions of the country which they considered most important. St. John, N.B., is considered a most important position to defend, in order to protect the Intercolonial Railway. The defence of Montreal was also considered of vital importance, while the defence of Kingston was of less importance, but still necessary for the defence of the lakes. The expenditure of this money will be under the direction of those who will have no other object in view except the defence of the country, and they will no doubt discharge that duty conscientiously. The cost of these works will by no means be so large as some seem to suppose. The expenditure will go on for five years. The first year the interest on the expenditure will be $53,000, the second year $107,000, the third year $160,000, the fourth year $214,000, and the fifth year $216,660, and in forty years the whole debt would be wiped out, if the invested sinking fund yielded but five per cent. He was sure no one in the House, and he was almost certain no Canadian, but would be willing to appropriate that and more than that, to preserve and maintain British connection, and to carry out those propositions, made so liberally by the British Government, and to show them that we are not recreant children, but are willing to do our part for the defence of our homes and our firesides. With these few remarks he would now move that the Bill be read a second time.

Hon. Mr. LETELLIER DE ST. JUST objected to the way this measure was submitted to the House. He had no patience to do more than allude to the old and absurd argument, that any hon. member's loyalty was to be called in question, because he might object to this measure and its details. We should only go according to our means, and not involve this country in expenses far beyond our resources. When British statesmen object to such measures as the present, and their details, and discuss them freely, it never enters the head of any sane man to question their loyalty to the laws and institutions of the empire. As far as he and his compatriots are concerned, they have all given proof of their loyalty, and it was not to be questioned or doubted. The amounts voted this year already are far beyond the powers of this country to endure, and when every necessary (not to speak of luxuries) of life was based upon the utmost limit, surely we ought to pause before voting five millions of dollars in a block sum for a commencement of fortifications, to be placed we don't know where. There is no specific information afforded us as to the cost of these contemplated works, where they are to be placed, when commenced, or finished, nor any of the details we had a right to expect, before being called on to vote this enormous sum, which is but an instalment of what will be demanded hereafter. He wished to protest against the passage of the Bill.

The said Bill was then read a second time, passed through Committee of the whole House without any amendment.

Hon. Mr. BENSON in the chair.

It was then ordered for a third reading presently, was then passed and ordered to be sent to the House of Commons, and acquaint that House that the Senate have passed this Bill without any amendments.

The order of the day being read, for the second reading of the Bill intituled "An Act respecting perjury,"

On motion of Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL, seconded by Hon. Mr. KENNY, it was ordered that the said Bill be discharged from the orders of the day.

The Bill intituled "An Act to incorporate the Stratford Board of Trade," was read a second time.

On motion of Hon. Mr. MACDONALD, seconded by Hon. Mr. ANDERSON, it was ordered that said Bill be committed to the Committee on Banking, Commerce and Railways.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the second report of the Joint Committee of the Senate and the House of Commons, on the Library of Parliament, and the said report was read by the Clerk as follows:

The members on behalf of the Senate of the Joint Committee on the Library of Parliament, beg leave to present a second report.

That the new rules, in relation to the loan of books from the Library during a recess of Parliament, which were embodied in the first report, and agreed to by Your Honorable House, having failed to receive the sanction of the House of Commons, the Committee have framed other rules, of a less stringent character, which they trust may be accepted by both Houses, in lieu of those previously recommended.

These rules are designed to be in addition to, and in amendment of, the 111th rule of the Senate concerning the Library, and are as follows:

(1.) That during the recess of Parliament no member of either House, not residing at the Seat of Government, shall be at liberty to borrow, or have in his possession at any one time, more than three works from the Library, or to retain the same for a longer period than one month.

(2.) That no persons, who may be privileged, by a card from the Speaker of either House, to borrow books from the Library, shall be allowed to have in their possession more than two works at any one time, or to retain the same longer than three weeks; and that all such persons shall return the books so taken when required by the Librarian.

(3.) That no books of reference, or books of special cost and value, may be removed from the Seat of Government, under any circumstances.

(4.) That at the first meeting of the Joint Library Committee at every Session of Parliament the Librarian shall report a list of the books absent at the commencement of the Session, specifying the names of any persons who have retained the same, in contravention of either of the foregoing rules.

On motion of Hon. Mr. ROSS, seconded by the Hon. Mr. CHAPAIS, it was ordered that the said report be adopted.

It being six o'clock the House adjourned until half-past seven o'clock, p. m.

After Recess.

MILITIA AND DEFENCE.

The order of the day being read for the second reading of the Bill intituled "An Act respecting the Militia and Defence of the Dominion of Canada,"

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL said he had no doubt but this Bill had received a great deal of attention in the House of Commons. The militia included all men between the ages of 18 and 60, and it is proposed by this Bill that they shall be divided into active and regular militia. The Active Militia includes the Volunteer, Regular, and Marine Militia. The Volunteer Militia is to be raised by voluntary enlistments; the Regular Militia is to be raised by voluntary enlistments and men ballotted to serve; the Marine Militia is to be composed of seamen, sailors, and persons whose occupation is upon sailing crafts in the Dominion. The Bill provides that the whole country shall be divided into military districts, and these again are to be divided into regimental and brigade divisions as may be deemed expedient, and such divisions may be divided into company divisions. For each regimental division there shall be appointed one Lieut.-Col. and two Majors of Reserve Militia. It is proposed in this way to organize all the men in the country between eighteen and sixty, taking them by rotation for duty according to the classes specified in the Bill, and these classes are so arranged as to give the least inconvenience to the country. It is proposed to take out for actual drill every year, forty thousand men, to be drilled for a period from eight to sixteen days. If volunteers are found to give the quota of forty thousand men, the ballot will not come into force at all, but if not, then a resort to the ballot will be necessary. This body of men raised by ballot or voluntary enlistment, and drilled for sixteen days, will constitute the first military force to which the country will look for service in case danger arises. In addition to this there would be a large number of officers trained, and also a Dominion Rifle Association established, which would give the men a practical acquaintance with the weapons used, and thus enable them to come into the field having a great advantage over those who are not so trained. These were the principal features of the Bill, which he hoped would not be received with much opposition, and he would move that the Bill be now read a second time.

Hon. Mr. TESSIER said that to employ men in active service and give them no more than fifty cents per day, and to make the same provision for the officers, was a feature of the Bill which was particularly obnoxious, and would not meet the approval of the country. The Lower House had decided in favor of this Bill by a large majority, and they are responsible to the country for the working of the measure, but for his part he would have advised them to have deferred the measure, as they were already incurring a large expenditure for the Intercolonial Railway; not merely for the original cost, but an expense which would go on from year to year. Then again they were likely to require a large sum for the purchase of the Northwest Territory, and to open up roads and communications with it. They should not go on with such a reckless expenditure of the public money, until they saw whether the Union prospered or not. He thought it would have been better to have left this question with the Home authorities, and informed them of the position in which the country stood in regard to this matter. He generally expressed his views with great diffidence, but he could not help on this occasion, raising his voice and protesting against the course the Government were now pursuing.

Hon. Mr. FLINT did not rise for the purpose of opposing the Bill, but he thought it should be so amended as to give satisfaction to the Volunteers and their officers. In the 10th clause of the Bill, the regular period of service of the Regular Militia is placed at two years, while the period of service required of the Volunteers is three years. There should be no difference in the time of service between the Volunteers and those who are drafted from the Militia, because this is placing them in a better position than those who volunteer. He would move, when the Bill went into Committee, to make three years the term of service for both classes. He would also move that the word "officers" be struck out of the 45th clause, because he thought it was degrading to place an officer in the same list as a private. He was sure those officers would sooner serve at their drill without pay, than be placed in that position. The idea was absurd to give a gentleman a commission in Her Majesty's service, and then pay him less than a scavenger on the street. They should either pay him a sum commensurate with the duties he has to perform, or else not pay him at all. He thought they should not interfere with the views of the Government in regard to this Bill, except in the minor matters which he had mentioned.

Hon. Mr. SANBORN thought that the true mode to provide for the defence of this country, if we expected an organized war, was by [illegible]. He did not think at the present time, situated as we are, with the difficulties having been tided over which had existed in the United States, and which had considerable influence upon those who had the direction of affairs in England, that we could reasonably expect those two great nations ever to be involved in a serious conflict. He should almost lose hope of any advance in the civilization of the world, if he did not believe there was not right feeling enough in the minds of those two great nations to prevent them from entering into a deadly conflict, which could not be anything else but a war of destruction of life and property, and which would throw back the world into comparative barbarism. It ought not to enter our minds as a feeling beyond the region of possibility, that there can be a conflict between those two great nations. We are legislating under existing facts; while there is no prospect of war, there are elements of disturbance existing among the people of the United States enough to create apprehension in our minds. We have not the same force to sustain us to aid in preventing and putting down any aggressive movement, not of a nation, but of an irregular force, which has for its object a treasonable design, as we would have in an organized war. It is then our volunteer force would have to be put to the test, and it will be found to be a most valuable power. We find the volunteers are a body composed largely of men who have entered the service from a love for it. Military drill has its pleasing associations to many minds, and young men suited for active service form themselves into companies and choose their own officers. If we do anything to discourage the volunteer system, we do a serious injury to the affairs of the country. No one has said otherwise than that the volunteers have been a most important advantage to the country, and the military schools have proved an important success. If this Bill is carried into operation, the military schools should be kept in good condition, because if we hope for success we must have men schooled in military drill. We must have the elements of the military art obtained in some way, or a military organization will be of but little consequence. If the officers of a company do not have the advantage of obtaining a knowledge of drill, you have no means by which you can put your machinery in motion. The greatest objection which he saw to this Bill was that it discouraged to too great an extent the volunteer movement. That feature of the Bill he thought very ill-timed, because the effect of discouraging volunteers would be to deprive the country of their services to a great extent. This would be doing an injury to the country which could only be remedied by time, because we find by experience that when men are subject to draft they come out with reluctance, taking no interest in their drill; they do nothing more than conform themselves to the simple requirements of the law. If you expect to have a military organization in a time of peace, in order to be prepared for difficulties when they arise, then you must have men who enter it with esprit de corps, which will give them satisfaction and pleasure in the discharge of the duties devolving upon them. The remarks made upon the 45th Section show the effect which that clause would have. It would be lowering the position of the officers of the volunteers. It was an object of ambition for a man to get a position in the army or navy, as it gave him a position in life; the volunteer movement being something between the regular army and the ordinary militia, those who entered the service gained a credit and reputation before the country. When the salary of an officer, who has discharged his duties, has been reduced, it is looked upon as an indication for him to resign, and in this way the officers of volunteers will look upon it. It is not in regard to the amount of pay to which they will object, but to being placed on a level with their subordinates. He said it was impossible for them to amend the Bill on those money clauses, but he thought they were deserving of some remark, and should call from them some expression of their views. He had listened with a great deal of interest to the remarks made on the Bill on Fortifications by the Postmaster-General, who had presented the points which favored it with earnestness and ability. There was one feature in his remarks which did not strike him (Mr. Sanborn) very favorably; he (Mr. Campbell) took the position that it was absolutely necessary to take that measure with our whole hearts, and that to display any kind of doubt in regard to it was equivalent to a feeling of disloyalty. He (Mr. Sanborn) did not think it necessary for us to place ourselves upon ground like this with an expenditure of $5,000,000 to begin with. He thought the question should be viewed in all its bearings from a Canadian as well as an Imperial standpoint. When Col. Jervis made his report there were serious apprehensions felt of a conflict between the United States and Great Britain, on account of difficulties which might arise through the civil war which was then raging in the neighboring Republic. It was that state of affairs which suggested that report upon fortifications, and after which the Hon. Postmaster-General says it is a shame that any man should say that this Dominion was indefencible. Perhaps it would be a shame to say we had no spirit or desire to defend this country, but it is no shame to a man to give his opinion in regard to the advantages or disadvantages for defence which this country possesses. We should look upon the country as it is with 1,500 miles of frontier to defend. The scripture says when a man builds a house he is to count the cost, and we, when we grant large sums of money, should consider the cost and the utility of the work. Col. Jervis says in one of the first remarks which he makes in his report: "I observe that although owing to the length and nature of the frontier of Canada it is impossible to protect it through its whole extent, yet an enemy must notwithstanding gain possession of certain vital points before they acquire any certain military advantage." It must be borne in mind that this report was made when there was a probability of a conflict between the United States and Great Britain, and the views expressed are entirely Imperial in character. Col Jervis also says in his report that the main point is to fortify Lower Canada, thus admitting that Upper Canada, in case of a war must be abandoned. As a Lower Canadian he (Mr. Sanborn) could certainly have no objection to this view of the case; at the same time, situated as he was, in the the eastern townships, he would not feel the advantage of the fortifications erected at Montreal as much as those who were on the other side of the St. Lawrence. It is stated in this report that the country on the other side of the St. Lawrence is indefensible, and he states the very position which the Postmaster-General says it is a shame to assert. The man who has the charge of planning the fortifications has stated his views to us, and should we not, in the discharge of our duty, look these facts fairly in the face, in order to realise the position, and ascertain what advantages these fortifications would give? He was not prepared to say that those fortifications should not be placed where it is contemplated to erect them, but he would say that we were taking a very serious responsibility upon ourselves, and it was one which was deserving of much thought and deliberation. We should look at it as Canadians, because we cannot disguise the fact, that we may be left at some future period to our own resources. We have been often told by members of the Parliament of Canada, when they were seeking to bring about Confederation, that we were verging towards a nationality, and that this Confederation was a first step towards making us a nation. The whole tenor of the remarks of British statesmen leads us to the conviction that the responsibility of our becoming something great—or less great—according to our ability, depends upon ourselves, therefore it is our duty to view Canada as Canada alone. We have here a home, a nationality—something of which we have reason to be proud. We have also reason to be proud of the country to which we are attached, and of the Government which extends protection over us, but we must have pride for Canada too. Viewing this matter we must not only view it from an Imperial point of view, as for the interest of the Empire, but we must view it in the light of our own interest. The Postmaster-General has told us of the amount expended by Great Britain in keeping soldiers here. He (Mr. Sanborn) believed that was not an increased expenditure for Great Britain, as those soldiers must be kept, and they could be kept in Canada as cheaply as anywhere else.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL—Every additional colony gives the occasion for the employment of so many additional troops, therefore we are the occasion of so many additional troops being employed.

Hon. Mr. SANBORN did not think any larger number of troops was kept on account of Canada being a possession of the British Crown. If there were, it was for the maintenance of British power on this continent, from an Imperial, and not from a Canadian, point of view. Suppose a war takes place between the United States and Great Britain, it would not be on account of any grievance which we have, as Canadians; yet the result would be the devastation of the most beautiful and productive part of our country. Should we not then assert our own peculiar position, and show the state in which we would be placed by the contingencies of war. Then look at the importance of the colonies to bring power and prestige to Great Britain. Let her be shorn of them, and where would her name be in the estimation of the world, in comparison to what it is now? In regard to this Bill, there is no statement as to where these fortifications are to be placed, or what they are to be. This is an exceedingly important point, and one upon which we ought to be informed. The House of Commons should have been informed upon that point before making a grant for those fortifications, but it having been made, it becomes us to bow with grace to the decision the representatives of the people have given upon this question. In doing so, however, he had felt it his duty to say something upon both these measures, in answer to the remarks made so eloquently by the Postmaster-General, with an expectation that something would be said in reply. He thought it would not be treating his hon. friend with the consideration he deserved, if we passed in silence a measure of so much importance, and he knew he (Mr. Campbell) would rather hear members who differed in opinion from him, than to have nothing said upon the subject.

Hon. Mr. McCULLY said the subject of the defence of the country had been most eloquently treated by his hon. friend (Mr. Sanborn), but he could not regard the subject in the same light. It was a most important question, and one upon which they should all give an opinion. He did not regret that the Government had taken it upon themselves to evince by the Bills before the House that there was a desire at the present time to meet, so far as our means will admit, the wishes of the British Government in regard to the defence of the country. His hon. friend (Mr. Sanborn) had looked upon the Confederation of the Provinces from a different stand point from what he did. He (Mr. McCully) had believed that unless these Provinces were Confederated, and made one common capital throughout this Dominion, the time would not be far distant when they would not have been under British rule, and this had actuated him in the interest he had taken in bringing about this measure, but whether it was for weal or woe depended upon the future. He felt that we were compelled to submit to a large amount of taxation, but he hoped the Government would use a great deal of economy, and so expend this outlay required for fortifications in such a way as would give satisfaction to the country at large. He could not expect that the entire scheme would have been left open for criticism, but at the same time he thought the Government had no right to ask us to adopt these measures without giving us all the information which they reasonably can. The people of Nova Scotia are not likely to be much benefitted by this outlay, because it had always been the policy of the British Government to expend large sums of money in Nova Scotia, but they were prepared to make considerable sacrifice in order to have connection between the sea shore and Canada by the Intercolonial Railway. Had it not been for the prospect of getting that road constructed, they would not have consented to enter this Confederation. He was not prepared to give an opinion in regard to the defence of this Dominion, more especially that portion of it which extended fifteen hundred miles along the lakes. He did not believe it possible to defend the frontier of this country against invasion by a perfectly organized body on the other side of the border; but he believed that with the means under our control, if wisely spent, and with the assistance of England on the Atlantic Ocean, it would be a long time before they would gain much advantage in Canada. For this reason he was prepared to assist the Government to such a reasonable extent in regard to militia and fortifications as would satisfy the people of England that the people of Canada were doing all which could be reasonably expected of them. He believed that when the people of England knew of our action in this matter it would increase their sympathy for us more than if we had been drifting along year after year without endeavoring to help ourselves. Though there were some men in the British Parliament who were endeavoring to get rid of these colonies, yet he believed it was the sentiment of the British nation, not only to spend their money, but to give us all the advantage the prestige of that nation could give if we did but a reasonable share towards the defence of the country. If war were to come he believed a large portion of the Dominion would be trodden under foot, and it was to prevent war we should organize and show such a front that would prevent invasion. A large portion of this money is to be spent to protect Montreal, which is the commercial capital of the Dominion, and then even if the west is devastated that city would be a secure retreat for our forces. For these reasons, and these only, he would consent to give his support to these measures. He felt the force of the remarks which the Postmaster-General addressed to the House in reference to the Bills coming from the people's representatives. They are the judges, having come from the people and to whom they must give an account of their stewardship; therefore, it is not for us to intervene with reference to the amount of means which they are willing to appropriate for the defence of this Empire. He did not undervalue the difficulties which might occur in providing for our defence, but he knew of no more legitimate way of obviating those difficulties than by making this appropriation, and holding the Government strictly responsible in regard to dispensing the means placed at their disposal for this service.

AN INQUIRY.

To the Editor of THE TIMES.

SIR,—I notice in the published minutes of the City Council, No. 6, Finance Report, an item among others, "City Clerk for expenses of Corporation to Montreal, $150.00." And, sir, as you take considerable interest in municipal matters, would you be kind enough to enlighten the public, as to what use this $150 was put, or whether it is legal thus to vote away the peoples' taxes, or did the City Fathers really take a trip to Montreal at the expense of the city exchequer? Any information on this item will be thankfully received by

PASSPORTS FOR NATURALIZED SUBJECTS.

DOMINION OF CANADA.

Copy.
Circular.

DOWNING-STREET,
24th April, 1867.

SIR,—

With reference to the Circular Despatch from this Department dated the 5th of June, 1866, relative to the case of Foreigners naturalized in any of Her Majesty's Colonies who wish to obtain British Passports for foreign travel—I have the honor to inform you that different cases have occurred lately in which such naturalized Foreigners have applied in this country for passports without being in possession either of a Passport from the Governor or of any Official Document from the Colony to establish their identity and character. You will readily perceive that this is calculated to embarrass this Department, and also to cause much private inconvenience to the persons concerned if they should find themselves unable to produce any sufficient evidence of their quality.

I have therefore to suggest that, in every Colony containing naturalized Foreigners who are likely to travel in Europe, it would be convenient that notice should from time to time be given in public newspapers of the necessity for such persons providing themselves before leaving the Colony with some official evidence of their identity and description.

I have the honor to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient
Humble servant,

The Officer Administering
the Government, &c., &c., &c.

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE,
Ottawa, 8th May, 1868.

(With reference to the foregoing Circular Despatch.)

Notice is hereby given that parties requiring Passports must apply, until further notice, to this Department, transmitting at the same time a certificate of identity, accompanied in each case with a description of the applicant, signed by a Justice of he Peace and also the fee of one dollar.

Secretary.

NOTICE.

THE Undersigned will either sell or lot for a few years his well known farm, being lot Twenty-five in the Fourth Concession of Gloucester, Rideau Front, 215 acres all cleared, and well fenced and in a good state of cultivation. Also, the one-half of lot Twenty-seven in the Third Concession, being in its natural state, all wood and excellent land. It is just the cross of two hundred acres from the corner of the one lot to the other. The railroad line runs within ten feet of the front corner of the one hundred and in sight of the two hundred for two or three miles. The Station at Cunningham's is scarcely a mile and a half from the front of Lot Twenty-five. The above farm is capable of keeping thirty head of milch cows, two span of horses, and as many young cattle as it would be proper to raise. Eight or nine years ago I kept twenty-two milch cows, and ten or twelve horses, and raised five or six calves every year. The above farm is about ten miles, from the door, to the limits of the City. The improvements cannot be surpassed for a farmer's purpose. The dwelling-house is stone, 30 by 40, a story and a half over ground; and a cellar nine feet high, the one half used for a kitchen and the other half capable of holding 1,000 bushels of anything you wish to put into it; there is three small windows in it, and when cleaned in the Spring, makes an excellent milk-house or dairy; there is a frame wood shed at the door, 60 by 24, with 14 feet taken off the one end for a coachhouse, and overhead for a storehouse; next to that is a stable 36 by 26, finished inside, complete with four large double stalls and two single ones, and good room for hanging up harness, and oat box; convenient to that is a barn 40 by 60, in which I have often put 1,000 bushels of grain in one year; connected with that is 200 and 20 feet of frame sheds, all 20 and 24 deep, under pinned with stone and lime from two to seven feet, according to level; on the north side of the house is another barn, 30 by 40, commonly filled with peas and oats. And if either tennant or purchaser has a desire for religious purposes you can lie in your bed and look at the bell tolling on the Catholic Church every Holy Day, and go to the front door and you will see the Presbyterian Church, where the Rev. Mr. Lochead has preached for the last twenty-two years, and go to the back door and you will see both English Church and Methodist Church within two miles. The above farm would be a desirable situation for a young man wishing to give his attention to farming, as the Ottawa Market cannot be surpassed in the Dominion. I think that I can say that I have not sold one pound of butter under one shilling this eight years: if one went under two went over. Some reader may ask what am I selling for, it is neither for scant nor for want of anything, but I am in the seventieth year of my age, and has purchased off this lot seven hundred and fifty acres of land and all is paid for, and all my sons is settled on their own farms, so I would rather sit down and take my ease as be attending to marketing and farming any longer. Persons wishing to get any information on any point from me, can do so by addressing, post-paid, JAMES JOHNSTON, Senr., South Gloucester.

PAIN KILLER.

The Great Family Medicine of the Age.

THE UNIVERSAL REMEDY for INTERNAL & EXTERNAL COMPLAINTS!

OUR FIRST PHYSICIANS USE AND RECOMMEND ITS USE!

It Enjoys the Largest Sale of Any Proprietary Medicine in the World!

THE PAIN KILLER

HAS been favorably known for more than thirty years, during which time we HAVE RECEIVED THOUSANDS OF TESTIMONIALS, showing this Medicine to be an almost NEVER FAILING REMEDY for diseases caused by or attendant upon—Sudden Colds, Coughs, Fever and Ague, Headache, Billious Fever, Pains in the Side, Back and Loins, as well as in the Joints and Limbs; Neuralgic and Rheumatic Pains in any part of the system, Toothache and Pains in the Head and Face.

As a BLOOD PURIFIER and TONIC for the STOMACH, it seldom fails to cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Kidney Complaints, Sick Headache, Piles, Asthma or Phthisic, Ringworms, Boils, Felons, Whitlows, Old Sores, Swelled Joints, and General Debility of the System.

It is also a PROMPT and SURE REMEDY for Cramp and Pains in the Stomach, Painters' Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer Complaint, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Scalds, Burns, Sprains, Bruises, Frost Bites, Chilblains, as well as the Stings of Insects, and the Bites of Poisonous Insects and Venomous Reptiles.

Directions accompany each bottle.

It has been tested in every variety of climate, and by almost every nation known to civilization. It is the almost constant companion and inestimable friend of the Missionary, and the traveller should be without it. Like every other good thing, the Pain Killer has been extensively counterfeited; which, (while it is an acknowledgment on the part of the counterfeiters of its real worth,) is a serious hinderance to its usefulness, as the deceived purchaser estimates the value of the Pain Killer by the base compound he has purchased for the genuine article.

Purchasers should be careful and not allow the dealer to sell them worthless imitations, on which they realize a larger profit, but take only the Pain Killer, and see that it is the genuine, bearing the signature of Perry Davis & Son upon the label.

The Pain Killer is sold at wholesale by Druggists and Medicine Dealers, and Commission Merchants, in the principal cities, and retailed by Apothecaries, Grocers, and at Variety Shops generally, throughout the world.

The Ottawa Times

SATURDAY, MAY 23, 1868.

The Legislative Chambers were all but deserted yesterday. A few grave Senators served to set off the array of beauty and fashion assembled to witness the prorogation, and some twenty-five Commoners bore Mr. SPEAKER COCKBURN company at the bar of the Senate Chamber.

The last day in the Commons was observed with exceeding great decorum. The speech making was finished on Wednesday night; and the fact of the MINISTER OF MILITIA finding it unnecessary to proceed with his resolution providing an additional sum for the payment of the Volunteer Officers, left the House, absolutely without business, as the three or four neglected items on the order paper were contemptuously ordered to "stand," which in that case at least meant in a parliamentary sense that they should fall through. There was indeed a "beggarly array of empty benches," the member for Digby—Mr. SAVARY—being the sole representative of Her Majesty's loyal Opposition. It was creditable to the chivalry of the Treasury Benches that some three or four members, not wishing to leave him in solitude, crossed the floor, with the magnanimous intent of keeping him company during the closing moments of the expiring Session.

There has been much good feeling manifested in Parliament during the past Session. A few breezes have occurred to ruffle the usually serene flow of Senatorial proceedings; a lively passage between the gentlemen on the right and the gentlemen on the left has occasionally marked the more animated doings in the Commons. But upon the whole there has been little acerbity of debate, and a great many interchanges of compliments between the two sides of the Commons, the influence of which will no doubt be felt on the future proceedings of this Parliament.

UPWARDS of seventy Bills were sanctioned by HIS EXCELLENCY yesterday, as the result of the Legislative labors of the latter part of the Session. Three measures were reserved for the signification of HER MAJESTY; that relating to proceedings under the Extradition Treaty; the Bill fixing the GOVERNOR-GENERAL'S salary and the WHITEAVE'S Divorce Bill.

We believe it is the usual custom to reserve all Bills of Divorce for the action of the Imperial Government, and as the other two measures have direct reference to Imperial legislation, it seemed only proper that they, too, should be held over to abide the decision of the same authority.

The action of the Senate in rejecting the Bills for the assimilation of the Criminal Laws of the Dominion, called forth an expression of regret on the part of HIS EXCELLENCY. It is no doubt desirable that the Criminal Laws should be assimilated as speedily as possible, and since all the Provinces have a fair array of legal talent on the floor of the Commons, where these measures received patient consideration, there was, at least, room for the Senators to have accepted them as necessary adjuncts to the complete carrying out of Confederation. It is not at all to be wished that those subjects which properly appertain to the Legislature of the Dominion should be left under the administration of Provincial Statutes; but the complaint of the Senators was that they had not had sufficient time to fairly consider the Bills in question, and so the subject goes over to another Session.

Among the measures passed are many of very great importance. The revised Tariff, the Militia and Fortifications Bills; the Act relating to Insurance Companies doing business in Canada; those relating to the organization of the several Departments of the Government, the Civil Service, and the economy of the House of Commons, are all measures of consequence, tending to promote the financial stability of the Dominion, and the general efficiency of the administration of public affairs. It is fair to assume, too, that the legislation of this part of the Session has removed some of the causes of objection to previously existing enactments. The great question of the "Sugar Duties," which agitated the Dominion from Windsor to Halifax, on which the Boards of Trade throughout the length and breadth of the country either instructed or reproached the Government, has been so adjusted as apparently to have silenced objection on both sides, and other items coming within the jurisdiction of the Tariff Bill have, it is hoped, been so treated as to favor the interests of trade, while meeting the requirements of the revenue.

It is not our present intention to give an extended review of the doings of the Session. But they have been of a character to show the different Provinces that there exists on the part of the Government a desire to do equal justice to all parts of the Dominion, while their effects on the party politics of the country have been such as to produce no marked change in the relative strength of sides which existed at the opening of the Session in November last.

We understand that the prohibitions against catching pike, pickerel, bass and maskinonge in this neighborhood during the present month, which existed under the former fishery laws, are altered by the new Fisheries Act sanctioned yesterday, and that angling for them may be now practised during the of remainder this season.

THE Montreal Gazette of yesterday has the following:

"We have this morning received private and authentic information from our special correspondent at St. Albans to the effect that there is an intention to make a Fenian raid from that vicinity about the 1st of June of a more formidable character than those hitherto attempted. Preparations are being made in the various New England States. St. Albans was selected as a base of operations at a meeting on Tuesday night."

THE PROROGATION.

FRIDAY, May 22, 1868.

At a few minutes before two o'clock, p.m. to-day, the Prince Consort's Own Rifle Brigade, headed by their band, marched up to the Parliament Buildings as a guard of honor to His Excellency on the occasion of the prorogation of Parliament. One company took up their station inside of the building, one hundred occupied a position in front of the main entrance, and the remainder lined the carriage-way leading to the Eastern Building, where His Excellency's carriage of state was waiting. Precisely at two o'clock His Excellency, accompanied by Col. Monck, Lieut.-Col. Irvine, P.A.D.C., and Capt. Pemberton, A.D.C., entered the carriage from the western entrance and drove up to the Parliament Building. On his arrival all the military presented arms and the band played "God Save the Queen." A considerable number of spectators were present and cheered His Excellency on his arrival.

The interior of the Senate Chamber presented scarcely so imposing a spectacle as was witnessed on the 7th of November, when there was present a much more numerous array of silk and scarlet to do honor to the inauguration of the Legislature of the New Dominion. But, though inferior in numbers, the throng of spectators, by whose attendance yesterday's proceedings were honored, was in no ways less remarkable for brilliancy and style than that which listened to LORD MONCK'S Opening Speech last Fall. The reputation which Ottawa is fortunate enough to hold for the beauty and elegance of the ladies who make up the society of the Capital, was at least fully maintained, and the chic toilets of grande tenue that graced the floor went far to create an illusion in which the seventy or eighty meridians that cut us off from Paris were not easy to remember. It is beyond our skill, and perhaps equally beyond our province, to particularize the effects of millinery, but the faces of many of the fair wearers are sufficiently familiar to every inhabitant of the metropolis, to excuse the detail of names which are conspicuous in the country's roll of honor. His Worship the Mayor and His Honor Judge Armstrong occupied seats on the floor of the Senate. On the left of the Throne sat the Vice-regal party, the Hon. Miss Monck conspicuous in the colours of her country, fashioned in a richness that must have made many a pretty mouth up stairs water with true feminine admiration. The same tint twined itself gracefully through the trimmings worn by Miss Irvine, on the bench immediately behind—a bench which, in the presence of herself and its two other occupants, might fairly compete with any peeresses' gallery, even for the attention of so grand a name in English story as is borne by the house of Bedford. Facing this galaxy—the well-worn word comes fairly in to yeoman service here—sat the ladies of the Cabinet. Justice, Finance, Public Works, Trade and Commerce, Marine and Fisheries, and Inland Revenue, wore their gayest colours, and they won a higher triumph than the green cushions have ever known. Round His Excellency, and in perfectly justifiable proximity, hovered their proud lords in all the blue and gold and scarlet ribbon bravery of the illustrious order of the Bath. Lower down, and flashing on to the Bar, and round under the clock, up the other side, gleamed and glittered the wave of silk and ripple of tulle. The whole picture was one of striking beauty and grandeur from the portly presence of the representative of Her Majesty, below the Crown, to the decorous attendance of the faithful Commons, who arrived in obedience to the Royal Summons, delivered according to ancient custom by Mr. Kimber, Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod, to take their listening stand without the Bar.

On this continent, and in this age, the forms of the ceremony of yesterday take high conservative stand. The pomp of uniform, the sparkle of decoration, the Old World dignity of office investing the Usher of the Black Rod, the deferential attitude of the people's representatives gathered round the golden symbol of their Speaker's rank, and their own prescriptive power, the consciousness that the theatre of this scene is girt with troops, and its chief actor applauded in the thunder of artillery, that the words spoken slowly at the table are themselves the crowning act of legislation that stamp the executive fiat on the deliberative results of the foregoing months of preparation—compel the attention of grave respect, not unmingled, perhaps, with sturdy British pride. Pride in the institutions of which these things are but the trappings, but trappings as appropriate and as effective as the folds of lace, or the bands that twist themselves into marvels of coiffure, are to the shoulders with which their whiteness vies, or their dainty heads which their art adorns.

The ceremony of granting Royal assent to the various Bills of the Session is, however, when the list is at all a long one, apt to become just a little tedious to the auditors. Considering the duplication occasioned by the use of both languages, even Mr. Taylor himself will scarcely differ with us here. Nobody is very sorry when the Speaker gets a chance of presenting the Supply Bill, and the Governor-General is kind enough to signify his acceptance. The Speech from the Throne immediately followed, and none of its measured syllables were lost in the furthest corners of the galleries.

After His Excellency had repeated the Speech in French he left the chair, and the general rustle of departure broke the silence of floor and gallery. Then on the pleasant murmur of recognition, and on the pretty tones of fashion criticism, on all the playful chit-chat of the relaxed assemblage—broke in the clash of the "Prince Consort's Own" cornets, and the boom of the Garrison Artillery. And so the curtain dropped on the first Session of the history of the Dominion Legislature.

A CONTEMPORARY says:

"If the English race and English Literature continue equally reproductive, the on eos empferg lish thought will form the great eEnqminioknown."

Of course! But then what in the world is it?

THE Montreal Gazette says:

"So many 'official' lists of the Montreal Twelve who are to play the Ottawa Twelve on Monday, have been published by our enterprising contemporaries, that a correct one might be acceptable. The twelve selected this morning, are Messrs. W. L. Maltby, J. R. Middlemiss, W. G. Beers, S. Macdonald, R. Macdougall, F. O. Wood, G. Torrance, A. Grant, B. Skelton, R. Tait, T. G. Ralston and J. Watson. This is a strong team, with Beers, Torrance, and Grant defending the flags. The Ottawa Twelve are also up to the mark, and 'the meeting of these champions proud' on Monday, will be a sight worth going a hundred miles to see."

FINE coral jewellery, bog oak jewellery and a large collection of other goods suitable for wedding and other presents can be seen at Young & Radford's; all new and choice goods and will be sold cheap.

CHURCH PARADE OF VOLUNTEERS.—Orders have been received by the Ottawa Volunteers to parade on Sunday in honor of the Queen's Birthday. It is expected that every member of the force will be punctual.

THE CANADIAN PARLIAMENT.

1ST PARLIAMENT: 1ST SESSION.

THE SENATE.

MONDAY, May 18.

Hon. Mr. MACPHERSON said that as these various Provinces had been united into one Dominion, it was felt that an improved military system was indispensible. This was now being provided by this Bill, but he regretted that it did not give more encouragement to the organized volunteers than they now receive. He would be pleased to hear the hon. Postmaster-General state the reasons why the Government had not given the volunteers more encouragement than they have done under this Bill. He thought they were a useful organization and the system should be extended and every encouragement given them, but he feared that under this Bill the movement would die out altogether. In regard to military schools, he thought they had been of great service in the past, and he regarded them as indispensible in the future. He said they should also have navy schools, as they had a large number of sailors, who were the best material for forming a naval force. All they require is instruction in naval gunnery, and that can be imparted to them in the winter season when they are out of employment. He hoped that by next winter the Government would have arrangements made by which they could receive this instruction. He also hoped the whole country was prepared to do its duty in the matter of defence, both as regards the militia and fortifications. With respect to the cost of fortifications, that was a matter the country would expect the Government to exercise as judicious an economy as possible. They will feel, however, that it is necessary to meet the views of the Home Government so far as circumstances will admit. There was great force in what some hon. members have said, that circumstances have changed very much since these measures were urged upon us, and that we are returning to a state of affairs which existed before the lamentable war broke out in the United States, when we had no fear of invasion from our neighbours. He hoped that time would return when it would not be necessary to make any heavy expenditure in the matter of defence generally, but at the present time, he thought it would be well for us to maintain an efficient militia, and to expend a reasonable sum in fortifications, in view of troubles which may arise with our neighbours, or rather from those organizations of Fenians who have placed themselves under their protection. One objection which he had to this Militia Bill was, that he feared an efficient militia could not be organized under it, as the time allowed for drill—from eight to sixteen days—was not sufficient for the purpose, and for this reason he thought that the volunteer movement ought still to be encouraged. With regard to the expenditure upon the different fortifications he thought that was a matter for the military authorities to determine. It would not be right for us to say that unless a certain amount of money is expended in our locality, we will go against the Bill; it is only the military authorities who can say where these fortifications can be most advantageously placed. Montreal is an important point, and it is one which we all admit would be a costly place to fortify, but while the military authorities were considering the cost of these fortifications, he hoped they would not disregard the necessity for defending the western peninsula. It has been said that Montreal was the heart of the country, and if it was taken the country would be cut in two and the west would be of little value. Whether that would be the case or not, every one would admit that if the west was overrun and the supplies cut off, Montreal would, in a military sense, be in a worthless condition. His hon. friend (Mr. McCully) had spoken of the large amount of increased expenditure which had been undertaken by the country, and he seemed to cast the blame of it upon the Government. In this he was scarcely just, as Imperial Legislation has forced upon this Government the initiation of measures involving a very large expenditure for the Intercolonial Railway, which amounts to upwards of two-thirds of the actual expenditure provided for this Session. That measure found its place in the Imperial Act from the imperative demands of the representatives from the Maritime Provinces. One gentlemen here (Mr. McCully) said the Maritime Provinces insisted upon the construction of the Intercolonial Railway, and without it nothing would have induced Nova Scotia to consent to enter this Union. If the large expenditure connected with the construction of this road has been forced upon us by his Maritime friends, it is scarcely just in them to reproach us with that expenditure. If they think that costly work can be dispensed with there was no doubt but they could get that agreement cancelled, but he believed they had no wish to do so, therefore they should not reproach the Government for burthening the country with an expenditure in which they really have no option. He would not occupy the time of the House any further, but he would be obliged if the Postmaster-General would give an explanation in respect to the want of encouragement to the Volunteers which is in this Bill.

Hon. Mr. WARK said although a considerable expenditure was involved in these measures, yet he did not think it was more, considering the resources of the Dominion, than we should expend for the defence of the country. He did not think it was more than was required at the present time, and certainly it was not more than the people of the United Kingdom had a right to expect from us. We have until this time been protected in a paternal way by the Mother Country, but we have now assumed a more advanced position. He looked upon this Dominion as a member of the Empire, and it was a great mistake for people to talk of separating this Dominion from the Mother Country. We could not afford to separate, the one country being necessary to the other, and vice versa. Every statesman in England must see the importance of the Colonies to Great Britain, in the event of a war, to give them aid, and to furnish coal for their steamships, because those ships are useful just in proportion to their obtaining supplies of fuel. A great many speak of the United States, as though in the event of a war they could choose their own battle ground, as England and France did in the Russian war. We know they must meet the whole power of the British Empire on the ocean, and that is one reason why they will not involve themselves in a war. We cannot afford to fortify our whole frontier, but the very circumstance of our having fortified certain strong points will convince our neighbours, in the event of a war, that they cannot obtain possession of any important point in the Dominion. They know that their commerce must be exposed on every sea, as all the steamers sailing from New York across the Atlantic are owned in Europe, and would in a short time be converted into privateers. If their commerce suffered so much from a few privateers from the Southern States, how much more would it suffer from the fleet of Great Britain. These circumstances will go far to prevent a war between the two countries. He hoped that in the defence of our country we would go on step by step—first the organization of the militia, and then the erection of fortifications. At the same time he would much rather see the money expended in fortifications spent in enlarging our canals, as that would be the best protection against a war with the United States, because it would put the people of a portion of the Western States under an obligation to Canada for a cheaper and better outlet to the ocean than they have on their own railways or canals, and whilst they would be compelled to construct war vessels on the lakes, these canals would admit for us any amount of gunboats which would destroy any fortifications they might erect. He agreed with what had been said in regard to the efficiency of the volunteers, and it was not fair that after public spirited young men had given up their time and means in organizing and carrying forward this volunteer movement, they should be treated with indifference by wealthy individuals, who should be compelled by taxation to support them. At the same time he did not think militia drill in this country should be left entirely to the volunteers, because it was desirable that every man capable of carrying arms should know something about the use of them. He would like to see a system of drilling introduced into schools to give boys from twelve to fourteen years of age some idea of the use of arms.

Hon. Mr. WILMOT said it was a fact to be much regretted that a portion of the British people, and he feared no very inconsiderable portion of them, were preparing the way to throw this and other distant Colonies on their own resources as regards their self-defence, which will appear from late debates in the British House of Parliament, and on other great public occasions, when allusion was made the dangers to life, and the hardships and expenses attending the marching of the troops from Halifax to the interior of Canada in the winter season through mud and snow to defend this country. He hoped this large amount would be judiciously expended, so as to yield us some lasting benefit in return.

Hon. Mr. MITCHELL said this was a measure which suited the wants and requirements of the country, and from what he could learn from the people and their representatives, he must conclude that it was one that would give satisfaction to the country. It was satisfactory to the Government to know that the pledges given by them to the British Government that the people of this country were not disposed to depend entirely upon the people of England to defend them, is likely to be realised. Notwithstanding what had been said by his hon. friend (Mr. Wilmot) in regard to the sentiments uttered in his presence when in England, he (Mr. Mitchell) believed that the sentiments of the English people were not to cast off the colonies. The sentiment is not that the colonies should defend themselves, or that England should get rid of them, but it is that Great Britain and her colonies together should form the British Empire, and that we as a free people—having the benefit of British laws, British institutions, and the privileges dependent upon British connection—should bear our fair share of the burden of defending the whole Empire and maintaining its integrity. This is a just and right view of the question. He was present on the occasion referred to by his hon. friend (Mr. Wilmot), when a gentleman occupying a high position in England referred to the expense the colonies were to the British Treasury, and he referred to the fact that a great deal of British blood and British treasure had been spent in British America. Great Britain, he said, suffered a great deal of disadvantage in maintaining the liberties and rights of this country. When these statements were made he (Mr. Mitchell) had felt the question was not fairly put, and that the gentleman addressing the assembly did not understand the question. He (Mr. Mitchell) had the satisfaction of showing to that assembly, in which were some of the noblemen of England, the unfair position in which the speaker had placed these colonies when he said that troops had to be sent to St. John, and marched through to Canada amid snows and storms in the month of December at a great risk of life. He (Mr. Mitchell) took the opportunity of asking whose battles they went to fight? Was it to fight the battles of the Canadian people? Was it in defence of the liberties of all the people in British America, or was it to protect the liberties of a British quarter-deck from the invasion of a foe? Was it not the attempt made to lessen the protection which the British flag gave which was the occasion of those troops being sent to Canada? The expressions to which he had given utterance in that assembly, drew from the audience expressions of satisfaction and approval. The numbers of those in England who wish to throw us upon our own protection is very small; all the British people ask of us is that if British treasure is to be spent in Canada, we should pay our just share to maintain the rights and liberties of the country. He did not think there was a single man on the floor of the House, or any man who wished to remain a British subject, but was willing to contribute his fair share for the defence of the country. These Bills will be an evidence to the people of England that we desire to maintain British power on this Continent, and it will be an argument against the reasoning of those who desire to sever the connection between us and the British Empire. He thought the argument used by his hon. friend (Mr. Sanborn), that if England had not these colonies she would have to maintain her troops elsewhere, was wrong. If Great Britain was denuded of her colonies, the number of troops required to maintain and protect her rights would be very much less than they are now, and so far from making these colonies a means of employing troops they only come here as a measure of necessity. He did not think it was necessary to say much in reference to the remarks made concerning the length of our frontier, as that was a point they might as well leave to military men, but he felt that so long as we remained defenceless we invited attack.

The Bill was then read a second time and referred to a Committee of the Whole House, Hon. Mr. McCREA in the chair.

Reported the same without amendment.

And on motion of Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL, seconded by Hon. Mr. MITCHELL, the 42nd rule was suspended, the said Bill read a third time and passed on a division, and ordered to be sent to the House of Commons to acquaint that House that the Senate have passed this Bill without any amendment.

A message was received from the House of Commons with a Bill intituled, "An Act to continue for a limited time the several Acts therein mentioned," which was read a first time, and ordered to be read a second time to-morrow.

Also a message from the Commons, with a Bill intituled, "An Act for the regulation of Fishing and protection of Fisheries," to which they desire the concurrence of this House, which Bill was read a first time, and ordered to be read a second time to-morrow.

"An Act respecting the commencement of certain Acts of this Session therein mentioned," was read a second time, and ordered that the 42nd rule be dispensed with as far it relates to this Bill, and that the same be read a third time and passed.

An Act respecting Forgery, Perjury and Intimidation in connection with the Provincial Legislatures and their Acts, was read a first time, and ordered for a second reading at the next sitting of the House.

Hon. Mr. BURNHAM, from the Joint Committee of the Senate and House of Commons, on the printing of Parliament, presented their 15th report.

Ordered, that it be received, and the same was then read by the Clerk as follows:

The Committee have carefully examined the following documents and recommend that they be printed, viz.:

Return to an address from the House of Commons; for a copy of the address of the House of Assembly of Nova Scotia, to the British Government, for the repeal of so much of the British North America Act as refers to that Province, &c.; also the instructions to the Hon. Return to an address from the House of Commons—return of fines imposed, and seizures made in the county of Digby, for breaches of the revenue laws, since the first day of July last, &c.

Return to an address from the House of Commons—statement of accounts rendered to the Government by the proprietors of the Gazette de Sorel; and likewise a statement of all moneys paid to the same, with date of such payments, the whole since 1862 inclusive.

Return to an address from the House of Commons—copies of contracts entered into with Robert H. McGreevy, for work done on Public Buildings, Ottawa.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

ASA A. BURNHAM,
Chairman.

On motion of Hon. Mr. BURNHAM, seconded by Hon. Mr. SHAW, it was Ordered, that the said report be taken into consideration by the House to-morrow.

The House then resolved itself into Committee of the Whole on the Bill intituled "An Act respecting copyrights," (Hon. Mr. REESOR in the chair,) who reported the same with several amendments, which were concurred in. The Bill was then read a third time and passed.

An Act respecting forgery, perjury and intimidation, in connection with the Provincial Legislatures and their Acts, was ordered to be postponed until to-morrow, on motion of Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL, seconded by Hon. Mr. MITCHELL.

The amendments proposed by the Committee of the whole House to the Bill intituled "An Act to incorporate the Canadian Lake Underwriters' Association," were then considered, which said amendments were severally concurred in, the Bill was read a third time as amended, passed, and ordered to be taken to the House of Commons, and acquaint that House that the Senate had passed this Bill with several amendments, to which they asked their concurrence.

The House then adjourned.

TUESDAY, May 19, 1868.

The SPEAKER took the chair at three o'clock.

Hon. Mr. ANDERSON from the Committee on Standing Orders and Private Bills reported the Bill, intituled "An Act to incorporte the Stratford Board of Trade," which was then read a third time and passed.

The fifteenth report of the Joint Committee of the Senate and House of Commons on the Printing of Parliament, was read and adopted.

The Bill intituled "An Act to continue for a limited time the several Acts therein mentioned," received several readings and was passed.

On motion of Hon. Mr. RYAN, seconded by Hon. Mr. Aikins, it was ordered that the return presented yesterday to an address of this House to His Excellency the Governor-General, dated 7th May, 1868, praying His Excellency to be pleased to cause to be laid before this House copies of the reports made by John Page, Esq., Engineer of the Public Works Department, on the subject of deepening Lake St. Peter, in virtue of an order in Council made in July, 1862, be read.

PROTECTION OF FISHERIES.

Pursuant to the Order of the Day the Bill intituled "An Act for the regulation and protection of Fisheries," was read a second time.

Hon. Mr. MITCHELL said this was a measure of great importance to the interests of the Dominion, and he felt assured that every hon. member of the House would take a careful look over its provisionsr and notice the changes made from the old Canadian Act, which was introduced in 1854 by his hon. friend (Mr. Campbell), when he was Commissioner of Crown Lands. He believed this Canadian Act had been a great success, and this opinion which he had formed of it was corroborated by the testimony of those who have been engaged in the fisheries of the lake shores and western rivers of the Dominion. There have been alterations made in it for the purpose of assimilating it to the wants and requirements of the Maritime Provinces. He felt that with the slight experience which he had in this branch of the public service the best course which he could take, was to adopt the old landmarks established by men who had more experience than he had in this Department. Therefore, with the assistance of gentlemen in his own Department, he had prepared this Bill, making as few changes as possible, and those changes he would point out when the House went into Committee upon the Bill.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole upon the Bill (Mr. BENSON in the chair), when after a long conversational debate in reference to the changes that had been made, the Bill was agreed to with several amendments, after which the Bill was read a third time and passed.

The Bill intituled "An Act respecting the Northern Railway of Canada," was read a first and second time, agreed to by a Committee of the whole House, and ordered to be read a third time at the next sitting of the House.

RELIEF OF SICK AND DISTRESSED MARINERS.

The Bill intituled "An Act respecting the treatment and relief of sick and distressed mariners," was read a first time.

Hon. Mr. MITCHELL then moved the second reading of the Bill, and said its object was for the purpose of assimilating the different systems in the several Provinces of the Dominion for the support of sick and distressed mariners. In the Province of old Canada, for the maintenance of mariners, a tax of one penny per ton was imposed upon vessels coming into the ports of that Province. In Nova Scotia and New Brunswick there was also a tax imposed of two or three cents a ton, according to the amount of shipping, for that purpose, and for the maintenance of Hospitals. Every two or three years the law had to be altered, sometimes making the tax more, and sometimes less. Under this Bill those laws will be assimilated, and a tax of so much a ton will be imposed upon the tonnage of vessels, for the purpose of maintaining sick mariners who may be chargeable to that fund.

On motion of Hon. Mr. MITCHELL the House went into committee upon the Bill, (Hon. Mr. SKEAD in the chair), when it was agreed to without amendment.

FISHING BY FOREIGN VESSELS.

A message was then brought from the House of Commons with a Bill intituled, "An Act respecting Fishing by Foreign Vessels," which was read a first time, when

Hon. Mr. MITCHELL moved the second reading, and said the Bill was almost a transcript of similar Acts, which for the last eleven years had been on the Statute Books of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. The object of the Bill was to make foreign fishing vessels found within three miles of the coast liable to be taken into ports and condemned. The passing of the Reciprocity Treaty shortly after these Acts came into operation practically did away with their operation; but now the treaty being repealed it becomes necessary in order to enforce the rights of our fishermen that an Act should pass in Canada similar in its character to those former Acts. He then referred to the regulation which had been passed, and which had received the assent of Her Majesty, to give license to foreign vessels to fish within three miles of the coast for the fee of $2 per ton. The Bill was then read a second time, when the House went into committee and agreed to the Bill without amendment.

The SPEAKER having resumed the chair the Bill was read a third time and passed.

Hon. Mr. MITCHELL presented to the House a return to an Address to His Excellency the Governor-General, dated yesterday, praying that His Excellency will be pleased to cause to be laid before this House, copies of any correspondence, proposals, or suggestions, received during the present Session of Parliament, by the Hon. the Minister of Fisheries and Marine, having reference to deepening and improving the ship channel between Quebec and Montreal, and to reconstructing and uniting the Trinity Board and Harbor Trusts of Montreal.—Referred to the Joint Committee on Printing.

LIGHT-HOUSES, BUOYS AND BEACONS.

The Bill intituled "An Act relating to light-houses, buoys and beacons," received two readings.

Hon. Mr. MITCHELL said the object of the Bill was for the purpose of assimilating the laws relating to light-houses, buoys and beacons. In the late Province of Canada, lights on the coast were maintained out of the general treasury; in Nova Scotia, they were maintained by a tax of ten cents per ton on the shipping which entered the ports of that Province; in New Brunswick they were also maintained by a tax on the shipping. It would be unjust to allow the law to remain as it is, because in the Maritime Provinces this tax was collected at their ports, while in Canada it would be taken out of the general treasury, to which the Maritime Provinces contribute. Therefore, the Government had introduced this Bill abolishing all taxation on tonnage for the maintenance of lights, and adopting the principle of maintaining lights out of the general treasury.

Hon. Mr. McCULLY objected to Bills coming up here without giving the members of the House an opportunity of judging of their provisions. He referred particularly to a Bill they passed in about five minutes, in regard to the confiscation of American ships when found fishing within three miles of the coast, but believing it to be a good Bill, he had not raised his voice against it. These Marine Bills might have been here sooner. He did not blame the Minister of Marine for the delay, because he knew he gave his attention to them, but it was the Government, who were responsible for these measures not arriving here at an earlier period. He hoped that hereafter, we should not be put in the position of having to pass Bills without reading them.

Hon. Mr. MITCHELL sympathized with his hon. friend, and if he had not known the facts he would have taken the same objection. This was a Bill which affected the taxation of the country, therefore it was necessary that it should be introduced into the other House. The other Bill regarding confiscation also affected property, and had to come from the other House. Every Bill which he had presented was connected in some way with taxation, and therefore it became a matter of constitutional necessity that they should be received from the other branch of the Legislature. These Bills had been in the other House for many weeks, and the consideration of them here had been prevented by the great amount of business before that branch of the Legislature. He hoped that in future a great part of the business introduced into the other branch would come here earlier in the Session, as we would have better legislation if we had more time. He regretted this hasty legislation as much as his hon. friend.

The House then went into Committee upon the Bill, and agreed to it without amendment, and ordered the third reading of the said Bill at next sitting of the House.

PENALTIES IN RESPECT OF STAMP DUTIES.

A message was brought from the House of Commons with a Bill entitled, an Act respecting certain penalties in respect of Stamp Duties, which was read a first time.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL moved the second reading, and said it was a Bill which had been suggested by his hon. friend from Nova Scotia, who had ascertained that there was a difficulty in that Province, inasmuch as the law providing that stamps should be affixed to notes and bills of exchange was not thoroughly known in that part of the country. He (Mr. Campbell) had satisfied him that there was no difficulty attending the recovery of the notes, by affixing stamps to them at any time before judgment was given, but still persons would be liable to penalties for not having affixed them when the notes were drawn; therefore, to meet that difficulty this Bill had been introduced into the other branch of the Legislature.

The Bill then received a second and third reading, and passed.

An Act respecting railways received its first and second readings.

DUTIES OF CUSTOMS.

A message was brought from the House of Commons with a Bill intituled "An Act to amend an Act of the present Session, intituled 'An Act imposing duties of customs with the tariff of duties payable under it.'" Read a first time.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL in moving the second reading, said this Bill made certain changes in the tariff which had been in force since the first part of the Session. He then enumerated the principal alterations which had been made from the previous tariff.

Hon. Mr. MACPHERSON desired to express his gratification that the duty on breadstuffs had been removed. He had read in a report of the proceedings of the other House that certain merchants and dealers in wine in the Maritime Provinces had taken their wine out of bond under the old tariff, after the new tariff should have been in operation. He would like the Government to explain how it happened, and to what amount the revenue had suffered? He did not attach so much importance to the amount as to the occurrence. He understood the Government had taken measures to prevent anything of that kind occurring by taking possession of the telegraph the day the tariff had come under the consideration of the other House.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL was glad to find his hon. friend was gratified with the change in the tariff in regard to breadstuffs. In reference to the enquiry how the contemplated changes in the tariff had reached St. John, thus enabling all the merchants to take their wines out of bond before the new tariff came into operation, he could not conceive how the information reached them, and it surprised him as much as it did his hon. friend.

Hon. Mr. MACPHERSON hoped the Government would take every means of enquiring into the matter, as in justice to the employees who were aware of the proposed changes, the matter should be well sifted.

Hon. Mr. AIKINS did not think it was good policy to take the duty off breadstuffs, particularly in regard to corn.

Hon. Mr. MILLER said the duty on breadstuffs was a serious act of injustice to the Maritime Provinces, but he thought the Government would have adopted a wiser course if they had continued the duties on flour and imposed some protective duty upon coal; the former would have been acquiesced in by the people of Nova Scotia in consideration of a duty being placed upon that important article of production in Nova Scotia.

Hon. Mr. DEVER argued against the unfairness of the discriminating duties upon spirits, the high priced wines being imported at a much lower rate of duty according to value than other spirits. He held that wine was chiefly used by the wealthy, therefore, he could see no reason why a duty should not be imposed upon that article equal in amount to other spirits which have to pay 130 per cent. on their cost. Wine paid but 30 per cent. while the duty on whiskey was 150 per cent., and on gin and West India rum it was 200 per cent.

The Bill was then read a second time; committed to a Committee of the Whole House, agreed to and read a third time and passed.

The following Bills were brought from the House of Commons, and the amendments made by that House were agreed to by the Senate, viz.:—

An Act respecting the Manufacture and Importation of Copper Coins or Tokens.

An Act respecting the commencement of certain Acts of this Session therein mentioned.

An Act to incorporate the Bank of Agriculture.

An Act to provide for Oaths of Witnesses being administered in certain cases for the purposes of either House of Parliament.

The Bill intituled "An Act respecting Forgery, Perjury, and Intimidation in connection with the Provincial Legislatures and their Acts," had several readings and was passed.

The House then adjourned until half-past seven o'clock, p.m.

After Recess.

The House having met, the following Bills were read a third time and passed, viz.:

An Act respecting the Northern Railway.

An Act respecting the treatment and relief of Distressed Mariners.

An Act respecting Fishing by Foreign Vessels.

An Act relating to Lighthouses, Buoys and Beacons.

AN ACT RESPECTING RAILWAYS.

The House went into Committee of the Whole on a Bill intituled, "An Act respecting Railways,"

Hon. Mr. CHAFFERS in the chair.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL, in reply to an objection made to a clause of the Bill which provided that Railways should carry freight for every Express Company upon the same terms, stated that the clause did not apply to existing Railway Companies.

Hon. Mr. FERRIER said if the principle was wrong the clause ought not to be passed, even though it did not come into operation now.

Hon. Mr. McMASTER said it was quite true that the law did not affect existing roads, but those roads which it did affect would be intimately connected with existing roads, therefore it was extremely desirable that the clause should be struck out.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL had no strong opinion upon the subject, as he had no experience in the matter. If the committee thought proper to strike out the clause he would have no objection.

Hon. Mr. ROSS thought the clause unfair, and it was not right to pass it simply to gratify some persons who unfortunately can not get a contract, where some other company has it.

Hon. Mr. McCREA said it was only fair that all express companies should be served alike; it would be a monopoly for one company to get privileges at a cheaper rate than another. Several express companies were to be established, but a company composed of Americans had a monopoly on the railway lines, which gave them a great advantage. He thought the clause a good one, and it ought not to be struck out.

Hon. Mr. MACPHERSON said as express companies had the charge of valuable parcels, it was very important that they should be responsible companies. He was in favor of proper competition, but to afford facilities to all those who represented themselves as express companies, he thought would not be for the interest of the public.

Hon. Mr. REESOR remarked that so long as one company was allowed to have a monopoly, so long would the public be imposed upon. If they could have one more express company in Canada, the charges for carrying by express would be more reasonable.

Hon. Mr. FLINT thought it was not right that one company should have a monopoly of the whole country.

Hon. Mr. MACPHERSON said a railway company had power to make arrangements with as many companies as they chose.

Hon. Mr. FLINT said it should not be left discretionary with them whether they should give greater privileges to one company than to another. The railway itself was a great monopoly, and they charged just what they saw fit. If they carry freight for twelve and a-half cents a certain distance when navigation is open and charge fifty cents during the winter months, it shows they either charge too much in the last instance or too little in the first. The railway companies should not say which express company they will take, but they should be compelled to serve them all alike. If we could get half a dozen express companies, there would be competition, and the public would be better served.

Hon. Mr. BENSON would vote against the amendment to strike out the last clause.

An amendment was then moved to strike out the clause, which was carried.

The Committee then rose and reported the Bill agreed to as amended, after which it was read a third time and passed.

The following Bills from the House of Commons, received several readings and passed, viz.:—

An Act respecting the Internal Economy of the House of Commons.

An Act further securing the Independence of Parliament.

An Act respecting the Canada Vine Growers' Association.

On motion of Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL the House adjourned until to-morrow at eleven o'clock, a.m.

WEDNESDAY, May 20, 1868.

The SPEAKER took the chair at eleven o'clock.

The following Bills were received by message from the House of Commons, viz.:

An Act respecting Copyrights.

An Act respecting Trade Marks and Industrial Designs.

An Act respecting the internal economy of the House of Commons.

An Act respecting the Police of Canada, with several amendments, which were concurred in by the Senate.

An Act respecting Railways.

And an Act for the regulation of Fishing and the protection of Fisheries.

A Bill intituled an Act relating to interest in Nova Scotia, was presented to the House by Hon. Mr. McCULLY, and received three several readings and passed.

A message was brought from the House of Commons by their Clerk, with a Bill intituled, an Act to amend the Act for the incorporation of the Northwest Navigation and Railway Company.

The Bill, after passing through the necessary readings, was passed without amendment.

A Bill intituled an Act respecting Harbor Police, was also read three times and passed.

The House then adjourned until three o'clock in the afternoon.

Afternoon Session.

A message was brought from the House of Commons by their Clerk, to return the Bill intituled an Act to incorporate the Canadian Lake Underwriters' Association, and to acquaint the House that they had agreed to the amendments made by the Senate.

TOBACCO DUTY.

A message was brought from the House of Commons, by their Clerk, with a Bill intituled an Act for the better securing the payment of the duty imposed on tobacco manufactured in Canada, was read a first and second time.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL moved the third reading, when

Hon. Mr. WILMOT enquired whether the Bill now under discussion had been printed and distributed, for a most important Government measure came before the House at its last meeting, purporting to be a Bill for the independence of Parliament, which his hon. friend, the Postmaster-General, explained at the second reading, was for the purpose, as he (Hon. Mr. W.) understood, of permitting Queen's Counsel to hold seats in the House of Commons, but he had been informed that it went very much further, and would permit Sheriffs and Registrars of deeds and wills to be elected—officers of all others that should be excluded. The Bill had been brought in under a false title. It should have been entitled a Bill to establish the subserviency of Parliament, and not the independence. Had he (Mr. W.) been aware of the provisions of the Bill he would certainly have divided the House upon it, and he very much regretted that the Government should have taken such a course.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL said it would be a very delicate subject for this House to say who should or who should not be elected into the other House of Parliament. The matter was solely for the other House to deal with. Upon introducing the Bill he had stated that it permitted Queen's Counsel, Attorneys and others to hold seats in Parliament.

Hon. Mr. ROSS said as all these officers were controlled by the Local Legislatures, there could not be the slightest objection to their holding seats in Parliament. The Dominion Government had no control over them.

Hon. Mr. LETELLIER DE ST. JUST said no officer of the Local Government should be independent of the Federal Government. They have to pay the Lieutenant-Governors of the Provinces, and they have a sort of pressure upon those Local Governments, therefore, when he saw that Sheriffs and Coroners were to have the liberty of being elected to the Commons he thought it would be an injury to the country. He objected to these measure being so hastily passed through Parliament, when they had no means of testing whether they were suitable for the country or not, on account of so many members being absent.

Hon. Mr. REESOR quite agreed with the hon. member who had taken his seat. It was to be regretted that under this Bill persons could be elected to the Commons that were not allowed to be elected under the old law of Canada. In regard to the Bill before the House he thought it would be a less expensive way of collecting the revenue on that particular production than under the old system, and it would not interfere with its production.

The Bill was then read a third time and passed.

On motion of Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL the House adjourned until half-past seven o'clock.

Evening Session.

Hon. Mr. BURNHAM, from the Joint Committee of the Senate and House of Commons, on the Printing of Parliament, presented their 16th Report. Which report on motion of Hon. Mr. Burnham, seconded by Hon. Mr. Skead, was then adopted.

A message was brought from the House of Commons by their clerk, with a Bill intituled "An Act respecting procedure and other matters relating to Criminal Law," to which they desire the concurrence of this House.

On motion of Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL, seconded by Hon. Mr. KENNY, it was Ordered, that the said Bill be discharged from the order of the day.

Also a message with a Bill intituled, "An Act respecting patents for invention," which Bill was read a first time.

Another message with a Bill intituled "An Act for granting to Her Majesty certain sums of money required for defraying certain expenses of the public service, for the financial years ending respectively the thirtieth day of June, 1868, and the thirtieth day of June, 1869; and for other purposes relating to the public service," to which they desire the concurrence of this House.

The said Bill was read a first time.

Ordered, that the 42nd rule be dispensed with, in so far as it relates to said Bill, and that the same be read a second time, and third time, and passed, and ordered to be sent down to the House of Commons, and acquaint that House that the Senate have passed this Bill without any amendment.

Hon. Mr. CHAPAIS presented to the House a report of the Minister of Agriculture, for the six months ending 1st July, 1867.

"An Act respecting Insurance Companies," (from the House of Commons,) was read a first time, and the 42nd rule being dispensed with, it was read a second and third time, and passed, and ordered to be sent down to the House of Commons, and acquaint that House that the Senate have passed this Bill without any amendment.

A message was brought from the House of Commons, by their clerk, to return the Bill intituled "An Act for the taking of evidence in Canada in relation to civil and criminal matters pending before Court of Justice in any of Her Majesty's Dominions, or before any Foreign tribunals," and to acquaint that House that they have passed the said Bill with several amendments, to which they desire the concurrence of this House, which said amendments were agreed to.

Ordered, that the clerk inform the House of Commons that the Senate doth agree to the amendments to the said Bill, without any amendment.

A message was brought from the House of Commons, by their Clerk, to return the Bill entitled, an Act respecting Forgery, Perjury and Intimidation, in connection with the Provincial Legislatures and their Acts, and to acquaint this House that they have passed the said Bill with several amendments, to which they desire the concurrence of this honorable House, which were agreed to, and ordered that the Clerk inform the House that the Senate doth agree to the amendments to the said Bill without any amendment.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL, Postmaster-General, then gave the House considerable information regarding the postal service arrangements to the Maritime Provinces during the coming season of navigation, which seemed to give general satisfaction.

Hon. Mr. RYAN wished to ask the Postmaster-General if the report he had just heard was true, that a motion was carried in the House of Commons, at the instance of the member for Argenteuil, (Hon. Mr. Abbott) that the Grenville and Carrillon Canal was to be closed on Sundays. He thought it very invidious to select the Province of Quebec alone, in the Dominion, to enforce such regulations, whereby they interfered with the innocent amusements and business arrangements of its inhabitants. It was a great hardship to be detained on a journey over from midnight on Saturday until Monday; besides, no through steamers in England (the country we ought to copy from) were interfered with or stopped on their voyage for the Sunday. He respected that day, he hoped, as much as any other hon. member, but he thought this was carrying matters to an extreme.

After the Hon. Messrs. CAMPBELL, MACPHERSON and PRICE had taken part in the debate, the House adjourned until

FRIDAY, May 22, 1868.

To-day, at two o'clock p. m., His Excellency the Governor-General proceeded in state to the Chamber of the Senate, in the Parliament Building. The members of the Senate being assembled, His Excellency was pleased to command the attendance of the House of Commons, and that House being present, the following Bills were assented to in Her Majesty's name by His Excellency the Governor-General, viz.:

An Act respecting Railways.

An Act to amend the Act for the incorporation of the Northwest Navigation and Railway Company.

An Act respecting Copyrights.

An Act respecting Trade Marks and Industrial Designs.

An Act respecting Harbor Police.

An Act respecting Insurance Companies.

An Act respecting forgery, perjury, and intimidation in connection with the Provincial Legislatures and their Acts.

An Act to provide for taking Evidence in Canada in relation to civil and commercial matters pending before Courts of Justice in any other of Her Majesty's Dominions, or before Foreign Tribunals.

After which His Excellency the Governor-General was pleased to reserve the following Bills for the signification of Her Majesty's pleasure thereon:

An Act respecting the Treaty between Her Majesty and the United States of America, for the apprehension and surrender of certain offenders.

An Act to fix the salary of the Governor-General.

An Act for the relief of Joseph Frederick Whiteave's.

Then the Honorable the Speaker of the House of Commons addresed His Excellency the Governor-General, as followeth:

May it please your Excellency,

The Commons of Canada have voted the supplies required to enable the Government to defray the expenses of the public service.

In the name of the Commons, I present to Your Excellency a Bill, intituled: "An Act "for granting to Her Majesty certain sums of "money required for detraying certains expenses of the public service for the financial "years ending respectively the thirtieth day "of June, 1868, and the thirtieth day of June, "1869; and for other purposes relating to the "public service;" to which I humbly request Your Excellency's assent.

To this Bill the Royal assent was signified, in the following words:

In Her Majesty's name His Excellency the Governor-General thanks Her loyal subjects, accepts their benevolence, and assents to this Bill.

After which His Excellency the Governor-General was pleased to close the First Session of the First Parliament of the Dominion with the following

SPEECH:

Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate,
Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

I am glad to be enabled to release you from further attendance to your duties in Parliament.

The Acts which you have passed for remodelling the Militia force of the Dominion, and securing the defence of your territory, will, I trust, accomplish the objects which you desire to obtain.

I hope the measures which have been adopted for regulating the fiscal system of the Dominion will tend to the promotion of commercial enterprise, and to the stability of the public credit.

I congratulate you on the passage of the Acts by which the Executive Departments of the Dominion have been organized, and their efficiency provided for.

I must express my regret that the measures for the assimilation of the criminal law of the several Provinces of the Dominion which were submitted by my directions to Parliament, have not been presented for the sanction of the Crown.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

I thank you for the provision you have made for the public service, and I am satisfied it will be applied with a due regard to efficiency and economy.

Honorable Gentlemen, and Gentlemen:

I rejoice that I am in a position to congratulate you on the general prosperity which prevails through the Dominion, and I feel assured that on your return to your homes you will exert yourselves in promoting obedience to the laws and inculcating attachment to the free institutions under which it is your happiness to live.

The Speaker of the Senate then said:

Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate and of the House of Commons:

It is His Excellency the Governor-General's will and pleasure, that this Parliament be prorogued until Wednesday, the first day of July next, to be here held, and this Parliament is accordingly prorogued until Wednesday, the first day of July next.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

FRIDAY, May 22, 1868.

The SPEAKER took the chair at twenty minutes past eleven o'clock, there being about 25 members present.

OFFICERS' PAY.

Sir G. E. CARTIER withdrew the motion of which he had given notice for an Address to His Excellency the Governor-General to authorize the appropriation of the sum of $10,000 to enable the Government to pay the Officers of the Volunteer Militia, a sum of fifty cents each, for each day's drill during the year ending 30th June, 1869, in addition to the sum already appropriated for that purpose, assuring His Excellency that this House will make good the same, stating that he had found that the militia appropriations already voted were sufficient to cover the expense of the increase of pay which he proposed giving to commissioned officers.

Sir J. A. MACDONALD then moved the adjournment of the House during pleasure stating that His Excellency would come down to prorogue Parliament at two o'clock, and the House rose at half-past eleven, to meet again at a quarter to two.

The SPEAKER again took the chair at the time named.

Sir G. E. CARTIER presented the sixth report of the Standing Committee on railways, canals and telegraph lines, which on his motion was adopted.

The Commons then awaited the summons of the Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod to attend at the Bar of the other Chamber.

CITY COUNCIL.

The City Council met last night. Present: His Worship the Mayor; Ald. Rochester, Pratt, Hunter, Bangs, Robinson, Featherston, Goulden, Traversy and Heney.

A number of petitions were presented and referred.

His Worship stated that he had been consulted by several persons, as to the position of the city in reference to the Major's Hill. He had consulted the Government in reference to the subject, and they had expressed their perfect willingness to afford every facility to the citizens to use the hill as a public park, though they were not willing to resign their control over and title to the hill.

The Committee, to make provision for the due celebration of the Queen's Birthday, presented their report, asking an additional hundred dollars to enable them to do justice to the occasion.

The report was received and adopted.

Ald. Featherston presented the report of the Board of Works, in favor of lamps being placed on the Richmond Road, and Dalhousie and Little Sussex streets. A discussion ensued as to the relative value of coal oil and gas, the general opinion being in favor of the former.

Ald. Pratt said they were well satisfied with the light of the oil lamps at the Chaudiere, and said they were much better and cheaper than the gas lights to the city.

Ald. Robinson contended that as Sandy Hill was one of the principal thoroughfares of the city they ought to be placed there as well as in those streets named in the report. He moved an amendment referring the subject to the City Engineer, which, as it had no seconder, fell to the ground, and the report was received and adopted.

Ald. Hunter presented the report of the Finance Committee containing a number of accounts, which was received and adopted without debate.

Ald. Robinson then called attention to the fact of an order being passed in this council last winter to place a lamp on the centre of the Sapper's Bridge, where it was so much needed.

Ald. Featherston, as Chairman of the Board of Works, said the bridge had been examined by several members of the Board, and lamps having been placed at the ends of the bridge it was thought sufficient light would be given by those to render a lamp on the centre unnecessary. No action was taken, but it is understood that the lamp will be put up.

Moved by Ald. Featherstone, seconded by Ald. Goulden, that the Municipal Corporation of the City of Ottawa, at its regular meeting next preceding the Birthday of our beloved Sovereign, deem it a solemn duty to give utterance to the profound and sorrowful sympathy with Her Most Gracious Majesty in the afflicting event, involving danger to the life of her son, Prince Alfred, which has lately transpired in a distant portion of her dominions.

That the citizens of Ottawa have had occasion to admire the noble bearing and generous character of the Prince, whose life has been thus placed in jeorpardy, and they rejoice with his royal mother in the good news of his recovery from the wound inflicted on his person.

That this Corporation desires to express its intense horror of the great crime, which has raised the indignation of the whole empire, and has incited the most anxious desire that the guilty perpetrator of the horrible and atrocious deed, and his aiders and abettors, may be brought to swift and condign punishment.

That this Corporation, in the name of the citizens of Ottawa, desires to lay at the foot of the throne the renewed expression of its loyalty and devotion to the person and Government of our beloved Queen: its detestation of all conspiracies against the peace of the empire, or the person of members of the Royal Family; and its anxious hope that peace and happiness may be the lot of Victoria the Good in the evening of her life.

That the Mayor embody this resolution in an address to Her Majesty, seal the same with the corporate seal, and forward it to His Excellency the Governor-General for presentation to Her Majesty the Queen.

On motion the Council then adjourned.

BOG OAK JEWELLERY.—Very handsome sets of bog oak jewellery can be had at Young & Radford's, at $1 per set.

THE IRON MINES.—We are glad to state that the Hull iron mines' works are in full and successful operation, making from eight to ten tons of iron per day.

THE season for muslin dresses and lace shawls being close at hand, ladies should see the great variety of novelties at Magee and Russell's.

ANOTHER LACROSSE MATCH.—A Lacrosse match is to take place at eight o'clock on the morning of the 25th, in Sparks' field, between the young Britons and Huron Lacrosse Clubs.

NEW DOMINION BASE BALL CLUB.—A meeting of the N. D. B. B. C. will be held this evening at half-past eight, at their club rooms in the rink. All members are requested to be present.

ST. ALBAN'S SCHOOLHOUSE READINGS.—We have been requested to state that the weekly readings for next week will take place on Tuesday evening, instead of Monday evening, at eight o'clock.

EXCURSION.—The contemplated excursion of the Ottawa Natural History Society, to the Chats Falls, will not take place on the Queen's Birthday, but for sufficient reasons will be deferred till next Saturday.

POLICE COURT.—John Hillyard, Alex. Deschamp, Con. Kennedy, Anselm Chance and Paul Cournoyer, were each fined $1 and costs, for keeping foul premises.—Joseph Jolis, for stealing a set of harness, the property of James McGee, of Nepean, was committed to take his trial at the next Recorder's Court.

BASE BALL.—It is intended as part of the games on the Queen's Birthday, for the Ottawa and Metcalfe Base Ball Clubs to play a friendly match, and if this should not come off, nine other members of the Ottawa club will be chosen to play against those already selected to play Metcalfe.

OLE BULL.—We are sorry to learn that this great performer had but moderate houses in Montreal, as well as in Ottawa. This is attributable solely to the bad management of his advance agent. Ole Bull is satisfied of this, and at the request of a large number of admirers, will re-visit Canada in September, when we shall have the pleasure of hearing him again.

OTTAWA vs. MONTREAL.—The team of twelve chosen from the Lacrosse Club of Ottawa to play a friendly game against the same number of the Montreal Lacrosse Club, leave in company with a number of their friends this morning by the steamer. After the game on Monday the Montreal Club will treat our twelve to a handsome supper. On Tuesday morning the Ottawa party leave for home. It is but just to notice that the Steamboat Company take them to Montreal and return for one fare.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—We regret to hear that a canoe was upset at Portage du Fort, on Sunday last, in which Mr. Edward John Cambie and a young man named Wright were crossing the Ottawa River, and before assistance could reach them Mr. Cambie had sunk. He was only about a year in Canada, and leaves a widow and infant son in Ireland to mourn his sudden death. On Wednesday his cousin, Mr. A. Cambie, of this city, succeeded in recovering his body, when an inquest was held before Dr. Purvis, Deputy Coroner, at Portage du Fort and a verdict of "accidental death" returned.

LONDON, May 22.—The Court requires that Howe, the spiritualist, repays Mrs. Lyon £60,000 and costs.

A despatch from Rome states that the Pope has invited the Roman Catholic Bishops of the United States to raise one thousand volunteers for the Papal army, authorizing them to make such terms with the recruits as they may deem necessary and proper.

BERLIN, May 22.—The Zollverein Diet has adopted a resolution to adjourn to-morrow. The members will make an excursion to Kiel next week, to inspect the Federal fleet now lying in that harbor.

LONDON, May 22.—The despatch concerning the action of the Government on the question of Scotch Reform in the House of Commons last night, was inaccurable. The following is a correct report:—

Mr. Baxter, member for Montrose, on Monday night, moved as an amendment to the Scotch Reform Bill, that the number of Scotch members of the House of Commons be increased by taking the franchise from some small English boroughs. This amendment, which was opposed by the Ministry on Monday night, but which was carried on a division of the House, was last night adopted by Mr. D'Israeli. The Premier subsequently proposed on the part of the Ministry, a new clause providing that persons excused from the payment of rates by reason of their poverty, be not entitled to vote. The further consideration of the Bill was then postponed.

PASSPORTS FOR NATURALIZED SUBJECTS.

DOMINION OF CANADA.

Copy.
Circular.

DOWNING-STREET,
25th April, 1867.

SIR,—With reference to the Circular Despatch from this Department dated the 5th of June, 1866, relative to the case of Foreigners naturalised in any of Her Majesty's Colonies who wish to obtain British Passports for foreign travel—I have the honor to inform you that different cases have occurred lately in which such naturalized Foreigners have applied in this country for passports without being in possession either of a Passport from the Governor or of any Official Document from the Colony to establish their identity and character. You will readily perceive that this is calculated to embarrass this Department, and also to cause much private inconvenience to the persons concerned if they should find themselves unable to produce any sufficient evidence of their quality.

I have therefore to suggest that, in every Colony containing naturalized Foreigners who are likely to travel in Europe, it would be convenient that notice should from time to time be given in public newspapers of the necessity for such persons providing themselves before leaving the Colony with some official evidence of their identity and description.

I have the honor to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient
Humble servant,
Signed, BUCKINGHAM & CHANDOS

The Officer Administering
the Government, &c., &c., &c.

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE,
Ottawa, 8th May, 1868.

(With reference to the foregoing Circular Despatch.)

Notice is hereby given that parties requiring Passports must apply, until further notice, to this Department, transmitting at the same time a certificate of identity, accompanied in each case with a description of the applicant, signed by a Justice of the Peace and also the fee of one dollar.

H. L. LANGEVIN,
733-3 Secretary.

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER

de, Back and Head, Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat Sprains, Bruises, Cramps in the Stomach, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery, Bowel Complaints, Burns, Scalds, Frost Bites, &c., &c.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER HAS now been before the public for a length of time, and whenever used is well liked, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single case of dissatisfaction where the directions are properly followed; but on the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its virtues and magical effects.

We speak from experience in this matter, having tested it thoroughly, and therefore those who are suffering from any of the complaints for which it is recommended may depend upon its being a Sovereign Remedy.

The astonishing efficacy of the Canadian Pain Destroyer, in curing diseases for which it is recommended, and its wonderful success in subduing the torturing pains of Rheumatism, and in relieving Nervous Affections, entitle it to a high rank in the list of Remedies for these complaints, orders are coming in from Medicine Dealers in all parts of the country for further supplies, and each testifying as to the universal satisfaction it gives

The Canadian Pain Destroyer never fails to give immediate relief. All Medicine Dealers keep it. Physicians order and use it; and no family will without it after once trying it.

NOTICE.

THE Undersigned will either sell or let for a few years his well known farm, being lot Twenty-five in the Fourth Concession of Gloucester, Rideau Front, 215 acres all cleared, and well fenced and in a good state of cultivation. Also, the one-half of lot Twenty-seven in the Third Concession, being in its natural state, all wood and excellent land. It is just the cross of two hundred acres from the corner of the one lot to the other. The railroad line runs within ten feet of the front corner of the one hundred and in sight of the two hundred for two or three miles. The Station at Cunningham's is scarcely a mile and a half from the front of Lot Twenty-five. The above farm is capable of keeping thirty head of milch cows, two span of horses, and as many young cattle as it would be proper to raise. Eight or nine years ago I kept twenty-two milch cows, and ten or twelve horses, and raised five or six calves every year. The above farm is about ten miles, from the door, to the limits of the City. The improvements cannot be surpassed for a farmer's purpose. The dwelling-house is stone, 30 by 40, a story and a half over ground; and a cellar nine feet high, the one half used for a kitchen and the other half capable of holding 1,000 bushels of anything you wish to put into it; there is three small windows in it, and when cleaned in the Spring, makes an excellent milk-house or dairy; there is a frame wood shed at the door, 60 by 24, with 14 feet taken off the one end for a coachhouse, and overhead for a storehouse; next to that is a stable 36 by 26, finished inside, complete with four large double stalls and two single ones, and good room for hanging up harness, and eat box; convenient to that is a barn 40 by 50, in which I have often put 1,000 bushels of grain in one year; connected with that is 200 and 20 feet of frame sheds, all 20 and 24 deep, under pinned with stone and lime from two to seven feet, according to level; on the north side of the house is another barn, 30 by 40, commonly filled with peas and oats. And if either tennant or purchaser has a desire for religious purposes you can lie in your bed and look at the bell tolling on the Catholic Church every Holy Day, and go to the front door and you will see the Presbyterian Church, where the Rev. Mr. Lochead has preached for the last twenty-two years, and go to the back door and you will see both English Church and Methodist Church within two miles. The above farm would be a desirable situation for a young man wishing to give his attention to farming, as the Ottawa Market cannot be surpassed in the Dominion. I think that I can say that I have not sold one pound of butter under one shilling this eight years: if one went under two went over. Some reader may ask what am I selling for, it is neither for scant nor for want of anything, but I am in the seventieth year of my age, and has purchased off this lot seven hundred and fifty acres of land and all is paid for, and all my sons is settled on their own farms, so I would rather sit down and take my ease as be attending to marketing and farming any longer. Persons wishing to get any information on any point from me, can do so by addressing, post-paid, JAMES JOHNSTON, Senr., South Gloucester.

DARLEY'S

Arabian Heave Remedy

AND CONDITION MEDICINE

IS POSITIVELY SUPERIOR TO ANY or all other preparations for the cure of Heaves, Coughs, Thick and Broken Wind, and all diseases which affect the Wind of Horses; also, as a Condition Medicine, surpassing everything of the kind. It is easy to give, sure to cure, and safe in all cases and at all times, and does not prevent the horse from being worked while using it.

It cleanses the breathing apparatus, by removing from the air-cells the coagulable lymph, or that secretion which in heaves clogs them, causing a difficulty in breathing, and by its action on the diseased part, causing the mucous membrane to resume its natural dimensions, thus equalising the circulation of the blood, and restoring the distended vessels to their natural size; by its use the horse's appetite is improved, all derangements of the digestive organs corrected, softening the skin, and giving to the coat a sleek and shining appearance.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

For the Government of the European and North American Railway. Approved 29th February, 1868, by His Excellency the Governor-General in Council, under the authority of "An Act respecting the Public Works of Canada," assented to 21st December, 1867.

STATION REGULATIONS.

PASSENGERS

Purchasing their tickets, before entering the cars, will effect a saving of 12 cents.

Passengers must procure tickets at the Ticket Office, and show them to the Station Baggage Master.

To avoid all mistakes, passengers must attend personally to the checking and marking of their baggage; and all baggage will be left at the place designated, when put in the Baggage Car, and must be claimed by the owner on the arrival of the train.

Runners for railroads, boats and hotels, and carters and hackmen, will not be allowed to enter the stations, nor come upon the platforms on the arrival of passenger trains, to solicit or influence passengers, but may stand in such places as directed by the Agent or Police.

Hackmen and Porters, with checks, will be admitted to obtain the luggage; they will also be admitted when taking baggage to the trains.

Hacks, baggage waggons and private carriages must be arranged, in the Station grounds, as directed by the Station Master or Police. Unnecessary noise and obscene and abusive language are strictly forbidden.

Any coachman, hackman or public porter, refusing to leave the Station, or remove his coach, hack, or other vehicle upon being requested so to do by the Superintendent, Station Master, Police, or any other officers of the railway, or shall wilfully obstruct any of the passengers to and from the Station, shall be liable to a fine of two dollars for each and every offence, to be recovered before the Police Magistrate, in such a manner as fines are made recoverable, by an Act for the Regulation of Railways in the Province of New Brunswick, passed 6th April, 1858.

The waiting rooms are for the travelling public only; all other persons will be excluded. No smoking allowed.

No person must be allowed to get into, or upon, or quit, any car, after the train has been put in motion, or until it stops.

Passengers cannot have their baggage checked to any Station, short of their destination, unless that shall be beyond the limits of this railway.

Baggage will not be taken to include money, merchandise, or any other articles than those of personal use.

The railway will not be liable for any baggage or article not given in charge to the railway.

STATION BAGGAGE MASTERS.

No checks to be given to cabmen or omnibus drivers (as such), but only to the passengers themselves, and on no account are passengers to be allowed to take checked baggage into the car with them.

Special care must be taken, not to deliver baggage, without first removing the checks, and obtaining the duplicates from passengers. Any baggage received, the checks and duplicates of which do not correspond, must be reported, forwarding the checks, and naming the Station, whence received, taking a receipt from the owner for the same. When a passenger has lost his duplicate check, baggage must not be given up unless the person claiming it can describe the contents of each package.

Station Masters are required to report immediately any baggage wanted at their Stations, also any baggage that has lain unclaimed twenty-four hours. Baggage, having lain unclaimed fourteen days, to be forwarded to headquarters, properly labelled, showing date received, train, &c.

No baggage to be opened by Agents, except in the presence of owner.

Excess to be charged where passengers have more baggage than the quantity allowed.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS TO CONDUCTORS.

After the train is started the Conductor will have entire charge and control of the train, and all persons employed on it (except when his directions conflict with the rules and regulations, or involve any risk or hazard, in either of which cases all participating will be held alike accountable); the passengers are in his charge, and he is responsible for the safety and regularity of the train, which he must never allow to proceed beyond its regular Station for meeting, until the arrival of the train due, unless otherwise directed.

In the event of any passenger being drunk, or disorderly, to the annoyance of others, he must use all gentle means to stop the nuisance, failing which, he must exercise his authority and restrain or keep him in a separate place until he arrive a the next Station, or further, to a police office, or lock-up, where the passenger must be left, and may be delivered to the Police, and charged with the offence in the usual way.

He must not allow any person to ride on the platforms, or outside the cars, or in the baggage car.

He must prevent passengers endangering themselves by imprudent exposure.

He must not allow the sale of books, papers, or refreshments, in the cars, without permission.

GENERAL ORDERS TO ENGINE DRIVERS.

He shall allow no person to ride on his engine or tender without the permission of those in authority over him.

MAINTENANCE OF WAY AND STRUCTURE.

All persons walking along the line, who are not in the railway service, must be warned off, and in case of non compliance, their names ascertained, and reported to the Trackmaster, or placed under arrest, as the exigencies of the case seem to require.

Animals found straying within the railway fences must be immediately driven off. Farm gates found open must be promptly closed.

All articles found on the track must be promptly sent to the Station Master of the nearest Station.

The following REDUCED RATES, for SEASON TICKETS for three months, be charged between ST. JOHN and the undermentioned Stations.

Copy of a report of a Committee of the Honorable the Privy Council, approved by His Excellency the Governor-General in Council on the 27th of April, 1868.

On a memorandum dated 15th April, 1868, from the Honorable the Minister of Public Works, respecting that on the 29th February last, an order in Council was passed authorizing the adoption of certain rules and regulations for Government of the European and North American Railway, New Brunswick.

That he would now recommend the adoption of tariffs submitted with his report for passengers and freight for the said railway.

The Committee advise that the above mentioned tariffs be adopted.

Certified,
WM. H. LEE,
Clerk Privy Council.

To the Honorable
The Minister of Public Works,
&c., &c.

GENERAL NOTICES & CONDITIONS OF CARRIAGE.

1 This railway will not be accountable for any articles unless the same be signed for as received by a duly authorized Agent.

2 Nor will it be responsible for the loss of or damage done to money, in cash, bills, promissory notes, or securities for money, or jewelry, trinkets, rings, precious stones, gold or silver, manufactured or unmanufactured, gold and silver plate or plated articles, clocks, watches, time-pieces, marble, lace, furs, silks in manufactured or unmanufactured state, and whether wrought up or not wrought up with other materials, writings, title deeds, prints, maps, paintings, engravings, pictures, stamps or other valuables; nor for damage done to china, glass, eggs, wearing apparel, musical instruments, furniture, toys, castings, grindstones, tombstones, slates, or any other such hazardous or brittle articles, in packages or otherwise.

3 Nor will it be responsible for delays from storms or accidents, or damages from the weather, fire, heat, frost, or delay of perishable articles or from civil commotion; nor will it, under any circumstances, be liable for loss of market or other claims arising from delay or detention of any train whether in starting or at any of the Stations, or in the course of the journey. The railway does not undertake to send goods by any particular train, if there be an insufficient number of cars at the Station, or the cars cannot be conveniently used for that purpose, notwithstanding the goods may have been taken to the Station before the hour appointed by the railway.

4 Nor will it be responsible for the loss or damage of any packages insufficiently or improperly marked, packed, directed or described, or containing a variety of articles, liable by breaking to damage each other or other articles; nor for leakage arising from bad casks, or bad cooperage or from fermentation or any other cause beyond the control of the railway.

5 Nor will it be responsible for the loss or damage of any goods put into returned wrappers or boxes, or packages described as "Empties:" nor for any goods directed "to be left until called for," or "to order," warehoused for the convenience of the parties to whom they belong, or by or to whom they are consigned: nor will it, under any circumstances, be accountable for the loss or damage of goods that are not taken away immediately after advice of their arrival has been sent or posted.

6 Goods conveyed at a special or mileage rate, must be loaded or unloaded by the owner or his agents, and the railway will not be responsible for any risk of stowage, loss or damage however caused: nor for any discrepancy in the delivery as to either quantity, number or weight, nor for the condition of articles so carried, nor for detention or delay in the conveyance or delivery of them, however caused.

7 No Agent or Employee of this railway is authorized to take charge of bank notes, money or valuable papers.

8 Senders of dangerous articles will be held accountable for any damage arising therefrom, or thereto, unless the contents are so described upon the direction, that due care may be observed in loading, and in no case will the railway be liable for the loss of any such article.

9 All articles directed to be left at any stopping place or platform where there is no Station House or Goods Warehouse and Agent, will be at the risk of the owner directly they are delivered at such stopping place or platform; and all articles brought there for conveyance will also be at the owner's risk until taken into the cars.

10 Fresh fish, fruit, meat, poultry, oysters and other perishable articles, are conveyed only at the owner's risk, and the freight must be pre-paid.

11 When goods are intended, after being carried by this railway, to be forwarded by some other conveyance to their final destination, the responsibility of this railway will cease as soon as the goods are delivered to such other conveyance, and it is to be distinctly understood that such goods are received by the railway only on these conditions.

12 Storage will be charged on all goods remaining in the Stations over 48 hours after their arrival at the rate of twenty-five cents per barrel bulk, per month, and when stored no deduction will be made from this rate for Goods remaining in store for a less time than one month.

13 Demurrage at the rate of two dollars per car, per day, will be charged on all cars not unloaded within thirty-six hours after arrival, exclusive of Sundays, provided the same are loaded with goods liable to be unloaded by the owner or consignee; the railway reserving the right to discharge the same at the expense of the owner or consignee; at any time after the expiration of such 36 hours.

14 No claim whatever, for loss or damage will be allowed unless notice in writing is given to the Station Agent before the goods are removed.

15 No charge less than twenty cents will be made for any single package or consignment.

16 No goods will be delivered until all charges against them are paid, and the railway will not be accountable for the correctness of any "back charges" on goods, &c., by other companies, conveyances or individuals.

17 Vehicles are carried only at the owner's risk of damage from fire, weather and all other contingencies.

18 Machines or articles very long or bulky which require one or more cars to be taken especially to convey them, will be charged at full car rates.

19 Barley, corn, hay, oats, oysters, potatoes, rye, salt, wheat and dry fish, in bulk, and bricks, clay, coals, coke, grindstones, limestones, ores, sand and stone, chains and chain cables, pig and scrap iron, and all other articles of a similar character, and lumber, must be loaded and unloaded by the owner thereof, or at his expense. Double rates will be charged for overloading.

20 The railway will have a lien on all goods transported over the same for freight and charges thereon, as well as for any balance which may be previously due for freight, &c., by the owner or consignee, and the said goods will be liable to be sold by public auction for the payment of the charges thereon, and other balances which may be due.

21 Top wharfage at the customary rates will be charged on all goods landed on the railway wharves at Moncton, Shediac and St. John, except in cases where the goods are to be forwarded by this railway.

22 Rates of wharfage to be charged at railway wharves at St. John and Point DuChesne—except in cases where the vessel using the wharf is lying to load or unload goods brought by or to be carried by the railway, or for the purpose of unloading ballast for the use of the railway—vessels in all cases are to lie where directed by the wharfinger or agent for the time being:

For every decked vessel or woodboat of the burthen of 40 tons or under 30 cents per day, above 40 tons and under 50, 35 cts. above 50 and under 60 40 cents, above 60 and under 70 45 cents, above 70 and under 80, 50 cents, above 80 and under 90, 55 cents, above 90 and under 100, 60 cents, above 100 and under 120, 70 cents, above 120 and under 150, 80 cents, above 150 and under 180, 90 cents, above 180 and under 200, $1, above 200 and under 220, $1.10, above 220 and under 240, $1.20, above 240 and under 260, $1.30, above 260 and under 280, $1.40, above 280 and under 300, $1.50, above 300 and under 320, $1.50, above 320 and under 340 $1.70, above 340 and under 360, $1.80, above 360 and under 380, $1.90, above 380 and under 400, $2, above 400 and under 450, $2.25, above 450 and under 500, $2.50, and 25 cents for each additional 50 tons.

23 Live stock, when carried by the car load, will be charged at the rate of 25 cents per car, per mile, but no charge less in amount than six dollars will be made for a car.

24 All Live Stock carried over this railway must be loaded and discharged by the owner or his agent, and is to be under his sole care, and in all respects at his risk then and during transit. Any food furnished will be at his expense, and halters are to be provided by him when necessary. One drover will be allowed to pass free (second class) when accompanying his stock for the purpose of taking care of it, and paying the full price of the car load.

25 The loading of Sawn Lumber will be limited to 5000 superficial feet of hard or 8000 superficial feet of soft wood per car. The loading of hardwood logs and timber will be limited to 7½ tons of 40 cubic feet, and of softwood logs and timber to 10 tons of 40 cubic feet, per car. Pine, hemlock and spruce will be reckoned as soft, and all other kinds as hard. Owners overloading will be charged double rates in every instance. The quantities mentioned as being the load for one car, will not be considered as applicable to lumber, which by reason of its length requires for its conveyance two or more cars. Scantling, sawn or hewn, and ship or deck plank, or other long lumber, must not be piled higher than the tariff quantity of the same description of goods would reach it upon car. In the absence of survey bills deals will not be permitted to be laden above twelve tiers high. Cedar poles must not be laden more than five feet high, and must be properly secured with ropes to prevent spreading. Derricks by means of which cars are sometimes laden must not in any instance be erected upon the car.

26 Hay can only be conveyed in box cars.

27 Lumber will be taken to mean timber, deals, boards, plank, shipstuff, cordwood, tanbark, fence or hoop poles, box shooks, clapboards, staves, logs, laths, shingles, railway sleepers, spars and all other similar products of the forests. It must in all cases be properly and safely laden upon the cars, and must not project over the ends of the cars nor must cross grained wood be used for stakes In the event of the owner neglecting or refusing to obey the directions of the Station Master or other person authorized by the Superintendent in relation thereto, the load will be reduced, if necessary, to bring it within the quantity prescribed for a car load, and afterwards so secured as to make it entirely safe for transportation. The expense of doing this being charged against the goods.

28 When lumber is put upon one car care must be taken to have a stake placed near the centre of the length in addition to the others, so as to prevent its being dependent on only two stakes; and when the load is of logs or small round timber, or such other description of lumber as tends to settle and thus produce increased strain upon the stakes, chains or ropes must be used about one-third of the height from the top of the load to bind it, and where entire safety cannot be otherwise secured, skids to separate the ties must also be used.

29 Long lumber extending over two or more cars must be bound by chains or large ropes. It must not be "bound" by the stakes, but loaded on "bunks" that it may "play" or "swivel" freely.

30 Lumber will be carried only at the convenience of the railway, and at the risk of the owner.

31 Cars laden with lumber will not be allowed to stand over to give owners or consignees choice of positions at the receiving station when other berths are unoccupied.

32 In loading Cordwood sticks must be placed at the edges of the car for the outer ends of the wood to rest upon, that it may tend, when piled, towards the centre. Green Hardwood must not be piled higher than three feet, and Dry not higher than four feet. The stakes used must be green spruce or straight hardwood of sufficient thickness.

33 Cars left at Stations or Sidings to fill requisitions, will be subject to demurrage after twenty-four hours, and if not loaded within sixteen hours thereafter, (in both cases exclusive of Sunday) they may be handed over or removed to fill other requisitions.

34 Stations being often obstructed by deposits of lumber of various kinds, and the ordinary business of the Station being thereby incommoded; notice is hereby given that in such cases the obstructions will be removed, and the cost of such removal, in addition to yardage, at the rate of one dollar per car load per day, will form a charge against the lumber. Notice will given to the owner or consignee that its removal is required before a certain time, and the charges will commence immediately on the expiration of such time. When the charges have accumulated so as to amount to half the value of the lumber it will be sold at Public Auction, after given ten days public notice of such sale.

35 Lumber and other goods will be received only at Sidings; unless by previous arrangement it is shewn to the satisfaction of the Superintendent, that sufficient for a full train load of ten cars will be so placed that it can readily be laden with the assistance of an engine. A charge of $2 50 per hour will be made when the engine is detained more than three hours in addition to the usual rate per car, per mile, calculated from the Siding next beyond.

36 To avoid errors in invoicing loaded cars at Outsidings owners should fasten a ticket upon the side of the car, stating to whom the load belongs and to whom and where it is consigned.

37 When goods are required to be loaded by the owner or his agent, or at his expense, all fittings (such as stakes, bunks, skids, chains, ropes, &c., for lumber and sideboards for coal, sand, bricks, clay, stone, manganese, grain or articles of a similar character), must be provided by him, or will be charged to him if furnished by the railway. Such fittings will be transported back free, if necessary, but at the owner's risk.

38 When cars, liable to be laden or unladen by the owner or consignee of the goods, have been once placed, and for the convenience of the owner or at his request, are shifted to finish at another berth in the same Station Yard, a charge of one dollar per car will be made for such service.

39 Car loads of Lumber taken from any Station or Siding not named in the table of rates, will be charged twenty cents per car, per mile, for the additional distance beyond the Station named in the table; but in no case will the whole charge made be less than four dollars per car.

40 Full carloads of either bricks, cement, coal, chains, chain cables and anchors, grindstones, hay, household removals and furniture of all kinds, iron knees, pig, scrap and bar iron, lime, limestone, manure, mill and burr stones, molasses, oil, ores, outfits for, and products of the fisheries, plaster, rigging, fitted, salt, sand, sawdust, slate, straw, sugar, to one address, may be transported at the rate of twenty cents per car, per mile—no less charge than four dollars being made; and full carloads of beef, salted, in barrels, eggs, in barrels, flour and meal, in barrels, flaxseed, in barrels, pork, in barrels, to one address, may be transported at the rate of twenty-five cents, per car, per mile —no less charge than six dollars being made. Goods thus carried, must be laden and unladen by the owner or his agent, and will be at his risk then and during transit, and the entire load must consist solely of one of the articles mentioned.

41 Special arrangements may be made under certain extraordinary circumstances.

42 If the owner or owners, or his or their agent shall not, within five days after the arrival of the goods at the place of destination, pay the freight and any other charges due thereon, and take possession of and remove such articles from the railway premises, the Superintendent, by order of the Commissioners, may sell or cause the same to be sold at public auction, after giving ten days public notice of such sale, and having deducted all charges due, with the expenses of the sale and all other incidental expenses, he shall pay the surplus if any, to the owner, on application.

43 Cars cannot be hired to load cattle or goods of any kind, with the privilege of loading up at different Stations; and in no case can drovers be permitted to got free except when they have, at least, one full car load from one Station, and then they can pass only from that Station.

44 The loading of box cars is limited to 18,000 lbs weight, and of platform cars to 20,000 lbs weight per car.

45 Articles not specified in the classification be charged the same rate as similar or articles.

46 Special Rates.—The rates betw and Shediac or Point Du Chesne, for goods in the quantities named, to one be:—

Oats, in quantities of 560 bushels of 2,151 cubic inches each, 4 cents per bushel.

barley, in quantities of 360 bushels of 2,151 cubic inches each, 5½ cents per bushel.

Potatoes and turnips, in quantities of 360 bushels of 2,747 cubic inches each, 5½ cents per bushel.

Wheat, in quantities of 300 bushels of 2,151 cubic inches, 7 cents per bushel.

Salt, in quantities of 250 bushels of 2,151 cubic inches, 8 cents per bushel.

Measurement is to be made when being loaded. In case of dispute, the load, before bulk is broken will be weighed upon the railway track scales, and the result divided by the mean weight of five bushels, is to be considered conclusive.

Fish, pork and beef, salted in barrels, in quantities of 60 barrels, and upwards, 30 cents per barrel.

Dried fish, in quantities of 160 quintals, and upwards, 12½ cents per quintal.

Flour and meal, in barrels, in quantities of from 90 to 500 barrels, 20 cents per barrel.

Flour and meal, in barrels, in quantities of 500 barrels and upwards, 15 cents per barrel.

47 Cargoes of the undermentioned articles will be carried in carloads to one address, from Point du Chesne to Saint John, at the following rates:—
Stone, ores and coals............$1 50 per ton.
Deals .... 2 00 per M. sup. ft.

48 Preserved salmon or other fish, in boxes or cans, in any quantity, from the fisheries in the Gulf of Saint Lawrence, or rivers or bays in Prince Edward Island or Northern New Brunswick, or vinegar for the fisheries, from Saint John, will be rated 4th class.

49 A portion of the area of a car may be freighted exclusively for the benefit of any party, at the rates per square foot fixed for the carriage of 3rd class articles per hundred pounds.

50 This tariff is to come in operation on the seventh day of June, 1867, after which date all previous rates and conditions shall be and are hereby cancelled 751tf

The Ottawa Times

WEDNESDAY, MAY 27, 1868.

THE assault on TURNER on Monday evening evidences the propriety of a suggestion made by us some time ago that a special commission should have issued for WHELAN's trial. If witnesses are attacked by rowdies, it is clear that the Crown will have no other resort to save the case except to commit them—a most unusual and undesirable step. The parties arrested for assault will be brought up at the Police Court to-day.

The Queen's Birthday.

The phrase "Queen's weather," employed to designate the special meteorological favors so frequently granted to displays connected with British royalty, has seldom been more remarkably illustrated than on Monday last. For several days before the weather had been most unpropitious. Parliament—less fortunate than its Sovereign—prorogued on Friday in a soaking drizzle, that robbed the ceremony of half its proper attendance of spectators, and Saturday, which had been originally proclaimed for the Birthday celebration, seemed determined to correct the executive error, exhibiting itself in a guise totally foreign to the country and the season, and fatal to any holiday enjoyment, except, perhaps, such Celestial coziness as may be appropriate to the Chinese Festival of Umbrellas. And when Sunday brought the rain in tumult of downpour, and the streets became quagmires, and the grass, green as the Southern Savannahs, proved equally sodden and treacherous—when the Ottawa and Rideau rivers were to be seen, like the young lady of the Stiggins' party, whose consumption of the seventeen cups of tea excited the humane apprehensions of Mr. Weller, "a swellin' wisibly under our werry eyes,"—when the evening closed doggedly and gloomily as the morning set in, and it seemed as if ours was to be an [illegible] summer setting in "with its usual [illegible];" it was little wonder that the [illegible] spirits should be damped, and the [illegible] gaiety succumb to the [illegible] everywhere croaked a prophecy [illegible] for the morrow. Nor [illegible] bring great comfort of relief. At daybreak it was still raining, and not until past seven was there any fair promise visible of the relenting of the atmospheric authorities. By this hour, however, there had been a sufficiency of pistol-shots fired, and flags hoisted, and crackers "let off" on the part of the irrepressible juveniles to have reminded these parties of the imprudence of such persistence in disloyalty, and taking the hint in good part, they were not slow in rolling up the gray curtain of cloud and presenting for us its proverbial silver lining. And then the sun, recollecting that the Lady whom he was called upon to honor was mistress of that Empire on which he never gets a chance of setting, and that those were her drums whose proud roll follows him daily round the world, flamed out in all his fierce majesty, licking up, in two or three hours, all the dampness that had threatened to be disagreeable. As the early morning wore on the city became jubilant with bunting. Everywhere and anywhere floated flags of every size, color and character, from the golden leopards on the Department Buildings to the pocket handkerchief Union Jack on a Lower Town shanty. Every sidewalk was resonant with squibs and crackers, until a persecuted way-farer might easily attribute to the juvenile pyrotechnists such a confusion of chronological ideas as permitted no discrimination between the 24th May and the 5th November. There having been comparatively few excursions planned, and there having been, on the other hand, a large influx of visitors from the surrounding country, the streets became densely thronged towards midday by a surging crowd of each sex and of every age, moving aimlessly enough about the Sappers' bridge, and wondering probably what they were going to see, and when they were going to see it. They did see from the bridge's northern railing, and looking down the line of locks across the waters of the Grand River, one of those rare views of intermingled natural and civilized beauty of which the world has not too many examples to afford. The bright spring verdure of the gorge, the cool pleasant boskage of its bluffs, the stately pile that crowns the left, the broad flickering river far below gay with pleasure-craft, the white nestling houses on the distant shore, the solemn woods behind, and the great hill ranges closing in the whole, make up a picture such as those of us who have travelled most meet none too often. But such things can be seen here any day, and must not detain us from the centre of attraction in Parliament Square. There, half an hour before noon, gathered troops of sight-seers far outnumbering the military whose presence made the attraction. The front of the Eastern block, and the terrace opposite the Houses were especially noticeable for the numbers of pleasure-seekers taking up position there, of whom ladies and children formed decidedly the majority. The former, in honor doubtless of the service, largely patronized its colour, and there was as much scarlet visible among the spectators as you will find in the Claddagh of Galway on a market day. Every available window of the Legislative and Administrative buildings was occupied by groups gay enough and pretty enough to make a Government employee seem a very lucky fellow indeed, in spite of all the unhallowed machinations of Contingent Committees. Precisely at twelve the first gun fired—His Excellency having previously arrived, (in plain clothes, which probably accounted for the absence of any public recognition)—and the band of the brigade clashed out the glorious music of our National Anthem. Then there were all sorts of military manœuvres for about an hour, of which we give a special report below, and there were cheering and saluting by the troops, and galloping of artillery, and more music, and something of a crush and a struggle to get away, when the interest of the occasion had gone off with the soldiers. Then we rather think that everybody went to dinner, and there was prevalent through the streets the peaceful hush that accompanies digestion. Towards two o'clock the Major's Hill (or the Central Park as its civic sponsors have lately dubbed it), became the "objective point" of everybody interested, or pretending to be interested, in the wonderful wild Indian gambols, which sundry youths in plush breeches and white stockings had been advertised to exhibit. We do not, personally, feel great national pride in Lacrosse, and, as Britons, especially regret its rough and ready invasion of the scientific domain of cricket, but undoubtedly the public manifest a different sentiment, thronging the day before yesterday in such overwhelming eagerness of view as to leave no room at all for the pretty flags and the mysterious battledoors, which had consequently to migrate to the secluded wilds of Sandy Hill, whither we fear that the whole concourse scarcely followed. Indeed, the "Central Park" was too seductive. There are the most charming nooks hidden away among its recesses, doubtless made the scene by many a tender couple, such as we think our discrimination could recognize, of more absorbing pastime than ever was shared with a third player. It is one of the most lover-like bits of nature in all America, and, unless tradition deceive us grossly, we proclaim this fact as no new discovery. How will it be, we wonder, when it is railed and trimmed, and planted, and pathed, and there is a ranger's lodge in the middle and a band playing among the parterres every afternoon, and the Beautiful is replaced by the Decorous, and Salvator Rosa has given way to Watteau? It will make a pleasant park and a handsome, but—the romance will have died out when the conventionality sets in.

All which train of idea is making us almost forget the firemen and their proud procession, which, in the afternoon, came sweeping through the town as bravely as their London predecessors immortalized in the Smith-Scott "Rebuilding" of the famous Rejected Addresses. Stalwart men and comely, bright in the neatest of Garibaldian uniforms, and crowned with helmets as of Mars. No wonder that the windows were full, and that there came floating down on the sultry air pretty murmurs of recognition, and of pardonably vain identification to her companion of each fair flutterer's handsome "young man." Later in the evening there came a rage for the river, and boats for hire were in sufficient request to justify—what indeed the loyal proprietors failed to exact—an abnormal premium. Tom Moore has sang the glories of the Ottawa in verse of catholic familiarity, and, early in the morning, Captain Bowie had taken down in the Queen the more adventurous of our citizens to the head of the echoing miles of rapids by whose roar the Irish Anacreon first learned the sweet voyageur chant of plaintive cadence associated ever since peculiarly with the gurgling rush of the Long Sault. But, if it takes a steamer to go to Grenville, a skiff can find her way to the Rideau, sufficiently musical last Monday in its tawny cataract of surcharged volume. And a skiff can find its way also, even with but a single pair of sculls and two white hands on the tiller ropes, or it may be a lazy little parasol for sail and awning, into the mazes of Kingfisher or Brigham Creeks with not half the apparent delay and difficulty which forbids its too prompt return. Skiffs, too, similarly equipped and manned, may naturally linger to catch the splendor of the night's fireworks from below, although it would be ungenerous to seek detail of their chromatic glories, either from youth at the prow, or from pleasure at the helm. The spectators who watched the first nine o'clock rocket from the hill were probably more attentive. Such had met the long torch-light procession straggling in a sort of Runic irregularity, under tossing balls of dancing flame that lit up the length of Sparks street from the bridge to O'Connor street. And when the last Roman candle had flickered into darkness, and the final star blaze had shed its inglorious stick, it was time to go to bed if one were alone, or to invent crafty devices for lengthening the homeward stroll, if one had been detailed on escort duty. And so ended our share of the world's festival, the key note of which is struck under the shadow of the royal palace, and the vibration whereof has not died out in the Domain of Auckland, five thousand leagues away. The particulars of the various spectacles and amusements by which the day was celebrated we annex below:

Lacrosse.

The first thing announced on the programme of the day was a game of Lacrosse, to take place at seven o'clock in the morning in Sparks' field, Upper Town, between the Huron, and the Young Briton Lacrosse Clubs.

The game was entered upon with great spirit by both Clubs and, no doubt, both felt confident of a favourable issue for its own party. For a long time the continual ebb and flow of fortune made it doubtful which would be the victorious party. The first game lasted an hour and twenty minutes, when the Hurons at length, with hard work, won it, and in twenty minutes the Hurons won the second game, but the third game lasted as long as the first or longer, but was eventually won by the Hurons. The Young Britons, however, did not disgrace their name, for they fought bravely, and will yet live to gain laurels and wear them.

The Military Display

Though scarcely so great in point of numbers, as that which took place on Dominion Day last year, in which the stalwart yeomen of Carleton took part, was still very imposing, and one which gave greater satisfaction to those who visited the capital for the purpose of sight-seeing than any other, and to those interested in our Canadian defensive forces the parade of Regulars with the Volunteers and Civil Service corps, gave an opportunity for comparison which, all things considered, was by no means as unfavorable to our citizen soldiers, as many might have been led to suppose it would have been.

As the finger of the dial approached twelve, the troops in garrison filed into the grand square in front of the Parliament buildings, looking as neat and trim as is their wont on the anniversary of the birth of our beloved Sovereign; the Volunteers and Civil Service Rifle Regiment first, and the 1st battalion P.C.O. Rifle Brigade. On forming line, the P.C.O.'s, commanded by Major Alexander, occupied the right, the Ottawa Brigade of Garrison Artillery, under Majors Forrest and T. Ross, the right centre, the Ottawa Provisional Battalion of Rifles, under Lieutenant-Colonel D. M. Grant, the left centre, and the Civil Service Rifle Regiment, under Lieutenant-Colonel Wily, the left. Lord Alexander Russell, commanding the P.C.O.'s, being in command of the whole.

As the clock struck twelve the thunder of artillery from Major Forsyth's Field Battery, which was stationed on Major's Hill for the purpose, in a royal salute was the signal for the troops on the square to follow suit, which was done by firing a feu de joie, and afterwards presenting arms. Whether it was that the regulars took example from their irregular comrades on the field, or whether the fact of the Civil Service being armed with the old muzzle-loading Enfield, while all the others were armed with Sniders was the cause, we do not know, but for some reason or other the firing from right to left down the front rank, and from left to right up the rear was about as desultory and irregular as any military eye would care to witness. Perhaps the spring or "setting up" drill not having yet been gone through with may account for the unusual want of precision.

Before the royal salute the Governor-General, attended by Col. Monck and others of his staff, appeared on the ground and acknowledged by his presence the three hearty British cheers which were given for our gracious Queen at the proper signal from the officer in command.

At this point in the proceedings Major Forsyth's Field Battery, having completed their twenty-one rounds on the Major's Hill, came thundering up the street, and entering the Square took up a position on the right, the officer in command evidently feeling that it would only have been courteous had the proceedings been delayed sufficiently to give him time to take part in them.

Marching past was the next movement gone through with, and the steady manner in which it was performed by both regulars and volunteers atoned in a great degree for the laxity in firing, which we have been obliged to notice above.

The great feature of the military parade, and the one which afforded the greatest pleasure to all parties, both military and civilian, was the stirring strains of the band of the P.C.O.'s, to the music of which the battalions swept past the saluting base with the measured tread which is only possible under the influences of finely executed marches.

Altogether the regulars and volunteers who took part in the military display numbered nearly nine hundred—the Field Battery 75, P.C.O. Rifles about 250, Garrison Battery of Artillery 180, Ottawa Prov. Battalion Rifles 90, Civil Service 285.

The ceremonies over the Buglers of the Civil Service Regiment took occasion to present a beautiful silver mounted pipe to Bugle Major McGrath, of the P.C.O. Rifle Brigade, as a mark of their appreciation of his services in affording them instruction during the winter.

The pipe bore the inscription "To Bugle Major McGrath, from the Buglers of the Civil Service Regiment, in token of their appreciation of his instructions, May 24, 1868."

After parade also the company officers of the Provisional Battalion Rifles invited the non-commissioned officers and men under their command to a cold lunch in the Bishop's building, Sussex-st.; the catering for the occasion being committed to the care of Mrs. Proderick, who lost none of her well earned reputation in the preparation of this lunch. The excellent repast having been discussed to the entire satisfaction of all engaged thereat, the first toast was proposed, "Our Beloved Queen," which was received with prolonged and deafening cheers, such as loyal sons of Britain alone can give. Next followed "The Prince of Wales and all the Royal Family," which called forth a hearty response that made the building ring again. Then followed "His Excellency the Governor-General," which was received amidst great cheering.

Next was proposed "the Staff Officers of the Battalion," responded to in an able manner by Surgeon Garvey. Sergeant Major Esmonde then proposed the company officers, which was received with continued cheers, and responded to by Captains May and McGillivray in appropriate speeches. A number of other volunteer toasts having been given, Captain May called for three hearty cheers for the Queen, which were given in a right loyal manner. Cheers for the Dominion were given and at a late hour in the afternoon this fine body of loyal citizen soldiers separated in hearty good will towards each other, and a firm determination to stand shoulder to shoulder whenever the country needs their services.

The Firemen.

At a little before two o'clock, the Firemen of the city were all on the move for their Review, and punctually to the hour they marched in good order, with their engines and carriages bearing flags, and the "Queen" and "Chaudiere" with their bands at their head, to the City Hall Square. The display was exceedingly good; their uniforms clean, well fitting, in good taste gave to the men a military appearance, whilst all the apparatus was in fine working order and well polished. So that all the old things looked like new. The companies, as they arrived, fell into line as follows: The apparatus of each Company on its front. On the extreme right:—The Rideau Company Captain Grison, forty men; the Sappers Captain Roy, twenty-five men; the Queen' Captain Eagleson, forty-two men; the Ottawa, Captain Walsh, sixty men; the Central Hook & Ladder Company, Captain Langstaff, twenty-five men; the Chaudiere, Captain Link, sixty-one men. His Worship the Mayor, accompanied by several members of the Corporation, came on the ground and inspected the Brigade. They were then drawn up in companies facing the City Hall. The city police force then on duty at the station numbering two Sergeants and ten men, were formed in line fronting the Fire Brigade. The men in their new uniforms looked well, and though small in number their efficiency is unquestionable.

The square and streets around were thronged with people, arrayed in their gayest holiday attire, and manifested an enthusiastic interest in the scene before them.

The Mayor, wearing his badge of office, and accompanied by several members of the Corporation, then proceeded to the balcony of the City Hall, and addressed the large concourse assembled in the Square, by this time numbering at least a couple of thousand. He opened by asking three cheers for the Queen as a fitting preliminary to the civic programme. Those enthusiastic cheers, he said, told how their warm hearts responded to the idea sacred to the day. It was a gratifying sight to witness the care bestowed upon the materiel of the fire brigade. The number of our hand engines necessitated large companies of men, and he was happy to see the ranks always well filled by hardy, enterprising, steady fellows, ever ready to rush at the first sound of the tocsin of alarm to preserve property and life from destruction. (Cheers.) But a few hours had passed since they were zealously and laboriously engaged at such a scene. This day has always been peculiarly devoted by the civic authorities to the fire brigade, and he was performing a duty in addressing them words of encouragement, which had from year to year been ably performed by his respected predecessors in office. On this day we see our firemen in their new uniforms; and every means are afforded to the companies of enjoying a social hour together in their different assembly rooms. Heavy as is the expenditure upon our Fire Department, owing to the want of water works, it is cheerfully approved of by the citizens, who know and appreciate the chivalric and generous labors of a volunteer city fire organization. (Cheers.) It had been his own desire, and the desire of the Corporation, that on this day the firemen should have dined together en masse in one room, so that a social feeling should be encouraged, that they should be drawn closer together and indulge in brotherly sentiment, and be bound together as one man in the links of personal friendship acting upon a single impulse for a noble purpose. (Loud cheers.) The idea was mooted too late for the present day, as the different companies had already, made distinct arrangements, but he trusted when next they met on the Queen's Birthday this desirable movement would be successfully matured. (Cheers.) This naturally brought to mind the subject of general harmony and unity in the community, and in the presence of so large a number of his fellow citizens, he might, as one called to a position of prominence amongst them, urge strongly harmony, good will, and fellowship among all classes, as the first preparation for any moment of emergency. Society in all new countries is necessarily made up of people of different nationalities and different creeds, but there is one common platform upon which all good men can stand, that of local patriotism, and one common altar at which all can sacrifice—the altar of our common country. (Great cheering.) While a wise discrimination should be exercised in times of excitement, neighbor should not without good and sufficient cause look upon neighbor with suspicion, lest the common bond of unity, so necessary to the preservation of the general welfare, be imperilled. The circumstances of the country require that all classes should be united whenever Government, Constitution, and laws are even supposed to be the subject of foreign threat or foreign agitation (cheers.) We have the finest system of Government on earth—by ourselves administered—we have happy homes and altars free—we have as perfect civil and religious liberty as men can desire, opinion and speech within the law are free and untrammelled as the air of heaven—we can sit under our own roof-tree as we list, none daring to make us afraid. (Cheers.) What man who values life, property, social well-being, and the welfare of his family, can hesitate to join in friendly and patriotic bonds with his neighbors for the protection and preservation, if need be, of our sacred soil, and the maintenance of our free institutions, our beneficent law, and our responsible Government. (Cheers.) If there are any who range not in this category they must be amongst the most unwise—the most reckless, and most dangerous of our population—they are lopped-off branches, and society, as a whole, can be more happily and firmly united by their exclusion from recognition as law abiding citizens. There are few defections among Canadians, native or adopted, from the ranks of those who love their country and its connection with Great Britain, and who are loyal to the Sovereign happily ruling over us, whose birthday we are now enthusiastically celebrating in the Capital of the new Dominion. (Cheers.) Again he urged unity, confidence and good will among all classes. He explained in conclusion that the presence of the people in such numbers had induced him at perhaps too much length to "improve the opportunity." The Mayor was heartily cheered at the conclusion of his address.

In fitting terms the Mayor proposed three cheers for the Governor-General, dwelling specially upon the carefulness with which His Excellency governed within the Constitution, and asserting that his name will live in the history of British America. The cheers with a "tiger" were given with right good will.

After the Mayor's excellent speech, which was greatly applauded, Alderman Heney was called for, who delivered a short address laudatory of the brigade. Three more cheers were given for the Queen, when the bands played the National Anthem, three cheers were given for the Governor-General, and three for the Mayor.

One feature of this gathering was worthy of notice. The complimentary remarks of the Mayor to the police force were felt by the firemen to be so well deserved that they signified their approbation by volunteering three hearty cheers for "The Police."

The brigade then formed in procession without their apparatus, as follows:

Union Jack.
Chaudiere Band.
Central Hook and Ladder Company.
Ottawa Fire Company.
Favreau's Band.
Queen Fire Company.
Lower Town Hook and Ladder Company.
Rideau Fire Company.

Route of Procession.

From the City Hall Square through Rideau, Dalhousie, St. Patrick and Sussex sts., thence along Sparks to Bay street, thence along Wellington street to Metcalfe street, thence to and along Sparks street to Elgin street and City Hall Square, where they dispersed.

Base Ball.

Quite an interesting game of base ball was commenced about half-past two o'clock, between the 1st and 2nd nines of the New Dominion Club of this city, the first nine coming off victorious by a score of 94 to 25. The playing of Walsh as left field, Spencer as catcher, Hudson as pitcher, and R. Wood as short stop, deserves special mention. Of the 2nd nine the playing of J. Wood as catcher, G Sheldon, H. Cluff, and A. Routh, was also worthy of notice. The spectators were very numerous, including a large number of the fair sex, which gave the ground quite a lively appearance, and added to the spirits of the players. Further interest was thrown into the game by two prizes being offered, namely, a beautifully finished bat for the highest scorer, and a regulation ball for the best general player. As will be seen by the score, R. Wood won the bat, while the ball was awarded to F. Walsh. The following is a synopsis of the innings:

The game commenced about half-past two, with the second nine to the bat, Birkett taking the bat and retiring by a catch of Spencer's, Wood doing the same by giving Walsh a chance at left field, which he took in good style. McMorran following got his base, but was left by G. Sheldon sending another one to the basket at left field, which was held nicely. Side out—nothing for 2nd nine. Hobbs leading for 1st nine secured his base by a good hit, followed by Wood and Walsh; Spencer going out at 1st base by G. Sheldon; Hutchison retiring at 3rd by Cluff; Hobbs being 3rd man out, at 2nd by McMorran, 7 runs being scored. Score 7 to 0.

2nd Innings—Graves leading, secured his base and run before the side, was out. G. Sheldon getting his base. Routh striking out. Cluff following by a catch of McKinnon's, he making a double play by sending G. Sheldon to grass at 3rd base, 1 run. Hudson leading making his run, followed by Brown and Lang, Hobbs, Wood, Walsh, Spencer, Hutchison. McKinnon being left on his base, 6 runs; total 13 to 1.

3rd Innings—Routh leading, secured his base and run. Cluff, Boullard and J. Wood, going out. Birkett being left on his base, 1 run. The 1st nine here went to the bat, and by heavy batting made 15 runs, before side was out, total 28 to 2.

4th Innings—2 runs being secured for 2nd nine, 14 for 1st, by heavy batting also, score 42 to 4

5th Innings—2nd nine, by some good batting and great excitement, secured 8 runs, 1st nine, 21 runs; total 63 to 12.

6th Innings—2 runs for 2nd nine, 7 for 1st, total 70 to 14.

7th Innings—2 runs for 2nd nine, 15 for 1st, total 85 to 16.

8th Innings—2 more runs for 2nd nine, 2 for 1st, total 87 to 18.

9th and last—2nd nine took another spurt, and by heavy batting secured 7, 1st nine securing 7 also, total 94 to 25.

Fly balls caught—1st nine, Walsh, 6; Spencer, 5; McKinnon, 3; total 14. 2nd nine, Cluff, 3; McMorran, 1; G. Sheldon, 1; J. Wood, 1; total 6.

Fly's missed—1st nine 2, 2nd nine 5.
Struck out—Routh, 2; Lang, 1.
Left on bases—1st nine 9, 2nd nine 5.

Ottawa vs. Prescott.

The lacrosse match announced to be played between Ottawa and Prescott, on the Major's Hill, was adjourned to Sandy Hill. This game was played by the boys of the Ottawa Club against Prescott men, and it is a pity to have to record the doings that took place. The first game, as we are informed, was won by Prescott, but when the second and third were won by Ottawa, it was too humiliating. Men do not of course like to be beaten by boys, but humiliation, bad as it is, is less disgraceful than the conduct which characterised their proceedings. They declared the boys' play foul, because they won, but it was decided by the umpire in favor of the boys. The fourth game was also carried by the youngsters, and just as the ball was through the cry of foul was again raised, and a cry from Prescott "pick up the ball." At that time one of the Prescott men, whose name we did not learn, struck the best of the Ottawa players, young Blyth, across the head and face with his stick, cutting him badly, and demonstrations of a hostile character were begun, which would have had disagreeable results had their been no peacemakers on the ground; as it was, the aggressor very narrowly escaped a ducking in the river. That Prescott men are to be judged by the conduct of two or three is, of course, unreasonable. Let such unprincipled men as those who disgraced them on Monday be expelled from the Lacrosse club, and the friendly relations between their club and ours need not be interrupted.

Torch Light Procession.

Among the best displays of the day was the torch-light procession of the firemen. At half-past seven o'clock the firemen assembled in front of the Canadian Institute, Sussex street, for a torch-light procession. We have seen many torch-light processions in the Old World and the new, but have seldom seen anything to exceed this as an imposing spectacle. The route of procession was up Sussex street to Sparks, up Sparks to the Upper town market, down Wellington street to Elgin and to the City Hall, where they were briefly addressed in some judicious remarks by the Superintendent, Mr. Langford, and dismissed.

The Pyrotechnic Display.

The moment the torch-light procession was over, a rocket shot like a meteor through the sky, to announce that the municipal show of fireworks was just about to begin. A large number of rockets continued to be sent up from the brow of Parliament hill, facing Major's Hill, where many thousands of people had assembled to witness the exhibition. Hundreds of spectators, too, crowded the Sappers' Bridge for the same purpose. The rockets and other small pieces were good enough in themselves, but there was no variety, and no large pieces; still, it was, perhaps, as much as the Committee could do under the circumstances, and with their limited means.

After the Fireworks

The Central Hook and Ladder Company assembled in their carriage house and partook of a good supper as a fitting close to "The day we celebrate." Good eating and good drinking, good toasts and happy speeches characterized the occasion. The flow of song was turned on; the fatigues of the day were extinguished, and in the best of spirits the party retired at a late hour in as good order as usual to their peaceful homes.

The Chaudiere Company.

This company gave a ball in the School House over their Hall in the evening. The hall was tastefully decorated for the occasion, and did full credit to the company. The room was crowded with dancers to its utmost capacity, and the weather abated no jot of the vigour of those engaged; the sturdy boys who had gone through the day's hard work seemed to forget everything, while threading the mazes of the dance. A good supper was prepared and despatched, when to it they went again with good will, and danced till aurora began to "tip the hills with gold," when al retired "to sleep—perchance to dream"—of next Queen's Birthday.

Other companies had dinners, suppers and dances, but we have not learned all the particulars.

THE LACROSSE MATCH.

Ottawa vs. Montreal.

The Game Results in a Draw.

Disorderly State of the Crowd.

(From the Montreal Gazette.)

The weather and the soil fought in their curses against the muscular Christians who delight in crosse and ball yesterday, for never was so thoroughly acquatic a game played in this city. The new Lacrosse ground is on Sherbrooke-st., adjoining the old Garrison Cricket field. Under favorable circumstances it will no doubt be an excellent and spacious ground, but yesterday with a pouring rain, with knee deep mud, its good qualities were not visible in any marked number to the naked eye.

The match on this occasion was the fourth match between the Montreal and Ottawa Clubs. The first played at Cornwall in 1866, resulted in favor of the Ottawa, the second played in Montreal in Montreal that autumn was won by the Montreal, the third played at Ottawa on the 24th May, 1867, was won by the Montreal, who thus scored the championship of Canada. The Montreal twelve were, W. L. Maltby, J. R. Middlemiss, W. G. Beers, G. Torrance, J. Watson, T. G. Ralston, Angus Grant, Samuel Macdonald, Robert Macdougall, Frank Wood, Robert Tait, and E. Skelton, their field captain being Frank Dowd. The Ottawa twelve were Ed. Cluff, T. Aumond, M. Kavanagh, T. Russell, T. Watson, V. Steele, J. B. Howard, C. E. Fellowes, J. Kavanagh, A. Patrick, S. Massey, and J. W. Thompson, Mr. McKay, tooting them. The umpires were, for Ottawa C. Hutchison, and Smith; for Montreal, Bell and Mitchell, Mr. Elliott, referee. We may remark en passant, that the referee should be selected by the umpires.

The military police did not arrive on the ground till half-past two, the consequences may be easily imagined. Invasive bands of small boys, roughs and dead-heads poured in over and through the fences in St. Catharine street, and along the adjoining ground, and established themselves in impregnable positions along the palings. Growing bolder with numbers they finally made a raid on the stand, of which they took possession. A more disgraceful and disorderly assembly it is rarely our lot, we are glad to say, to see at a lacrosse match. The more especially was this to be regretted as not a few ladies and prominent citizens had braved the elements, with a devotion or a curiosity, which speaks volumes for the fascination of our national game. It is not to be wondered at then if jostled by the rougher, and most inodorous classes of humanity, with frequent ribaldry and blasphemy forced in their unwilling ears, they left the scene displeased. We regret to have to speak of this utter absence of order, but we do so as a matter of duty, and feeling sure that the ventilation and fair representation of such things do good in all cases.

The Ottawa Club only numbers in all eighteen members, so in selecting a twelve the difficulty is not so much selecting the twelve as rejecting the six. This fewness of members of course tells against the efficiency of the first twelve, who are unable to practice together. But nevertheless they sat down as strong a twelvet as ever represented the capitolian city. The colors were blue caps and trousers with a white side stripe, gray stockings, and white shirts with blue trimmings. The Montrealers wore the old colors, white cap, and red seams, white jacket and red seams and cuffs, grey knickerbockers, and brown hose.

Play commenced at 2:45, the Ottawa taking the eastern goal, the goals being about 180 yards apart. The ground was in a horrible condition, soft, slippery, and sticky, the players sinking six inches everywhere, and the ball half burying itself. There was an abundance of water in places, and in others especially near the tree there were regular bogs of slime knee-deep. The day had been wet, and regularly every hour a smart shower of rain swept the field, making the day more cheerless, and the ground worse, if possible. For the Ottawa men Aumond went in goal, M. Kavanagh and Russell next men out, Fellowes in the centre, and Massey, Thompson, and Cluff in the carrying department. The Montreal had Beers in goal, Torrance and Middlemiss point and cover, Maltby in the centre, and Grant, MacDonald, and MacDougall home men. Maltby taking the ball got it well down to the Ottawa flags, Watson bringing down the audience by a dashing run; the applause being renewed when MacDougall put in a beautiful throw right on the flags, as beautifully and as coolly picked off by Aumond. Kavanah got the ball out, when Skelton put in a very creditable long throw straight for home, stopped neatly by Aumond again. McDougall got another ball in dangerously, and Grant with a long pitch just went over the flags by a couple of inches. A moment after, while struggling round the goal, MacDonald by a lucky sweep put the ball through, amid loud cheering. Time 8 minutes.

The second game was much more closely contested. The Ottawa men funked far less than in the preceeding game, and settled down to their work keenly, checking well, although slow in picking up the ball, and generally waiting too long ere throwing. The Montreal men had, however, much the best of it, keeping the ball constantly at the Ottawa goal, where several hot rallies took place. The Ottawa players, Kavanagh, Russell, and Massey, time and again got good and straight throws up to home, but the home men were far too deep, and any chance they ever had was completely thrown away. Maltby got one old styled heave the full length of the field, which evoked a cheer. The game lasted nineteen minutes, the Ottawa men making a desperate fight of it when an unfortunate contremps took place. Russell was being closely pushed by MacDougall, who was checking him perseveringly, when MacDougall's crosse struck Russell on the head. This was an accident we are sure, although a bystander swore positively that the blow was intentional. Russell thought this, for he flung down his crosse and struck MacDougall twice on the head with his fist. MacDougall rushed in pluckly to his friend's assistance, MacDougall being much the smaller man. The crowd, dirty, and disorderly, broke through the ropes, rushed in tumultuously upon the ground, putting a stop to the play, and threatening Russell and the Ottawa men. Others stood up for the strangers, and for a few moments a general fight seemed likely. Russell was hooted, and we blush to say that one or two members of the Ottawa Club were pretty rudely handled. The crowd had possession of the ground, every one talked of a different thing at once, the players looked like a hive which had just lost the Queen Bee, and in as utter confusion as it was ever our misfortune to witness, the flags were drawn. After a quarter of an hour's irremediable mix in which every body suggested vague things and no one did anything rational, it was resolved to postpone the settlement of the affair till five o'clock; so the crowd left the field; many we regret to say disappointed with their first impressions of our national game. On meeting at the American House it was resolved to call the match a draw, the Montreal Club thus retaining the championship.

For the Ottawa Club, Aumond's cool and masterly play in goal was the admiration of the whole field. Kavanagh played point magnificently, getting several very rapid and neat throws, and doing an occasional piece of pedestrianism, Watson, an old Montrealer, made some neat stops and checks. Russell has improved vastly, being a secure check playing with much less roughness, although with great strength, and throwing splendidly, Massey's play pleased us best of the whole twelve; being plucky, neat, and sure, and his throws being made with promptitude and judgment. The review the general play the Ottawa men bunched badly in the first game, two Ottawa men occasionally checking each other beautifully, sometimes as many as three or four men getting into others' way. The men had little confidence in each other, and as a natural result they were completely outnumbered in the field. In the second game the morale was much better, but the home department very weak. The Montreal Club played Montreal Club style.

THE DINNER.

In the evening the Montreal Lacrosse Club entertained their Ottawa guests and friends at the Terrapin. About fifty Lacrossist's sat down to a dinner gotten up in excellent style. The room was tastefully decorated. The chair was occupied by N. Hughes, President of the Club, the Vice chairs being all filled by W. G. Beers and Frank Dowd.

The "Globe" on the Anticipated Fenian Raid.

Our contemporary had an article on Saturday upon the threatened Fenian raid, which we read thus:

There will be a raid.

We are not quite sure whether there will be a raid.

We suspect there will be a raid.

We fancy there is a possibility of a raid.

We do not wish our readers to think there will be a raid.

We do not think there will be a raid.

How enlightened the reader must have been.—Toronto Leader.

THANKS.—The ladies of the St. Patrick's Orphan Asylum thankfully acknowledge the receipt of $10 from Her Excellency Viscountess Monck, towards their bazaar, in aid of that institution.—MARIANNE McCARTHY, Secretary.

ACCIDENT FROM THE FIREWORKS.—We are sorry to learn that a young girl, who was a spectator of the fireworks on Monday night, had her eye very severely injured. At first, it was thought she would lose it. Dr. Grant, however, who is attending it, thinks he will be able to save it from permanent injury.

ATTEMPT TO COMMUNICATE WITH A PRISONER.—One of the soldiers (named Walsh) on duty outside of the jail, was caught attempting to communicate with a prisoner yesterday, by writing with chalk on the stock of his rifle, and holding it up to the window to be seen by a prisoner. He was immediately put under arrest, and marched off to barracks, where he awaits trial by court martial.

BELATED.—Some of the Prescott Lacrosse men, and their friends, we believe, were compelled against their will to remain in the city over Monday night, having staid at their hotel a little too long. Nine of them, we learn, arrived at the Railway Station just in time to see the cars beyond hailing distance, and were constrained to pay their fare home yesterday.

EXCURSION FROM PRESCOTT TO OTTAWA.—Among the many visitors to the capital on Monday to assist in celebrating the Queen's Birthday, was an excursion party of several hundreds from Prescott. The excursion was organised by the Methodist body of Prescott, in aid of a fund for building a parsonage in connexion with their church. They were joined by a number of friends from Ogdensburgh. Among them were many who visited us last year, and were so well pleased with the reception they received. This is gratifying to all parties.

MIGHT HAVE BEEN WORSE.—Many persons engaged in aquatic sports on Monday in honor of the Queen's Birthday, and one young gentleman got quite a ducking, but soon righted himself again. This of course has no relation to the wet woman who was found drunk on Sparks-st. on the same night, and who was said to have crossed the canal, who dried herself in the station house, and was dismissed yesterday morning at the police court, where she was charged with having been found drunk.

TRIP TO THE UPPER OTTAWA.—The Union Forwarding and Railway Company, whose advertisement will be found in another column, have now perfected all their arrangements to make a trip to the upper part of our noble river, pleasant and agreeable to the tourist, and safe and expeditious to the business traveller. To the traveller for pleasure a trip to the Upper Ottawa offers inducements second to none in America, abounding as it does in magnificent scenery, and with a climate peculiarly cool and bracing to the invalid in the warm summer months. The Forwarding Company have a number of fine steamers on the route, luxuriously furnished, and very ably commanded. The connections are always promptly made, so that the traveller never suffers from any unnecessary delay.

ALMOST A FIRE.—On Monday morning there was a very narrow escape at the Police Station from a very bad fire. A box containing the chemicals used by the Tierney's in counterfeiting, had been placed by Detective O'Neill under the table, in the station, and on Monday morning one of the policeman, a French Canadian, was about to sweep out the room, and moved the box to enable him to sweep under the table, in doing this, one of the bottles must have upset, and ignition among the materials took place. On seeing the smoke and flame proceed from the crevices without any visible agency, the frightened policeman gave free expression to his opinion, that "the devil must be in the box," for it was locked, and none but a devil could communicate with the interior. It was with some difficulty that the fire was put out without danger.

ASSAULT ON ALEX. TURNER.—It was to be expected that this important witness against Whelan would not be allowed to remain unmolested, and so it has turned out. On Saturday night last a trap was laid for him by a party, who owe him no good will, who got up a pretended fight near the Revere House, thinking, perhaps, to draw him out, but not succeeding the party, it appears, went into the house where they saw him, but it was not in the right place. On Monday night Turner was at a dance at the Canada Hotel, where, as he says, he was invited to go outside under pretence of being told something of great importance to him. He refused to go further than just outside, when he was set upon by two or three fellowes, and almost choked, he, however, pointed his revolver, his constant companion, to his chief assailant, and Mr. William Cameron, formerly a peace officer coming to the rescue, at the same time, he was saved. He then proceeded to the residence of O'Neill, who left his bed and went to the hotel with five policemen, who made two arrests, Hilliard and Looney, who were locked up and bailed yesterday at the Police Court to appear this morning. It is also expected that others charged with the offence will appear.

POLICE COURT.—Catherine Kelly, drunk and disorderly, dismissed.—Thomas Baker, drunk, fined $2 and costs or one week in jail.—Thos. Barnes, a little overcome with liquor, being his first appearance in court, he was discharged.—Jeremiah Glasson, drunk and fighting, charged with breaking a little boy's fiddle, and throwing away the bow, because the juvenile fiddler would not play for him; discharged for want of proof.—William Cook and John Cook, charged with indulging in a drunken fight after the fire on Sunday morning; fine $2 each and costs. A charge was then preferred against John Cook, for carrying a dagger. Sergeant Davis testified that on Saturday night or Sunday morning, on going to arrest prisoner, he threatened to put it (the dagger) through him. Policeman Holland proved finding the dagger on him. Sergeant Davis asked his Worship to adjourn the case till to-morrow, when he would be able to prove that Cook had carried the dagger for three years. His Worship, however, thought there was sufficient evidence, and fined the prisoner $10 and costs.—James Gilkinson, abusive language; case dismissed.—Robert Hilliard and Patrick Looney, was charged with assaulting Alexander Turner. The case was adjourned till this morning, and the parties bound in the sum of $200 each, and two sureties in the sum of $200 each, to appear.

THE LOST ONE FOUND.—We are most happy to inform our readers that the boy McGilton has just been restored to the arms of his parents. The particulars of this once sad but now joyful tale, requires more space than we can now afford. Suffice it for our readers to know that the lad is in apparently good health, and so far as we yet know has been well taken care of. Through the efforts of a young man, named Johnson McIntyre, son of the hotelkeeper, St Paul-st, the child (who is now seven years old) was traced to the residence of Mr. Thos. Lewis, a wealthy and respectable gentleman, living on the 9th line of Goulbourn. Here, it is to be hoped, the poor little fellow found, at least, a comfortable shelter, which compensated in some way for the loss of his home; and it is said that the fondness for the little stranger, which filled the hearts of this childless pair, made them loth to part with him, when claimed by its parents. He was brought home at about 4 o'clock last night. Our readers will sadly recall the fear and alarm which filled the hearts of this family, nearly a year ago, at which time the faintest tidings of this fondly loved child was grasped at with a paternal and maternal hope that the lost one would speedily be restored to their arms; and now, with the slow but steady resolution of a sad and mournful year, joyful tidings have reached that now happy family circle, and the lost one has filled the void in the hearts of his fond parents. They will accept the heartfelt congratulations of a whole community with a prayer that this little one now restored, may yet prove to them a source of joy and comfort.

TOM THUMB AND HIS FAMILY!

GENERAL TOM THUMB'S TROUPE,

CONSISTING

Of the original, world-renowned GENERAL TOM THUMB, and his beautiful and accomplished little wife, MRS. LAVINIA WARREN STRATTON! that inimitable specimen of wit, skill, agility and comic drollery, COMMODORE NUTT! (known as "$30,000 NUTT,") and his intended wife, the sweet little sprite, MISS MINNIE WARREN.

Positively One Day Only.

AT

HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE,

Friday, May 29th, 1868,

Two Levees at 3 and 8 p.m.

After an absence of three years in Europe, where they have delighted nearly all the Kings, Queens, Emperors, Nobility, and five million citizens of the Old World, these wonderful Lilliputians have returned to their native land, and are giving a few farewell entertainments prior to their final retirement to private life.

They are undoubtedly the most astonishing and delightful wonders of the age. Four beautifully and symmetrically formed ladies and gentlemen in miniature. Graceful, intelligent, witty, educated and refined, exhibiting the most polished manners of the fashionable drawing room, and yet only the size of three year old children!

Their unique and exquisitely enchanting performances and exhibitions never fail to charm and delight every beholder.

Songs, duetts, dances, &c., in characteristic costumes, military exercises, comic imitations and delineations, fantastic orations, dialogues, amusing tricks, classic statues, funny pantomimes and burlesque comedies, enchant the children, delight the ladies, and astonish and please the gentlemen.

The scores of rich and elegant dresses, and the brilliant collection of diamonds worn before the various potentates of Europe, all of which are introduced in these popular levees, cost over twenty thousand dollars in gold.

These little mites of humanity are conveyed to and from their hotel and hall by their beautiful Shetland Ponies and Miniature Carriage attended by Elfin Coachmen and Footmen in Livery.

Ladies and children are considerately advised to attend the day exhibition, and thus avoid the crowd and confusion of the evening performances.

Admission, 25 cents. Children under ten 15 cents. Reserved Seats, 50 cents. Children under ten, 25 cents.

Among the most important of modern Medical Discoveries stands the

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER

Side, Back and Head, Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat Sprains, Bruises, Cramps in the Stomach, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery, Bowel Complaints, Burns, Scalds, Frost Bites, &c., &c.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER HAS now been before the public for a length of time, and whenever used is well liked, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single case of dissatisfaction where the directions are properly followed; but on the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its virtues and magical effects.

We speak from experience in this matter, having tested it thoroughly, and therefore those who are suffering from any of the complaints for which it is recommended may depend upon its being a Sovereign Remedy.

The astonishing efficacy of the Canadian Pain Destroyer, in curing diseases for which it is recommended, and its wonderful success in subduing the torturing pains of Rheumatism, and in relieving Nervous Affections, entitle it to a high rank in the list of Remedies for these complaints. Orders are coming in from Medicine Dealers in all parts of the country for further supplies, and each testifying as to the universal satisfaction it gives

The Canadian Pain Destroyer never fails to give immediate relief. All Medicine Dealers keep it; Physicians order and use it; and no family will without it after once trying it.

Price twenty-five cents per bottle.

DARLEY'S

Arabian Heave Remedy

AND CONDITION MEDICINE

IS POSITIVELY SUPERIOR TO ANY or all other preparations for the cure of Heaves, Coughs, Thick and Broken Wind, and all diseases which affect the Wind of Horses; also, as a Condition Medicine, surpassing everything of the kind is easy to give, sure to cure, and safe in all cases and at all times, and does not prevent the horse from being worked while using it.

It cleanses the breathing apparatus, by removing from the air-cells the coagulable lymph, or that secretion which in heaves clogs them, causing a difficulty in breathing, and by its action on the diseased part, causing the mucous membrane to resume its natural dimensions, thus equalizing the circulation of the blood, and restoring the distended vessels to their natural size; by its use the horse's appetite is improved, all derangements of the digestive organs corrected, softening the skin, and giving to the coat a sleek and shining appearance.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

For the Government of the European and North American Railway. Approved 29th February, 1868, by His Excellency the Governor-General in Council, under the authority of "An Act respecting the Public Works of Canada," assented to 21st December, 1867.

STATION REGULATIONS.

PASSENGERS

Purchasing their tickets, before entering the cars, will effect a saving of 12 cents.

Passengers must procure tickets at the Ticket Office, and show them to the Station Baggage Master.

To avoid all mistakes, passengers must attend personally to the checking and marking of their baggage; and all baggage will be left at the place designated, when put in the Baggage Car, and must be claimed by the owner on the arrival of the train.

Runners for railroads, boats and hotels, and carters and hackmen, will not be allowed to enter the stations, nor come upon the platforms on the arrival of passenger trains, to solicit or influence passengers, but may stand in such places as directed by the Agent or Police.

Hackmen and Porters, with checks, will be admitted to obtain the luggage; they will also be admitted when taking baggage to the trains.

Hacks, baggage waggons and private carriages must be arranged, in the Station grounds, as directed by the Station Master or Police. Unnecessary noise and obscene and abusive language are strictly forbidden.

Any coachman, hackman or public porter, refusing to leave the Station, or remove his coach, hack, or other vehicle upon being requested so to do by the Superintendent, Station Master, Police, or any other officers of the railway, or shall wilfully obstruct any of the passengers to and from the Station, shall be liable to a fine of two dollars for each and every offence, to be recovered before the Police Magistrate, in such a manner as fines are made recoverable, by an Act for the Regulation of Railways in the Province of New Brunswick, passed 6th April, 1858.

The waiting rooms are for the travelling public only; all other persons will be excluded. No smoking allowed.

No person must be allowed to get into, or upon, or quit, any car, after the train has been put in motion, or until it stops.

Passengers cannot have their baggage checked to any Station, short of their destination, unless that shall be beyond the limits of this railway.

Baggage will not be taken to include money, merchandise, or any other articles than those of personal use.

The railway will not be liable for any baggage or article not given in charge to the railway.

STATION BAGGAGE MASTERS.

No checks to be given to cabmen or omnibus drivers (as such), but only to the passengers themselves, and on no account are passengers to be allowed to take checked baggage into the car with them.

Special care must be taken, not to deliver baggage, without first removing the checks, and obtaining the duplicates from passengers. Any baggage received, the checks and duplicates of which do not correspond, must be reported, forwarding the checks, and naming the Station, whence received, taking a receipt from the owner for the same. When a passenger has lost his duplicate check, baggage must not be given up unless the person claiming it can describe the contents of each package.

Station Masters are required to report immediately any baggage wanted at their Stations, also any baggage that has lain unclaimed twenty-four hours. Baggage, having lain unclaimed fourteen days, to be forwarded to headquarters, properly labelled, showing date received, train, &c.

No baggage to be opened by Agents, except in the presence of owner.

Excess to be charged where passengers have more baggage than the quantity allowed.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS TO CONDUCTORS.

After the train is started the Conductor will have entire charge and control of the train, and all persons employed on it (except when his directions conflict with the rules and regulations, or involve any risk or hazard, in either of which cases all participating will be held alike accountable); the passengers are in his charge, and he is responsible for the safety and regularity of the train, which he must never allow to proceed beyond its regular Station for meeting, until the arrival of the train due, unless otherwise directed.

In the event of any passenger being drunk, or disorderly, to the annoyance of others, he must use all gentle means to stop the nuisance, failing which, he must exercise his authority and restrain or keep him in a separate place until he arrive at the next Station, or further, to a police office, or lock-up, where the passenger must be left, and may be delivered to the Police, and charged with the offence in the usual way.

He must not allow any person to ride on the platforms, or outside the cars, or in the baggage car.

He must prevent passengers endangering themselves by imprudent exposure.

He must not allow the sale of books, papers, or refreshments, in the cars, without permission.

GENERAL ORDERS TO ENGINE DRIVERS.

He shall allow no person to ride on his engine or tender without the permission of those in authority over him.

MAINTENANCE OF WAY AND STRUCTURE.

All persons walking along the line, who are not in the railway service, must be warned off, and in case of non compliance, their names ascertained, and reported to the Trackmaster, or placed under arrest, as the exigencies of the case seem to require.

Animals found straying within the railway fences must be immediately driven off. Farm gates found open must be promptly closed.

All articles found on the track must be promptly sent to the Station Master of the nearest Station.

The following REDUCED RATES, for SEASON TICKETS for three months, be charged between ST. JOHN and the undermentioned Stations.

Copy of a report of a Committee of the Honorable the Privy Council, approved by His Excellency the Governor-General in Council on the 27th of April, 1868.

On a memorandum dated 15th April, 1868, from the Honorable the Minister of Public Works, respecting that on the 29th February last, an order in Council was passed authorizing the adoption of certain rules and regulations for Government of the European and North American Railway, New Brunswick.

That he would now recommend the adoption of tariffs submitted with his report for passengers and freight for the said railway.

The Committee advise that the above mentioned tariffs be adopted.

Certified,
WM. H. LEE,
Clerk Privy Council.

To the Honorable
The Minister of Public Works,
&c., &c.

GENERAL NOTICES & CONDITIONS OF CARRIAGE.

1 This railway will not be accountable for any articles unless the same be signed for as received by a duly authorised Agent.

2 Nor will it be responsible for the loss of or damage done to money, in cash, bills, promissory notes, or securities for money, or jewelry, trinkets, rings, precious stones, gold or silver, manufactured or unmanufactured, gold and silver plate or plated articles, clocks, watches, time-pieces, marble, lace, furs, silks in manufactured or unmanufactured state, and whether wrought up or not wrought up with other materials, writings, title deeds, prints, maps, paintings, engravings, pictures, stamps or other valuables; nor for damage done to china, glass, eggs, wearing apparel, musical instruments, furniture, toys, castings, grindstones, tombstones, slates, or any other such hazardous or brittle articles, in packages or otherwise.

3 Nor will it be responsible for delays from storms or accidents, or damages from the weather, fire, heat, frost, or delay of perishable articles or from civil commotion; nor will it, under any circumstances, be liable for loss of market or other claims arising from delay or detention of any train whether in starting or at any of the Stations, or in the course of the journey. The railway does not undertake to send goods by any particular train, if there be an insufficient number of cars at the Station, or the cars cannot be conveniently used for that purpose, notwithstanding the goods may have been taken to the Station before the hour appointed by the railway.

4 Nor will it be responsible for the loss or damage of any packages insufficiently or improperly marked, packed, directed or described, or containing a variety of articles, liable by breaking to damage each other or other articles; nor for leakage arising from bad casks, or bad cooperage or from fermentation or any other cause beyond the control of the railway.

5 Nor will it be responsible for the loss or damage of any goods put into returned wrappers or boxes, or packages described as "Empties:" nor for any goods directed "to be left until called for," or "to order," warehoused for the convenience of the parties to whom they belong, or by or to whom they are consigned: not will it, under any circumstances, be accountable for the loss or damage of goods that are not taken away immediately after advice of their arrival has been sent or posted.

6 Goods conveyed at a special or mileage rate, must be loaded or unloaded by the owner or his agents, and the railway will not be responsible for any risk of stowage, loss or damage however caused: nor for any discrepancy in the delivery as to either quantity, number or weight, nor for the condition of articles so carried, nor for detention or delay in the conveyance or delivery of them, however caused.

7 No Agent or Employee of this railway is authorized to take charge of bank notes, money or valuable papers.

8 Senders of dangerous articles will be held accountable for any damage arising therefrom, or thereto, unless the contents are so described upon the direction, that due care may be observed in loading, and in no case will the railway be liable for the loss of any such article.

9 All articles directed to be left at any stopping place or platform where there is no Station House or Goods Warehouse and Agent, will be at the risk of the owner directly they are delivered at such stopping place or platform; and all articles brought there for conveyance will also be at the owner's risk until taken into the cars.

10 Fresh fish, fruit, meat, poultry, oysters and other perishable articles, are conveyed only at the owner's risk, and the freight must be pre-paid.

11 When goods are intended, after being carried by this railway, to be forwarded by some other conveyance to their final destination, the responsibility of this railway will cease as soon as the goods are delivered to such other conveyance, and it is to be distinctly understood that such goods are received by the railway only on these conditions.

12 Storage will be charged on all goods remaining in the Stations over 48 hours after their arrival at the rate of twenty-five cents per barrel bulk, per month, and when stored no deduction will be made from this rate for Goods remaining in store for a less time than one month.

13 Demurrage at the rate of two dollars per car, per day, will be charged on all cars not unloaded within thirty-six hours after arrival, exclusive of Sundays, provided the same are loaded with goods liable to be unloaded by the owner or consignee; the railway reserving the right to discharge the same at the expense of the owner or consignee; at any time after the expiration of such 36 hours.

14 No claim whatever, for loss or damage will be allowed unless notice in writing is given to the Station Agent before the goods are removed.

15 No charge less than twenty cents will be made for any single package or consignment.

16 No goods will be delivered until all charges against them are paid, and the railway will not be accountable for the correctness of any "back charges" on goods, &c., by other companies, conveyances or individuals.

17 Vehicles are carried only at the owner's risk of damage from fire, weather and all other contingencies.

13 Machines or articles very long or bulky which require one or more cars to be taken especially to convey them, will be charged at full car rates.

19 Barley, corn, hay, oats, oysters, potatoes, rye, salt, wheat and dry fish, in bulk, and bricks, clay, coals, coke, grindstones, limestones, ores, sand and stone, chains and chain cables, pig and scrap iron, and all other articles of a similar character, and lumber, must be loaded and unloaded by the owner thereof, or at his expense. Double rates will be charged for overloading.

20 The railway will have a lien on all goods transported over the same for freight and charges thereon, as well as for any balance which may be previously due for freight, &c., by the owner or consignee, and the said goods will be liable to be sold by public auction for the payment of the charges thereon, and other balances which may be due.

21 Top wharfage at the customary rates will be charged on all goods landed on the railway wharves at Moncton, Shediac and St. John, except in cases where the goods are to be forwarded by this railway.

22 Rates of wharfage to be charged at railway wharves at St. John and Point DuChesne—except in cases where the vessel using the wharf is lying to load or unload goods brought by or to be carried by the railway, or for the purpose of unloading ballast for the use of the railway—vessels in all cases are to lie where directed by the wharfinger or agent for the time being:

For every decked vessel or woodboat of the burthen of 40 tons or under 30 cents per day, above 40 tons and under 50, 35 cts. above 50 and under 60, 40 cents, above 60 and under 70, 45 cents, above 70 and under 80, 50 cents, above 80 and under 90, 55 cents, above 90 and under 100, 60 cents, above 100 and under 120, 70 cents, above 120 and under 150, 80 cents, above 150 and under 180, 90 cents, above 180 and under 200, $1, above 200 and under 220, $1.10, above 220 and under 240, $1.20, above 240 and under 260, $1.30, above 260 and under 280, $1.40, above 280 and under 300, $1.50, above 300 and under 320, $1.50, above 320 and under 340 $1.70, above 340 and under 360, $1.80, above 360 and under 380, $1.90, above 380 and under 400, $2, above 400 and under 450, $2.25, above 450 and under 500, $2.50, and 25 cents for each additional 50 tons.

23 Live stock, when carried by the car load, will be charged at the rate of 25 cents per car, per mile, but no charge less in amount than six dollars will be made for a car.

24 All Live Stock carried over this railway must be loaded and discharged by the owner or his agent, and is to be under his sole care, and in all respects at his risk then and during transit. Any food furnished will be at his expense, and halters are to be provided by him when necessary. One drover will be allowed to pass free (second class) when accompanying his stock for the purpose of taking care of it, and paying the full price of the car load.

25 The loading of Sawn Lumber will be limited to 5000 superficial feet of hard or 8000 superficial feet of soft wood per car. The loading of hardwood logs and timber will be limited to 7½ tons of 40 cubic feet, and of softwood logs and timber to 10 tons of 40 cubic feet, per car. Pine, hemlock and spruce will be reckoned as soft, and all other kinds as hard. Owners overloading will be charged double rates in every instance. The quantities mentioned as being the load for one car, will not be considered as applicable to lumber, which by reason of its length requires for its conveyance two or more cars. Scantling, sawn or hewn, and ship or deck plank, or other long lumber, must not be piled higher than the tariff quantity of the same description of goods would reach it upon car. In the absence of survey bills deals will not be permitted to be laden above twelve tiers high. Cedar poles must not be laden more than five feet high, and must be properly secured with ropes to prevent spreading. Derricks by means of which cars are sometimes laden must not in any instance be erected upon the car.

26 Hay can only be conveyed in box cars.

27 Lumber will be taken to mean timber, deals, boards, plank, shipstuff, cordwood, tanbark, fence or hoop poles, box shooks, clapboards, staves, logs, laths, shingles, railway sleepers, spars and all other similar products of the forests. It must in all cases be properly and safely laden upon the cars, and must not project over the ends of the cars nor must cross grained wood be used for stakes In the event of the owner neglecting or refusing to obey the directions of the Station Master or other person authorized by the Superintendent in relation thereto, the load will be reduced, if necessary, to bring it within the quantity prescribed for a car load, and afterwards so secured as to make it entirely safe for transportation. The expense of doing this being charged against the goods.

28 When lumber is put upon one car care must be taken to have a stake placed near the centre of the length in addition to the others, so as to prevent its being dependent on only two stakes; and when the load is of logs or small round timber, or such other description of lumber as tends to settle and thus produce increased strain upon the stakes, chains or ropes must be used about one-third of the height from the top of the load to bind it, and where entire safety cannot be otherwise secured, skids to separate the ties must also be used.

29 Long lumber extending over two or more cars must be bound by chains or large ropes. It must not be "bound" by the stakes, but loaded on "bunks" that it may "play" or "swivel" freely.

30 Lumber will be carried only at the convenience of the railway, and at the risk of the owner.

31 Cars laden with lumber will not be allowed to stand over to give owners or consignees choice of positions at the receiving station when other berths are unoccupied.

32 In loading Cordwood sticks must be placed at the edges of the car for the outer ends of the wood to rest upon, that it may tend, when piled, towards the centre. Green Hardwood must not be piled higher than three feet, and Dry not higher than four feet. The stakes used must be green spruce or straight hardwood of sufficient thickness.

33 Cars left at Stations or Sidings to fill requisitions, will be subject to demurrage after twenty-four hours, and if not loaded within sixteen hours thereafter, (in both cases exclusive of Sunday) they may be handed over or removed to fill other requisitions.

34 Stations being often obstructed by deposits of lumber of various kinds, and the ordinary business of the Station being thereby incommoded; notice is hereby given that in such cases the obstructions will be removed, and the cost of such removal, in addition to yardage, at the rate of one dollar per car load per day, will form a charge against the lumber. Notice will given to the owner or consignee that its removal is required before a certain time, and the charges will commence immediately on the expiration of such time. When the charges have accumulated so as to amount to half the value of the lumber it will be sold at Public Auction, after given ten days public notice of such sale.

35 Lumber and other goods will be received only at Sidings; unless by previous arrangement it is shewn to the satisfaction of the Superintendent, that sufficient for a full train load of ten cars will be so placed that it can readily be laden with the assistance of an engine. A charge of $2 50 per hour will be made when the engine is detained more than three hours in addition to the usual rate per car, per mile, calculated from the Siding next beyond.

36 To avoid errors in invoicing loaded cars at Outsidings owners should fasten a ticket upon the side of the car, stating to whom the load belongs and to whom and where it is consigned.

37 When goods are required to be loaded by the owner or his agent, or at his expense, all fittings (such as stakes, bunks, skids, chains, ropes, &c., for lumber and sideboards for coal, sand, bricks, clay, stone, manganese, grain or articles of a similar character), must be provided by him, or will be charged to him if furnished by the railway. Such fittings will be transported back free, if necessary, but at the owner's risk.

38 When cars, liable to be laden or unladen by the owner or consignee of the goods, have been once placed, and for the convenience of the owner or at his request, are shifted to finish at another berth in the same Station Yard, a charge of one dollar per car will be made for such service.

39 Car loads of Lumber taken from any Station or Siding not named in the table of rates, will be charged twenty cents per car, per mile, for the additional distance beyond the Station named in the table; but in no case will the whole charge made be less than four dollars per car.

40 Full carloads of either bricks, cement, coal, chains, chain cables and anchors, grindstones, hay, household removals and furniture of all kinds, iron knees, pig, scrap and bar iron, lime, limestone, manure, mill and burr stones, molasses, oil, ores, outfits for, and products of the fisheries, plaster, rigging, fitted, salt, sand, sawdust, slate, straw, sugar, to one address, may be transported at the rate of twenty cents per car, per mile—no less charge than four dollars being made; and full carloads of beef, salted, in barrels, eggs, in barrels, flour and meal, in barrels, flaxseed, in barrels, pork, in barrels, to one address, may be transported at the rate of twenty-five cents, per car, per mile—no less charge than six dollars being made. Goods thus carried, must be laden and unladen by the owner or his agent, and will be at his risk then and during transit, and the entire load must consist solely of one of the articles mentioned.

41 Special arrangements may be made under certain extraordinary circumstances.

42 If the owner or owners, or his or their agent shall not, within five days after the arrival of the goods at the place of destination, pay the freight and any other charges due thereon, and take possession of and remove such articles from the railway premises, the Superintendent, by order of the Commissioners, may sell or cause the same to be sold at public auction, after giving ten days public notice of such sale, and having deducted all charges due, with the expenses of the sale and all other incidental expenses, he shall pay the surplus if any, to the owner, on application.

43 Cars cannot be hired to load cattle or goods of any kind, with the privilege of loading up at different Stations; and in no case can drovers be permitted to get free except when they have, at least, one full car load from one Station, and then they can pass only from that Station.

44 The loading of box-cars is limited to 18,000 lbs weight, and of platform cars to 20,000 lbs weight per car.

45 Articles not specified in the classification will be charged the same rate as similar or analogous articles.

46 Special Rates.—The rates between St. John and Shediac or Point Du Chesne, for the following goods in the quantities named, to one address will be:—

Oats, in quantities of 500 bushels of 2,151 cubic inches each, 4 cents per bushel.

barley, in quantities of 360 bushels of 2,151 cubic inches each, 5½ cents per bushel.

Potatoes and turnips, in quantities of 360 bushels of 2,747 cubic inches each, 5½ cents per bushel.

Wheat, in quantities of 300 bushels of 2,151 cubic inches, 7 cents per bushel.

Salt, in quantities of 250 bushels of 2,151 cubic inches, 8 cents per bushel.

Measurement is to be made when being loaded. In case of dispute, the load, before bulk is broken will be weighed upon the railway track scales, and the result divided by the mean weight of five bushels, is to be considered conclusive.

Fish, pork and beef, salted in barrels, in quantities of 60 barrels, and upwards, 30 cents per barrel.

Dried fish, in quantities of 160 quintals, and upwards, 12½ cents per quintal.

Flour and meal, in barrels, in quantities of from 90 to 500 barrels, 20 cents per barrel.

Flour and meal, in barrels, in quantities of 500 barrels and upwards, 15 cents per barrel.

47 Cargoes of the undermentioned articles will be carried in carloads to one address, from Point du Chesne to Saint John, at the following rates:—

Stone, ores and coals	$1 50 per ton.
Deals	2 00 per M. sup. ft.

48 Preserved salmon or other fish, in boxes or cans, in any quantity, from the fisheries in the Gulf of Saint Lawrence, or rivers or bays in Prince Edward Island or Northern New Brunswick, or vinegar for the fisheries, from Saint John, will be rated 4th class.

49 A portion of the area of a car may be freighted exclusively for the benefit of any party, at the rates per square foot fixed for the carriage of 3rd class articles per hundred pounds.

50 This tariff is to come in operation on the seventh day of June, 1867, after which date all previous rates and conditions shall be and are hereby cancelled 751tf

The Ottawa Times

THURSDAY, MAY 28, 1868.

It will be seen by the article copied from the London Examiner of the 2nd inst., that the Nova Scotia question is being intelligently discussed in England.

Among the various Acts which have been passed at the late Session of Parliament, none are more important, especially to the Maritime Provinces, than those relating to the protection and encouragement of the coast and river fisheries. The "Act for the "regulation of fishing and the protection of "fisheries," is mainly based upon the Canadian Act of 1854, from which the most gratifying and beneficial results have been realized. A few unimportant alterations have been made to meet the wants and requirements of the Lower Provinces. These have been made after mature consideration by the Hon. Minister of Marine and Fisheries, in accordance with suggestions and recommendations of the representatives from the Maritime Provinces, where the fisheries are most prosecuted.

The preliminary reports ordered by the Hon. Mr. Mitchell, as a basis for legislation, and laid before the House of Commons previous to the introduction of the Bill, show a most deplorable state of the rivers of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, and from facts therein detailed there can be little doubt that the great distress existing among the fishing population of Nova Scotia during the past winter, has resulted mainly from the obstruction of the numerous rivers which formerly were the great nurseries of migratory fish. The innumerable shoals of young fish, formerly supplied by these rivers, afforded food to the sea fish which were attracted to the shores by this abundant supply of food. These nurseries having been almost destroyed by impassable dams, and by the depredations of illegal netters and spearers on the spawning beds, this supply of food was cut off, the sea fish have been obliged to seek food in other localities, and hence the serious falling off in the catch of what was the main subsistence of the dwellers on the coast.

In New Brunswick, also, the reports show a most deplorable state of things, and call loudly for the enforcement of the wholesome provisions of the Act. But one small river in that Province is supplied with an efficient fish-way, while almost every stream and river in the Province, formerly the resort of vast numbers of valuable fish, is rendered impassable by dams.

The culpable neglect of the authorities to enforce the provisions of the fishery laws in both the Maritime Provinces, has led to these deplorable results, and it is a matter of congratulation that the administration of the Department of Fisheries is in the hands of a Minister so fully alive to the importance of protecting and fostering this source of our national wealth.

The Act makes ample provision for the immediate erection of sufficient fish-ways in all dams now existing, or which may hereafter be built, on rivers formerly frequented by migratory fish, and also provides for the suppression of illegal netting and spearing on the upper waters of those rivers to which fish resort to deposit their spawn.

The great want which has been so long felt in the Maritime Provinces, viz., the appointment of an Inspector, whose duty it will be to see that the provisions of the Act are duly enforced by the Local officers, has been supplied. This officer will be invested with the requisite authority to enable him to enforce the laws and regulations in a more summary and efficient manner, and the local overseers, being responsible to him for the faithful performance of their duties, we have every reason to anticipate immediate and beneficial results.

The importance of the fisheries is now better understood than formerly, both in Europe and America, and the British Government have of late years collected a mass of most valuable information upon the subject, which has led to improved legislation, and the most gratifying results in Great Britain. Our neighbors in the United States have profited by the information thus diffused, and the State Governments have passed the requisite laws, and appointed commissioners, who are now working energetically to restore and restock their rivers, which similar abuses have depopulated.

Another most important Act was passed during the late Session, the object of which is to prevent the illegal encroachment of foreign fishing vessels within the prescribed treaty limits. These encroachments have proved a source of dissatisfaction and complaint ever since the abrogation of the Reciprocity Treaty, and we cannot but indulge the hope that the judicious enforcement of the Act alluded to will lead to the re-enactment of this treaty upon such fair and equitable terms as will be beneficial to both parties. We shall return to this subject in a future number.

The Montreal Gazette of yesterday understands, on good authority, that 200 men of the 1st Battalion of the 60th Rifles have received orders to be ready to march to the frontier at a moment's notice.

Military.—The Montreal Gazette of yesterday says: It was rumored that the troops in the garrison were under orders, and prepared to march at any moment.

* * *

Emigrants.—A large number of German emigrants came up by the Montreal Wednesday morning, and are proceeding Westward to Chicago by the Upper Canada boats.—Gazette.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE

Toronto, May 26, 1868.

There is little to be said of a journey from Ottawa to Toronto by railroad, that has not been said already, except that every one will have some notion of his own as to the relative merits of this, that, and the other mode of travel. "Why don't you take the boat?" says one, "it is so much more pleasant." Yes! of course, you reply it is, "but," and here comes in the special motive that impels the traveller to step on board the cars in preference to the steamboat. My own may be given in very few words: Being anxious at the earliest possible moment to indulge a long formed fancy for a trip to the West, I took the readiest means to gratify it, and so far, to me, the railway was just "so much more pleasant than the steamboat," because it enabled me to do what I wished at the time that would best suit me.

The rain which had been so plentiful in the neighborhood of Ottawa during the past week, has left marks of a still more bountiful fall in the West, the fields in many places being flooded along the line of railway. Since Sunday, however, the weather has been glorious, and the crops everywhere give promise of an abundant harvest.

The Queen's birthday was duly celebrated in this city yesterday. A grand military review, which was truly a magnificent sight, embracing a force of, I should say, about five thousand men, "horse, foot and artillery," Volunteers and Regulars. A procession of boats on the bay was another splendid sight. A picnic on the old Government grounds with several railway and steamboat excursions, and any number of entertainments in the evening, gave the Torontonians ample opportunity for enjoyment, which they appeared to embrace with great satisfaction. One feature of the close of the day's proceedings was the lighting of numerous small bonfires on the streets, an entertainment which gave great fun to the small boys and girls, and did not apparently interfere with street travel.

Mr. O'Reilly has been for several days investigating the cases of the parties recently arrested here under the Habeas Corpus Suspension Act. Hynes and Cosgrove have been admitted to bail after a full consideration of their case, a step which is generally approved here by men of all parties who know them. With respect to Nolan, however, his case does not appear to be one admitting of such a concession at the present time. It came out in the inquiry instituted by Mr. O'Reilly to secure the possession of the books of the Hibernian Society that Mrs. Nolan had thrown them in the fire the moment she had heard of his arrest. This step is calculated to cast suspicion upon the society, which probably, could the books be produced, would be found unwarranted, but whatever they may have contained they are now effectually beyond reach. Boyle is, of course, retained in custody. The fyles of the Irish Canadian have been seized, and will be submitted to a rigid examination, as to the character of their contents, to determine how far, if at all, it was a treasonable sheet. Mr. O'Reilly has amassed a great deal of information concerning the correspondents, &c., of the journal in question, some of which will doubtless prove valuable hereafter.

Attention is naturally given here to the prospect of another Fenian raid, and opinion inclines strongly towards the idea that it will be realised. The pros and cons are discussed with no little interest, and there is a general impression that the political necessities of the rival contestants for the Presidency of the neighboring Republic, will tempt them to bid high for Fenian votes, even to winking at open violation of the neutrality laws.

There is some quiet talk of the formation of a new political party, to build itself upon the ruins of both the old ones. It is to be a thoroughly organised affair, with President and other officers duly elected, but with no distinctive party creed, except such as every loyal Canadian would willingly endorse. The stumbling block in the way of its success is that parties are not made; they grow. Leaders of parties are not chosen by election, but selection. They become leaders by their superior ability in winning and retaining the confidence of others in their capacity to lead, and not by election, as the mere President of a club.

CANADIAN LITERATURE.

The following extract is from a lecture delivered at Princeton, Ontario, by Dr. Daniel Clark, Coroner for the County of Oxford. The subject of the lecture is "The New Dominion." It is treated at great length and with marked ability. Speaking of the little encouragement given to our literary men of a particular class, the following timely and powerful appeal was made:

"It is worthy of censure that our best authors and our sweetest poets are comparatively unknown to the Canadian people; although they have commanded attention and respect from the master minds of Britain and the literati of the American Republic. What encouragement have we given to McLauchlin, Heavysege, Sangster, Wm. Moodie? How many of the masses have read the sweet lyrics of the first, the classic 'Saul' of the second, and the vigorous and pleasant melodies of the third? We can go in raptures over the lays of Tennyson or Longfellow, and often read the silliest effusions of those poets with unction and ecstacy! But, however gifted, 'a prophet has no honor in his own country.' The poet may throw out corruscations of genius that may be seen in unusual splendour 'afar off,' by the generations following; but interest, or 'malice aforethought,' or culpable forgetfulness, will crush the most brilliant scintillations of undoubted literary power, if they spring from the log cabin or the work bench. He, the poor son of toil, may ask for bread while he lives, and our children will give him a stone monument when he dies. He may sing sweetly of 'our woods and lakes,' and, by inspiration, utter wise sayings that, 'on the outstretched finger of all time sparkle for ever;' but Canada gives no willing ear, 'charm he ever so wisely.' Our population is as great as that of Scotland—our youth are as well educated—we have as much brain power. Why, then, do we not produce such men as Allan Ramsay, Scott, Alison, Burns, Jeffrey, Dick, Reid, Sir W. Hamilton and Napier? Shall this generation of Canadians pass away and add no rill, however small, to the overflowing stream of Anglo-Saxon literature? Shall the master minds of four millions of people never soar above the rise and fall of stock, the profits and losses of commerce, the trickery of political warfare, and the terribly earnest, but ever necessary, toils and anxieties of our common humanity? We have an earnest of better things to come, and it is our duty to encourage 'home productions,' be they mind or matter. Let Canadian genius be our first care, and let us extend to Canadian literature the right hand of fellowship, even if it is 'homespun,' and has not the fine 'nap' upon it of the gorgeous periodicals of Britain and the United States. The mental and moral power are in our midst. Let there be light!"

LOCAL NEWS.

New hoop skirts just received by Magee and Russell.

A. Swalwell, Chief Undertaker for Ottawa, Sparks-st., Centre Town. 750tf

Auction Sale To-day.—Remember the great sale of furniture to-day, belonging to Dr. Tupper, at his residence in McGreevy's new block, opposite St. Joseph's College. Sale at 11 o'clock, a.m.

The Volunteers.—Col. Lord Alexander Russell, acting Brigadier on the Queen's Birthday, has addressed a letter to Lieut.-Col. Wily, commanding the volunteer force here, highly complimenting our citizen soldiery on their fine appearance and the manner in which they performed their duties on Monday.

Removal.—By reference to advertisement Mr. Gouldthrite's customers will notice that he has opened a new establishment in Elgin-st., where they will be supplied with the choicest and coolest of summer beverages, also viands to satisfy the most fastidious epicure. Mr. Gouldthrite has been long and favorably known as a favorite and successful caterer in this city.

New Fife and Drum Band—No. 1 Company, Ottawa Rifles.—The non-commissioned officers and men of No. 1 Company, Ottawa Rifles, under the command of Captain May, have decided on having a drum and fife band for their company, and they have imported, through Messrs. Orme & Son, the necessary number of drums and fifes. They have also employed competent men from the P.C.O. Rifle Brigade to instruct their bandsmen. We congratulate the non-commissioned officers of this company for their energy in the matter.

Her Majesty's Theatre.—This place of amusement will be opened on Monday, June 1st, by a dramatic company, under the management of J. J. Collins, who will perform a number of first-class dramas, commencing with "Under the Gaslight." The company is said to be first-class and quite numerous. The drama, in Ottawa has heretofore been but poorly patronized and it remains to be seen whether a good company, with the great "sensationals" of the day, can attract sufficient houses to make it remunerative to encourage enterprise in catering for public amusement.

General Tom Thumb and Family.—These distinguished liliputians, who have had the honor to be presented to and fondled by most of the great dignitaries of the Old World and the New, will arrive in the city to-morrow, and appear in the afternoon and evening at Her Majesty's Theatre. This great little family will perform in a large number of characters, singing, dancing, comic orations, tableaux, &c., &c. They will hold levees at 3 o'clock, p.m., and at 8 p.m., going to and from the theatre in their miniature carriages, drawn by their tiny ponies, driven by their elfin coachman. The grace, beauty, and accomplishment of those little people have astonished and delighted millions, who have seen and heard them in every quarter of the globe, and cannot fail to give pleasure to the large houses which we predict for them here. N.B.—The theatre is being entirely renovated and the ventilation made perfect, so as to be pure, healthy, and cool during the summer.

Police Court.—Armstrong Hackett was charged with disorderly conduct. At the prisoner's request the case was adjourned till this morning.—Alexandre Dicket, for having foul premises, was let off on paying costs, on the police stating that the place was now clean.—Mason Hyde preferred a charge against Joseph Gilly, for stealing harness found in Hinchy's shop. Gilly being already in jail, awaiting his trial at the Recorder's Court for a similar offence, was not brought down, but the case will go to the Grand Jury, and Mr. Hyde was bound over to prosecute.—Three young men named Condle, Standish and White, were charged with disorderly and riotous conduct late on Saturday night last, near the Revere House. Several witnesses proved that most unprovoked and wicked assaults had been committed on two or three persons. Standish and Condle having been identified, the magistrate fined them ten dollars and costs or three weeks in jail. Against White there appeared no conclusive evidence and he was discharged.—Robert Hillard, Patrick Lowney and John Gleeson were put in the dock for examination on a charge of assault on Alexander Turner, and were remanded to this morning—bail refused.

Disputed Identity.—We yesterday announced the finding of the lost child of Thomas McGilton, and shared, in common with all who knew of the affliction, the general joy on the restoration of the child to his parents. On enquiring into the particulars, however, yesterday morning, among some of the neighbors, we found several persons who were familiar with the child before he left home, shaking their heads and openly expressing doubts as to its being McGilton's child at all, whilst others, also familiar with him ever since his birth, were quite confident that it was none other than the veritable Georgy McGilton, whom they had dandled on their knees all his life from babyhood to the time when he so mysteriously disappeared on Dominion Day—the first of July last. Those who are familiar with the steps taken to discover the whereabouts of the child for several weeks after he was lost, are aware that Mr. McIntyre and his family exerted themselves to the utmost in the matter. Frequently did Mr. McIntyre place his horses at the disposal of McGilton, and he and his son, John Johnston McIntyre, performed many unavailing journeys for the child's recovery. Last week young McIntyre was at the house of a friend in the country, where he heard a neighbor drop a hint, which led him to believe that the lost one was at the house of Mr. Thos. Lewis, jr., on lot No. 22 of the 8th Concession of Goulbourne, about eighteen miles from this city; and so strong was his conviction of the fact, that he lost no time in repairing thither. It appears he had some previous acquaintance with some of the family, and on his arrival he saw the child, whom he at once thought he recognized. In the course of conversation they talked about boots, when McIntyre spoke of McGilton as a very superior workman. At the name of McGilton the child ran round to him; this fact was noticed, and the child was immediately removed from his sight. McIntyre also says that before this took place he had talked to the little fellow, and got him to perform some of the tricks, as standing on his head and tumbling, which he had often seen him perform before he left home. He was satisfied in his own mind that McGilton's child was found. He returned to the city and took the father and daughter with him, and claimed him. Contradictory statements are said to have been given by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis as to the way in which he came under their care. One was that he was an illegitimate child whom Lewis had received from the mother, at one time stating that she was gone to Ogdensburg, and at another that she was somewhere West. Either the husband or the wife said they received the child in August last, when the other remonstrated against any such admission being made. The child was in the end given up, not, apparently, with very great reluctance, and Mr. Lewis asked who was going to pay for his board. We learn since, that Lewis is taking some legal steps to accomplish what object, we do not know. If it is Mr. Gilton's child he is seven years old, but the one found appears to be under six. Georgy was six years old when he left, and should remember something about his old home, but he knows neither father nor mother, sister nor brother, nor anything about the place. The mother thinks that her child's features are there, but even with her and all the family, there is something very nearly approaching a doubt. If the story told by Lewis is true, he can easily prove it, or at least sufficient of it to satisfy the McGilton's, who profess a perfect willingness to give up the child on proof being adduced that he is not theirs.

[The following interesting account of an influential meeting, concerning the new ship canal, has been inadvertently crowded over until this issue.]

IMPORTANT MEETING.

THE OTTAWA NAVIGATION.

A meeting of the members of the House of Commons and Senate, convened by Alonzo Wright, Esq., M.P. for Ottawa County, was held in the Immigration and Colonization Committee Rooms, Parliament Building, on Wednesday last, 20th instant, at four o'clock, p.m., for the purpose of taking measures to direct public attention to the construction of the Canals required to connect the St. Lawrence at Montreal with Lake Huron by way of the Ottawa, Matawan and French Rivers.

The following are the names of the gentlemen present:—

Hon. James Skead, Senate; Messrs. Currier, Wright, Chamberlin, Burton, Heath and Hagar, M.P.'s, and G.H. Perry, Esq.

Alonzo Wright, Esq., M. P., was called to the chair, and Mr. Perry requested to act as Secretary.

Mr. Wright stated the objects of the meeting to be the organization of measures for placing before the public the necessity which existed for constructing the canals required to open the navigation of the Ottawa from Montreal to Lake Huron. It appeared that the time had arrived when this measure need no longer be delayed. Indeed the exigencies of the commercial interests of Canada demanded that this route should be opened at once, while the sum of money just voted for the purposes of defence, would prove a bad investment without the Ottawa navigation. The Government had hitherto been so engaged with the questions of the Intercolonial Railway, Militia organization and defence, that it was impossible to attract attention to this matter; but its time had undoubtedly come, and it remained for those representatives, whose constituencies were directly interested, to place a subject of its great national importance fairly before the people of the Dominion. The plan probably best adapted to that end would be to proceed by petition to the three branches of the Legislature from the various municipalities interested.

It was moved by the Hon. James Skead, seconded by Mr. Hagar, M.P., and resolved, that Messrs. Wright, Chamberlin, Heath and Perry, be a Committee to draft a general form of petition to His Excellency the Governor-General and both Houses of Parliament, praying for the construction of the canals necessary to open the navigation between the St. Lawrence and Lake Huron by way of the Ottawa, Matawan and French Rivers.

Moved by Mr. Chamberlin, M. P., seconded by Mr. Heath, M. P., and resolved, that Hons. James Skead and John Hamilton, Senators; Hon. J. J. C. Abbott and Messrs. Wright, Shanly, Grant, Burton, Heath, Currier, Hagar, Holmes, Rankin, McLachlin, McMillan, F. Jones, Chamberlin, Morris and Crawford, M. P.'s, His Worship the Mayor of Ottawa, and G. H. Perry, Esq., be a Committee, with power to add to their number, to carry out the objects of the meeting, and that any three, with the Chairman, be a quorum for the transaction of business.

Moved by Mr. Currier, M. P., seconded by Mr. Burton, M. P., and resolved, that copies of the petition and a prospectus, detailing the object, commercial value and all other useful information on the subject of the Ottawa navigation, be forwarded to all members of both Houses of Parliament favorable to the measure, for the purpose of procuring the signatures of the various municipal bodies and the inhabitants of the counties interested in the petition; and that copies of the prospectus be sent to all members of the Senate, House of Commons, the members of the Legislative Assemblies of the various Provinces, and to all the municipal authorities of the Dominion, and such others as the Committee may decide on.

The meeting then adjourned till Friday the 22nd.

At noon, on Friday, 22nd, the following members of the Committee met in the Immigration and Colonization Committee Room:

A. Wright, Esq., M. P., (Chairman,) Messrs. Currier, Shanly, Chamberlin, Holmes, Dr. Grant, and Heath, M. P.'s, and G. H. Perry, Esq.

The following petition was adopted and ordered to be printed:—

The Honorable the Commons House of Parliament of the Dominion of Canada, in Parliament assembled.

The Petition of——Humbly Sheweth:

That the navigation of the Ottawa River is obstructed by shoals and rapids above the City of Montreal—that its tributary the Matawan approaches within three miles of Lake Nippissing—that the "height of land" between is nowhere over thirty feet above the level of the Lake—that the construction of a navigable channel connecting the waters of Trout Lake, the head of the Matawan and Nippissing, is perfectly practicable and easily effected—that the French River flowing out of the latter lake into Lake Huron is admirably adapted to form a channel for a first class navigation—that it reaches Lake Huron four hundred and thirty miles West of Montreal and five hundred East of Chicago on Lake Michigan, making the distance between those ports nine hundred and thirty miles; while by way of the St. Lawrence and Lakes the distance would be thirteen hundred and forty-eight miles—that the whole length of artificial canals necessary to overcome the obstructions in the Ottawa and Matawan Rivers, connect them with Lake Nippissing, and adapt French River to the full capacity of the navigation throughout, would not exceed thirty miles—that the completion of this channel would open a large tract for settlement now almost inaccessible, facilitate access to the Northwest Territory and British Columbia, induce capitalists to construct a railway connecting the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans, (which must pass at or about the height of land before mentioned), through British Territory, open a new market for the lumber trade, and largely increase the industrial pursuits of the country by facilitating the erection of manufacturing establishments on the various falls on the rivers.

That the commercial interests of the Dominion and Great Britain demand a more direct route between those ports on the lakes which are the centres of the grain trade of the Western and Northwestern districts of the United States and the seaboard than those furnished by way of the St. Lawrence and Erie Canal.

And lastly, that all measures of defence for the Dominion of Canada are imperfect without direct communication between the St. Lawrence and Lake Huron, by way of the Ottawa, Matawan, Lake Nippissing and French River.

Therefore your petitioners humbly request that your hon. House will take such measures as will cause the obstructions to their navigation to be removed, and an uninterrupted line to the full capacity of the leading channel and the supply of water from the summit level opened throughout.

And as in duty bound, your petitioners will ever pray.

The meeting then adjourned till further notice.

Osgoode Hall—A Present from the Queen.—A communication was lately received from the Duke of Buckingham and Chandos, through the Governor-General, by the Society of Osgoode Hall, accompanying the presentation from Her Gracious Majesty, of two books—"The Early Years of the Prince Consort" and "Leaves from the Journal of our Lives in the Highlands," with a request from Her Majesty that these books might be received into and form part of their Library. Each of the works contains the autograph of Her Majesty, and are, as may be supposed, highly valued by the recipients. The volumes are beautifully bound, and will, no doubt, be very much appreciated by the Bar, and form a great acquisition to the library of Osgoode Hall, where, it may be remembered, the Prince of Wales was nobly entertained on his visit to Canada in 1860, and on which occasion he was made a member of the Society.—Globe.

YESTERDAY'S DESPATCHES.

Mortality in New York.

New York, May 27.—There were 497 deaths in New York last week, and 127 in Brooklyn.

Stanton's Resignation Decided.

Washington, May 27.—A great many members of Congress called on Mr. Stanton, and urged him to hold on to the War Office, but he said he could not do it. He will not go to the War Office again except as a private citizen.

The Insurrection in China.

New York, May 27.—The Herald's special, in reference to the siege of Tientsin, by the Chinese rebels, says that the leader threatened to assault the town, and attempt to carry it by storm, and thus place the imperial capital, Pekin, from which Tientsin is seventy miles distant, at the mercy of his followers, and give them the control of the point of confluence of the Yuerling and Pekin, or Peiho, rivers. The rebel forces moved from their position to the agricultural districts, and had already plundered the villages lying around Tientsin. The city is defended by a garrison of 20,000 men. Three steam gunboats were lying in the river off Tientsin, charged with the duty of protecting foreigners and foreign interests. This duty will be performed in a vigorous manner, as in Tientsin was signed the famous treaty with the Chinese Government, which accorded to the foreign Ministers a right of residence in Pekin, besides many commercial advantages, none of which can the Governments of Europe and the United States permit to be impaired or destroyed by rebellion, or native dissension. The insurgents, for the most part, carry their wives and children with them, and were reported as numbering 120,000 souls a few months since.

Break-up of the Great Prize Fight.—Arrest of McCoole.

Cold Spring, Ind, May 27.—Nine thousand people were on the ground selected for the McCoole and Coburn fight. At the time McCoole was arrested several officers were after Coburn, but he succeeded in dodging them.

From the Sandwich Islands.

San Francisco, May 23.—The steamship Idaho brings Sandwich Island dates to May 9th. Earthquakes at Hawaiia were less violent, although the whole island was still agitated with slight eruptions. There were reports that lava had again broken out. Details of the eruption at Manaloa also confirm accounts previously received.

The Amount Abstracted in the Express Car.

Louisville, May 24.—The total amount abstracted from the safes of Adams' Express Co., in their car on the Jeffersonville road, the night before last, reaches $56,000.

New York, May 25.—The steamer Bremen from Bremen, and City of London from Liverpool have arrived.

From Crete.

The Herald's advices from Crete represent that several battles had taken place in Crete last month between the insurgents and the Turkish forces, in all of which the Cretans are said to have gained the advantage. The refugee Cretans in Greece were suffering severely.

The New York Press on Impeachment.

The Times' special says that it is not yet at all certain what will be done about impeachment on Tuesday. Three at least of the managers hope it will then be finally disposed of in some way, and many members of Congress have received letters expressing the same desire. The general question of bringing in the Southern States, has been a good deal debated among Republicans, for the last three or four days. Gen. Grant and Mr. Colfax both favor the speedy admission of such as have complied with the Reconstruction Acts, and can present acceptable constitutions.

The World's special says that the evidence thus far does not present any proof, compromising in the slightest degree, the vote of any Senator, for the acquittal of the President.

The Sun's special says that one of the witnesses, on Saturday, admitted to the Managers, under oath, that he had raised money to be used to secure acquittal.

The Commercial's special says that Stanton threatens to resign, which increases the pressure for conviction. Colfax will take the stump on the adjournment of Congress.

Desperate State of Affairs in Mexico.

New York, May 26.—The Herald's Havana special says: Advices from the capital of Mexico to the 17th instant, state that the pronunciamento of Gen. Rivera was giving the General Government a good deal of trouble. Rivera, however, was officially disowned by Mendez, and some others of the malcontents. The President's family had to leave Chapultepec. Around Puebla the insurgents had possession of the mountain, and proclaimed Gen. Marquez as head of a regency. The cities of San Luis Potosi, Quertero and Mexico, were at the mercy of the insurgents. Railway and telegraphic projects were, however, favorably considered by the General Government.

THE FENIAN PRISONERS.

Release of Cosgrove—Examination of Nolan—New Disclosures—The Hibernian Books Burnt—Who did it?—A Writer for the "Irish Canadian"—Impudence and Assurance.

[From the Toronto Telegraph.]

Some new disclosures of an important character have been made with regard to the late arrests of Boyle, Nolan and Cosgrove. The latter who, as our readers already know, blustered in his cell and said that "they couldn't kape him there more than five wakes," has been using every effort to get his freedom, and finally succeeded in so doing late yesterday afternoon. Mr. O'Reilly was literally besieged yesterday by noted Fenians, eager and importunate for the release of Cosgrove. We believe the latter received his freedom on the recommendation of the Hon. John Hillyard Cameron, who said to Mr. O'Reilly that Cosgrove was "a loyal man and no Fenian, and that it was absurd to arrest him." If Mr. Cameron could but see the smile that lit up the faces of the Hibernians when Cosgrove came among them, and heard such expressions as "the——had to let him out," he would, perhaps, not be so ready to volunteer an opinion on that of which he knows nothing. Mr. Cameron also made a similar remark about Patrick Buckley, when that person was spoken of as an assassination conspirator, and laughed at the idea of his being arrested. The fewer of such remarks the better, when there is no doubt that Cosgrove is a prominent Hibernian, and is a strong sympathizer with the Fenian organization. However, through the exertions of a lawyer, Cosgrove bade farewell to "the British Bastile" and the Government bill of fare.

THE FENIAN SECRETARY.

Young Nolan, the Fenian or Hibernian Secretary, has also had his friends at work, but perhaps as he can't get the same influence to put in a word for him, he may have to remain the full twelve months in durance vile. Nolan has for some months past, in fact since the exile of Sheedy, acted as secretary to the Hibernian organization here. The books and papers were at his house, were taken down to the Fenian Hall, on the corner of King street and East Market Square. When the police made the arrest of Boyle and the others their books could not be found, and until yesterday all clue as to what had been done with them was lost. When Nolan, therefore, was spoken to by Mr. O'Reilly at the jail, the prisoner stated that the books had been destroyed by his mother a few days before the arrest. Another story told concerning the matter is that Nolan's wife burnt the book of minutes and the Fenian roll. Mrs. Nolan, it appears, was a Protestant, but has not since her marriage embraced the Roman Catholic faith. She was very timorous of her husband's conduct, and frequently expressed regret that he had anything to do with the Hibernian organization. When the first rumor of what the Government was doing got about, Mrs. Nolan, fearful for her husband's safety, took the documents and threw them into the fire. This, we believe, is the correct story. Important evidence is therefore lacking, although the Government are in possession of the old Fenian roll taken from Sheedy's house three years ago.

THE COOLNESS AND ASSURANCE

which prominent Fenians here displayed in coming to Mr. O'Reilly, and actually protesting that Nolan was no Fenian, and that the Hibernian organization was loyal. A man named Moriarty was one who spoke thus, and we speak advisedly in saying that he himself was within an ace of being arrested.

THE FYLES OF THE "IRISH CANADIAN"

were secured yesterday, and as the Government have fully determined to keep Boyle in his full time, it is probable that he will be tried for sedition at the expiration of twelve months.

WHO WAS "CAIUS GRACCHUS,"

or the party who wrote letters brimful with treason under that name for the Irish Canadian, has at length leaked out. It appears that he is a lawyer named Defoe practising in this city, and his accounts against Boyle for writing this treason show that he received but a miserable pittance for his dirty work. Mr. O'Reilly, who has displayed much energy and tact in working up these matters, leaves to-night for Ottawa, when the papers will be laid before the Government.

THE RECENT FENIAN ARRESTS.

On Saturday forenoon Mr. James O'Reilly, Q. C., of Kingston, visited the jail in this city, and made a private examination into the nature of the evidence against Edward Hynes, who was recently arrested here on a charge of Fenianism. Hynes was then conveyed to the police court and admitted to bail, to appear at the next assizes—himself in $2,000 and four sureties of $500 each. Dr. A. A. Riddel and Messrs. John Carroll, John Middlemiss and E. R. Henderson—the three last named being foremen in the printing department of the Leader—became Hynes' sureties. Dr. Riddel has also known the prisoner for several years, and known him too, as a quiet and industrious printer. The other prisoners Boyle, Cosgrove and Nolan, it is thought, will be detained for some time longer. Mr. Hynes no doubt owes his liberation to the efforts made in his favor by the press of this city, as well as to the petition of the Toronto Typographical Society to His Excellency the Governor-General in his behalf. Immediately upon the reception by His Excellency of the petition Mr. O'Reilly was despatched to Toronto to enquire into the case, the consequence of which has been Hynes' liberation on bail.—Toronto Leader.

ANOTHER FENIAN RAID.

Our Canadian neighbors are anticipating a Fenian raid within a few days. A demonstration is to be made at St. Albans and at Buffalo, which, to the best of their knowledge and belief, will be far more formidable than any yet attempted. The regular army and the militia have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness for movement at a moment's notice. It cannot be denied that there has been great activity displayed by the Fenian leaders of late, and their threats and promises have been loud and confident in tone and character. But if their intentions and plans are so well known as they seem to be to the Canadian authorities, the preparations they will make in the meantime to receive the "wearers of the green" ought to render the invasion difficult if not impossible. It will be disgraceful if they cannot, being as well forewarned and forearmed as they claim to be, defend themselves from assault. We can hardly imagine that the Fenian leaders have been so generous and gallant as, like the French regiment, to beg their opponent "to fire first," and to have divulged so much of their campaign as to enable any Government with a respectable military force to checkmate them. On the contrary, if they have been so polite and courteous, the Canadian people and Government cannot feel much apprehension, being thus in possession of information that gives them ample leisure to provide for the attack.

Circumstances occurring on this side of the line do not permit us to deny that there are some grounds for expecting another Fenian raid, while at the same time we suspect that its dimensions have been greatly exaggerated by the Canadian authorities. As a very few days, however, will decide the question, if the widely published programme is adhered to, much speculation is not worth the space and time we might give to the probabilities of this raid and its results.—Detroit Press.

CONFEDERATION AND ANTI-CONFEDERATION IN BRITISH NORTH AMERICA.

A year and a half ago, an Imperial Act called into existence the Dominion of Canada. For the first time in their history, the principal Colonies of British North America were united under one local government, and their representatives summoned to meet in a common Parliament. A period of eighteen months is a short time for the trial of so great an experiment; but yet the House of Commons is about to be called on to review the measure, to which it gave effect in the session before last. Only a grave emergency could justify so serious, nay so unprecedented a step; and no such emergency will be proved to exist. In a few days, if we are correctly informed, the delegates from Nova Scotia, who have been in England for several weeks past, will petition Parliament for a Committee of Inquiry, and pray to be heard by counsel at the bar of the House. We frankly admit that these gentlemen are playing a perfectly consistent part. They opposed the Confederation Bill two years ago, as they now oppose Confederation itself. Having been unsuccessful in their former efforts, they naturally seek another, and as they perhaps imagine, a more favourable opportunity to assail the policy which has been so distasteful to them and to their adherents. We do not quarrel with Mr. Howe and his friends for exercising a constitutional right; and as this is a matter upon which differences of opinion may fairly be entertained, we should consider it an abuse of language, to attribute to them unworthy motives, or to call them by bad names. But we claim for ourselves that which we concede to them—the right to weigh the facts in a just balance, and to pronounce judgment on the important issues which they have raised.

It is alleged that the people of Nova Scotia are bitterly hostile to Confederation, and that by sweeping the polls of the candidates who were brought forward in the interest of the Union, they indubitably proved the existence of that hostility. The fact that the Union candidates sustained a crushing defeat, is sufficiently startling to arrest and demand inquiry. But before we accept the results of the last general election, as decisive of the opinion of the colonists, we must be quite sure that it admits of no other interpretation. Four years ago Dr. Tupper's party swept the polls, just as Mr. Howe's party carried all before it a few months ago. Then everybody was in favor of Confederation, while now we are asked to believe that the whole current of opinion in the colony, runs in exactly the opposite direction. We decline to adopt this conclusion without strong evidence, and thus far, evidence of this kind has not been forthcoming. The China war in the hands of Lord Palmerston led to the rejection of Mr. Cobden and a host of the best Liberals in the country; but it did not follow that the constituencies, when they committed the mistake of ousting these good men from Parliament, also repudiated the doctrines of the Reform party. What the China war was to England, the School Bill has been to Nova Scotia, and we suspect that the unpopularity of Dr. Tupper's education policy, has had quite as much to do with the defeat of his party as the question of Confederation. When this gentleman entered office, he found education at its lowest ebb. He set himself zealously to work, to provide the means of knowledge for every child in the Colony. In conjunction with his colleagues, he framed a measure which is so just in principle, and which has proved so successful in practice, that Mr. Bruce and Mr. Forster would do well to study its provisions. Two children are now educated for every one that previously found an entrance into the school-house. But this boon could not be conferred without a large expenditure, and for this Dr. Tupper provided by an increase of direct taxation. Now, unfortunately, if there is one thing more than another which colonists are apt to dislike, it is direct taxation; and although the Nova Scotians are not likely to return to their old ways as regards the neglect of education, the Confederation candidates suffered all the unpopularity which their conduct as educational reformers was calculated to provoke. We should like to know how many of the twenty-three thousand candidates who voted against the Union party, voted against it, not because they had an invincible repugnance to the connection with Canada, but because they detested the School Bill, or rather the taxation which that measure occasioned.

We observe that there are other points, upon which the supporters of the Nova Scotian malcontents remain discreetly silent. They say, nothing for example, concerning the Restricted Franchise Act which came into operation at the last election. By this Act, the electoral body of the province was reduced by about one-third—in other words, the opponents of Confederation are adverse to popular suffrage, and, after having deprived one-third of the adult male population of their electoral privileges, ask us to accept the remaining two-thirds as the only people in Nova Scotia who were entitled to a voice in their own destiny. Mr. Howe challenged the right of the late Parliament, to decide in favor of joining the Confederation without a popular vote. He might as well challenge the right of the existing House of Commons to abolish the Irish Church without an appeal to the people. If a parliament has been legally constituted, there is no measure within the range of legislation which it is not competent to pass. But Mr. Howe's practice differs from his theory. When the Restricted Franchise Bill was before the Local Legislature, in four weeks, twenty-six thousand persons petitioned against it, and prayed that it might not be passed without an appeal to the constituencies. Mr. Howe resisted this demand and denounced it as absurd and untenable. The engineer should not complain if he is hoisted with his own petard; and Mr. Howe must not be surprised if the petitions which he now flourishes in the face of the Confederation party are not received as absolute testimony against the overwhelming vote which a legislature elected by universal suffrage gave in support of Confederation.

By all means let the Nova Scotian delegates have a fair hearing; but before conceding more than this, we must know exactly what they want, and to what extent they represent the real opinion of the Provinces. We must know whether they object to Confederation per se, or whether as reasonable men they are prepared to accept just and honorable concessions. Mr. Howe is the leader of the anti-Confederation party, yet if any man in British North America is entitled to be called "the father of the Confederation movement," he is that man. It was he who in 1861 moved the first resolution ever submitted to the Nova Scotian Parliament in favor of the legislative union of the Provinces, and on that occasion his seconder was Dr. Tupper. So recently as 1863 he uttered those remarkable words:

He thought a Union should not be delayed till we had drifted into difficulties. How short-sighted were the English statesmen of old who lost them the thirteen States, when the difficulty could have been arranged in a month, the horrors of the revolutionary war prevented, and all of our race living at peace and harmony at present, without the bickering and animosity which prevail in their midst. Talk of the fall of Quebec being a source of sorrow to the inhabitants of this Province. It would be more. If the St. Lawrence were in the hands of our enemies, we should be compelled to beg permission to tear down the British flag. What he wished for Nova Scotia was, that she may be the frontage of a mighty Colony; upon which it may be truly said the sun never set. No man can look upon Halifax and its environs, its citadel, and say it was made for this Province alone.

Mr. Howe is too sagacious a man to suppose that he can, all at once, pull down the edifice of which he was one of the chief builders. He may since have been converted to different views, but he has no right to expect that his disciples will find it as easy to change sides. He may personally desire to separate Canada, but we doubt whether even a majority of his own followers in Nova Scotia, are prepared to take this extreme course. At least they talked in a very guarded manner at the hustings; and it cannot be denied that their return was assisted by so many other questions upon which their opponents had rendered themselves unpopular, that if Confederation had been out of the way altogether, or had never been raised as a party issue, their election would have been equally certain. While, to take another view of the subject, the total votes of the anti-union candidates, allowing them two-thirds of the electors in the country in which there were no contests, did not amount to a numerical majority of the aggregate electoral body. The abrogation of the Reciprocity Treaty, has been a source of weakness to the Confederation, and of irritation to the Nova Scotians. It has led to the imposition of heavy duties on American flour; it has all but closed the American market against the colonial fishermen, subject as their fish is to duties of from one to three dollars a barrel. The repeal of the Reciprocity Treaty has been a great misfortune to all the parties concerned, to the United States not less than to Great Britain and her American dependencies. We believe that if the treaty is renewed—which it will and must be—and if the discontented party in Nova Scotia are met by the Canadian and Imperial Governments in a frank and generous spirit, and with an earnest desire to make every fair concession which may be practicable, the Dominion of Canada will be steered safely through difficulties, which if they do not actually menace the existence of the Confederation, at all events unfortunately disturb its tranquility, and threaten to become a source of perplexity to British statesmen, and of danger to the British empire.—London Examiner, May 2.

SAD ACCIDENT.

The Danger of Playing with Powder—A Little Girl Killed by a Toy Cannon—A Trying Death.

The festivities of the 25th, while enjoyed by many, have brought sadness to one family in the death of a beautiful little girl of 10 years of age, the daughter of Mr. Ince (?) of the Crown Lands Department. The facts of the case show how careful boys should be in handling firearms of any description, even the ordinary toy cannon, which looks but a trifling weapon, but which is just as deadly a weapon, perhaps, as those of larger calibre. It appears that the girl had been out during the day, and had just returned from a long walk with her father to their house on Richmond-street West. In the neighborhood of the door numbers of boys were playing themselves, firing off crackers and other such like amusements. A group of boys older than many of those about were engaged at the front door of Mr. Ince's house in firing off a miniature cannon, and they had previously warned all the youngsters about not to come near, as there might be danger. The mouth of the cannon was pointed towards Mr. Ince's door, so that the shot would do no harm, even when the cannon was fired. In the hurry and bustle among the boys, the mouth of the cannon was turned from the door, and when fired, the bullet with which it was loaded struck the unfortunate girl in the back of the neck, although she was at the time over seventy feet distant. The ball entered the centre of the back of the neck, shattering, we understand, the spinal marrow, and causing a complete paralysis of the body below the shoulders. She was immediately carried into the house, and Drs. Howson and Aikins were sent for, but of course relief was beyond medical skill. The poor girl was sensible, and, in speaking of the accident, frequently made use of the expression, "I knew that the boys would'nt hurt me." She lingered till this morning, about 8:30 o'clock. A post mortem examination by the medical men shows the above statement of facts to be correct.—Toronto Telegraph.

SOMETHING NEW AND STARTLING.

A Man Proposes to Descend the Niagara Falls in a Life Boat.

The Detroit Free Press says that Charles Ockford, of that city, the sixty-hour skater, has conceived the idea of making the perilous passage over the Falls of Niagara in an India rubber life boat of peculiar construction. A few weeks ago the idea suggested itself to his mind, and upon communicating it to some eastern gentlemen, it was proposed by them that a purse of $30,000 be raised to induce him to make the undertaking. He accordingly perfected his scheme, and the contract for building the boat has been let to the Goodyear Rubber Company for $1,000. The boat will be oblong, with a mean diameter of eight feet six inches thick at the top, and three feet thick at the bottom. A shaft of the same material will extend from side to side in the centre, on which will be swung on a pivot a seat to which the adventurous occupant will be fastened.

Opening at the top will be an aperture sufficiently large for him to get inside, after which it will be filled with air and closed up. It is calculated that sufficient air can be retained to sustain life about twenty minutes. A small cable will be attached to the ball by which it will be towed after the descent shall have been made, for which purpose parties will be stationed in boats immediately below the falls.

The model of this novel craft is now in this city, and there is no doubt that the attempt to carry this startling project into execution will be made during the present season. Mr. Ockford is quite confident that he will succeed, but the chance for success certainly looks dubious. Should he succeed, Mr. Sydney Doty, of Pontiac, will also undertake the same feat.

—Twenty years experience in using Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers have proved them to be the most effectual remedy for coughs, and irritation of the throat, caused by cold, or unusual exertion of the vocal organs; public speakers and singers will find them most beneficial. The entire freedom from all deleterious ingredients renders Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers, or cough and voice Lozenges, a safe remedy for the most delicate person, and has caused them to be held in high esteem by all who have used them. Sold by all medicine dealers at 25 cts. per box.

Physicing Horses.—Many persons physic their horses frequently—especially every spring. This is a great error, and one which has caused the loss of many valuable horses, as physic as it is usually given, often produces inflammation of the bowels which generally proves fatal; it also weakens the horse and thus renders him more liable to disease, or less able to throw it off. What is required is a medicine which will operate gently upon the bowels, and act upon the liver and lungs, removing all obstructions therefrom, purifying the blood and enabling all the organs to do their work without overtaxing any, which is accomplished by the use of "Darley's Arabian Heave Remedy and condition medicine"—it is always safe and certain. Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co. is on each package. Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C.W., proprietors for the Canadas. Sold by all medicine dealers.

Dominion Auction Mart,

AND

Commission Sale Rooms

House, Land & General Agency,

OFFICE & SALE ROOMS.

INGLIS' NEW BUILDINGS, SUSSEX-STREET,

OTTAWA.

THE SUBSCRIBER

Respectfully announces to the inhabitants of Ottawa and surrounding country that at the request of many friends he has decided on opening an extensive and well regulated Auction Mart in this city.

From arrangements made with some of the Furniture Manufactories of Western Ontario, a large and well selected stock of new furniture will be constantly on hand.

Public Sales will be held from time to time, of which due notice will be given, and at which parties requiring to furnish will have an opportunity of purchasing at unusually low rates. The Mart is now open with a large stock of new Furniture, as well as Pianos, Harmoniums, &c., &c., consigned for sale.

The subscriber would also intimate that he is the Sole Agent for Ottawa and territory for the sale of Rappe, Webber & Co.'s celebrated grand Pianos.

They are successors to the late John C. Fox, of Kingston, and the makers of his excellent Pianos.

From their long experience in Germany, Paris, and New York, they are universally admitted to be the best Piano Manufacturers on this continent.

The high reputation of the instruments made by them for the past ten years, and the increasing demand for them in the new Dominion, prove their very superior quality, and universally acknowledged merit.

The Pianos, as well as the Furniture in the establishment, will be sold either by private sale or auction.

He would also announce that he is prepared to receive instructions from persons having household furniture, horses, carriages, or real estate, to dispose of, and pledges himself that nothing will be left undone by him to give satisfaction in discharging the trust confided to him. He hopes that by strict attention to the sales entrusted to his care, as well as by prompt settlements immediately after, to merit a share of public patronage.

He will be in his office from 7 in the morning until 7 in the evening, when he can see parties who wish to arrange about their sales. Consignments from a distance will have immediate attention.

Cash advances, when required, will be made on consignments for immediate sale.

All kinds of furniture bought, sold or exchanged.

TOM THUMB AND HIS FAMILY!

GENERAL TOM THUMB'S TROUPE.

CONSISTING

Of the original, world-renowned GENERAL TOM THUMB, and his beautiful and accomplished little wife, MRS. LAVINIA WARREN STRATTON! that inimitable specimen of wit, skill, agility and comic drollery, COMMODORE NUTT! (known as "$30,000 NUTT,") and his intended wife, the sweet little sprite, MISS MINNIE WARREN.

Positively One Day Only.

AT

HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE,

Friday, May 29th, 1868,

Two Levees at 3 and 8 p.m.

After an absence of three years in Europe, where they have delighted nearly all the Kings, Queens, Emperors, Nobility, and five million citizens of the Old World, these wonderful Lilliputians have returned to their native land, and are giving a few farewell entertainments prior to their final retirement to private life.

They are undoubtedly the most astonishing and delightful wonders of the age. Four beautifully and symmetrically formed ladies and gentlemen in miniature. Graceful, intelligent, witty, educated and refined, exhibiting the most polished manners of the fashionable drawing room, and yet only the size of three year old children!

Their unique and exquisitely enchanting performances and exhibitions never fail to charm and delight every beholder.

Songs, duetts, dances, &c., in characteristic costumes, military exercises, comic imitations and delineations, fantastic orations, dialogues, amusing tricks, classic statues, funny pantomimes and burlesque comedies, enchant the children, delight the ladies, and astonish and please the gentlemen.

The scores of rich and elegant dresses, and the brilliant collection of diamonds worn before the various potentates of Europe, all of which are introduced in these popular levees, cost over twenty thousand dollars in gold.

These little mites of humanity are convgyed to and from their hotel and hall by their beautiful Shetland Ponies and Miniature Carriage attended by Elfin Coachmen and Footmen in Livery.

Ladies and children are considerately advised to attend the day exhibition, and thus avoid the crowd and confusion of the evening performances.

Admission, 25 cents. Children under ten 15 cents. Reserved Seats, 50 cents. Children under ten, 25 cents.

Among the most important of modern Medical Discoveries stands the

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER

de, Back and Head, Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat Sprains, Bruises, Cramps in the Stomach, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery, Bowel Complaints, Burns, Scalds. Frost Bites, &c., &c.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER HAS now been before the public for a length of time, and whenever used is well liked, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single case of dissatisfaction where the directions are properly followed; but on the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its virtues and magical effects.

We speak from experience in this matter, having tested it thoroughly, and therefore those who are suffering from any of the complaints for which it is recommended may depend upon its being a Sovereign Remedy.

The astonishing efficacy of the Canadian Pain Destroyer, in curing diseases for which it is recommended, and its wonderful success in subduing the torturing pains of Rheumatism, and in relieving Nervous Affections, entitle it to a high rank in the list of Remedies for these complaints. Orders are coming in from Medicine Dealers in all parts of the country for further supplies, and each testifying as to the universal satisfaction it gives

The Canadian Pain Destroyer never fails to give immediate relief. All Medicine Dealers keep it Physicians order and use it; and no family will without it after once trying it.

NOTICE.

The subscriber would intimate to those of his customers with whom current accounts may have been opened that it is his intention to take advantage of any irregularity in their payment to close them in order that he may conduct his business totally on the cash principle, which has been found to work much more satisfactorily for both the buyer and seller in every branch of trade in which it has been tried, and relying on quality of his goods and the prices charged for them (which will always be as low as they can honestly be sold for), he solicits a continuance of that patronage heretofore so liberally bestowed upon him.

DALLEY'S

Arabian Heave Remedy

AND CONDITION MEDICINE

IS POSITIVELY SUPERIOR TO ANY or all other preparations for the cure of Heaves, Coughs, Thick and Broken Wind, and all diseases which affect the Wind of Horses; also, as a Condition Medicine, surpassing everything of the kind is easy to give, sure to cure, and safe in all cases and at all times, and does not prevent the horse from being worked while using it.

It cleanses the breathing apparatus, by removing from the air-cells the coagulable lymph, or that secretion which in heaves clogs them, causing a difficulty in breathing, and by its action on the diseased part, causing the mucous membrane to resume its natural dimensions, thus equalising the circulation of the blood, and restoring the distended vessels to their natural size; by its use the horse's appetite is improved, all derangements of the digestive organs corrected, softening the skin, and giving to the coat a sleek and shining appearance.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

For the Government of the European and North American Railway. Approved 29th February, 1868, by His Excellency the Governor-General in Council, under the authority of "An Act respecting the Public Works of Canada," assented to 21st December, 1867.

STATION REGULATIONS.

PASSENGERS

Purchasing their tickets, before entering the cars, will effect a saving of 12 cents.

Passengers must procure tickets at the Ticket Office, and show them to the Station Baggage Master.

To avoid all mistakes, passengers must attend personally to the checking and marking of their baggage; and all baggage will be left at the place designated, when put in the Baggage Car, and must be claimed by the owner on the arrival of the train.

Runners for railroads, boats and hotels, and carters and hackmen, will not be allowed to enter the stations, nor come upon the platforms on the arrival of passenger trains, to solicit or influence passengers, but may stand in such places as directed by the Agent or Police.

Hackmen and Porters, with checks, will be admitted to obtain the luggage; they will also be admitted when taking baggage to the trains.

Hacks, baggage waggons and private carriages must be arranged, in the Station grounds, as directed by the Station Master or Police. Unnecessary noise and obscene and abusive language are strictly forbidden.

Any coachman, hackman or public porter, refusing to leave the Station, or remove his coach, hack, or other vehicle upon being requested so to do by the Superintendent, Station Master, Police, or any other officers of the railway, or shall wilfully obstruct any of the passengers to and from the Station, shall be liable to a fine of two dollars for each and every offence, to be recovered before the Police Magistrate, in such a manner as fines are made recoverable, by an Act for the Regulation of Railways in the Province of New Brunswick, passed 6th April, 1858.

The waiting rooms are for the travelling public only; all other persons will be excluded. No smoking allowed.

No person must be allowed to get into, or upon, or quit, any car, after the train has been put in motion, or until it stops.

Passengers cannot have their baggage checked to any Station, short of their destination, unless that shall be beyond the limits of this railway.

Baggage will not be taken to include money, merchandise, or any other articles than those of personal use.

The railway will not be liable for any baggage or article not given in charge to the railway.

STATION BAGGAGE MASTERS.

No checks to be given to cabmen or omnibus drivers (as such), but only to the passengers themselves, and on no account are passengers to be allowed to take checked baggage into the car with them.

Special care must be taken, not to deliver baggage, without first removing the checks, and obtaining the duplicates from passengers. Any baggage received, the checks and duplicates of which do not correspond, must be reported, forwarding the checks, and naming the Station, whence received, taking a receipt from the owner for the same. When a passenger has lost his duplicate check, baggage must not be given up unless the person claiming it can describe the contents of each package.

Station Masters are required to report immediately any baggage wanted at their Stations, also any baggage that has lain unclaimed twenty-four hours. Baggage, having lain unclaimed fourteen days, to be forwarded to headquarters, properly labelled, showing date received, train, &c.

No baggage to be opened by Agents, except in the presence of owner.

Excess to be charged where passengers have more baggage than the quantity allowed.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS TO CONDUCTORS.

After the train is started the Conductor will have entire charge and control of the train, and all persons employed on it (except when his directions conflict with the rules and regulations, or involve any risk or hazard, in either of which cases all participating will be held alike accountable); the passengers are in his charge, and he is responsible for the safety and regularity of the train, which he must never allow to proceed beyond its regular Station for meeting, until the arrival of the train due, unless otherwise directed.

In the event of any passenger being drunk, or disorderly, to the annoyance of others, he must use all gentle means to stop the nuisance, failing which, he must exercise his authority and restrain or keep him in a separate place until he arrive at the next Station, or further, to a police office, or lock-up, where the passenger must be left, and may be delivered to the Police, and charged with the offence in the usual way.

He must not allow any person to ride on the platforms, or outside the cars, or in the baggage car.

He must prevent passengers endangering themselves by imprudent exposure.

He must not allow the sale of books, papers, or refreshments, in the cars, without permission.

GENERAL ORDERS TO ENGINE DRIVERS.

He shall allow no person to ride on his engine or tender without the permission of those in authority over him.

MAINTENANCE OF WAY AND STRUCTURE.

All persons walking along the line, who are not in the railway service, must be warned off, and in case of non compliance, their names ascertained, and reported to the Trackmaster, or placed under arrest, as the exigencies of the case seem to require.

Animals found straying within the railway fences must be immediately driven off. Farm gates found open must be promptly closed.

All articles found on the track must be promptly sent to the Station Master of the nearest Station.

Copy of a report of a Committee of the Honorable the Privy Council, approved by His Excellency the Governor-General in Council on the 27th of April, 1868.

On a memorandum dated 15th April, 1868, from the Honorable the Minister of Public Works, respecting that on the 29th February last, an order in Council was passed authorizing the adoption of certain rules and regulations for Government of the European and North American Railway, New Brunswick.

That he would now recommend the adoption of tariffs submitted with his report for passengers and freight for the said railway.

The Committee advise that the above mentioned tariffs be adopted.

Certified,
WM. H. LEE,
Clerk Privy Council.

To the Honorable
The Minister of Public Works,
&c., &c.

GENERAL NOTICES & CONDITIONS OF CARRIAGE.

1 This railway will not be accountable for any articles unless the same be signed for as received by a duly authorized Agent.

2 Nor will it be responsible for the loss of or damage done to money, in cash, bills, promissory notes, or securities for money, or jewelry, trinkets, rings, precious stones, gold or silver, manufactured or unmanufactured, gold and silver plate or plated articles, clocks, watches, time-pieces, marble, lace, furs, silks in manufactured or unmanufactured state, and whether wrought up or not wrought up with other materials, writings, title deeds, prints, maps, paintings, engravings, pictures, stamps or other valuables; nor for damage done to china, glass, eggs, wearing apparel, musical instruments, furniture, toys, castings, grindstones, tombstones, slates, or any other such hazardous or brittle articles, in packages or otherwise.

3 Nor will it be responsible for delays from storms or accidents, or damages from the weather, fire, heat, frost, or delay of perishable articles or from civil commotion; nor will it, under any circumstances, be liable for loss of market or other claims arising from delay or detention of any train whether in starting or at any of the Stations, or in the course of the journey. The railway does not undertake to send goods by any particular train, if there be an insufficient number of cars at the Station, or the cars cannot be conveniently used for that purpose, notwithstanding the goods may have been taken to the Station before the hour appointed by the railway.

4 Nor will it be responsible for the loss or damage of any packages insufficiently or improperly marked, packed, directed or described, or containing a variety of articles, liable by breaking to damage each other or other articles; nor for leakage arising from bad casks, or bad cooperage or from fermentation or any other cause beyond the control of the railway.

5 Nor will it be responsible for the loss or damage of any goods put into returned wrappers or boxes, or packages described as "Empties;" nor for any goods directed "to be left until called for," or "to order," warehoused for the convenience of the parties to whom they belong, or by or to whom they are consigned: nor will it, under any circumstances, be accountable for the loss or damage of goods that are not taken away immediately after advice of their arrival has been sent or posted.

6 Goods conveyed at a special or mileage rate, must be loaded or unloaded by the owner or his agents, and the railway will not be responsible for any risk of stowage, loss or damage however caused: nor for any discrepancy in the delivery as to either quantity, number or weight, nor for the condition of articles so carried, nor for detention or delay in the conveyance or delivery of them, however caused.

7 No Agent or Employee of this railway is authorized to take charge of bank notes, money or valuable papers.

8 Senders of dangerous articles will be held accountable for any damage arising therefrom, or thereto, unless the contents are so described upon the direction, that due care may be observed in loading, and in no case will the railway be liable for the loss of any such article.

9 All articles directed to be left at any stopping place or platform where there is no Station House or Goods Warehouse and Agent, will be at the risk of the owner directly they are delivered at such stopping place or platform; and all articles brought there for conveyance will also be at the owner's risk until taken into the cars.

10 Fresh fish, fruit, meat, poultry, oysters and other perishable articles, are conveyed only at the owner's risk, and the freight must be pre-paid.

11 When goods are intended, after being carried by this railway, to be forwarded by some other conveyance to their final destination, the responsibility of this railway will cease as soon as the goods are delivered to such other conveyance, and it is to be distinctly understood that such goods are received by the railway only on these conditions.

12 Storage will be charged on all goods remaining in the Stations over 48 hours after their arrival at the rate of twenty-five cents per barrel bulk, per month, and when stored no deduction will be made from this rate for Goods remaining in store for a less time than one month.

13 Demurrage at the rate of two dollars per car, per day, will be charged on all cars not unloaded within thirty-six hours after arrival, exclusive of Sundays, provided the same are loaded with goods liable to be unloaded by the owner or consignee; the railway reserving the right to discharge the same at the expense of the owner or consignee; at any time after the expiration of such 36 hours.

14 No claim whatever, for loss or damage will be allowed unless notice in writing is given to the Station Agent before the goods are removed.

15 No charge less than twenty cents will be made for any single package or consignment.

16 No goods will be delivered until all charges against them are paid, and the railway will not be accountable for the correctness of any "back charges" on goods, &c., by other companies, conveyances or individuals.

17 Vehicles are carried only at the owner's risk of damage from fire, weather and all other contingencies.

18 Machines or articles very long or bulky which require one or more cars to be taken especially to convey them, will be charged at full car rates.

19 Barley, corn, hay, oats, oysters, potatoes, rye, salt, wheat and dry fish, in bulk, and bricks, clay, coals, coke, grindstones, limestones, ores, sand and stone, chains and chain cables, pig and scrap iron, and all other articles of a similar character, and lumber, must be loaded and unloaded by the owner thereof, or at his expense. Double rates will be charged for overloading.

20 The railway will have a lien on all goods transported over the same for freight and charges thereon, as well as for any balance which may be previously due for freight, &c., by the owner or consignee, and the said goods will be liable to be sold by public auction for the payment of the charges thereon, and other balances which may be due.

21 Top wharfage at the customary rates will be charged on all goods landed on the railway wharves at Moncton, Shediac and St. John, except in cases where the goods are to be forwarded by this railway.

22 Rates of wharfage to be charged at railway wharves at St. John and Point DuChesne—except in cases where the vessel using the wharf is lying to load or unload goods brought by or to be carried by the railway, or for the purpose of unloading ballast for the use of the railway—vessels in all cases are to lie where directed by the wharfinger or agent for the time being:

For every decked vessel or woodboat of the burthen of 40 tons or under 30 cents per day, above 40 tons and under 50, 35 cts. above 50 and under 60, 40 cents, above 60 and under 70, 45 cents, above 70 and under 80, 50 cents, above 80 and under 90, 55 cents, above 90 and under 100, 60 cents, above 100 and under 120, 70 cents, above 120 and under 150, 80 cents, above 150 and under 180, 90 cents, above 180 and under 200, $1, above 200 and under 220, $1.10, above 220 and under 240, $1.20, above 240 and under 260, $1.30, above 260 and under 280, $1.40, above 280 and under 300, $1.50, above 300 and under 320, $1.50, above 320 and under 340 $1.70, above 340 and under 360, $1.80, above 360 and under 380, $1.90. above 380 and under 400, $2, above 400 and under 450, $2.25, above 450 and under 500, $2.50, and 25 cents for each additional 50 tons.

23 Live stock, when carried by the car load, will be charged at the rate of 25 cents per car, per mile, but no charge less in amount than six dollars will be made for a car.

24 All Live Stock carried over this railway must be loaded and discharged by the owner or his agent, and is to be under his sole care, and in all respects at his risk then and during transit. Any food furnished will be at his expense, and halters are to be provided by him when necessary. One drover will be allowed to pass free (second class) when accompanying his stock for the purpose of taking care of it, and paying the full price of the car load.

25 The loading of Sawn Lumber will be limited to 5000 superficial feet of hard or 8000 superficial feet of soft wood per car. The loading of hardwood logs and timber will be limited to 7½ tons of 40 cubic feet, and of softwood logs and timber to 10 tons of 40 cubic feet, per car. Pine, hemlock and spruce will be reckoned as soft, and all other kinds as hard. Owners overloading will be charged double rates in every instance. The quantities mentioned as being the load for one car, will not be considered as applicable to lumber, which by reason of its length requires for its conveyance two or more cars. Scantling, sawn or hewn, and ship or deck plank, or other long lumber, must not be piled higher than the tariff quantity of the same description of goods would reach it upon car. In the absence of survey bills deals will not be permitted to be laden above twelve tiers high. Cedar poles must not be laden more than five feet high, and must be properly secured with ropes to prevent spreading. Derricks by means of which cars are sometimes laden must not in any instance be erected upon the car.

26 Hay can only be conveyed in box cars.

27 Lumber will be taken to mean timber, deals, boards, plank, shipstuff, cordwood, tanbark, fence or hoop poles, box shooks, clapboards, staves, logs, laths, shingles, railway sleepers, spars and all other similar products of the forests. It must in all cases be properly and safely laden upon the cars, and must not project over the ends of the cars nor must cross grained wood be used for stakes In the event of the owner neglecting or refusing to obey the directions of the Station Master or other person authorized by the Superintendent in relation thereto, the load will be reduced, if necessary, to bring it within the quantity prescribed for a car load, and afterwards so secured as to make it entirely safe for transportation. The expense of doing this being charged against the goods.

28 When lumber is put upon one car care must be taken to have a stake placed near the centre of the length in addition to the others, so as to prevent its being dependent on only two stakes; and when the load is of logs or small round timber, or such other description of lumber as tends to settle and thus produce increased strain upon the stakes, chains or ropes must be used about one-third of the height from the top of the load to bind it, and where entire safety cannot be otherwise secured, skids to separate the ties must also be used.

29 Long lumber extending over two or more cars must be bound by chains or large ropes. It must not be "bound" by the stakes, but loaded on "bunks" that it may "play" or "swivel" freely.

30 Lumber will be carried only at the convenience of the railway, and at the risk of the owner.

31 Cars laden with lumber will not be allowed to stand over to give owners or consignees choice of positions at the receiving station when other berths are unoccupied.

32 In loading Cordwood sticks must be placed at the edges of the car for the outer ends of the wood to rest upon, that it may tend, when piled, towards the centre. Green Hardwood must not be piled higher than three feet, and Dry not higher than four feet. The stakes used must be green spruce or straight hardwood of sufficient thickness.

33 Cars left at Stations or Sidings to fill requisitions, will be subject to demurrage after twenty-four hours, and if not loaded within sixteen hours thereafter, (in both cases exclusive of Sunday) they may be handed over or removed to fill other requisitions.

34 Stations being often obstructed by deposits of lumber of various kinds, and the ordinary business of the Station being thereby incommoded; notice is hereby given that in such cases the obstructions will be removed, and the cost of such removal, in addition to yardage, at the rate of one dollar per car load per day, will form a charge against the lumber. Notice will given to the owner or consignee that its removal is required before a certain time, and the charges will commence immediately on the expiration of such time. When the charges have accumulated so as to amount to half the value of the lumber it will be sold at Public Auction, after given ten days public notice of such sale.

35 Lumber and other goods will be received only at Sidings; unless by previous arrangement it is shown to the satisfaction of the Superintendent, that sufficient for a full train load of ten cars will be so placed that it can readily be laden with the assistance of an engine. A charge of $2 50 per hour will be made when the engine is detained more than three hours in addition to the usual rate per car, per mile, calculated from the Siding next beyond.

36 To avoid errors in invoicing loaded cars at Outsidings owners should fasten a ticket upon the side of the car, stating to whom the load belongs and to whom and where it is consigned.

37 When goods are required to be loaded by the owner or his agent, or at his expense, all fittings (such as stakes, bunks, skids, chains, ropes, &c., for lumber and sideboards for coal, sand, bricks, clay, stone, manganese, grain or articles of a similar character), must be provided by him, or will be charged to him if furnished by the railway. Such fittings will be transported back free, if necessary, but at the owner's risk.

38 When cars, liable to be laden or unladen by the owner or consignee of the goods, have been once placed, and for the convenience of the owner or at his request, are shifted to finish at another berth in the same Station Yard, a charge of one dollar per car will be made for such service.

39 Car loads of Lumber taken from any Station or Siding not named in the table of rates, will be charged twenty cents per car, per mile, for the additional distance beyond the Station named in the table; but in no case will the whole charge made be less than four dollars per car.

40 Full carloads of either bricks, cement, coal, chains, chain cables and anchors, grindstones, hay, household removals and furniture of all kinds, iron knees, pig, scrap and bar iron, lime, limestone, manure, mill and burr stones, molasses, oil, ores, outfits for, and products of the fisheries, plaster, rigging, fitted, salt, sand, sawdust, slate, straw, sugar, to one address, may be transported at the rate of twenty cents per car, per mile—no less charge than four dollars being made; and full carloads of beef, salted, in barrels, eggs, in barrels, flour and meal, in barrels, flaxseed, in barrels, pork, in barrels, to one address, may be transported at the rate of twenty-five cents, per car, per mile—no less charge than six dollars being made. Goods thus carried, must be laden and unladen by the owner or his agent, and will be at his risk then and during transit, and the entire load must consist solely of one of the articles mentioned.

41 Special arrangements may be made under certain extraordinary circumstances.

42 If the owner or owners, or his or their agent shall not, within five days after the arrival of the goods at the place of destination, pay the freight and any other charges due thereon, and take possession of and remove such articles from the railway premises, the Superintendent, by order of the Commissioners, may sell or cause the same to be sold at public auction, after giving ten days public notice of such sale, and having deducted all charges due, with the expenses of the sale and all other incidental expenses, he shall pay the surplus if any, to the owner, on application.

43 Cars cannot be hired to load cattle or goods of any kind, with the privilege of loading up at different Stations; and in no case can drovers be permitted to go free except when they have, at least, one full car load from one Station, and then they can pass only from that Station.

44 The loading of box cars is limited to 18,000 lbs weight, and of platform cars to 20,000 lbs weight per car.

45 Articles not specified in the classification will be charged the same rate as similar or analogous articles.

46 Special Rates.—The rates between St. John and Shediac or Point Du Chesne, for the following goods in the quantities named, to one address will be:—

Oats, in quantities of 500 bushels of 2,151 cubic inches each, 4 cents per bushel.

Barley, in quantities of 360 bushels of 2,151 cubic inches each, 5½ cents per bushel.

Potatoes and turnips, in quantities of 360 bushels of 2,747 cubic inches each, 5½ cents per bushel.

Wheat, in quantities of 300 bushels of 2,151 cubic inches, 7 cents per bushel.

Salt, in quantities of 250 bushels of 2,151 cubic inches, 8 cents per bushel.

Measurement is to be made when being loaded. In case of dispute, the load, before bulk is broken will be weighed upon the railway track scales, and the result divided by the mean weight of five bushels, is to be considered conclusive.

Fish, pork and beef, salted in barrels, in quantities of 60 barrels, and upwards, 30 cents per barrel.

Dried fish, in quantities of 160 quintals, and upwards, 12½ cents per quintal.

Flour and meal, in barrels, in quantities of from 90 to 500 barrels, 20 cents per barrel.

Flour and meal, in barrels, in quantities of 500 barrels and upwards, 15 cents per barrel.

47 Cargoes of the undermentioned articles will be carried in carloads to one address, from Point du Chesne to Saint John, at the following rates:—

Stone, ores and coals	$1 50 per ton.
Deals	2 00 per M. sup. ft.

48 Preserved salmon or other fish, in boxes or cans, in any quantity, from the fisheries in the Gulf of Saint Lawrence, or rivers or bays in Prince Edward Island or Northern New Brunswick, or vinegar for the fisheries, from Saint John, will be rated 4th class.

49 A portion of the area of a car may be freighted exclusively for the benefit of any party, at the rates per square foot fixed for the carriage of 3rd class articles per hundred pounds.

50 This tariff is to come in operation on the seventh day of June, 1867, after which date all previous rates and conditions shall be and are hereby cancelled. 751tf

The Ottawa Times

FRIDAY, MAY 29, 1868.

The Act passed at the late Session respecting fishing by foreign vessels, if judiciously enforced, will remove a fruitful source of complaint among the fishermen of the Dominion, particularly in the Maritime Provinces. Since the abrogation of the Reciprocity Treaty American fishermen have continued to fish in the best grounds, both in the Bay of Fundy, and the Gulf of St. Lawrence, while a heavy duty has been exacted in American ports on fish caught in the same waters by subjects of the Dominion. The injustice of this has been sorely felt by our fishermen, for the practice is in direct violation of the convention between His late Majesty, King George the Third, and the United States, made and signed at London on the 20th day of October, 1818. By the Reciprocity Treaty of 1854, fish, among other articles, was admitted into the United States free of duty, and American fishermen were allowed to participate in our fisheries without any restriction as to distance from the shore. By the abrogation of the treaty in 1865, the Americans forfeited this right, but have continued to exercise it, to the great injury of our own fishermen, who reasonably complained that while the Americans continued to participate in our best fisheries, a heavy duty was imposed upon the fish caught by our fishermen in the same waters.

In the spring of 1867 a license of 50 cents per ton was exacted from all American vessels found fishing within the limits prescribed by the Convention of 1818. The amount of this license was manifestly too small to be an equivalent for the privilege granted, though small as it was vessels frequenting our waters generally evaded it.

The Act recently passed gives power to the Governor in Council to grant licenses to foreign vessels to fish within three miles of the coasts of the Dominion, and certain British and Canadian officers have power to board vessels hovering in our waters within this limit, and if not provided with a license, such vessels may be required to depart within twenty-four hours, in default of which, such officers may take the vessel into port, search her cargo, and examine the master upon oath touching the cargo and voyage. If he refuses to answer the questions put to him in such examination, he shall forfeit the sum of $400, and if the vessel shall have been fishing without a license, within three marine miles of any of the coasts, bays, creeks or harbors of the Dominion, she shall be forfeited, and sold at auction, or destroyed, as the Governor in Council may decide.

The enforcement of the provisions of this Act will be a boon to our fishermen, as it will place them more on equality with Americans, and will enable them to compete with the latter upon more favorable and equitable terms in the American markets. It will also show the American people that in demanding the cessation of the Reciprocity Treaty they have incurred the greatest loss, and it will, we have no doubt, eventually lead to the re-enactment of the Treaty upon terms more equitable to the Dominion. The Americans cannot do without our fish, and the Act now under notice will deprive them of the unfair advantage they have of late had over our own fishermen. We anticipate the best results from the judicious enforcement of its several provisions. Already the subject has engaged the attention of Congress. A Committee has been appointed to enquire into, and report upon, the advisability of renewing the Reciprocity Treaty, and we trust, at no distant day, a fair and equitable arrangement will be made, satisfactory and beneficial to both parties.

INSPECTION OF THE 43rd BATTALION VOLUNTEER INFANTRY.

The 43rd battalion was inspected by Majors Bearman and Seale, and Adjutant-General Falls, on the 25th instant, Her Majesty's Birthday. The several Companies of the Battalion turned out in force, averaging forty men per Company. They were minutely inspected, as the Battalion has received orders to hold itself in readiness in case their services should be required on the frontier.

The Inspecting Officers expressed to the several Captains their gratification at the efficiency and order of the companies, and urged upon them the necessity of increased diligence in drill as their services might be required at any moment. Lt.-Col. Powell may well feel proud of commanding the gallant 43rd Battalion, for a finer body of young men cannot be found in Canada. We hope that ere the Battalion is called on to take the field, the ladies of the county will see that a proper set of colors is presented to them—around which they may rally in the hour of danger.

CELEBRATION OF HER MAJESTY'S BIRTHDAY IN THE VILLAGE OF METCALFE.

The 25th inst. was observed by the inhabitants of Metcalfe, in a becoming manner.

The morning broke dull and cloudy, but about 9 o'clock, the sun shone down with all its glory, arousing the village to the business of the day. The volunteers in their scarlet uniforms might be seen wending their way to their armory to don their accoutrements and shoulder their rifles in honor of Her Majesty.

At 10 o'clock, all had assembled and were marched up to a large field owned by W. Doctor, Esq., when they were inspected by Major Seale, 43rd Battalion, who inspected them very minutely, as the Battalion had received orders to hold themselves in readiness in case their services should be required. At 12 o'clock, noon, the Company fired a feu de joie, and gave three rousing British cheers for Her Majesty, which would have struck terror into any Fenian who might have been skulking among the crowd of villagers and yeomen of the county, assembled to witness the inspection. Quite a crowd of the fair sex appeared on the ground to encourage by their presence the gallant young fellows who appeared in all the glorious pomp of scarlet coats, to honor their Queen, and render her service in the field whenever it should be required. The Company were then put through a variety of Company and Light Infantry movements by their officers. Before leaving the ground Major Seale expressed himself much pleased at the appearance of the men, and the manner in which they acquitted themselves. At one o'clock the officers entertained the men at dinner at York's Hotel, when the health of Her Majesty was drank with all the honors. The afternoon was spent by the villagers in different sorts of games—lacrosse among the number; and in the evening the Metcalfe Dramatic Club entertained their friends with a performance at the Victoria Hall. The club is composed of a number of youths belonging to the village, and they deserve great credit for the manner in which they acquitted themselves. A torch-light procession, numbering about two hundred, and headed by the Highland pipes, paraded the streets of the village, and afterwards proceeded to the residence of Capt. Morgan, where a grand display of fireworks took place, and thus ended the Queen's Birthday celebration at Metcalfe.

Capt. Morgan deserves great praise for his exertions to make the day pass off in a proper and becoming manner. He was the ruling spirit throughout the day, and spared no pains in amusing and entertaining the people of the surrounding country.

POLICE COURT.

Armstrong Hackett, whose case was adjourned from the previous day, was charged with interfering with the police in the discharge of their duty on the Queen's Birthday. The facts were that a prisoner had been arrested for fighting in the yard of Brown's tavern, Rideau-st., when defendant tried to take him away. Hackett was also disorderly, and making a great noise. Fined five dollars and costs.

His Worship the Mayor entered and took a seat on the bench.

John McGillivray, drunk ; fined $2 and costs.

Thomas Longan also drunk, found lying on the street ; fined $2 and costs.

Wm. Hess, drunk on the street ; fined $2 and costs.

Ann McStravick, similar offence ; has no settled home, but lives wherever she can. His Worship said it was a painful thing to send an old woman like her to jail. She was remanded till this morning.

Edward Huston, another drunken case, found on the street near the Post Office. Another charge was preferred against him for using insulting language to John Cahill, tavern keeper, of whom prisoner demanded a drink, and on being refused, called him a Yankee Fenian.

Mr. Cahill said that since he came to that corner, Gouldthrite's old stand, remarks of the same kind had been made by several, and he had determined on suing one person for libel for such assertions. Defendant was fined $2 and costs.

The Assault on Turner.

In the case of Robert Hilliard, Patrick Lowney and John Gleeson for assaulting Alexander Turner, Mr. Buckley, counsel for the prisoners, asked for an adjournment in consequence of the absence of an important witness. It being understood, however, that the witness would arrive the case was proceeded with. Mr. Buckley then asked that the witnesses for the prosecution should leave the court, but the magistrate would not give an order to that effect, but said they might go out if they choose. His Worship then asked the prisoners if they desired that he should try the case summarily, and was answered in the affirmative.

The charge being read over to them they pleaded "Not Guilty."

Alex. Turner sworn, examined by O'Neill—I live at the Revere House ; am a witness against Whelan ; on last Monday night I was at a dance at the Canadian Hotel, Sussex street ; I recognise the three prisoners ; Hilliard spoke to me and said he had something to say to me ; I had then a lady on my arm dancing ; it was then about eleven o'clock ; he said he wanted me to go outside ; I immediately went to him and asked what he wanted to say ; he said "Go on with this dance and come afterwards ;" he spoke to me again when I was dancing and said you b——r I want to speak to you outside ; I then went to the bar to get my revolver where I had left it ; the dancing room communicates with the bar by a hall leading from one to the other ; after Hilliard spoke first, I saw him whispering to Gleeson and five or six others ; that was in the ball room ; when I went to the dance first these men were not present, or I would not have entered ; I went to get my revolver, because I heard my name mentioned ; after I got the pistol in my pocket Hilliard came after me and said, "Give me the goblet you have put in your pocket ;" I said I have no goblet in my pocket. He said "You are a liar," and then he picked up a goblet, and said, "You are a liar," and raising his hand with the goblet in it said, if you don't give it to me I will knock "your bloody brains out." He then put his hand on my pocket, as if to take it out, but he knew it was not a goblet. The prisoner (Hilliard) then calmed down and invited me to go outside. I told him if he had anything to say, to say it there ; he said no, he did not want to be seen speaking with me. I spoke to him again and said he might tell me what he had to say there ; I went about ten paces outside the door on the platform, and again said, "Tell me what you have to tell me here ;" but he wanted me to go further. I saw two men who had been with him before on the opposite side of the street, on the corner of Sussex and St. Patrick streets. I then saw something very peculiar in prisoner's manner, and refused to go a step further. I said if you have anything to tell me, tell me here. I had my hand on my pistol all the time. The prisoner said I know you ; you are the witness against Whelan. I then grasped my pistol firmer ; it was in my coat pocket. He then took hold of my collar and wanted me to come on further ; this was about 50 or 60 yards from the hotel. By this time there were about twenty or thirty persons there ; after he took hold of my collar a lot of them immediately came up. There was no noise to attract them. About twelve came up and spoke to the prisoner, when I became alarmed and thought my life in danger. I did not see Lowney speaking to prisoner. I pulled out my revolver and cocked it, and would have shot him if he had put his hand on my throat again. Prisoner said, Turner, I did not mean you any harm. I then placed my back against the wall to face my assailants. When everything seemed to be over, I went to the hotel to get my cap, and when in the hall between the dancing room and the bar, Hilliard ran after me, and got hold of me against the wall by the neck nearly choking me whilst another had hold of me behind ; that was Lowney. He wore a fireman's red jacket ; I turned round, and saw him as soon as I was released by the hotel keeper. Several others had red jackets. Hilliard kept me against the wall for about two minutes ; I then made a rush to go out and found Lowney at the door, I asked him to let me out, but he said he could not, though there was no one to prevent him ; a tall man in a light suit dashed at me and attacked me, when Mr. Cameron interfered and rescued me. Hilliard attacked me, while Lowney held the door to prevent me from going out. After I got out of the hotel, and while about a hundred paces away, I waited for my cap to be brought by a friend of my own. When he left me I saw a man run from the opposite side of the street towards me, and I heard him say, "Here's the b——r, Pat." I then ran towards York street ; near York street I fell, and the man who still followed me kicked me while I was down. The man who kicked me had on a rowdy hat, and a light pair of pants, and long black coat. He was about five feet ten inches in height. When I got up to the Russell House I fell down and fainted. I afterwards went and called you (O'Neill) out of bed, and proceeded to the dancing place and pointed the prisoners out to you, when you arrested them. Lowney did not strike me but held the door. I had no quarrel with any one in the house that night, and the prisoners were strangers to me.

Cross-examined by Mr. Buckley—I came to Ottawa in November, 1867, and have been living as head waiter at the Revere House in this city. I have left there now ; left of my own accord. I am now doing nothing. I am not married. I carry a revolver and am authorized to do so since the affair of Whelan. I went to the dance on the Queen's Birthday with two men who had worked for me, named William and Charles Barr. I paid fifty cents at the door to go in. I had drank three or four glasses of ale during the day. I was in the ball room half an hour before I saw Hilliard. When he came up to me he tapped me on the shoulder and said he wanted to speak to me. I had never seen him before I took out the pistol twice, but not till I was outside. It was not in my pocket in the ball room, I had left it at the bar because I did not wish to have it about me there. I never heard the girl I was dancing with was Hilliard's girl.

To O'Neill—She lives at the Russell House and can be produced.

To Mr. Buckley—I was at the Russell House about 12 o'clock. I took out my revolver there to hand it to a gentleman who was going to take me home.

The examination was then adjourned to 3 o'clock, p. m.

Afternoon Session.

At 3 o'clock His Worship the Mayor and Mr. O'Gara took their seats on the bench.

Alexander Turner was re-called and re-examined by O'Neill to the following effect :—I saw Hilliard whisper to Gleeson and point me out to him in the passage ; Hilliard there seized me by the throat putting his fingers inside of my shirt collar and tearing it, and another caught hold of my hair from behind. Two or three others got hold of my revolver in my pocket, but I don't who they were. I saw all three of the prisoners around me at the time ; none of them attempted to make peace.

To Mr. Buckley—I drew my pistol and would have shot Hilliard if he had attacked me again ; it was cocked and ready to fire. The girl with whom I was dancing was not known to Hilliard, nor did she know him, and she was not in any way connected with the difficulty. Hilliard did not know that I had a pistol until I showed it to him when I pointed it in his face. When I went out I had no hat on. My suspicions that he had foul intentions towards me were aroused by his addressing me, an entire stranger, and inviting me to go out. I did not swear in the morning that neither of the prisoners touched me. I said they did not strike me, but that Hilliard put his fingers inside of my shirt collar and tried to choke me. Before I took out my revolver Hilliard tried to throttle me. Hilliard had on dark clothes at the time like those he wears now, and wore a rowdy hat with a broad brim.

To His Worship—I can't say that either Lowney or Gleeson attacked me, but Lowney prevented me from getting out of the door when I was attacked by the man in light clothes. I should say they were connected with those who assaulted me.

David Gingras sworn—I am a servant at the Russell House ; I was passing the hotel where the dance was on Monday night, and saw Turner going into the ball-room, when Hilliard ran after him into the passage, and seized him by the throat and held him against the wall. Turner wanted to get out of the door but Lowney was against it, and there were several persons pressing behind him. Am not sure that Lowney was able to get away from the door to let it open, if he tried. When the persons against the door drew back, Turner ran out without his cap ; I went in to get his cap, but could not find it.

To Mr. Buckley—I only know Turner by his being at the Russell House, where he was for some time a waiter. Don't know why he left, nor how long he was there. Don't know the prisoners by name. On the night of the ball saw Hilliard and Gleeson at the bar of the Canada Hotel. Saw no fight, but saw Hilliard try to choke Turner.

Wm. A. Cameron sworn—On Monday night I went into the ball, and at the same time Gleeson went in. When I entered I saw Hilliard having hold of Turner by the throat. Hilliard said Turner had a pistol, and Gleeson said if he has let us take it from him, and took hold of him. All of them took hold of him, that is Hilliard, Gleeson and another person not here. I saw Lowney ; he was dressed in fireman's uniform, but did not see him touch Turner. I got Turner away and afterwards Hilliard told me that he had pointed a revolver at him, and wanted to have him arrested for it. Hilliard mentioned to me that Turner was the witness against Whelan, but this was after the trouble.

To Mr. Buckley—Hilliard asked me if I saw Turner point a revolver at him and I said no. He also spoke to me about getting him arrested. Hilliard's character is that he drinks a little, and then he is pretty wild, but in other respects he is a pretty nice fellow. He wore black clothes that night, the same as he wears now.

John Neill sworn—I am a Government policeman. I have known Turner only since the 7th of this month ; my instructions are to keep my eye upon him lest he should be molested. I knew Turner was at the ball, and I went there about ten o'clock. Some time in the evening I heard a row and went outside, when I saw Turner standing at the corner surrounded by a number of men, and I told them to come in. Turner wished me to go in for his cap which he did, but he could not find it. He afterwards saw him in the passage pointing his revolver at Hilliard, and heard him say "If you touch me again I'll put this through your brains," I told Turner to put the revolver by that there was no need of it. Hilliard made a rush at his throat and said I want that revolver from you. Others, whom I don't recognize, were behind him. I took hold of Hilliard and pushed him on one side and he asked me why Turner carried a revolver, I said, perhaps, he was authorised to do so, and that if he liked he could lodge a complaint against him.

To Mr. Buckley—I have been in this city about two months ; I am instructed to watch Turner lest he should be molested ; that is not the whole of my duty. After he left the ball, I went to enquire for him at the Revere House, but he was not in. Being asked by Mr. Buckley where Turner lived now, the Magistrate told witness not to answer the question.

This was the case for the Crown.

Mr. Buckley said he would call no witnesses. He contended that though the charge of an assault had been in a measure proven against Hilliard, there was no evidence to connect the other prisoners with it. And the attempt made to show that the assault had been premeditated for the purpose of preventing Turner from being a crown witness against Whelan, had failed. Their Worships then retired, and in half an hour returned. Mr. O'Gara, after making some remarks on the case, sentenced Hilliard to be imprisoned for one week, and to pay a fine of $20, or to remain in jail one month longer. Gleeson to pay $5, and Lowney to be discharged.

THE ORDER OF THE BATH.

To the Editor of THE TIMES.

Dear Sir,—In the brightly colored picture of the prorogation of Parliament, which you gave in your paper of Saturday, a slight mistake occurred in relation to the above, which perhaps you will permit me to correct. In speaking of the gay appearance of Ministers, you mention "the scarlet ribbon of the Bath." Now, as these honorable gentlemen necessarily belong to the civil class of the order, the ribbon they wear is blue, members of the military class being alone entitled to the red ribbon, which forms the distinguishing type of the two classes.

I am, dear sir,
A Constant Reader.

Messrs. Young & Radford having secured the services of first-class working jewellers in etruscan, filagree, plain, fancy and solid gold work, and having made large additions to their work shop are now better prepared to execute any orders with which they may be entrusted than heretofore. Masonic jewels gold and silver medals, and every kind of gold and silver work done on the shortest possible notice. Remember the place, 30 Sparks-st., and encourage home manufacture.

CORRECTION.

To the Editor of THE TIMES.

Dear Sir,—On behalf of the Prescott Lacrosse Club I wish you would make a distinction between the Prescott Club and the Grenville Club of Prescott. From the remarks in your issue of this morning, people are led to believe that it was the members of the Prescott Club, who acted so ungentlemanly towards the Boys' Club of Ottawa.

The Prescott Club played an exhibition game in Prescott, on the 25th May. The members of the Grenville Club have no connection whatever with the Prescott Club.

Hoping you will make the necessary correction in your next issue,

I remain yours, &c.,

THE LATE LACROSSE MATCH.

To the Editor of THE TIMES.

Sir,—Permit me, as Secretary of the Ottawa Union Lacrosse Club, to correct a few errors which appeared in the Times of the 26th inst., in regard to the match played on the 25th, between the above club and the Grenville Lacrosse Club of Prescott.

In the first place, there were only three, and not four, games played, the first of which was won by the "Union," and not the "Grenville," the second by the latter, and the third by the former. This left Ottawa in the possession of the field, but the last game being disputed by the Prescott players, it was left to the umpires, who, after having called in the referee, decided in favor of the Ottawa players, who were still willing to play out the match with Prescott, but the latter refused.

The second point which we, in justice to the "Grenville Club," must refute, is the roughness of their playing. In reality, there was only one of them who played so throughout the whole match, and one or two others who did so occasionally.

I may also state that, after the game was over, the players adjourned to the Revere House, where the "Union" entertained their Prescott friends to a dinner, prepared as Messrs. Sanger & Bucke know how, of which nearly forty votaries of this most noble game partook. After having heartily discussed the viands, the "Grenville" started for home, accompanied to the depot by the "Union," the greatest good feeling prevailing on both sides.

By giving publicity to the above facts, you will preserve the good feeling which exists between the two clubs until we meet again upon the green sward.

Yours, &c.,
Thos. G. Rathwell,
Secy.-Treas.,

Auction Sale To-day.—Remember the auction sale at Tackaberry's auction rooms, 36 Rideau street, to come off at 2 o'clock, p.m.

Auction Sale in Montreal.—Parties in the crockery trade should remember the sale of white ware, crockery, &c., in Montreal, by John Leeming. The sale comes off to-day.

The season for muslin dresses and lace shawls being close at hand, ladies should see the great variety of novelties at Magee and Russell's

Fine coral jewellery, bog oak jewellery and a large collection of other goods suitable for wedding and other presents can be seen at Young & Radford's ; all new and choice goods and will be sold cheap.

Hardware.—T. Birkett's hardware store, No 24, Rideau-st, as will be seen by our advertising columns, is now supplied with everything necessary for the spring trade, "from a needle to an anchor," of the best quality and at as cheap rates as any store in the city.

Tom Thumb.—The wonderful Tom Thumb party arrive here to-day, and will exhibit at the Theatre, at 3 p. m., and 8 p. m. No one should neglect this opportunity of seeing the celebrated Liliputian party, as in all probability this will be their last visit to Ottawa.

Card of Thanks.—The lady managers of the St. Patrick's Orphan Asylum, take their earliest opportunity to return thanks to the citizens of Ottawa, for their liberal patronage of the bazaar in aid of the Building Fund of that institution—the nett proceeds having realized the handsome sum of $1,200, with edibles to the amount of $15 from the refreshment table, which was given over to the Sisters for the use of the orphans. They also desire to acknowledge the courtesy of Mr. Cotton, of the Times, for his kindness in the furtherance of the good York. Marianne McCarthy, Secretary.

—Flounces are now the rage in Paris. As many as thirty-six are to be put on muslin dresses, and moreover, the flounces are to be of Valenciennes. Valenciennes is also fashionable on silks, to the great dismay of husbands and fathers, who have to foot the bills. Bonnets, however, are growing smaller, if possible.

—A paper describing Mr. Jefferson Davis' passage through Baltimore takes special care to say "he was dressed in male attire." This, on the part of the writer, is either foolish or spiteful—qualities neither of which is adapted to the duties of the press, and to remove or correct which, the man should be handed over to the treatment of our Signor Gianelli.

Carpets and House Furnishings.—Garland Mutchmor & Co. make this department a speciality. They have just received a large stock and invite the attention of parties furnishing to it. Purchasers will find their tock in this department second to none in Ottawa. 582-y

Good Signs.—It is a good sign to see a man doing an act of charity to his fellows. It is a good sign to see the color of health in a man's face. It is a good sign to see an honest man wearing old clothes, and the immense sales of the "Canadian Pain Destroyer," is a good sign that it is a scientific preparation, and properly appreciated by the people. Sold everywhere at 25cts. per bottle.

—Twenty years experience in using Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers have proved them to be the most effectual remedy for coughs, and irritation of the throat, caused by cold, or unusual exertion of the vocal organs ; public speakers and singers will find them most beneficial. The entire freedom from all deleterious ingredients renders Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers, or cough and voice Lozenges, a safe remedy for the most delicate person, and has caused them to be held in high esteem by all who have used them. Sold by all medicine dealers at 25 cts. per box.

Physicing Horses.—Many persons physic their horses frequently — especially every spring. This is a great error, and one which has caused the loss of many valuable horses, as physic as it is usually given, often produces inflammation of the bowels which generally proves fatal ; it also weakens the horse and thus renders him more liable to disease, or less able to throw it off. What is required is a medicine which will operate gently upon the bowels, and act upon the liver and lungs, removing all obstructions therefrom, purifying the blood and enabling all the organs to do their work without overtaxing any, which is accomplished by the use of "Darley's Arabian Heave Remedy and condition medicine"—it is always safe and certain. Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co. is on each package. Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C.W., proprietors for the Canadas. Sold by all medicine dealers.

The total cost will be $2,200,000.

—The Prussian military chemists have succeeded in precipitating the explosive liquid known as nitro-glycerine, and in reducing it to a solid. The advantage of this transformation is, that its combustibility is considerably diminished, whilst the explosive force remains the same, and it is thus rendered more manageable and better fitted for military purposes. Shells filled with it fired from guns of moderate calibre, are said to have smashed the strongest cuirass that ever yet protected the sides of an iron cased ship.

—A short time back cries of help were heard on one of the quays of Paris from a man who was drowning in the Seine. A young workman who was passing quickly threw off his blouse and waistcoat with a watch in the pocket, and plunged in to give aid ; but while engaged in this act of devotedness a thief stole the articles hastily thrown down. The workman naturally thought this a hard return for his good action in saving the man's life, but a few days after he received a magnificent gold watch with the Imperial arms engraved on the back. It came from the Emperor Napoleon, who had learned of the occurrence.

Death of an Old Printer.—Mr. Martin Thorpe, one of the oldest printers in this city, died at the residence of Capt. J. Hebbard yesterday morning. Mr. Thorpe was born at Catskill in the year 1811. He came to Buffalo in 1836, and for a number of years was foreman of the Star. In 1849 he removed to Ashtabula and became one of the proprietors of the Ashtabula Telegraph, but he returned to Buffalo in 1850, and since that time, until within two months, he has held the commercial case on the Commercial Advertiser. Mr. Thorpe was a kind-hearted, genial man, and universally beloved by his acquaintances. During his illness he has been attended by his sister, Mrs. Dr. Graham, of Catskill, who will convey the body to that place for interment. Buffalo Express.

—It is pretty well settled that steel is destined, at no distant day, to entirely supersede iron on railroad tracks. Steel rails not only endure the wear from friction better than iron ones, but they offer more resistance to the crushing action of the heavy locomotives now in fashion. When steam power was first applied on railroads, the engines were made to weigh eight, ten, and twelve tons each ; now they weigh from forty to fifty tons each. The consequence is, that the driving wheels come down on the rails like a trip-hammer, and, if they are only iron, fairly smash them flat in the course of time. On broad-guage roads like the Erie for instance, where the locomotives are the heaviest known, this result takes place sometimes in a single month, and pretty certain in a year. As the locomotives cannot well be made much lighter, there is no remedy but to use steel for the rails, and to build no more broad-guage roads.

—Some time ago a package containing $50,000 was stolen from a desk in the Canal Bank, of New Orleans, in a most mysterious manner. On a careful examination of the premises, the detectives discovered the mark of a small nail upon the edge of a railing, on which the thief must have placed his foot, and indicating that he must have been a tall man. They concluded the nail was in the heel of the robber's boot, and that the wear of the leather had left the nail head projecting, so that it would mark whatever he would step upon. The officers became, thenceforth, anxious observers of all boot-heels, and after many days, two of them happened into the City Hotel. Among the crowd a man was sitting with one foot raised upon his knee, engaged in trying to bend or break off a projecting tack in the heel of his boot. A glance showed that he was tall enough, and forthwith the officers arrested him charging him with the robbery. He confessed ; said he went to the bank to inquire the rate of exchange, saw the package lying upon the desk, and when the clerk turned his back for a moment reached up, snatched the money, and left. He had not ventured to use any of it, and the whole was recovered.

—A very melancholy item comes to us from Newfoundland, per the royal mail steamer at this port yesterday morning—an item which sadly illustrates the danger incurred by the hardy men who go down to the deep in ships. The Queen left St. Johns, Newfoundland, last fall, with supplies for the Tilt Cove—the seat of mining operations in the Island. It was not heard of for four months, and all hands were given up for lost. But about a fortnight ago a little sealing schooner was passing a small island called St. John Gull, when those on board thought they saw a line hanging over the cliff. Sailing nearer and going on shore they found two skeletons and several bodies covered with a sail. Information was immediately given to responsible parties, which led to further search, when about five bodies were found, consisting of the captain and mate, a Mr. Dousley, Mr. and Mrs. Hoskins, Miss Stitson and five others. The captain had kept a diary while life lasted, from which it appeared that they had been cast on the island on the 11th December. They had subsisted there, on a bleak and inhospitable shore, for perhaps a fortnight, and then they died. On the 24th December the captain wrote in the journal :—"I have this day walked all round this island, and see nothing before me but death. I expect to be one of the first to die, as I now feel very weak." After that he wrote no more. They neither had food, fire or water on the island. We are told that "The scene the people witnessed when removing the bodies can be better imagined than described. They were all so frozen together that they had to be separated with pries and crowbars." Mr. Dousley, in the anticipation of death, had written in his melancholy diary :—"I do not expect my body will ever be found." Within sight of the adjoining settlement and the mainland, these poor creatures perished, the nature of the coast being so inhospitable and rugged that the island in question might have remained unvisited for years.—Acadian Recorder, May 18.

NEWS BY THE "SCOTIA."

The Cunard mail steamship Scotia, Capt. Judkins, which left Liverpool at 3 p. m. on the 16th, and Queenstown on the 17th of May, arrived in New York on Tuesday.

The bill permitting the British Government to acquire the telegraph lines, had been withdrawn from Parliament.

Sergeant Armstrong notified to the House of Commons on the 15th, that on the 25th he should move that "in the opinion of this House, the position of Her Majesty's ministers is opposed to the principles of representative government, subversive of constitutional government, and incompatible with the character and dignity of Parliament." This announcement was received with loud cheers from the Opposition benches. Mr. Armstrong brought forward the motion entirely upon his own responsibility, and consulted neither Mr. Gladstone nor the Irish members upon the matter.

In the House of Commons, on the 15th, Sir Colman O'Loghlen brought forward his motion, affirming the policy of having a Royal residence in Ireland. Mr. D'Israeli and Mr. Gladstone expressed sympathy with the object of the mover, who, considering the expressions of opinion which had taken place satisfactory, withdrew his motion.

The Daily News, in its city article, says: "At a meeting of the creditors of Messrs. Belding, Keith & Co., in the American trade, a committee was appointed to investigate the estate and to report to an adjourned meeting. The liabilities are estimated at about £50,000 while there appears to be little or nothing in the shape of assets. One partner has been in the United States for some months, and the other left London on the eve of the stoppage, taking with him the balance of cash standing at the credit of the firm.

The Conservative party are said to have determined to bring forward Richard Assheton Cross in opposition to Mr. Gladstone, when he next offers himself for South Lancashire.

It is stated that the hop plantations in Kent have never been known to present so forward an appearance at this season of the year.

An important application on the part of the Great Eastern Steamship Company was heard in the Court of Admiralty before Sir R. Phillimore. The vessel was under arrest in several suits at Liverpool. The Court had referred to the Registrar, assisted by merchants, the claims of between 300 and 400 seamen, who had been discharged from the vessel, on the speculation of the vessel to and from New York, on account of the Paris Exhibition, turning out a failure. The Registrar had made his report in favor of the men, and the Company appealed to the court from his decision. The points involved were of an important character. Mr. Butt, for the Great Eastern Company, contended that the report was erroneous, and ought not to be confirmed, because it awarded to seamen damages for breach of contract, because the calculation of the damages was based on a misapprehension. Further, that the report awarded sums of money from which the Company was released ; that the report negatived the right of the men to ten days double pay, and that the sums awarded were excessive. In March, 1867, the ship being at Liverpool, her master, Sir Jas. Anderson, hired a crew. The men were engaged for a term but discharged before the time, on the arrival of the ship at Liverpool. It was admitted that the men had been wrongfully dismissed, but it was contended that the men were bound to seek employment, and could not be awarded the whole amount because they thought proper to remain idle and to wander about the streets of Liverpool, creating sympathy and exciting prejudice against the Company, after they had proposed terms of arrangement which some of the sailors had accepted. The arguments on both sides having been concluded, Sir R. J. Phillimore postponed judgment.

General de Failly, who is at present in command of the Chalons camp, made a speech to the troops on May 2, in which he said :—

"I am proud and happy to be called upon to command you. We have met here, not in a camp of pleasure, but a camp of work. I need say no more to show you that we shall begin our labors without loss of time. We shall leave aside instruction of detail, and begin at once those line evolutions which are required in war. Improved arms having superinduced a change in tactics, we shall modify not our manœuvres, but their application to the new armaments. War being a possible thing, our practice here must be serious, simple, and consecutive."

A STRANGE STORY.

The Owner of a Stray Fortune Found—A New York Engraver Inherits the sum of $14,000,000.

For several weeks past the following advertisement has appeared in the leading daily newspapers of the United States :

"Two million pounds sterling for the heirs of Wm. Harrison, of London, who emigrated to America about 1796. Address Rd. Stafford, No. 4, Lincoln's Inn, London."

In answer to this public call for the legitimate claimants of this vast fortune, an almost countless number of Harrisons addressed Mr. Stafford, asserting their relationship, near or remote, to the deceased millionaire, and praying for the bestowal of the legacy upon them. In every instance, however, the applicants failed to verify their claims, and it was thought, eventually, that the search for the rightful heir would prove a fruitless one, and the executors were about to abandon the inquiry, when a most satisfactory discovery rewarded their efforts. It appears that among others bearing this very respectable name, is a Mr. David R. Harrison, a married man, about 70 years of age, and the father of a large family of children, all past their teens. Mr. Harrison resides at Harlem, and for many years has been employed as an engraver by the American Bank Note Company of No. 142 Broadway, in this city. Very recently his attention was called for the first time, by one of his fellow-workmen, to the advertisement quoted above. At first he was inclined to treat the matter as a huge joke—merely an attempt of his friends to have a little fun at the expense of his credulity. When assured that this was not the case, he appeared to be completely overcome by surprise, was so affected that he was unable to continue at his work, and was compelled to seek the retirement and quietude of home before he could regain his wonted composure.

He is very certain of the righteousness of his claim upon the prize, inasmuch as he is in possession of proof positive that his father (now deceased) was the only William Harrison who left London in the year 1796 for this country, and, besides this, other facts just ascertained place the matter of his sole hiership beyond controversy. He remembers distinctly that his father frequently told him of the circumstances which induced him to emigrate to the United States: That in the early part of the year 1796, while Gen. George Washington was yet in the Presidential chair, the Bank of North America, in Philadelphia, desiring to issue a new style of notes, wrote to the Bank of England, asking that institution to send at once a first class workman to engrave the bills, and the result was that Mr. Wm. Harrison was chosen for the task. While in Philadelphia he married a lady named Richardson, a resident of York, in the same State, and became the father of several children, only one of whom, David, is now living.

The individual to whom the fortunate legatee is indebted for the bestowal of this immense wealth, was an uncle—a brother to David's father. He began life a poor boy, but by his indefatigable industry and close economy overcame all obstacles, and at an early day laid firmly the foundations of his after success. When a young man he engaged in the East India trade, where, like many others, he amassed the golden treasure which is soon to be decreed to a comparatively poor man, one who a few days since had no thought that he should ever be the possessor of a sum equal to $14,000,000 in "greenbacks." Among other relatives of David is Lafayette F. Harrison, the well-known proprietor of Irving Hall, who is a full cousin. Already, it is said, the happy man is overwhelmed with communications from various parts of the country, beseeching him to remember a multitude of charitable institutions in need of funds. Nevertheless private individuals have had the audacity to address the lucky millionaire, soliciting various small loans, and some have had the shameless presumption to ask for gifts from a man whom they have never seen. So that, upon the whole, Mr. Harrison's bed of roses is not without its tormenting thorns.

A FASHIONABLE POISON.

The Paris correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette gives the following account of absinthe, a beverage now very popular in France :

A quarter of a century ago absinthe was the drink of French coachmen, grooms and footmen, and people of the lowest class ; to-day its most ardent lovers are to be found among educated and well-to-do Parisians, literary men, professors, artists, actors, musicians, financiers, speculators, shopkeepers, even women, yield themselves up to its seductive influence—to those undefinable provocations which seem, they say, to impart renewed activity to an enfeebled brain, developing a world of new ideas, and which thus, it is believed, have inspired many a noble work of imagination in literature and art. It may be so ; but then those who habitually excite the brain with absinthe soon discover that they can produce positively nothing without its aid, and that a time arrives when heavy stupor supersedes that excitement of the intellectual faculties which once seemed so easy and so harmless.

After the first draught of this poison, which Dr. Legrand, who has studied its effects, pronounces to be one of the greatest scourges of our time, you seem to lose your feet, and you mount to a boundless realm without horizon. You probably imagine that you are going in the direction of the infinite, whereas you are simply drifting into the incoherent. Absinthe affects the brain unlike any other stimulant ; it produces neither the heavy drunkenness of beer, the furious inebriation of brandy, nor the exhilirant intoxication of wine. It is an ignoble poison, destroying life not until it has more or less brutalized its votaries, and made drivelling idiots of them.

There are two classes of absinthe drinkers. The one, after becoming accustomed to it for a short time, takes to imbibing it in considerable quantities, when all of a sudden delirium declares itself. The other is more regular, and at the same time more moderate in its libations ; but upon them the effects, though necessarily more gradual, are none the less sure. Absinthe drinkers of the former class are usually noisy and aggressive during the period of intoxication, which moreover, last much longer than drunkenness produced by spirits of wine, and is followed by extreme depression and a sensation of fatigue which is not to be got rid of.

OTTAWA MARKETS.

[Compiled expressly for the Ottawa Times.]

Times Office, Ottawa,
May 28, 1868.

Our markets for the past few days have been much superior to what we have latterly had to complain of. The supplies have been slowly approximating to the demand. In the hay market there is a considerable fall in prices ; purchasers have been holding off, and instead of its being sold readily as it used to be, several loads are taken away in the afternoon to be brought out again next morning. Flour is down fifty cents, and wheat ten cents. Our quotations in several articles show a downward tendency.

TOM THUMB AND HIS FAMILY!

GENERAL TOM THUMB'S TROUPE,

CONSISTING

Of the original, world-renowned GENERAL TOM THUMB, and his beautiful and accomplished little wife, MRS. LAVINIA WARREN STRATTON! that inimitable specimen of wit, skill, agility and comic drollery, COMMODORE NUTT! (known as "$30,000 Nutt,") and his intended wife, the sweet little sprite, MISS MINNIE WARREN.

Positively One Day Only.

AT

HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE,

Friday, May 29th, 1868,

Two Levees at 3 and 8 p.m.

After an absence of three years in Europe, where they have delighted nearly all the Kings, Queens, Emperors, Nobility, and five million citizens of the Old World, these wonderful Lilliputians have returned to their native land, and are giving a few farewell entertainments prior to their final retirement to private life.

They are undoubtedly the most astonishing and delightful wonders of the age. Four beautifully and symmetrically formed ladies and gentlemen in miniature. Graceful, intelligent, witty, educated and refined, exhibiting the most polished manners of the fashionable drawing room, and yet only the size of three year old children!

Their unique and exquisitely enchanting performances and exhibitions never fail to charm and delight every beholder.

Songs, duetts, dances, &c., in characteristic costumes, military exercises, comic imitations and delineations, fantastic orations, dialogues, amusing tricks, classic statues, funny pantomimes and burlesque comedies, enchant the children, delight the ladies, and astonish and please the gentlemen.

The scores of rich and elegant dresses, and the brilliant collection of diamonds worn before the various potentates of Europe, all of which are introduced in these popular levees, cost over twenty thousand dollars in gold.

These little mites of humanity are conveyed to and from their hotel and hall by their beautiful Shetland Ponies and Miniature Carriage attended by Elfin Coachmen and Footmen in Livery.

Ladies and children are considerately advised to attend the day exhibition, and thus avoid the crowd and confusion of the evening performances.

Admission, 25 cents. Children under ten 15 cents. Reserved Seats, 50 cents. Children under ten, 25 cents.

PAIN KILLER.

The Great Family Medicine of the Age.

THE UNIVERSAL REMEDY for INTERNAL & EXTERNAL COMPLAINTS!

OUR FIRST PHYSICIANS USE AND RECOMMEND ITS USE!

It Enjoys the Largest Sale of Any Proprietary Medicine in the World!

THE PAIN KILLER

HAS been favorably known for more than thirty years, during which time we HAVE RECEIVED THOUSANDS OF TESTIMONIALS, showing this Medicine to be an almost NEVER FAILING REMEDY for diseases caused by or attendant upon—Sudden Colds, Coughs, Fever and Ague, Headache, Billious Fever, Pains in the Side, Back and Loins, as well as in the Joints and Limbs; Neuralgic and Rheumatic Pains in any part of the system, Toothache and Pains in the Head and Face.

As a BLOOD PURIFIER and TONIC for the STOMACH, it seldom fails to cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Kidney Complaints, Sick Headache, Piles, Asthma or Phthisic, Ringworms, Boils, Felons, Whitlows, Old Sores, Swelled Joints, and General Debility of the System.

It is also a PROMPT and SURE REMEDY for Cramp and Pains in the Stomach, Painters' Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer Complaint, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Scalds, Burns, Sprains, Bruises, Frost Bites, Chilblains, as well as the Stings of Insects, and the Bites of Poisonous Insects and Venomous Reptiles.

☞ Directions accompany each bottle.

It has been tested in every variety of climate, and by almost every nation known to civilization. It is the almost constant companion and inestimable friend of the Missionary, and no traveller should be without it. Like every other good thing, the Pain Killer has been extensively counterfeited; which, (while it is an acknowledgment on the part of the counterfeiters of its real worth,) is a serious hinderance to its usefulness, as the deceived purchaser estimates the value of the Pain Killer by the base compound he has purchased for the genuine article.

Purchasers should be careful and not allow the dealer to sell them worthless imitations, on which they realize a larger profit, but take only the Pain Killer, and see that it is the genuine, bearing the signature of Perry Davis & Son upon the label.

The Pain Killer is sold at wholesale by Druggists and Medicine Dealers, and Commission Merchants, in the principal cities, and retailed by Apothecaries, Grocers, and at Variety Shops generally, throughout the world.

Dominion Auction Mart,

AND

Commission Sale Rooms

House, Land & General Agency,
OFFICE & SALE ROOMS,
INGLIS' NEW BUILDINGS, SUSSEX-STREET,
OTTAWA.

THE SUBSCRIBER

Respectfully announces to the inhabitants of Ottawa and surrounding country that at the request of many friends he has decided on opening an extensive and well regulated Auction Mart in this city.

From arrangements made with some of the Furniture Manufactories of Western Ontario, a large and well selected stock of new furniture will be constantly on hand.

Public Sales will be held from time to time, of which due notice will be given, and at which parties requiring to furnish will have an opportunity of purchasing at unusually low rates. The Mart is now open with a large stock of new Furniture, as well as Pianos, Harmeniums, &c., &c., consigned for sale.

The subscriber would also intimate that he is the Sole Agent for Ottawa and territory for the sale of Rappe, Webber & Co.'s celebrated grand Pianos.

They are successors to the late John C. Fox, of Kingston, and the makers of his excellent Pianos.

From their long experience in Germany, Paris, and New York, they are universally admitted to be the best Piano Manufacturers on this continent.

The high reputation of the instruments made by them for the past ten years, and the increasing demand for them in the new Dominion, prove their very superior quality, and universally acknowledged merit.

The Pianos, as well as the Furniture in the establishment, will be sold either by private sale or auction.

He would also announce that he is prepared to receive instructions from persons having household furniture, horses, carriages, or real estate, to dispose of, and pledges himself that nothing will be left undone by him to give satisfaction in discharging the trust confided to him. He hopes that by strict attention to the sales entrusted to his care, as well as by prompt settlements immediately after, to merit a share of public patronage.

He will be in his office from 7 in the morning until 7 in the evening, when he can see parties who wish to arrange about their sales. Consignments from a distance will have immediate attention.

Cash advances, when required, will be made on consignments for immediate sale.

All kinds of furniture bought, sold or exchanged.

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER

de, Back and Head, Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat Sprains, Bruises, Cramps in the Stomach, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery, Bowel Complaints, Burns, Scalds, Frost Bites, &c., &c.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER HAS now been before the public for a length of time, and whenever used is well liked, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single case of dissatisfaction where the directions are properly followed; but on the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its virtues and magical effects.

We speak from experience in this matter, having tested it thoroughly, and therefore those who are suffering from any of the complaints for which it is recommended may depend upon its being a Sovereign Remedy.

The astonishing efficacy of the Canadian Pain Destroyer, in curing diseases for which it is recommended, and its wonderful success in subduing the torturing pains of Rheumatism, and in relieving Nervous Affections, entitle it to a high rank in the list of Remedies for these complaints. Orders are coming in from Medicine Dealers in all parts of the country for further supplies, and each testifying as to the universal satisfaction it gives

The Canadian Pain Destroyer never fails to give immediate relief. All Medicine Dealers keep it. Physicians order and use it; and no family will without it after once trying it.

VICTORIA HOTEL—TO LET.

NO more eligible chance could be offered to any party in the Hotel-keeping line than the lease of the above FIRST-CLASS HOTEL.

Being on the eve of Confederation, and Ottawa being definitely settled upon as its capital,

The Victoria Hotel

could not fail to be made to pay.

It is built on the most modern style of architecture, of cut stone; has large plate-glass windows, and is four stories high, exclusive of the basement. It is finely situated on the corner of Wellington and O'Connor-streets, immediately opposite the Parliament Buildings, and has three vacant lots attached, so that the Buildings could be enlarged to any required capacity.

DARLEY'S

Arabian Heave Remedy

AND CONDITION MEDICINE

IS POSITIVELY SUPERIOR TO ANY or all other preparations for the cure of Heaves, Coughs, Thick and Broken Wind, and all diseases which affect the Wind of Horses; also, as a Condition Medicine, surpassing everything of the kind is easy to give, sure to cure, and safe in all cases and at all times, and does not prevent the horse from being worked while using it.

It cleanses the breathing apparatus, by removing from the air-cells the coagulable lymph, or that secretion which in heaves clogs them, causing a difficulty in breathing, and by its action on the diseased part, causing the mucous membrane to resume its natural dimensions, thus equalizing the circulation of the blood, and restoring the distended vessels to their natural size; by its use the horse's appetite is improved, all derangements of the digestive organs corrected, softening the skin, and giving to the coat a sleek and shining appearance.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

For the Government of the European and North American Railway. Approved 29th February, 1868, by His Excellency the Governor-General in Council, under the authority of "An Act respecting the Public Works of Canada," assented to 21st December, 1867.

STATION REGULATIONS.

PASSENGERS

Purchasing their tickets, before entering the cars, will effect a saving of 12 cents.

Passengers must procure tickets at the Ticket Office, and show them to the Station Baggage Master.

To avoid all mistakes, passengers must attend personally to the checking and marking of their baggage; and all baggage will be left at the place designated, when put in the Baggage Car, and must be claimed by the owner on the arrival of the train.

Runners for railroads, boats and hotels, and carters and hackmen, will not be allowed to enter the stations, nor come upon the platforms on the arrival of passenger trains, to solicit or influence passengers, but may stand in such places as directed by the Agent or Police.

Hackmen and Porters, with checks, will be admitted to obtain the luggage; they will also be admitted when taking baggage to the trains.

Hacks, baggage waggons and private carriages must be arranged, in the Station grounds, as directed by the Station Master or Police. Unnecessary noise and obscene and abusive language are strictly forbidden.

Any coachman, hackman or public porter, refusing to leave the Station, or remove his coach, hack, or other vehicle upon being requested so to do by the Superintendent, Station Master, Police, or any other officers of the railway, or shall wilfully obstruct any of the passengers to and from the Station, shall be liable to a fine of two dollars for each and every offence, to be recovered before the Police Magistrate, in such a manner as fines are made recoverable, by an Act for the Regulation of Railways in the Province of New Brunswick, passed 6th April, 1858.

The waiting rooms are for the travelling public only; all other persons will be excluded. No smoking allowed.

No person must be allowed to get into, or upon, or quit, any car, after the train has been put in motion, or until it stops.

Passengers cannot have their baggage checked to any Station, short of their destination, unless that shall be beyond the limits of this railway.

Baggage will not be taken to include money, merchandise, or any other articles than those of personal use.

The railway will not be liable for any baggage or article not given in charge to the railway.

STATION BAGGAGE MASTERS.

No checks to be given to cabmen or omnibus drivers (as such), but only to the passengers themselves, and on no account are passengers to be allowed to take checked baggage into the car with them.

Special care must be taken, not to deliver baggage, without first removing the checks, and obtaining the duplicates from passengers. Any baggage received, the checks and duplicates of which do not correspond, must be reported, forwarding the checks, and naming the Station, whence received, taking a receipt from the owner for the same. When a passenger has lost his duplicate check, baggage must not be given up unless the person claiming it can describe the contents of each package.

Station Masters are required to report immediately any baggage wanted at their Stations, also any baggage that has lain unclaimed twenty-four hours. Baggage, having lain unclaimed fourteen days, to be forwarded to headquarters, properly labelled, showing date received, train, &c.

No baggage to be opened by Agents, except in the presence of owner.

Excess to be charged where passengers have more baggage than the quantity allowed.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS TO CONDUCTORS.

After the train is started the Conductor will have entire charge and control of the train, and all persons employed on it (except when his directions conflict with the rules and regulations, or involve any risk or hazard, in either of which cases all participating will be held alike accountable); the passengers are in his charge, and he is responsible for the safety and regularity of the train, which he must never allow to proceed beyond its regular Station for meeting, until the arrival of the train due, unless otherwise directed.

In the event of any passenger being drunk, or disorderly, to the annoyance of others, he must use all gentle means to stop the nuisance, failing which, he must exercise his authority and restrain or keep him in a separate place until he arrive at the next Station, or further, to a police office, or lock-up, where the passenger must be left, and may be delivered to the Police, and charged with the offence in the usual way.

He must not allow any person to ride on the platforms, or outside the cars, or in the baggage car.

He must prevent passengers endangering themselves by imprudent exposure.

He must not allow the sale of books, papers, or refreshments, in the cars, without permission.

GENERAL ORDERS TO ENGINE DRIVERS.

He shall allow no person to ride on his engine or tender without the permission of those in authority over him.

MAINTENANCE OF WAY AND STRUCTURE.

All persons walking along the line, who are not in the railway service, must be warned off, and in case of non compliance, their names ascertained, and reported to the Trackmaster, or placed under arrest, as the exigencies of the case seem to require.

Animals found straying within the railway fences must be immediately driven off. Farm gates found open must be promptly closed.

All articles found on the track must be promptly sent to the Station Master of the nearest Station.

The following REDUCED RATES, for SEASON TICKETS for three months, be charged between ST. JOHN and the undermentioned Stations.

Station	Rate
Moose Path	$4 00	Children and Students one half these rates.

Copy of a report of a Committee of the Honorable the Privy Council, approved by His Excellency the Governor-General in Council on the 27th of April, 1868.

On a memorandum dated 15th April, 1868, from the Honorable the Minister of Public Works, respecting that on the 29th February last, an order in Council was passed authorizing the adoption of certain rules and regulations for Government of the European and North American Railway, New Brunswick.

That he would now recommend the adoption of tariffs submitted with his report for passengers and freight for the said railway.

The Committee advise that the above mentioned tariffs be adopted.

Certified,

The Minister of Public Works,
&c., &c.

GENERAL NOTICES & CONDITIONS OF CARRIAGE.

1 This railway will not be accountable for any articles unless the same be signed for as received by a duly authorized Agent.

2 Nor will it be responsible for the loss of or damage done to money, in cash, bills, promissory notes, or securities for money, or jewelry, trinkets, rings, precious stones, gold or silver, manufactured or unmanufactured, gold and silver plate or plated articles, clocks, watches, time-pieces, marble, lace, furs, silks in manufacture or unmanufactured state, and whether wrought up or not wrought up with other materials, writings, title deeds, prints, maps, paintings, engravings, pictures, stamps or other valuables; nor for damage done to china, glass, eggs, wearing apparel, musical instruments, furniture, toys, castings, grindstones, tombstones, slates, or any other such hazardous or brittle articles, in packages or otherwise.

3 Nor will it be responsible for delays from storms or accidents, or damages from the weather, fire, heat, frost, or delay of perishable articles or from civil commotion; nor will it, under any circumstances, be liable for loss of market or other claims arising from delay or detention of any train whether in starting or at any of the Stations, or in the course of the journey. The railway does not undertake to send goods by any particular train, if there be an insufficient number of cars at the Station, or the cars cannot be conveniently used for that purpose, notwithstanding the goods may have been taken to the Station before the hour appointed by the railway.

4 Nor will it be responsible for the loss or damage of any packages insufficiently or improperly marked, packed, directed or described, or containing a variety of articles, liable by breaking to damage each other or other articles; nor for leakage arising from bad casks, or bad cooperage or from fermentation or any other cause beyond the control of the railway.

5 Nor will it be responsible for the loss or damage of any goods put into returned wrappers or boxes, or packages described as "Empties:" nor for any goods directed "to be left until called for," or "to order," warehoused for the convenience of the parties to whom they belong, or by or to whom they are consigned: nor will it, under any circumstances, be accountable for the loss or damage of goods that are not taken away immediately after advice of their arrival has been sent or posted.

6 Goods conveyed at a special or mileage rate, must be loaded or unloaded by the owner or his agents, and the railway will not be responsible for any risk of stowage, loss or damage however caused: nor for any discrepancy in the delivery as to either quantity, number or weight, nor for the condition of articles so carried, nor for detention or delay in the conveyance or delivery of them, however caused.

7 No Agent or Employee of this railway is authorized to take charge of bank notes, money or valuable papers.

8 Senders of dangerous articles will be held accountable for any damage arising therefrom, or thereto, unless the contents are so described upon the direction, that due care may be observed in loading, and in no case will the railway be liable for the loss of any such article.

9 All articles directed to be left at any stopping place or platform where there is no Station House or Goods Warehouse and Agent, will be at the risk of the owner directly they are delivered at such stopping place or platform; and all articles brought there for conveyance will also be at the owner's risk until taken into the cars.

10 Fresh fish, fruit, meat, poultry, oysters and other perishable articles, are conveyed only at the owner's risk, and the freight must be pre-paid.

11 When goods are intended, after being carried by this railway, to be forwarded by some other conveyance to their final destination, the responsibility of this railway will cease as soon as the goods are delivered to such other conveyance, and it is to be distinctly understood that such goods are received by the railway only on these conditions.

12 Storage will be charged on all goods remaining in the Stations over 48 hours after their arrival at the rate of twenty-five cents per barrel bulk per month, and when stored no deduction will be made from this rate for Goods remaining in store for a less time than one month.

13 Demurrage at the rate of two dollars per car, per day, will be charged on all cars not unloaded within thirty-six hours after arrival, exclusive of Sundays, provided the same are loaded with goods liable to be unloaded by the owner or consignee; the railway reserving the right to discharge the same at the expense of the owner or consignee; at any time after the expiration of such 36 hours.

14 No claim whatever, for loss or damage will be allowed unless notice in writing is given to the Station Agent before the goods are removed.

15 No charge less than twenty cents will be made for any single package or consignment.

16 No goods will be delivered until all charges against them are paid, and the railway will not be accountable for the correctness of any "back charges" on goods, &c., by other companies, conveyances or individuals.

17 Vehicles are carried only at the owner's risk of damage from fire, weather and all other contingencies.

18 Machines or articles very long or bulky which require one or more cars to be taken especially to convey them, will be charged at full car rates.

19 Barley, corn, hay, oats, oysters, potatoes, rye, salt, wheat and dry fish, in bulk, and bricks, clay, coals, coke, grindstones, limestones, ores, sand and stone, chains and chain cables, pig and scrap iron, and all other articles of a similar character, and lumber, must be loaded and unloaded by the owner thereof, or at his expense Double rates will be charged for overloading.

20 The railway will have a lien on all goods transported over the same for freight and charges thereon, as well as for any balance which may be previously due for freight, &c., by the owner or consignee, and the said goods will be liable to be sold by public auction for the payment of the charges thereon, and other balances which may be due.

21 Top wharfage at the customary rates will be charged on all goods landed on the railway wharves at Moncton, Shediac and St. John, except in cases where the goods are to be forwarded by this railway.

22 Rates of wharfage to be charged at railway wharves at St. John and Point DuChesne—except in cases where the vessel using the wharf is lying to load or unload goods brought by or to be carried by the railway, or for the purpose of unloading ballast for the use of the railway—vessels in all cases are to lie where directed by the wharfinger or agent for the time being:

For every decked vessel or woodboat of the burthen of 40 tons or under 30 cents per day, above 40 tons and under 50, 35 cts. above 50 and under 60, 40 cents, above 60 and under 70, 45 cents, above 70 and under 80, 50 cents, above 80 and under 90, 55 cents, above 90 and under 100, 60 cents, above 100 and under 120, 70 cents, above 120 and under 150, 80 cents, above 150 and under 180, 90 cents, above 180 and under 200, $1, above 200 and under 220, $1.10, above 220 and under 240, $1.20, above 240 and under 260, $1.30, above 260 and under 280, $1.40, above 280 and under 300, $1.50, above 300 and under 320, $1.50, above 320 and under 340 $1.70, above 340 and under 360, $1.80, above 360 and under 380, $1.90. above 380 and under 400, $2, above 400 and under 450, $2.25, above 450 and under 500, $2.50, and 25 cents for each additional 50 tons.

23 Live stock, when carried by the car load, will be charged at the rate of 25 cents per car, per mile, but no charge less in amount than six dollars will be made for a car.

24 All Live Stock carried over this railway must be loaded and discharged by the owner or his agent, and is to be under his sole care, and in all respects at his risk then and during transit. Any food furnished will be at his expense, and halters are to be provided by him when necessary. One drover will be allowed to pass free (second class) when accompanying his stock for the purpose of taking care of it, and paying the full price of the car load.

25 The loading of Sawn Lumber will be limited to 5000 superficial feet of hard or 8000 superficial feet of soft wood per car. The loading of hardwood logs and timber will be limited to 7½ tons of 40 cubic feet, and of softwood logs and timber to 10 tons of 40 cubic feet, per car. Pine, hemlock and spruce will be reckoned as soft, and all other kinds as hard. Owners overloading will be charged double rates in every instance. The quantities mentioned as being the load for one car, will not be considered as applicable to lumber, which by reason of its length requires for its conveyance two or more cars. Scantling, sawn or hewn, and ship or deck plank, or other long lumber, must not be piled higher than the tariff quantity of the same description of goods would reach it upon car. In the absence of survey bills deals will not be permitted to be laden above twelve tiers high. Cedar poles must not be laden more than five feet high, and must be properly secured with ropes to prevent spreading. Derricks by means of which cars are sometimes laden must not in any instance be erected upon the car.

26 Hay can only be conveyed in box cars.

27 Lumber will be taken to mean timber, deals, boards, plank, shipstuff, cordwood, tanbark, fence or hoop poles, box shooks, clapboards, staves logs, laths, shingles, railway sleepers, spars and all other similar products of the forests. It must in all cases be properly and safely laden upon the cars, and must not project over the ends of the cars nor must cross grained wood be used for stakes In the event of the owner neglecting or refusing to obey the directions of the Station Master or other person authorized by the Superintendent in relation thereto, the load will be reduced, if necessary, to bring it within the quantity prescribed for a car load, and afterwards so secured as to make it entirely safe for transportation. The expense of doing this being charged against the goods.

28 When lumber is put upon one car care must be taken to have a stake placed near the centre of the length in addition to the others, so as to prevent its being dependent on only two stakes; and when the load is of logs or small round timber, or such other description of lumber as tends to settle and thus produce increased strain upon the stakes, chains or ropes must be used about one-third of the height from the top of the load to bind it, and where entire safety cannot be otherwise secured, skids to separate the ties must also be used.

29 Long lumber extending over two or more cars must be bound by chains or large ropes. It must not be "bound" by the stakes, but loaded on "bunks" that it may "play" or "swivel" freely.

30 Lumber will be carried only at the convenience of the railway, and at the risk of the owner.

31 Cars laden with lumber will not be allowed to stand over to give owners or consignees choice of positions at the receiving station when other berths are unoccupied.

32 In loading Cordwood sticks must be placed at the edges of the car for the outer ends of the wood to rest upon, that it may tend, when piled, towards the centre. Green Hardwood must not be piled higher than three feet, and Dry not higher than four feet. The stakes used must be green spruce or straight hardwood of sufficient thickness.

33 Cars left at Stations or Sidings to fill requisitions, will be subject to demurrage after twenty-four hours, and if not loaded within sixteen hours thereafter, (in both cases exclusive of Sunday) they may be handed over or removed to fill other requisitions.

34 Stations being often obstructed by deposits of lumber of various kinds, and the ordinary business of the Station being thereby incommoded; notice is hereby given that in such cases the obstructions will be removed, and the cost of such removal, in addition to yardage, at the rate of one dollar per car load per day, will form a charge against the lumber. Notice will given to the owner or consignee that its removal is required before a certain time, and the charges will commence immediately on the expiration of such time. When the charges have accumulated so as to amount to half the value of the lumber it will be sold at Public Auction, after given ten days public notice of such sale.

25 Lumber and other goods will be received only at Sidings; unless by previous arrangement it is shewn to the satisfaction of the Superintendent, that sufficient for a full train load of ten cars will be so placed that it can readily be laden with the assistance of an engine. A charge of $2 50 per hour will be made when the engine is detained more than three hours in addition to the usual rate per car, per mile, calculated from the Siding next beyond.

36 To avoid errors in invoicing loaded cars at Outsidings owners should fasten a ticket upon the side of the car, stating to whom the load belongs and to whom and where it is consigned.

37 When goods are required to be loaded by the owner or his agent, or at his expense, all fittings (such as stakes, bunks, skids, chains, ropes, &c., for lumber and sideboards for coal, sand, bricks, clay, stone, manganese, grain or articles of a similar character), must be provided by him, or will be charged to him if furnished by the railway. Such fittings will be transported back free, if necessary, but at the owner's risk.

38 When cars, liable to be laden or unladen by the owner or consignee of the goods, have been once placed, and for the convenience of the owner or at his request, are shifted to finish at another berth in the same Station Yard, a charge of one dollar per car will be made for such service.

39 Car loads of Lumber taken from any Station or Siding not named in the table of rates, will be charged twenty cents per car, per mile, for the additional distance beyond the Station named in the table; but in no case will the whole charge made be less than four dollars per car.

40 Full carloads of either bricks, cement, coal, chains, chain cables and anchors grindstones hay, household removals and furniture of all kinds, iron knees, pig, scrap and bar iron, lime, limestone, manure, mill and burr stones, molasses, oil, ores, outfits for, and products of the fisheries, plaster, rigging, fitted, salt, sand, sawdust, slate, straw, sugar, to one address, may be transported at the rate of twenty cents per car, per mile—no less charge than four dollars being made; and full carloads of beef, salted, in barrels, eggs, in barrels, flour and meal, in barrels, flaxseed in barrels, pork, in barrels, to one address, may be transported at the rate of twenty-five cents, per car, per mile—no less charge than six dollars being made. Goods thus carried, must be laden and unladen by the owner or his agent, and will be at his risk then and during transit and the entire load must consist solely of one of the articles mentioned.

41 Special arrangements may be made under certain extraordinary circumstances.

42 If the owner or owners, or his or their agent shall not, within five days after the arrival of the goods at the place of destination, pay the freight and any other charges due thereon, and take possession of and remove such articles from the railway premises, the Superintendent, by order of the Commissioners, may sell or cause the same to be sold at public auction, after giving ten days public notice of such sale, and having deducted all charges due, with the expenses of the sale and all other incidental expenses, he shall pay the surplus if any, to the owner, on application.

43 Cars cannot be hired to load cattle or goods of any kind, with the privilege of loading up at different Stations; and in no case can drovers be permitted to go free except when they have, at least, one full car load from one Station, and then they can pass only from that Station.

44 The loading of box cars is limited to 18,000 lbs weight, and of platform cars to 20,000 lbs weight per car.

45 Articles not specified in the classification will be charged the same rate as similar or analogous articles.

46 Special Rates.—The rates between St. John and Shediac or Point Du Chesne, for the following goods in the quantities named, to one address will be :—

Oats, in quantities of 500 bushels of 2,151 cubic inches each, 4 cents per bushel.

Barley, in quantities of 360 bushels of 2,151 cubic inches each, 5½ cents per bushel.

Potatoes and turnips, in quantities of 360 bushels of 2,747 cubic inches each, 5½ cents per bushel.

Wheat, in quantities of 300 bushels of 2,151 cubic inches, 7 cents per bushel.

Salt, in quantities of 250 bushels of 2,151 cubic inches, 8 cents per bushel.

Measurement is to be made when being loaded. In case of dispute, the load, before bulk is broken will be weighed upon the railway track scales, and the result divided by the mean weight of five bushels, is to be considered conclusive.

Fish, pork and beef, salted in barrels, in quantities of 60 barrels, and upwards, 30 cents per barrel.

Dried fish, in quantities of 100 quintals, and upwards, 12½ cents per quintal.

Flour and meal, in barrels, in quantities of from 90 to 500 barrels, 20 cents per barrel.

Flour and meal, in barrels, in quantities of 500 barrels and upwards, 15 cents per barrel.

47 Cargoes of the undermentioned articles will be carried in carloads to one address, from Point du Chesne to Sain John, at the following rates :—

Stone, ores and coals	$1 50 per ton.
Deals	2 00 per M. sup. ft.

48 Preserved salmon or other fish, in boxes or cans, in any quantity, from the fisheries in the Gulf of Saint Lawrence, or rivers or bays in Prince Edward Island or Northern New Brunswick, or vinegar for the fisheries, from Saint John, will be rated 4th class.

49 A portion of the area of a car may be freighted exclusively for the benefit of any party, at the rates per square foot fixed for the carriage of 3rd class articles per hundred pounds.

50 This tariff is to come in operation on the seventh day of June, 1867, after which date all previous rates and conditions shall be and are hereby cancelled. 751tf

The Ottawa Times

SATURDAY, MAY 30, 1868.

In recent issues we alluded to the Acts passed at the late Session of Parliament for the protection and development of the fisheries of the Dominion. We expressed our hope that the judicious enforcement of the provisions of these Acts would lead to the best results on this important source of our national wealth. The evils complained of in the Maritime Provinces, and which were fas depopulating their rivers and streams, were but a reflex of the evils which formerly prevailed on all the rivers of Lower and Upper Canada, and which had reduced all of them to the most deplorable state; and in numerous instances had entirely exterminated the fish in rivers which formerly swarmed with several valuable species.

The judicious enforcement of the Fisheries Act of 1865, under the active superintendence of the Fisheries Branch of the Crown Lands Department, has resulted in a most encouraging improvement of all the rivers which came under its care; and we are much pleased to find that, under the new regime, the valuable supervision of Mr. Whitcher has been retained. This officer's intimate acquaintance with the subject, his enlightened estimate of the value and great importance of our inland and coast fisheries, and his enthusiasm in the good work of preservation, are sufficient guarantees for the zeal with which his various duties will be performed.

While on this subject we wish to call public attention, and the attention of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, to the great importance of protecting the more inland waters of the Dominion. All the great lakes of the Province of Ontario are inhabited by a number of species of most delicious and valuable fish. Salmon still ascend to Lake Ontario, and resort to the tributaries suited to their habits, and affording suitable spawning places, and although their numbers are greatly diminished by mill dams, illegal netting and spearing, all they require is protection at the proper season, and free access to their accustomed breeding grounds, to become as numerous as they formerly were. Besides the salmo salar, which is a migratory fish, and frequents these inland waters only for the purpose of propagation, there are two species of the delicious coregonus albus, or White Fish, which, in America, appears to be peculiar to Canadian waters. These are scarcely inferior to the salmon in delicacy and flavor, and are by many even preferred to them, and are quite as valuable as an article of cheap and nutritious food. Great havoc is yearly made among these fish, by all kinds of illegal practices; indeed, the time when they are taken in the greatest quantities is when they approach their spawning grounds, and unless this great evil is restrained, the species, although still numerous, must eventually be exterminated. Then there are several species of the Salmo, such as the Salmo Ferox, the Salmo Confinis, the Siskairitz, and the Salmo Fontinalis, or common brook trout. All these attain the very highest degree of perfection in the vast inland seas of our Dominion, and afford a most valuable and nutritious food to our rapidly increasing population. Besides these there are the Pictoral, the Pike and the great Maskinonge, which is peculiar to the Northern lakes, the several varieties of Basse, and a great number of other species, less valuable and important, but worthy of careful protection as prolific supplies of cheap food to man, as well as affording food on which the other fishes subsist. If these are allowed to be indiscriminately destroyed, the more valuable species must follow as a matter of course.

Now that the subject of fish protection, and fish culture, has become one of great importance in European countries, it is time that not only the authorities, but the public at large, in Canada, should acquire more enlightened ideas, and assist each other in preserving the great blessings they enjoy.

We hope that during the present season the Minister of Marine and Fisheries will find time to make the tour of our great lakes and inform himself by actual observation, of the importance and extent of this great interest now under his care, and we trust that the information acquired will result in the adoption of more effective means for its better protection.

New Book.—"One Inch Lumber and Quebec Standard into Board Measure."—This is the title of a book of tables for calculating lumber of 1¼ and 1½ inch and other thicknesses to board measure. This work is intended to supply a want which has been seriously felt since the large increase of our American trade, and it is confidently asserted that it will be found perfectly reliable. It has been prepared with great care, and must save much labor in calculation. It will, therefore, no doubt, find its way into the hands of all in the lumber trade, as well as into those who are in the habit of purchasing lumber.

FROM TORONTO.

Special to THE TIMES.

TORONTO, May 29, 1868.

Great uneasiness prevails among those persons who have been exposed by a letter which appeared in the Leader, charging certain parties with customs' frauds. Yesterday, the Hon. Mr. McMaster was seen closeted with Mr. Scott, Surveyor of Customs, trying to smother the affair. The Globe is mum.

A very amusing affair occurred at Osgoode Hall, between a member of the legal profession from Ottawa, and one from Prescott, about a wealthy and beautiful young lady on Bay street. Hats, umbrellas, and canes were broken, garments torn, and blood flowed. However, the scion of law from Ottawa, nobly sustained the character of your city for pluck, on the occasion. Great exertions are being used by the friends of both parties to prevent a more serious meeting.

LOCAL NEWS.

New hoop skirts just received by Magee and Russell.

A. Swalwell, Chief Undertaker for Ottawa, Sparks-st., Centre Town. 750tf

The season for muslin dresses and lace shawls being close at hand, ladies should see the great variety of novelties at Magee and Russell's

A Child Gored by a Cow.—We understand that a child was gored on Thursday last, in New Edinburgh, by a cow, but have not learned the extent of the injury.

Fine coral jewellery, bog oak jewellery and a large collection of other goods suitable for wedding and other presents can be seen at Young & Radford's; all new and choice goods and will be sold cheap.

Confirmation.—We understand that the Lord Bishop of Ontario is to hold a Confirmation to-morrow, during the morning service, in Christ Church; and that his Lordship intends preaching in the Chapel, Sussex street, at 7 o'clock in the evening.

Personal.—We have pleasure in recording the fact, that our old friend, the Hon. Malcolm Cameron, and family, have returned home from a prolonged sojourn in Germantown, near Philadelphia. Their old friends will be happy to greet them and congratulate them on their return "home again."

The Golden Boot.—Angus & Co. advertise a new, large and elegant stock of ladies', gents' and childrens' boots, shoes, gaiters, slippers, &c., of all kinds, at their new store, sign of the Golden Boot, Wellington-st., Upper Town. See their advertisement, and then go and see the stock.

Auction Sale To-Day.—Mr. McLean will sell to-day at 12 o'clock, noon, some very fine city lots, the property of James Porter, Esq.; also Porter's Island, in the Rideau River. The lots bear some excellent improvements. All desiring to purchase property should attend the sale.

Theatrical.—The new Dramatic Company are to appear here for the first time, at Her Majesty's Theatre, on Monday night, in the sensational drama entitled, "Under the Gaslight." The cast is to comprise ladies and gentlemen said to be of acknowledged merit. Mr. J. J. Collins is the manager.

Police Court.—Phillip Gorman, Clarence-st., was charged with selling liquor without license two; witnesses were examined when the case was adjourned till this morning.—John Bird for being drunk and disorderly was fined $2 and costs.—Henderson Dunning, same complaint and same dose.—Terry O'Neil was similarly treated for the same disorder.

Professional.—We are happy to learn that Mr. Nicholas Sparks, of this city, passed a highly creditable examination, and was called to the Ontario Bar at the recent law examination in Osgoode Hall, Toronto. Having passed his previous classical examination and also that for Attorney and Solicitor with honors, we auger for Mr. Sparks a bright professional future.

Ogdensburg Driving Park Association.—The June meeting of the above association commences on Tuesday, June 9th, and continues through the 10th, 11th, and 12th. The "meets" in Ogdensburg are always characterized by the presence of first-class animals, and judging from the amount allowed for prizes the coming races will be no exception to the rule—$2,100 have been made up in purses. Parties desirous of obtaining information regarding the rules of the club, entries, &c., can obtain full particulars and small bills by writing to the President or Secretary, Messrs. S. S. Halladay, and C. J. Hynes. Trotting commences at 2 o'clock, p. m., precisely.

The Sidewalks Again.—One would have thought that before this, the sidewalks would have received some attention from the Board of Works, for really they are in a wretched condition. Man-traps, in the shape of broken planks, abound in all parts of the city. Among others, there is a hole in front of the undertaker's door, on Sparks street, strongly suggestive of a grave. Then, on Rideau street, at Cumberland, the new platform is left in an unfinished state, and wayfarers at night often find themselves at the bottom of a precipice, with sprained ancles, or half broken backs, for there is seldom light enough to see the loose steps. Why was the platform begun if not to be finished?

A Bull Run.—Yesterday morning a woman from Nepean, named Presley, on her way over Ashburnham Hill to the city, was chased by a rather savage bull. As soon as she found that the beast was really making after her she caught up her child, about two years of age, and placing him on her back made off from the animal at the top of her speed. The race was continued close and exciting for about four acres, when she made good her escape by entering the garden of a Mr. Warwicker. Such animals should not be allowed to roam at large when people are in the habit of passing, and may at any time be subject to their attacks. Had an old man or woman, or a child, been thus pursued death might have resulted from their inability to escape.

Taking Advantage of a Child.—On Thursday evening a little girl about five years old, playing on Clarence street, near her home, picked up a cartridge of silver, of the value of which she was ignorant. In handling it, some of it fell out on the sidewalk; a woman coming by and seeing it in her hand, and probably learning how she got it, induced her to give it up for the consideration of one copper. When she went into the house she related what had taken place, and her father told the story to policeman Todd, who, with policeman O'Keefe, found out where the woman lived and visited her for the purpose of getting back the silver. At first she denied having it, but finding the facts were known to the police, she admitted having received some silver from the child but not so much as named by the police, and then she went into the yard and dug up from underneath some chips more than she admitted having received. She was not arrested, but the money is in the hands of the police and will be given up to the owner when called for. If not called for within a reasonable time, it will be given to the finder.

General Tom Thumb and Party.—These miniature men and women, whose coming had been looked forward to, by the children especially, with so much curiosity, have come and gone. They arrived yesterday morning, and put up at the Russell House. In the afternoon, they held a levee at Her Majesty's Theatre, which was well filled with a respectable audience, the larger number being children. The performances consisted of songs and various other kinds of acting, in which Commodore Nutt was the "bright particular star." He is a droll and active little fellow, with great comic powers—great for so small a man. Tom Thumb sang some songs, as did his wife and Minnie, but the voices of the little folks are weak, or perhaps, we should say small, like themselves. The general's personation of Napoleon was very good; and so was the drumming of the Commodore. With the exception of the latter the whole party look very grave, even when bedecked in all their jewels. It is said, but the party do not speak of it, as a thing likely to take place, that Nutt and Minnie Warren are to be married. In the evening they performed to another full house, and were greatly applauded. The theatre, though crowded, was comfortably cool, and presents a decidedly improved appearance.

Natural History Society.—The usual monthly meeting of this society was held last evening. After the transaction of the routine business, which, we must say, was tediously prolonged, a paper was read by W. J. Henry, Esq., M.D., on "The Mental Power of Animals." Animals, the essayist contended, do undoubtedly possess mental power. It has been, and is still, usual to refer all their actions to instinct, but none of the theories which have been found to support that view will bear examination. Many actions doubtless, both in men and animals, are instinctive, but some of those performed by the brute creation bear, quite as clearly as any that man can perform, the impress of reflection and intelligence. The lecturer adduced numerous facts in support of his position, and dwelt with particular force upon the intelligence displayed by that most ingenious insect, the bee. He showed that many animals went through exactly the same mental processes, which, in the case of man, are dignified with the name of reasoning. From the occurrence of a certain thing once an animal will infer, just as men do, that the same thing will possibly, or probably, occur again. The essayist did not attempt to go into the metaphysics of the subject; and, where so many theories had broken down, he was unwilling to venture a new one of his own. He dealt only with facts; but, at the same time, it was by no means impossible that some day a true theory, which would embrace and illuminate these facts, might be discovered. The essay was received by the audience with manifest signs of approval. It was an able effort, and while scientific in form, was highly interesting to the most non-scientific minds. A vote of thanks to the essayist was moved by Dr. Grant, seconded by Dr. Hill, and unanimously carried.

THE OTTAWA RIVER.

To the Editor of THE TIMES.

Sir,—Perhaps you can inform me, whether there is any force or efficacy in the understanding which was said to have been come to, between the mill owners of the Chaudiere and the Inspector of Fisheries, to the effect that these enterprising proprietors had determined to prevent, so far as possible, the waste stuff, and sawdust, from escaping, to destroy and render undrinkable the water, as well by human beings as by the other unfortunate fish residing in, or dwelling upon the banks of our noble river? I make the enquiry simply for the reason that the water carrier who supplies my household has of late, notwithstanding all remonstrance, furnished us with a fluid which resembles a thin preparation of Indian meal porridge, more than it does the wholesome and limpid element. Any one looking at the state of the Ottawa since the commencement of the sawing season can see that the water carriers are not to blame; they can only draw the water as they find it. Our worthy Mayor, who inaugurated his assumption of office by indicating the feasibility, as well as the extreme necessity for the adoption, of several municipal reforms, should see to it, that his tenure of the dignified office he holds should not prove barren of results. Something should be done to afford the citizens, highly taxed as they are, at least the luxury (for it really is such in many localities) of pure water. Could not a dam be made for the use of the water carriers, similar to that constructed near the foot of the Locks for the Government water works, so that the pellucid fluid, free from sawdust, scraps of lumber and other impurities, may be supplied to the citizens at the rate of one shilling the puncheon?

Very respectfully,
PATER FAMILIAS.

Ottawa, May 29, 1868.

MISCELLANEOUS.

—Another edition of the Queen's journal is to be published, with a full set of views in the Highlands.

—Chinese Ambassador Burlingame and suite visited New York Central Park on last Tuesday. The party also went to Brady's and got photographed.

—Very soon at the present rate, Paris will telegraph for nothing. The tariff which is now less than half a cent a word, is soon to be again reduced fifty per cent.

—The Iowa Fenians met in Convention at Dubuque on last Tuesday, and issued an address pledging men and money to support Gen. O'Neil in his contemplated movement upon Canada.

—A tailoress in Hyannis (Mass.) cut 2,509 yards of cloth, and made 4,000 button holes the past season. Noble woman! Even Italian Bitters is not good enough to reward you with.

—Dr. Potter, of Cincinnati, left a fortune to his heirs on condition that they should eschew tobacco. The first one of them who puffs a cigar blows his inheritance to the four winds.

—Her Majesty's ironclad frigate Bellerophon having been refitted and provided with the whole of her monster armament of 300-pounder Armstrongs, has lately made an experimental trip and averaged nearly fourteen knots an hour.

—Rewards, amounting in all to nearly £2,000, are offered for the apprehension of the murderer of Mr. Featherstonehaugh, of Westmeath, Ireland. The landed proprietors of the county have contributed a large portion of the sum. Three men, arrested on suspicion, are now in jail at Mullingar—two of them being tenants on the estate, and one a servant boy to a farmer.

—The New Yorkers have a right to consider themselves about the most heavily taxed people in the world. The amount to be raised this year in that city is $24,135,984, or over $6,000,000 more than the entire amount to be raised by the Government of the Dominion of Canada. In addition to this the New Yorkers have to pay sundry Government taxes. To live in Gotham is a costly luxury.

—Mr. Dickens has just received a legacy of £2,000 from the late Rev. Chauncey Hare Townshend, accompanied by a further bequest of manuscripts, correspondence, private letters, &c., which Mr. Dickens is requested to publish, as far as possible without alteration, for the purpose of making known Mr. Townshend's opinions on religious matter, which he believes will be conducive to the happiness of mankind.

Advertising to the Front.—The latest copy of the London Times that has reached this country was a paper of twenty pages, containing one hundred and twenty columns. Seventy-three of these columns were devoted to advertisements, and the balance to reading matter. This is an enormous newspaper for any office to issue, but it is not unusual for the Times to issue a twenty page paper during the sessions of Parliament. Its income from advertisements, for the single day's issue referred to, would probably reach $8,000.

THIS MORNING'S DESPATCHES.

From Hayti.

New York, May 29.—The Herald's Hayti special says that Salnave's troops captured the fortress on the south side of Port-au-Prince, which was recently taken by the rebels. The inhabitants in the country adjoining are flying in every direction. A conscription of 500 men had been ordered by Salnave. The foreign Consuls still held out against the demands of Salnave for a rendition of the refugees in the Consulates. Lamon had been imprisoned, and perhaps shot. Nessage aspires to the Presidency. His forces are expected at the capital, but Salnave is preparing a desperate resistance.

Postponement of the New York Sportsmen's Convention.

Buffalo, May 29.—The New York State Sportsmen's Convention, advertised to take place in this city on Monday, June 1st, is unavoidably postponed on account of the impossibility to obtain board. Notice will be given one week prior to the commencement.

Gen. Schofield's Nomination Confirmed.

Washington, May 29.—Gen. Schofield is confirmed Secretary of War by the Senate.

The Chinese Embassy in New York—Interview with the Russian Minister.

New York, May 29.—Among the prominent gentlemen who called upon Mr. Burlingham, Chinese Ambassador, this morning, was Baron Stoeckel, the Russian Minister. The Interview was very interesting. Baron Stoeckel said it was with the greatest pleasure he called to say he had been directed by Prince Gortschakoff to convey the best wishes of the Russian Government to the Chinese Embassy, and also that a magnificent reception awaited the latter upon their arrival in St. Petersburg. Mr. Burlingham responded warmly, thanking the Baron, and closed by saying that the information just imparted was the first official recognition of the Chinese Embassy by any European power. This afternoon, the Embassy accompanied by the Commissioners of Charities and Correction visited the Government institutions on Blackwell's Ward's, and Randall's Islands. This evening Mr. Burlingham, and the Chief Magistrate dined at the Union League Club as the guest of Mr. Greeley, Raymond, and other leading editors of this city.

Messrs. Young & Radford having secured the services of first-class working jewellers in etruscan, filagree, plain, fancy and solid gold work, and having made large additions to their work shop are now better prepared to execute any orders with which they may be entrusted than heretofore. Good Signs.—It is a good sign to see a man doing an act of charity to his fellows. It is a good sign to see the color of health in a man's face. It is a good sign to see an honest man wearing old clothes, and the immense sales of the "Canadian Pain Destroyer," is a good sign that it is a scientific preparation, and properly appreciated by the people. Sold everywhere at 25cts. per bottle.

—Twenty years experience in using Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers have proved them to be the most effectual remedy for coughs, and irritation of the throat, caused by cold, or unusual exertion of the vocal organs; public speakers and singers will find them most beneficial. The entire freedom from all deleterious ingredients renders Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers, or cough and voice Lozenges, a safe remedy for the most delicate person, and has caused them to be held in high esteem by all who have used them. Sold by all medicine dealers at 25 cts. per box.

Physicing Horses.—Many persons physic their horses frequently—especially every spring. This is a great error, and one which has caused the loss of many valuable horses, as physic as it is usually given, often produces inflammation of the bowels which generally proves fatal; it also weakens the horse and thus renders him more liable to disease, or less able to throw it off. What is required is a medicine which will operate gently upon the bowels, and act upon the liver and lungs, removing all obstructions therefrom, purifying the blood and enabling all the organs to do their work without overtaxing any, which is accomplished by the use of "Darley's Arabian Heave Remedy and condition medicine"—it is always safe and certain. Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co. is on each package. Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, C.W., proprietors for the Canadas. Sold by all medicine dealers.

CANADIAN NEWS.

—The Toronto spring races take place on the Newmarket course, commencing on the 16th of June. It is said that many valuable prizes will be offered.

—Three men named Bryan Dempsy, Michael Writt and Arthur McCaffery, have been arrested in Stratford for cursing the Queen. They are being tried before the Police Magistrate of that town.

—John Fletcher, in the employ of Mr. T. Scatcherd, of London, had his collar-bone fractured on Tuesday by being thrown from a horse.

—On Wednesday last the sum of one hundred and twenty-nine thousand dollars in gold was paid into the Prothonotary's Office for the indemnification of the proprietors of Little St. James street, Montreal, whose properties have been appropriated. The gold weighed four hundred pounds, and was taken to and from the bank on a cart, guarded by a number of policemen.

—On Tuesday, a train of 500 immigrants passed up on the Grand Trunk Railway; also, Wednesday morning, another train with 200 passed upwards; yesterday morning, two trains passed with 1,400 from the steamers Germany and Damascus. Of these 1,200 were German, and, taking them altogether, they were very healthy and cheerful. Most of them were going to the Western States. They were conveyed in the very best of first and second class cars, and all their wants were well supplied by the parties in charge there. The Grand Trunk Railway Company deserve praise for the way they are doing up their work this year.—Montreal Witness.

—The Mount Forest Examiner says a case was tried at the last Division Court which involves some curious points of law. Mr. N. McDougall sold a cow to Mr. McIntyre for $19, and the cow was tied to a post while the parties adjourned to a hotel to pay and receive the money. While the money was being paid the animal broke away, and McDougall took the money and went after the cow. He did not, however, return with either cow or money, and hence the action. The Judge reserved his decision until the 18th, when he delivered judgment for the plaintiff, McIntyre, for $19.50, the amount claimed.

Guelph Rifle Association.—The annual meeting of this Association took place Tuesday evening in Guelph Town Hall. There was but a small attendance; Geo. Elliott, Esq., was called to the chair. After a few introductory remarks respecting the prosperous state of the Association, Mr. Newton, Secretary, read the financial statement for the year. The amount received for members' subscriptions, sale of ammunition, amounts received from different individuals for purses, &c., is $199 20c. The amounts received for entries at various times at $139.00—making the total receipts $338.20. The amount expended in rent of range, fixing ground, putting up targets, &c., printing, ammunition, amounts paid in prizes, and other expenses, foot up to $248 08c, leaving a balance on hand of $90.12. The following officers were then elected: President, Judge Macdonald; Vice-President, Geo. Elliott; Secretary-Treasurer, E. Newton; Managing Committee, Dr. Howitt, Peter Gow, Col. Higinbotham, James Hazleton, D. McCrea, Alex. McKenzie.—Mercury.

The Flying Column.—Rumors are plentiful on the streets to-day that a flying column consisting of the 53rd Regiment, the 7th, 22nd, 26th and 28th battalions of Volunteers, the London Cavalry Troop, and four guns from the Royal Artillery field battery, will leave for the frontier next week. The only foundation to which we can trace the above is the fact that the preparations for some time in progress to organize the requisite staff and provide for the maintenance and equipment of such a force, are being hurried rapidly forward to completion. Lieut.-Col. Harenc has been appointed acting Brigadier-General in command, with an officer from the 69th as Brigade Major. The Regulars here have also received orders to draw on the stores for eighty rounds of ball ammunition per man, and the requisite number of water bottles. A telegram from headquarters to-day asked for the probable strength of the London Light Infantry in the event of a sudden call, and an answer was returned to the effect that every Company would be full. Colonel Lewis has been notified that the Bothwell Infantry Company will hereafter form part of his battalion.—London Advertiser.

MR. LANGEVIN A C.B.

The following appears in the London Gazette of May 12th:—

"War Office, May 11.

"The Queen has been graciously pleased to give orders for the appointment of Mr. Hector Louis Langevin, one of the delegates for the Province of Quebec, to attend the Conference in this country on the subject of the Confederation of the British North American Provinces, to be an Ordinary Member of the Civil Division of the Third Class or Companion of the Most Honourable Order of the Bath."

Crop Prospects in the United States.—The reports published during the past week by newspapers and by the Department of Agriculture at Washington, regarding the growing crops, are generally very encouraging, and lead us to hope with considerable confidence for a larger production of food within the United States this year than ever before. The very high prices which have prevailed for a long time past, both in Europe and America, has stimulated farmers on this continent to plant more largely than in previous years, and the favorable weather enjoyed on the whole during the past winter and the present spring have proved highly favorable to vegetation. The report of the United States Agricultural Department says that "rarely are our winters so favorable to fall-sown wheat as that of 1867-68." In New England, and the Middle and Western States, the wheat, with a few exceptions, looks well. From Virginia, Kentucky, North Carolina and Tennessee there are some complaints of winter killing. But even in this belt of country, only a few counties have suffered severely, while in many the prospect for harvest is reported to be very good. Further south, an abundant harvest is expected in proportion to the acreage sown. It is too soon yet to speak confidently of the corn crop. It is thought, however, that the late rainy, variable weather has retarded its growth. Some say that "except on sandy soil, it would be difficult to find a single considerable-sized field of corn planted and growing well between the ocean and the Mississippi" This gloomy estimate, however, whether correct at present or not, may turn out false, for a week or two of fine weather would repair all the damage done by the late rains. Half a dozen clear, dry, sunny days at this season would be of incalculable value to the country. It is to be hoped that the farmers, especially along the great corn-growing belt of the United States, will avail themselves of every moment of favorable weather which they may enjoy for planting. The prices for corn are likely to prove remunerative during the coming year.

THE EXPECTED FENIAN RAID.

CANADA ON THE QUI VIVE.

The military authorities of this neighbourhood, in view of the raid which is expected soon to take place from the Fenians, are holding themselves in readiness to move at the first note of alarm to any point demanding their attention. The regular troops in this garrison, of both branches of the service, have been for some time past prepared to march at fifteen minutes' notice; eighty rounds of ammunition per man have been served out; and from the activity which has been noticeable of late amongst the Volunteers, we believe the gallant 7th will not be far behind them.

It is understood in Volunteer circles that the Thorold Camp will be shortly re-organized and that several thousand men will go under canvas. A considerable Volunteer force will thus be on hand, should an invasion take place, to support the regulars who are to be detailed for frontier duty.

We observe that in other parts of the Province the Volunteers are fully on the alert, and ready. The Guelph battalion is prepared to take the field at any hour. Ammunition, provisions, and other necessaries, will be all secured, so as not to occasion a minute's needless delay after mustering the battalion. The 20th (Halton) battalion has also received orders to be prepared to move off whenever called upon. The Acton Company, on getting their instructions, greeted them with hearty cheering. Two days' cooked victuals are to be kept on hand, and marching shoes distributed. Each man has taken his rifle and accoutrements to his own house.

The authorities of the Great Western and Grand Trunk Railways are in perfect understanding with the Cabinet as to contemplated movements, and ready, when required, to transport troops and stores with express despatch to any given point.

The gunboat Prince Alfred was ordered to leave Goderich for Fort Erie on the morning of the 25th, and the Cherub to patrol the St. Clair. We are happy to see that our Government is on the qui vive.—London Free Press.

THE FENIANS AGAIN.

[From the Scottish American Journal.]

One would have thought that the Fenian had done enough to make their names stink in the nostrils of every sensible man, not in Canada only, not throughout the British empire only, but in the United States, and throughout the civilized world. Fenianism has been a curse to modern times, a blot on modern civilization. It has brought untold misery on Ireland, the country it was meant to deliver; it has proved a serious annoyance to England and Scotland; it has kept Canada in a state of feverish excitement for several years, and occasioned the loss of both life and property; it has proved itself the fruitful parent of assassins; and throughout the United States it has been the means of swindling many honest and industrious Irish citizens out of their hard-earned gains. Its history has been a history of iniquity. Its progress has been a progress of ruin. A political Juggernaut wherever it has moved, it has left its crushed and mangled victims behind it. As an association it has begotten nothing but sorrow; and its continued existence cannot fail to work misery to every people who now speak the English tongue. After the late assassination attempt in Australia, after the brutal murder of D'Arcy McGee in Canada, after the cowardly Clerkenwell affair, one and all of which even Irishmen denounced, we thought that Fenianism would not soon attempt to lift its head. In this, however, it seems, we are doomed to disappointment. Fenianism is not yet dead, and judging from certain signs, it seems most unwilling to die.

Our attention is called afresh to the subject by the excitement which now exists among our Canadian brethren in prospect of another Fenian invasion. The most alarming statements are in circulation as to the intentions of the Fenians in the United States. General O'Neil, it is said, is in readiness, with thirty thousand men, to make a raid on the Canadian frontiers in June or July next. Fifteen thousand men are to attack Montreal. Five thousand men are to march from Buffalo against Toronto, three thousand men from Detroit to the same point, some ten thousand men being held in reserve. The approaching fair in Buffalo, it is rumored, is to be taken advantage of to collect the forces who are in readiness for the threatened invasion. We do not lay much stress on these rumors. They are a little too circumstantial to be relied upon in the circumstances. It is not usual for conspirators to make known their plans so long beforehand. When they are foolish enough to do so they have little cause to complain if even their friends take failure for granted long before the effort is made. Foolish and incurable as we take the Fenians to be, we cannot believe that the above gives any correct idea of their programme, if they have any programme at all. Still it is just possible that some hostile attempt is intended. It has, as we know, been threatened ever since the miserable and abortive affair of 1866. And now the execution of the would-be assassin, O'Farrell, in Sydney, and of the Clerkenwell conspirator, Barrett, will undoubtedly arouse the Fenians in America, into a state of more than ordinary fury, and the passion of revenge will burn in their breasts more fiercely than ever. A Canadian raid would be one of the most convenient means of gratifying the passion; and it cannot be said that a Canadian raid will not be attempted. We may think it foolish, but that is not the question. The question for every Canadian, and for every one who sympathises with Canadians, is whether they are or are not holding themselves in readiness. That is really the question.

The Canadians from experience, can measure the actual strength of American Fenianism. They have had an invasion. They know what it was; they know what it did, what it meant to do, what it could do. They know what has happened in the interval. They know how intense, among the Fenians, anti-British feeling has become. They know, therefore, what they ought to do, and how they ought to comport themselves in the circumstances. It is for them to decide whether they will or will not crush out a contemptible organization which, for convenient reasons, the United States will not for the present disturb, but of which the American people are heartily sick. Fenian votes are unquestionably useful; but the Fenians themselves ought to know that, beyond their votes, sympathy cannot and will not go. Our advice, therefore, is simple and easily given. Let the Canadians be in readiness. Let the reception of the Fenians be hearty and full of force. Let the shaking—we do not say shaking of hands—be of a kind never to be forgotten. In other words—and we are anxious to be plain and to come to the point—let them be fully prepared for the Fenian invasion. Let them keep their plans to themselves; but let their plans be thorough, and let their treatment of the Fenians under Gen. O'Neil, or any other general, be as sharp and as smart and as decisive as was that of the Abyssinians under Gen. Napier, and we pledge our word for it, that for at least half a century, perhaps for ever, they will hear little of Irish-Americans. The First Napoleon had a habit of calling all inconvenient tenderness "mistaken humanity." We do not say that we can in every sense recommend the Napoleonic example, but we can and do say that a little more of the spirit of the First Napoleon would squelch Fenianism. It is our opinion that there has been all through too much tenderness cherished towards this organization. It is for the Canadians to determine how they will act in the event of another invasion. Tenderness is their ruin. Vigor is their salvation.

—A good deal is being said just now about the probability of another Fenian invasion, and a "Fenian fair" in progress at Buffalo, is looked upon as an indication of the intention of the ruffians again to trouble us. Of course, it is well to be prepared for anything that may happen, but we do not believe there is much to be apprehended from the frothy followers who spend their days in idleness and profligacy and their nights in threatening destruction to England and this country. They have neither money nor material to make a raid on any formidable scale, and they must know well enough that in any case the result of a movement like that of 1866 would be only disastrous to themselves. The Government, however, is justified in taking all needful precautions to meet with promptitude any aggressive step that may be made. It would be to blame were it to do otherwise; but the disposition of forces which it may choose to make should cause no alarm in the community. There is no ground for any other feeling than that of security and confidence.—Toronto Leader.

THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY AT ST. ARMAND'S.

Speech of the Adjutant-General of Militia.

[From the Montreal Gazette.]

Notwithstanding the threatening state of the weather the volunteers of this district made a most creditable display. Four companies of the Bedford battalion—the Bedford, (Capt. Bockus,) the Dunham, (Capt. Kemp,) the Phillipsburg, (Capt. P. Smith,) and the Frelighsburg, (Capt. Tittmore,) assembled as arranged, under the command of Lieut.-Col. Fletcher. The Adjutant-General of Militia, accompanied by Lieut.-Colonel Earle, Military Secretary, arrived on the ground shortly before noon, when he was received with a general salute, and inspected the line. After the feu de joie in honor of Her Majesty's Birthday, a number of field movements were performed with much credit, and subsequently the assembled troops proceeded to the Drill Hall, where a substantial luncheon, on temperance principles, had been provided. The usual loyal toasts having been responded to, "The Army and Navy" was given, and replied to in a few happy remarks by Colonel Earle, who having obtained the permission of the Chairman, proposed the health of the "Canadian Volunteers," which was replied to in the following terms by Col. Macdougall:—I am proud to have the privilege of returning thanks for the Volunteer Force of Canada; I have been associated with them now for three years, and no man therefore is better able to bear testimony to the value of that force than myself. (Cheers.) And at a time when there seems to be a general belief that the Fenians are about to make another of their ridiculous attempts on Canada, it is peculiarly satisfactory for me to see here to-day such hardy and intelligent frontier volunteers; convincing me, as it does, that the safety of this part of the frontier will be cared for. (Loud cheers.) I have heard that there is a feeling abroad among the volunteers, that the provisions of the new Militia Bill are adverse to the Volunteer Militia; and I am glad to have this opportunity of saying to you and to the force at large, that you should not be too hasty in judging of the manner in which the bill will operate. One thing I feel perfectly certain, that the Government not only wishes to maintain the present volunteer force, but to do all that is possible to increase its efficiency, and is prepared to treat liberally the comparatively few men who compose the militia force of the country, in order to insure that the service shall be cheerfully performed. And, however, I feel confident that, if any of the clauses of the new bill are shown by experience to be detrimental to the efficiency of the volunteer force, those clauses will be altered at the next Session of Parliament. (Cheers.) One word about your arms, the weapon you now carry is the best military weapon in the world, and I hope you will all show your appreciation of its value by keeping it always in the best order; your rifles got wet on parade to-day, and I trust there is not a man among you who will return his rifle to the Company arm-rack this evening without having taken the very small amount of trouble necessary to clean it; any man who does so is quite unworthy to have such an arm in his possession. (The Adjutant-General resumed his seat amid loud and prolonged cheering.)

JUSTICE IN ABYSSINIA UNDER THE LATE KING THEODORUS.

Captain Speedy, the interpreter for the British army, who held a position in Theodorus' army as "Barba Fellaka," or the Speedy Commander, gives many interesting traits of Theodorus, among which he relates that Theodorus, who detested thieves more than any other kind of criminals, had a case brought before him, when fighting the Gallas, of a soldier who went to a woman's house and drank half a gallon of milk, for which he had not paid. Theodorus had previously given strict orders that nothing should be taken without an equivalent in money left in its place. The woman came complaining to Theodorus that one of his soldiers had stolen milk from her. The King asked her if she knew the thief, upon which she pointed out one who occupied a favorite position near his own person. The thief was sternly told to come near him, and was then questioned as to whether he was guilty of the offence, which he stoutly denied, asserting his innocence by all the saints and the king's annointed head. Then the King asked the woman if she had told the truth, upon which she again repeated the accusation, calling the heavens to witness her story. The culprit was then told to take his robe and cloaks off, whereupon the King turned to the woman, and said: "Hear, oh woman, thou hast charged a soldier with stealing. I am going to satisfy myself if what thou hast said was the truth. If so, the price of the milk shall be paid thee; if not, thy head shall fall, and all thy property be confiscated to support the soldier's relations." Having said which he drew his sword and cut the man's stomach open, and the milk spirted out, which proved that he was guilty. The woman was dismissed with two salts, the price of the milk, and the dead man was thrown out of camp to be devoured by the wild beasts. Theodorus was at Magdala when Barba Fellaka was first introduced to him in 1863. That same night a grand feast was given to all his principal officers; and after a feast it is customary for every one to recite the warlike exploits which he had performed. One of his captains, who had only been lately appointed, attracted attention from the dress which he had assumed. He had been formerly notorious for loose flowing trousers and a long robe, but for the feast he had donned a tight pair of trousers, and had worn around his loins a very lengthy girdle. Theodorus was reclining on a divan, with a robe thrown loosely over his right shoulder, smoking a native narghileh, his bold black eyes wandering quickly around the room and scanning each countenance, when, fixing his eyes on the new captain, who was about to relate the various skirmishes in which he had participated, Theodorus gave orders to his guards to seize and disarm him, which was instantly done. Taking the gun with which the captain was about to illustrate how he had shot this one and killed another, Theodorus, pointing the gun at him, said, "Wearer of loose trousers and flowing robes, wherefore hast thou been girdled so tightly? Men about to commit desperate acts gird their loins tightly for the enterprise. I am going to fire this gun at your head." "Shoot," said the man, folding his arms composedly, "but first listen to me, Kussai. For many months have I waited an opportunity to kill thee, and I was about to avenge the death of my father, whom you slew at Debra Tabor. Shoot." "No," said Theodorus, "thou art a brave man; go, but never come near my presence again." Before leaving the room the disgraced officer turned to the King and said, "Oh Kussai, hadst thou not slain my father, I could have served thee forever."

THE ROAD TO RED RIVER.

Mr. Dawson, the engineer employed by the Government to survey the route for the proposed waggon road from the head of Lake Superior to the Red River Settlement, has reported the result of his observations and calculations. He recommends the opening of the line in the first instance in the least expensive way possible to be effectual, as preliminary to works of a more extended nature. He suggests making use of navigable water, and constructing waggon roads where the navigation is impracticable. The total distance from Thunder Bay, Lake Superior, to Fort Garry, is 463 miles, comprising 332 miles of navigable water, and 130 miles of land road. Ninety miles of the latter would be between Fort Garry and the Lake of the Woods, where there is abundant means of transport, and 25 miles between Thunder Bay and Dog Lake, where horses and waggons could easily be provided. The principal part of the land carriage would thus be at each extremity of the line, and the navigable water intermediate. The cost of opening the communication in this way is set down at $166,000 over and above the small appropriation of last year. Mr. Dawson shows that by adopting this plan the trade of the North-west territories would be at once transferred to Canada. The present cost of conveying articles from York Factory, Hudson's Bay, to Fort Garry is about $100 per ton, and from St. Paul, Minnesota, where the settlers bring their goods, about $90 per ton; while the extreme cost from Lake Superior to Fort Garry, once the communication was opened, would not at the utmost exceed $40 per ton—a saving of $50 per ton on freight alone. Mr. Dawson considered this would decide a matter both as regards the trade of the Red River Settlement, and that of the Hudson's Bay Company, added to which the people of Red River would save 30 per cent in purchasing their goods in Canada, instead of buying them in the remote western towns of Minnesota. The total trade of the territories—both that of the Hudson's Bay Company and the settlers—is estimated by Mr. Dawson at $4,000,000 annually.—Essex Record.

The Florence Nightingale of the Nursery.—The following is an extract from a letter written by the Rev. C. Z. Weiser, to the German Reformed Messenger, at Chambersburg, Penn.:

A BENEFACTRESS.—Just open the door for her, and Mrs. WINSLOW will prove the American Nightingale of the Nursery. Of this we are sure, that we will teach our "SUSY" to say "A Blessing on Mrs. Winslow," for helping her to survive and escape the griping, colicking and teething siege. We confirm every word set forth in the prospectus. It performs precisely what it professes to perform, every part of it—nothing less. Away with your "Cordial," "Paregoric," "Drops," "Laudanum," and every other "Narcotic," by which the babe is drugged into stupidity, and rendered dull and idiotic for life.

We have never seen Mrs. Winslow—know her only through the preparation of her "Soothing Syrup for Children Teething." If we had the power, we would make her, as she is, a physical saviour to the infant race. 25 cents a bottle. Sold by all druggists. Be sure and call for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup." Having the fac-simile of "CURTIS & PERKINS" on the outside wrapper. All others are base imitations.

Storekeepers, Farmers and Others,

SHOULD BUY THEIR TEAS FROM

The Importers Direct.

THE MONTREAL TEA COMPANY, 6, Hospital-street, Montreal, have sent over one thousand packages to different parts of the country, and receive every day assurances that the Tea gives entire satisfaction. Subjoined are a few of the numerous testimonials already received:

RUSSELL HOTEL, Quebec, Jan. 7, 1867.—Montreal Tea Company: Gentlemen, the six chests of Tea forwarded some time since arrived in good order. The quality is pure and excellent, and prices cheap. As I am particular in buying the best quality of Tea to be had for our guests, I am pleased to acquaint you that it gives general satisfaction. Your obedient servant,
WILLIS RUSSELL.

FELCOMB, Dec. 23, 1867.—Montreal Tea Company: Gentlemen, the Oolong Tea which you sent me gives great satisfaction. I forwarded part of the chest to a friend in Toronto, who informs me he considers it as good as that he was using for which he paid one dollar per lb. Please send me a chest of Young Hyson at same price, viz., at 75 cents per lb. Address as before. Your obedient servant,
JNO. T. DAY.

HOUSE OF SENATE, Ottawa, December 16, 1867.—Montreal Tea Company: Gentlemen, the box of English Breakfast and Young Hyson Tea which you sent me gives great satisfaction. You may expect my future orders. Yours, &c.,
S. SKINNER.

COBOURG, January 8, 1868.—Montreal Tea Company: Gentlemen, I beg to inform you that the two boxes of Tea you sent me are of excellent quality, especially the Young Hyson at 60 cents. Please send another box, or 20 lbs., at same price, and oblige yours, &c.,
F. OLIVER.

The contributors to the Medical Journal have frequently declared that one-half the nervous diseases are caused by drinking impure Tea. The Company have carefully selected and imported a supply of Teas that can be warranted pure and free from poisonous substances, in 50, 25, 20, 15 and 12 lb. boxes.

BLACK TEA.

Common Congou, Broken Leaf, Strong Tea, 45c 50c.; Fine Flavoured New Season, do; 55c 60c and 65c; Excellent Full Flavored do, 75c; Sound Oolong, 45c; Rich Flavored do, 60c; Very Fine do, do, 75c; Japan, Good, 50c, 55c; Very Fine, 60c; Finest, 65c, 75c.

GREEN TEA.

Twankay common, 38c; Fine do, 55c; Young Hyson, 50c, 60c, 65c and 70c; Fine do, 75c; Very Fine, 85c; Superfine and Very Choice, $1.00; Fine Gunpowder, 85c; Extra Superfine do, $1.

All orders for 20 or 25 lbs., or two 12 lbs., sent carriage free to the country. Teas not mentioned in this circular sent equally cheap. The Company having determined to take a stand in the Montreal market, weight, quality and circular may be implicitly relied on. Where a 20 lb. box would be too much, two or three clubbing together could divide. An excellent mixed Tea could be sent for 60c to 70c; very good for common purposes, 50c. Buyers living beyond Railway Stations will please send Post Office order or enclosed notes. The carriage will be paid to the nearest station. Tea will be forwarded immediately on receipt of the order by mail containing money, or the money can be collected on delivery by express-man where there are express offices. A trial solicited.

Dominion Auction Mart,

AND

Commission Sale Rooms

House, Land & General Agency,
OFFICE & SALE ROOMS,
INGLIS' NEW BUILDINGS, SUSSEX-STREET,

OTTAWA.

THE SUBSCRIBER

Respectfully announces to the inhabitants of Ottawa and surrounding country that at the request of many friends he has decided on opening an extensive and well regulated Auction Mart in this city.

From arrangements made with some of the Furniture Manufactories of Western Ontario, a large and well selected stock of new furniture will be constantly on hand.

Public Sales will be held from time to time, of which due notice will be given, and at which parties requiring to furnish will have an opportunity of purchasing at unusually low rates. The Mart is now open with a large stock of new Furniture, as well as Pianos, Harmoniums, &c., &c., consigned for sale.

The subscriber would also intimate that he is the Sole Agent for Ottawa and territory for the sale of Rappe, Webber & Co.'s celebrated grand Pianos.

They are successors to the late John C. Fox, of Kingston, and the makers of his excellent Pianos.

From their long experience in Germany, Paris, and New York, they are universally admitted to be the best Piano Manufacturers on this continent.

The high reputation of the instruments made by them for the past ten years, and the increasing demand for them in the new Dominion, prove their very superior quality, and universally acknowledged merit.

The Pianos, as well as the Furniture in the establishment, will be sold either by private sale or auction.

He would also announce that he is prepared to receive instructions from persons having household furniture, horses, carriages, or real estate, to dispose of, and pledges himself that nothing will be left undone by him to give satisfaction in discharging the trust confided to him. He hopes that by strict attention to the sales entrusted to his care, as well as by prompt settlements immediately after, to merit a share of public patronage.

He will be in his office from 7 in the morning until 7 in the evening, when he can see parties who wish to arrange about their sales. Consignments from a distance will have immediate attention.

Cash advances, when required, will be made on consignments for immediate sale.

All kinds of furniture bought, sold or exchanged.

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER

de, Back and Head, Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat Sprains, Bruises, Cramps in the Stomach, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery, Bowel Complaints, Burns, Scalds, Frost Bites, &c., &c.

THE CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER HAS now been before the public for a length of time, and whenever used is well liked, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single case of dissatisfaction where the directions are properly followed; but on the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its virtues and magical effects.

We speak from experience in this matter, having tested it thoroughly, and therefore those who are suffering from any of the complaints for which it is recommended may depend upon its being a Sovereign Remedy.

The astonishing efficacy of the Canadian Pain Destroyer, in curing diseases for which it is recommended, and its wonderful success in subduing the torturing pains of Rheumatism, and in relieving Nervous Affections, entitle it to a high rank in the list of Remedies for these complaints. [illegible] are coming in from Medicine Dealers in all parts of the country for further supplies, and each testifying as to the universal satisfaction it gives

The Canadian Pain Destroyer never fails to give immediate relief. All Medicine Dealers keep it Physicians order and use it; and no family will without it after once trying it.

DARLEY'S

Arabian Heave Remedy

AND CONDITION MEDICINE

IS POSITIVELY SUPERIOR TO ANY or all other preparations for the cure of Heaves, Coughs, Thick and Broken Wind, and all diseases which affect the Wind of Horses; also, as a Condition Medicine, surpassing everything of the kind is easy to give, sure to cure, and safe in all cases and at all times, and does not prevent the horse from being worked while using it.

It cleanses the breathing apparatus, by removing from the air-cells the coagulable lymph, or that secretion which in heaves clogs them, causing a difficulty in breathing, and by its action on the diseased part, causing the mucous membrane to resume its natural dimensions, thus equalizing the circulation of the blood, and restoring the distended vessels to their natural size; by its use the horse's appetite is improved, all derangements of the digestive organs corrected, softening the skin, and giving to the coat a sleek and shining appearance.
